

From the St. Louis Reveille.
THE NIMBLE SHILLING.

A SKETCH OF EARLY HISTORY.

It is a matter of congratulation that with the progress of refinement in the west, the common use of alcoholic drinks as a beverage is fast getting out of fashion—and many of our oldest and most respected citizens who, in the primitive days were engaged in the traffic, have seen its evils, and set their faces against it. We know that some of the capacious old toppers who still adhere to the ardent, sneeringly say that their neighbors did not quit until they made their fortunes—but what of that? it is evident that they are sincere in their opposition to spirituous liquors when they themselves cease the use, as well as the sale of the article. In gathering material for a future history of the west, we are often struck with the fact, of how steadily that evil agent whiskey, has advanced with civilization; how many tragedies marked its baneful march, how many humorous anecdotes it has given birth to. Our purpose at present is to chronicle one of the latter; but as the family of the Illinois whiskey dealer has discarded the article, and have, in the course of time and progress, risen to wealth and dignity, we will of course omit names.

During the last war, when the "Rangers" were on duty through western Illinois, whiskey was a deplorable scarce article, and the money to purchase it, when found, was equally hard to obtain. Among the old rangers the "corn juice" was considered as necessary to subsistence as "corn dodgers;" but having received no pay for a long period, their small stock of funds had entirely run out. In the mean time the old dealer had succeeded in raising two barrels of the comfortable liquor, and erected a small shanty near the camp where his shingle in chalked capitals, declared that Major Murdock, one of the old veterans, had for two days, in a wofully parched state been searching his "kivierin" for a stray bit that he knew was somewhere about him, but all his efforts to chase it up appeared unavailing—there were so many patches on his hunting shirt that it was impossible to find the one which he had made a pocket to contain the precious coin, and at last he had given it up. He tried to get trusted for two drinks until he could find it, but the owner of the shanty knew better than to trust any of that crowd.

"Try again, Major," said a dry cown, who knew the circumstances, "try again; never give up a good cause—a shilling in silver now is worth gold another time."

The Major did try again, and at last down in the seam at the tail, the Major discovered the little joker, and perhaps he hailed the discovery with a yell of satisfaction.

"Now Bill," says he, "we'll give that old feller's barrel a rip for two wigwaggers, and no dispute."

They accordingly adjourned to the shanty and called for the "medicine." The owner looked at the Major doubtfully, but when he displayed the bit, hesitation vanished—he instantly drew the "sucks," handed them over and took the change. The first taste brightened the Major as keen as an Indian. He observed while drinking that the dealer placed the money on a little shelf behind him, and just above his head; it was within reaching distance, too, from his stand beside the temporary counter; upon this discovery he at once acted.

"Well, rally," says he, "that stuff is suthon like; that's body to it that tiches a feller's vitality at the extreme pints." "Bill," added he, "I could fight Ingins at half wags of they'd only feed me from sech cows' milk as is in that barrel. I do think we'll go another."

Bill signified assent, but looked at the Major with some surprise and inquiry in his countenance, as to where he would find another bit, but old Ranger soon opened his eyes wider. The dealer had no sooner stooped to draw from the barrel than the Major picked the shilling off the shelf and paid it over again for the drinks.

"I know'd you hed money, Major," said the dealer, "if you could only consent to shell it out; but you're getting consarned close-fisted in you old days." The Major laughed at the remark as he replied:

"Well, you're a cunnin' sarprint, Jo, and bound to make sunthin' out of us fellars. I declare that lickier is so trementous that it's sot me cravin' in my innards!"

"Don't give it up yet, Major, chimed in the dealer, "that's more what that come from of the same brewen." I know you hev been sufferin for a taste these few days past, cause you didn't like to 'open,' and I hated precious bad to refuse you; but whisky costs a powerful sight a're it gets here."

"Well, we will jest take another atom of a drink, and then lumber," says the willing Ranger. The shilling was picked off the shelf, and went through the same process again with equal satisfaction. After swallowing another round, the Ranger smacked his lips, made a move towards the door, and turned back again:

"I tho't you'd think better of it, Major," said the dealer; "seech stuff as this don't stay long in these diggings. You'll go another, I guess?"

"Well, jest one more," says the Major, "I declare I think it was some seech lickier that tempted Adam, instead of an apple, as the Scriptur' says. Its all sufficiently enticin' to tempt a coon out of a holler log of the dogs war arter him!"

In reaching for the shilling this time the Major was so eager, and a little excited withal, that he dropped it down right before the owner of the shanty.

"Hello!" says he; "that thar shelf must be gittin' crowded when they're droppin off—or is this yours, Major?"

"It's yours now," said the Ranger, "for these last drinks; and Jo yur is wishin' you may git bit so offen."

"Thanky, Major, thanky," said Jo; "I'll drink that myself"—and he did.

