Attack on a Train by Guerrillas

PETERSBURG, Feb. 2, 1848

The overland express for the Baltimore Sun has arrived, bringing the New Orleans papers to the 26th, in advance of the mail.

The steamship Fanny arrived at New Orleans on the 25th, from Brazos St. Jago, from whence she sailed on the 20th ult.

The Picayune learns from gentlemen direct trom Monterey, that a train of eighty-six pack mules, belonging to Dr. Wilkinson and a Mexican, following in rear of the Government train, were attacked on the 23d of December, near Ceralvo, by a party of 40 Mexican guerrillas, and all the mules driven off.

Major Norvell, of the 16th Infantry, commanding the government train, on being informed of the attack, halted, and taking six American citizens, who volunteered to accompany him, returned and being informed of the attack, halted, and taking six American citizens, who volunteered to accompany him, returned and followed in pursuit. He soon overtook the robbers, and after a slight skirmish, in which one Mexican was killed, and two wounded, recovered all the mules, and dispersed the enemy.

A gentleman from Saltillo also brings intelligence that Capt. Lewis, of the Texas cavalry, commanding a company on ranging service in the neighborhood of Paras, during the recent fight with the Camanche Indians' was severely wounded, probably mortally.

Stopping the Paper.—Lord Byron, in reference to the attacks made on his poems, "Hours of Idleness," said: "There is no man, however, thick headed or heartless, who would not smart under the knowledge that he was held up in even fifty copies of a newspaper; there is, however, no one but a very thin skinned fool who would, as the phrase goes, stop a paper because it did not chime in with all his notions, or because it attacked him. Whatever foible I may have I am not guilty of this miserable foolerry.

· EFFECTS OF THE WAR .- The nu of deaths in the hospital in the city of Mexico in the month of October alone, among the regulars, was 186. Those of the volunters are not given. The names are all given in the N. O Delta.

man in that State, and had been furnished them for publication:

Washington, Jan. 7, 1848.

My Dear Sir: To all human appearance the termination of this miserable war with Mexico, is more remote than when the first blow was struck. In my judgment it was unnecessarily and unconstitutionally commenced, by marching our army into disputed territory in the possession of Mexico. And, I think, that Congress who, unquestionably, have the power, should put an end to the war on just and honorable principles.

After agreeing upon the terms on which a treaty should be made, they should call upon the Executive by resolutions to offer a peace to Mexico upon that basis, and during the negotiation hostillities should be suspended. If the President shall refuse to do this, in the military appropriation bills, the army should be required to take such positions as shall carry out the views of Congress. These bills the President could not veto, and he would be bound by their requirements. This may be done by the House. I hope Congress will refuse to issue any more treasury notes. The notes demanded, in addition to those already in circulation, would flood the country with that description of paper. Such an emission would constitute a government bank, controlled and managed by a party administration. We have now fifteen millions of treasury notes in circulation, and authority to issue five millions more. I would not increase this circulation, and authority to issue five millions more. I would not increase this circulation adollar, but reduce it as rapidly as possible. Such a system would be incomparably more dangerous to the public morals and the public liberty, than any other system of banking that could be devised.

To meet any deficiency of the revenue to pay the current expenses of the war, I would authorise loans at nar, paying rused. To meet any deficiency of the revenue to pay the current expenses of the war, I would authorise loans at par, paying not more than six per cent. interest, and if loans cannot be made at this rate, let not more than six per cent. interest, and if loans cannot be made at this rate, let the administration resort to a system of taxation, which shall cause the people to feel the expense of the war. All wars should be accompanied by a system of direct and internal taxation. Nothing short of this can show, in addition to the sacrifice of life, what we pay for military glory. This was the policy in the better days of the republic.

The late war with England was nobly sustained by the people, not only in the field but by the payment of taxes. And they will sustain every just war, in which our country shall be involved. But I risk nothing in saying that an attempt to adopt such a system of taxation would wind up the Mexican war in 60 days. And this shows that the war should be put an end to. This may be done by Congress in 90 days, and I pray God that they may do it.

Very truly yours,

John McLean.

THE WILDERNESS OF TAMAULIPAS.—
The territory between the river Nueces and Rio Grande (or Del Norte) is still the same "stupendous desert" as when proclaimed by Mr. C. J. Petersburg, Jan. 31, 1848.

The Overland express that arrived here this morning, brings New Orleans papers of the 25th inst.

The steamboat Globe arrived at New Orleans on the previous day from Galveston, bringing dates of the 22d. A war had broken out between the Delaware and the Camanche tribe of Indians, and a bloody fight had taken place, in which the former were defeated with a lose of twenty-five warriors. The cause of the war was attributed to the Delawares having encroached upon the huting grounds of the Camanches.

The loss of the warriors will probably excite the Delaware Nation to revenge and they will probably raise a large force to carry on this new Indian war.

A party of Camaches had stolen twelve horses from the camp of Capt.

A party of Camches had stolen twelve horses from the camp of Capt. Gilletto, on the Scio; some time since, Lieut. Cozzens, with twelve men, followed in pursuit, and after nine days travel, overtook the party and routed them overtook the party and routed them completely, killing seven and recapturing the horses stolen, and seizing a large number belonging to the Indians. It is rumored that several tribes of Indians have volunteered to carry on the war against Mexico.

COMPLIMENTARY DINNERS .- Mr. Webster gave a sumptuous entertainment in Washington, on Saturday, to Gen. Kearney and Major Bliss. Mr. Winthrop also gave a dinner to large party, among whom was the brother of Gen. Taylor.

A Boston editor alluding to the long nose of Julius Cæsar, the duke of Wellington, John Tyler and other dignitaries, says that he recently saw a nose that beat them all. It was thin and straight, snubbed at the end, and all of a foot long. In conclusion, however, it occurs to him that "it may be as well to state that it belonged to a pair of bellows."

Getting up before the World is Airen—Beau Biummel, once the "bright particular star," of English fashion, being on one occasion asked the cause of a trifling hoarseness with which he was afflicted, attributed it partly to his having breakfasted in the the room with "a damp stranger." In such a climate, hoarseness or slight cough may be very good subjects for a joke, but in this country, where the thermometer sometimes rises or falls forty degrees in twenty-four hours, even these apparently unimportant symptoms are not to be neglected with impunity. If there is a predisposition in the constitution to pulmonary disease, Consumption will tread close upon the heels of the indications. There is no difficulty, however, in escaping the danger, if the proper precaution is taken by a timely use of Wistar's Balsam of Wald Cherry. One bottle of this invaluable panacea usually relieves the worst case of cold, and restores the sufferer to health.
