

A CICERONIAN VOLUNTEER.

Yesterday morning, nearly opposite the Algiers Ferry, quite a crowd was gathered around a man who had evidently been to the wars—his boots were wounded, his cap very much bruised, and his dingy blue jacket gashed in various places. The face of our returned volunteer was tanned by exposure to the sun and arid sands of Mexico, his hands were as red as a beet, and his pug nose ornamented with any amount of pimples. His whiskers and moustaches were as dense as the chaparral between Point Isabel and Matamoras, and his light blue eyes moved in their sockets with a savage kind of enthusiasm. He was evidently "higher" than he should have been, but his heart was in the right place, and from his looks he appeared to be as brave as steel. To a crowd of admiring listeners, composed of cab men in oil cloth coats, draymen in red flannel shirts, and long shore men in every variety of dilapidated and quaint costume, our volunteer thus gave vent to his patriotism: "Feller citizens," said he "I've bin down thar. I've lain these long bones of mine on Pint Isabel, and indulged in the splendor kind of dreams, surrounded by a galaxy of sand flies on the Brazos, and centerpedes was my companions at Palo Alto; but at Rassacker I give a couple or more gentlemen parky-ular goss. I seed Charley May when he made the charge, and heerd poor Ridgley holler out, "Stop Charley, till I draw their fire!" I was at Fort Brown but on my honor as a soger, the "Great Western" (I beg your pardon, Mrs. Bourlette) can make the nicest coffee that ever was dranked. The alcalde at Matamoras tuk me up one night for being drunk, but the way that my capting brought him up to the bullring of millingitary opinion was a caution to the skunks that used to sweep the plaza with willow brooms. I was up at Reynoser, and flourished for a while in the suburbs of Camargo. I crossed over with General Worth and he said I wasn't at Monterey! Oh, that Bishop's Palace—the stormin was the prettiest sight in the world! Then in the streets—the barricades; why, our boys hopt over 'em like squirrels, and the Mexicans fell on their pavements like hickory nuts in the fall of the year. But Bonnyvista was the place where I extinguished myself. I fout like a man, gentleman—I did. I seed old Zack on that old yaller chargin of his'n, and if the Mexicans had touched a hair on his head we'd massareed every mother son on 'em. That old man can't be tetchy by anything made in Mexico, if he can you may have my head for a foot ball. And now gentlemen, if I had money I'd treat you all, but I ain't got the first red cent. Howsomever, heaven and the paymaster willin' I shall be in town on Monday next with a pocket full of rocks, and the way I will seed up the Mississippi to old Louisville will supprise all magnetic telegraphs.

The Military orator turned on his heel with the grace of the "Great I am;" not, however without loud cheers from his admiring auditors. Dress and the Mind. Oh, be not vain of gorgeous dress, Place not in gems thy happiness, For these will pass away; But cherish virtue, wisdom, truth, These will adorn thy blooming youth, And cheer thy life's decay. "Train up a child in the way he should go," says the proverb, and well would it be for children generally, if they were trained in the way they should go. But alas for the weakness of human nature! parents too often train up their offspring in a way that brings much trouble and inconvenience upon themselves, as well as upon those who are subject to their management. To gratify her own pride, and love of display, the fond mother heaps finery upon little miss, before she is of an age to care for ornaments on her own account, and while the doll and baby-house would occupy all her little thoughts, if left to herself, she is taught to consider a new and fashionable dress as the great thing to be desired; and do but see how the little thing tosses her tiny head, decorated with flowers or feather—how the rich frock is displayed, and the lulliputian foot held out, that strangers may observe the delicate slipper—how the curls, which mama or nurse has spent hours in torturing to their present form, are shaking from side to side—how the smile of gratified vanity dimples the rosy mouth when she hears the whispere praises that are lavished upon her, on account, most likely, of her costly dress. Children, if good humored, are always engaging. "Youth, in itself, is beauty." Why then destroy the simplicity of the infant mind? by the pernicious whispers of adulation? Why infuse into the young heart, the dangerous love of display? Why sow the seed that will spring up into the baleful weeds of self-love, pride and extravagance? A judicious mother will see that all the ornaments of dress are worthless, compared with a cultivated mind, and a gentle deportment. Neatness of person and attire are highly to be commended—they are necessary to the respectability of females; but more than these are "vanity and vexation of spirit."