The Major and Bill retired with the honors, and as they were passing thro' the door, Jo was feeling on the shelf for his shillings, but the hunting-shirt coin was all that the search produced.

"Bit, by thunder!" exclaimed he, and coming to the door, he shook his fist after the old Ranger, exclaiming, "I might hev know'd a pizen old Ingen killer like you had no money; and consarn you, you shant hev another suc out of this barrel of your old met and gizzard was freezin inside of you."

UNION HOUSE, HUNTINGDON, PENNA.

The subscriber respectfully begs leave to announce to his friends and the public generally, that he has leased that well-known PUBLIC HOUSE, in the borough of Huntingdon, formerly occupied by John McConell, and more recently by Adam H. Hall, Decd., where he is now ready to accommodate all who may favor him with their custom.

Having thoroughly renovated this house, with the intention of sparing no efforts in contributing to the comfort of his customers, he flatters himself that he will be able to render satisfaction to all who may be pleased to stop with him. The house is pleasantly located in the most prominent part of the town.

HIS TABLE
Will always be supplied with the best market can afford. The greatest care will be taken in regard to the cleanliness and comfort of his sleeping apartments.

HIS STABLING
Is commodious, and will always be attended by a careful and obliging ostler, and every arrangement made to make his house a desirable stopping place for the traveller.

PERMANENT BOARDERS
Will be taken on reasonable terms. His prices will be very moderate. JOHN MARKS.

PHILADELPHIA CHINA & QUEENSWARE HOUSE,
The subscribers, successors to S. TYNDALE, would call the attention of the Merchants and Residents of Huntingdon and vicinity, to their stock of

CHINA AND QUEENSWARE,
Which we have no hesitation in saying is the largest in the United States, and which, in the greater part, is made for, and imported by ourselves.

Any person having used Queensware or China for a number of years, will notice the general deterioration in the quality—this is owing to the greatly reduced prices. In some of the manufactories, where a good name has been established, and pride taken in their character, no such inferiority is observed—from such houses have we constantly endeavored to make our stock, and we are determined to sell our wares as low as any quality, whether equal or inferior, can be sold in the U. S.

There is a prejudice against Chesnut Street, raised from a false notion of higher prices. Our wares on this street are lower than on any other business street, and nothing else could possibly make a difference. But no house can succeed here that does not keep the best qualities of goods, and this does not suit all—hence the prejudice.

We have every kind of Ware, from common Painted Teas, Edged Plates, Mocha, Granite, Printed, Flowing Blue, &c. to the finest China and Glass.

We are anxious to extend our business, and take every proper means of doing so—but not making personal application to strangers here, we have no other means of doing it, than by the aid of our old friends, by advertising, and by the quality and prices of our goods.

NOTICE.
DISSOLUTION OF COPARTNERSHIP.—The copartnership heretofore existing, under the name of WM. SWAIM & SON, was dissolved on the 21st of July last, by the decease of the said Wm. Swaim, and the business is now, and will be in future, conducted exclusively by the subscriber, who has had the sole charge of the manufacturing of the Panacea and Vermifuge for the last 14 years.

The Panacea will be put up as usual in round bottles, fluted longitudinally, with the following letters on the glass—"Swaim's Panacea, Philada." and the only change made is the name of JAS. SWAIM stamped on the sealing wax, and written on the label covering the cork, and a new label for the side of the bottle, composed of geometric lathe work, comprising nine different dies, which have been turned for the exclusive use of the proprietor, by Draper & Co., bank note engravers of Philadelphia. Four dies of different patterns form the body of the work, and in the centre is a portrait of the late Wm. Swaim, separated from the borders by two circles of lathe work. The words "Swaim's Panacea," are engraved conspicuously on two turned strips, and a large semi-circular die forms the upper margin. The borders are composed of plain lathe work strips, outside of which is engraved in small letters the entry of the copyright.

SWAIM'S CELEBRATED PANACEA,
For the cure of Scrofula, General Debility, White Swelling, Rheumatism, Diseases of the Liver and Skin, and all Diseases arising from Impurities of the blood or the effects of Mercury.

SWAIM'S Panacea has been for more than 25 years celebrated in this country and Europe for its extraordinary cures—for the certificates of which reference is made to the directions and books (which may be had gratis) accompanying the Panacea.

It has been used in hospital and private practice, and has had the singular fortune of being recommended by the most celebrated physicians and other eminent persons. Among others, by

W. Gibson, M. D. professor of Surgery, Penna. University; Valentine Mott, M. D. professor of Surgery, N. Y. University; W. P. Dewees, M. D. professor of Midwifery, Pa. University; N. Chapman, M. D. professor of Physics, Pa. University; T. Parke, M. D. president of College of Physicians, Philadelphia; Dr. Del Valle, Professor of Medicine, Havana; Jose Lourenco da Luz, professor of Surgery, Lisbon; J. Chipman, Member of Royal College of Surgeons, London; G. W. Irving, late Minister to Spain; Sir Thomas Pearson, Major General British Army; Gilbert Robertson, British Consul, &c.