There are now five elements—earth, air, fire, water, and—the press!

"A ministering Angel."—In one of the letters describing the incidents of the battle of Buna Vista, we find the following:

There was one little scene on the field which excited great sympathy. A Mexican woman was found in a gorge under one of the peaks of the mountain, having about her ten or twelve of her countrymen, five or six of whom was dead. She was endeavoring to make the beds of the living as easy as she could, by removing the stones from under them and placing their heads on her own person. She refused bread and water herself, tendering every thing that was offered her to the sufferers about her. It was almost the only bright spot on that bloody ground. A monument should be raised to her which should stand as long as the battle of Buna Vista is remembered. I saw the good woman afterwards in one of the wagons with her wounded men, apparently full of joy and hope, thankful, I suppose, that she had fallen into merciful hands.

BEAUTIFUL!—At the Webster dinner in Richmond, the following toast was drunk with enthusiasm: "The States of the Union!—Distinct, like the billows, but one like the sea."

Strawberries are abundant at Savannah.

UNION HOUSE, HUNTINGDON, PENNA.

THE subscriber respectfully begs leave to announce to his friends and the public generally, that he has leased that well-known PUBLIC HOUSE, in the borough of Huntingdon, formerly occupied by John McConnell, and more recently by Adam H. Hall, dec'd., where he is now ready to accommodate all who may favor him with their custom. Having thoroughly renovated this house, with the intention of sparing no efforts in contributing to the comfort of his customers, he flatters himself that he will be able to render satisfaction to all who may be pleased to stop with him. The house is pleasantly located in the most prominent part of the town.

PHILADELPHIA CHINA & QUEENSWARE HOUSE,

THE subscribers, successors to S. TYNDAL, would call the attention of the Merchants and Residents of Huntingdon and vicinity, to their stock of CHINA AND QUEENSWARE, which we have no hesitation in saying is the largest in the United States, and which, in the greater part, is made for, and imported by ourselves. Any person having used Queensware or China for a number of years, will notice the general deterioration in the quality—this is owing to the greatly reduced prices. In some of the manufactories, where a good name has been established, and pride taken in their character, no such inferiority is observed—to make our stock, and we are constantly endeavoring to sell our wares as low as any quality, whether equal or inferior, can be sold in the U. S.

There is a prejudice against Chesnut Street, raised from a false notion of higher prices. Our rents on this street are lower than on any other business street, and nothing else could possibly make a difference. But no house can succeed here that does not keep the best qualities of goods, and this does not suit all—hence the prejudice.

We have every kind of Ware, from common Painted Teas, Edged Plates, Mocha, Granite, Printed, Flow'g Blue, &c. &c. to the finest China and Glass.

We are anxious to extend our business, and take every proper means of doing so—but not making personal application to strangers here, we have no other means of doing it, than by the aid of our old friends, by advertising, and by the quality and prices of our goods.

SWAIM stamped on the sealing wax, and written on the label covering the cork, and a new label for the side of the bottle, composed of geometric lathe work, comprising nine different dies, which have been turned for the exclusive use of the proprietor, by Draper & Co., bank note engravers of Philadelphia. Four dies of different patterns form the body of the work, and in the centre is a portrait of the late Wm. Swaim, separated from the borders by two circles of lathe work. The words "Swaim's Panacea," are engraved conspicuously on two turned strips, and a large semi-circular die forms the upper margin. The borders are composed of plain lathe work strips, outside of which is engraved in small letters the entry of the copyright. JAMES SWAIM. Philadelphia, August, 1845.

M'ALLISTER'S 'ALL-HEALING OINTMENT.