And also, the wonderful cures effected by Swaim's Panacea have for many years made it an invaluable remedy. The panacea does not contain mercury in any form, and being an innocent preparation, it may be given to the most tender infant.

The retail price has been reduced to $1.50 per bottle (containing three half pints), or three bottles for $4.

Also—SWAIM'S VERMIFUGE, a valuable family medicine, being a highly approved remedy for all diseases arising from Debility of the Digestive Organs, such as Worms, Cholera Morbus, Dysentery, Fever and Ague, Bleeding, Piles, Sickness, Headache, &c. See the pamphlet (which may be had gratis) accompanying the Vermifuge. Prepared at Swaim's Laboratory, Seventh street, below Chesnut, Philadelphia, and for sale by all respectable Druggists in the United States.

Capital $300,000—Charter Perpetual.
Office—169 Chesnut Street.

CONTINUE to make Insurance on Lives, grant Annuities and Endowments, and to accept Trusts from Individuals, Corporate Bodies, and Courts of Justice, and execute them agreeably to the desire of the parties; and receive Deposits of Money in Trust and on Interest.

The Company add a Bonus at stated periods to the Insurances for Life. The first bonus was appropriated in December, 1844, amounting to ten per cent. on the sum insured under the oldest policies, to 8 1/2 per cent., 7 1/2 per cent. &c.; on others in proportion to the time of standing; making an addition of $100, $87 50, $75, &c., on every $1,000 originally insured.

The operation of the bonus will be seen by the following examples from the Life Insurance Register of the Company, thus:

Policy.	Sum insured.	Bonus or addition.	Amount payable at party's decease.
No. 58	1,000	100	1,100
89	2,500	250	2,750
204	4,000	400	4,400
276	2,000	175	2,176
333	5,000	437 50	5,437 50

Rates for insuring $100 on a single life:

Age.	For 1 year.	For 7 years.	For Life.
20	$0 01	$0 95	$1 77
30	1 31	1 36	2 36
40	1 69	1 83	3 20
50	1 96	2 09	4 30
60	4 35	4 91	7 00

Example:—A person aged 30 years next birthday, by paying the Company $1 31, would secure to his family or heirs $100, should he die in one year; or for $1 31 he secures to them $1,000; or for $13 60 annually for seven years, he secures to them $1,000 should he die in seven years; or for $23 60 paid annually during life, he provides $1,000 whenever he dies; for $65 50 they would receive $5,000 should he die in one year.

Further particulars respecting Life Insurance, Trusts, &c., may be had at the Office.

MILFORD, Perry co., Pa., Oct. 1, 1846.

Messrs. Robinson, Collins & Co.—Sirs: This is to inform you that I was afflicted for 20 years with a violent pain in my breast, so much so that I could hardly lay in bed at night. Cough attended, followed by emaciation and other decided symptoms of consumption. I applied to several eminent physicians, and took a great deal of medicine without any relief whatever. I was advised to try Dr. Davis's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar, of which I took two bottles, which entirely relieved me of my complaint; therefore I can with confidence recommend it to all who are in a like manner afflicted, as a most valuable medicine.

M'ALLISTER'S ALL-HEALING OINTMENT.

Insensible Perspiration
IS the great Evacuation for the impurities of the body. Life cannot be sustained without it. It is thrown off from the blood and other juices of the body, and disposes by this means of nearly all the impurities within us. The language of scripture, "in the blood is the life."—If it ever becomes impure it may be traced directly to the stoppage of the "insensible perspiration." Thus we see all that is necessary when the blood is stagnant or infected, is to open the pores and it relieves itself from all impurity instantly. Its own heat and vitality are sufficient, without one particle of medicine, except to open the pores upon the surface. Thus we see the folly of taking so much internal remedies.—All practitioners, however, direct their efforts to restore the insensible perspiration. The Thompsonian, for instance, steams; the Hydropathist shrouds in wet blankets; the Homoeopathist deals out infinitesimals; the Allopathist bleeds and doses us with mercury, and the blustering Quack gorges us with pills.

I have had physicians, learned in the profession, I have had ministers of the Gospel, Judges of the Bench, Aldermen and Lawyers, gentlemen of the highest erudition, and multitudes of the poor, use it in every variety of way, and there has been but one voice—one united, universal voice—saying, "M'Allister your Ointment is good."

Consumption.—It can hardly be credited that a salve can have any effect upon the lungs, seated as they are within the system. But if placed upon the chest, it penetrates directly to the lungs, separates the poisonous particles that are consuming them, and expels them from the system. I need not say that it is curing persons of Consumption continually, although we are told that it is foolishness. I care not what is said,