Insensible Perspiration IS the great Evacuation for the impurities of the body. Life cannot be sustained without it. It is thrown off from the blood and other juices of the body, and disposes by this means of nearly all the impurities within us. The language of scripture, "in the blood is the life."—If it ever becomes impure it may be traced directly to the stoppage of the "insensible perspiration." Thus we see all that is necessary when the blood is stagnant or infected, is to open the pores and it relieves itself from all impurity instantly. Its own heat and vitality are sufficient, without one particle of medicine, except to open the pores upon the surface. Thus we see the folly of taking so much internal remedies.—All practitioners, however, direct their efforts to restore the insensible perspiration: The Thompsonian, for instance, steams; the Hydropathist shrouds in wet blankets; the Homoeopathist delects out infinitissimals; the Ailopathist bleeds and doses us with mercury; and the blustering Quack gorges us with pills.

I have had physicians, learned in the profession, I have had ministers of the Gospel, Judges of the Bench, Aldermen and Lawyers, gentlemen of the highest erudition, and multitudes of the poor, use it in every variety of way, and there has been but one voice—one united, universal voice—saying, "M'Allister your Ointment is good."

CONSUMPTION.—It can hardly be credited that a salve can have any effect upon the lungs, seated as they are within the system. But if placed upon the chest, it penetrates directly to the lungs, separates the poisonous particles that are consuming them, and expels them from the system. I need not say that it is curing persons of Consumption continually, although we are told that it is foolishness. I care not what is said, so long as I can cure several thousand persons annually.

HEADACHE.—The salve has cured persons of the Headache of 12 year's standing, and who had it regularly every week; so that vomiting often took place.

Deafness and Ear ache are helped with like success.

COLD FEET.—Consumption, Liver Complaint, pains in the Side or Chest, falling off the hair, one or the other, always accompanies cold feet. It is a sure sign of disease in the system to have cold feet.

The Salve will cure every case in Scrofula, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Liver Complaint, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Broken or Sore Breast, Piles, Chest Diseases, such as Asthma, Oppression, Pains, also Sore Lips, Chapped Hands, Tumors, Cutaneous Eruptions, Nervous Diseases, and of the Spine there is no medicine known probably so good.

BURNS.—It is the best thing in the world for Burns; (Read the directions around the box.)

Pimples on the face, Masculine Skin, Gross Surface.—When there is grossness or dull repulsive surface, it begins to soften until the skin becomes as smooth and delicate as a child's.

WORMS.—If parents knew how fatal most medicines were to children taken inwardly, they would be slow to resort to them. Especially "mercurial lozenges," called "medicated lozenges," "vermifuges," "pills," &c. The truth is, no one can tell, invariably, when worms are present! Now let me say to parents; that this salve will always tell if a child has worms. It will drive every vestige of them away. (Read the directions around the box.) There is probably no medicine on the face of the earth at once so sure and so safe in the expulsion of worms.

OLD SORES.—That some sores are an outlet to the impurities of the system, is because they cannot pass off through the natural channels of the Insensible Perspiration. If such sores are healed up, the impurities must have some other outlet, or it will endanger life. This salve will always provide for such emergency.

RHEUMATISM.—Almost every case cured with this ointment.

FEVERS.—In all cases of fever, the difficulty lies in the pores being locked up so that the heat and perspiration cannot pass off. If the least moisture could be started, the crisis has passed and the danger is over. The all-healing ointment will in all cases of fevers almost instantly unlock the skin and brings forth the perspiration.

We have cured cases of Scald Head that defied every thing known, as well as the ability of fifteen or twenty doctors.—One man told us he had spent $500 on his children without any benefit, when a few boxes of the ointment cured them.

CORNS.—Occasional use of the ointment will always keep corns from growing. People need never be troubled with them if they will use it.

As a family medicine, no man can measure its value.

JAMES M'ALLISTER & Co., Sole proprietors of the above Medicine. Price 25 cts. per box.

CAUTION.—As the All-Healing Ointment has been greatly counterfeited, we have given this caution to the public that 'no ointment will be genuine unless the name of James M'All
