Democratic Whig Nominations.

FOR PRESIDENT:
GEN. ZACHARY TAYLOR.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT: MILLARD FILLMORE.

FOR CANAL COMMISSIONER NER MIDDLESWARTH.

Y. B. PALMER, Esq. is our authorized agent for receiving advertisements and subscriptions in the cities of Philadelphia, Baltimore and New York, and for collecting and receipting for the same.

Rough and Ready Club.

We are requested to state that the Rough and Ready Club of Huntingdon, will hold their next meeting on Saturday Evening, August 5, at the House of Peter Livingston.

READ IT. We ask every unprejudiced Democrat to read the address which we publish on our first page, signed by over thirty leading and prominent Democrats of this State, recommending Gen.
Taylor as a man every way qualified to fill the Presidential chair. If you cannot believe Whig testimony, read, we pray you, the testimony of your own leaders. Again we say, read the

Pa. Volunteers,
Since our last, a number of Volunteers, belonging to the 2d Regiment of Pa. Volunteers, have passed down the Canal. Capt. Caldwell's company—since the death of that gallant officer under the command of Capt. McKamy—was received at Williamsburg on Thursday last, in the most cordial and appropriate manner, by the citizens of that place and vicinity.
W. Thompson Wilson, Jas. Ellis and David Duff, volunteers from this place, also arrived during the week, and were cordially welcomed home by their numerous friends here. We are pleased to see Messrs. Wilson and Duff return in fine health, but regret that this is not the case with Mr. Ellis. He is, however, rapidly improving.

improving.

It will be seen that the Whigs of Blair county have nominated the editor of the Hollidaysburg Register for the office of Treasurer.—
This is a good nomination, and shows that our friends in daughter Blair know how to appreciate merit. A more honest, worthy man or better Whig eannot be found. We congratulate friend Jones on his good luck. Of course his election is sure.

election is sure.

The editor of the Mifflintown Register is informed that we are not easily "gulled" nor have we "little regard for the truth." But we are inclined to believe the statement in regard to the vote of the Pennsylvania Volunteers, from the fact that when here they unanimously denounced Cass for his clothing bill, the effect of which was to take one dollar a month from the poor Volunteer; and also from the fact that while here, we did not hear a single soldier say he would support Cass and Butler. All the expression of sentiments we heard were against

ORGANIZE!

We would respectfully suggest to the friends of TAYLOR and FILLMORE in the several townships of this county to organize at once, by the formation of "Rough and Ready" clubs. Every thing depends on a thorough, effective organization. With it, in every township in Pennsylvania, the State is safe for Old Zack, beyond all doubt. Without it, we may be defeated. Let the work then commence at once.

Acceptance of Van Buren.

Martin Van Buren has written a letter to a Committee of the Industrial Convention which assembled in Philadelphia, in which he takes ground for the freedom of the public lands to escing in his nomination for the Presidency by the Utica Convention.

was seen at a Taylor meeting, it would be immediately published that the "Huntingdon Globe was out for Old Zack." You need have no apprehensions on that score, neighbor. No friend of old Zack's would desire to see any such publication, especially if there was any danger of it being true.

A resolution to adjourn on the 7th inst. passed the lower House of Congress the other day by a large majority. It should pass the Senate also. Congress has been already too long in session. The people should insist on

Pole Raising at Alexandria—Great
Mecting of the People!
In accordance with the invitation of the "Rough and Ready Club" of Alexandria and Porter township, a great meeting of the friends of OLD ZACK assembled in Alexandria on Saturday afternoon last. At 9 o'clock in the morning, a delegation of Rough and Ready boys from this town and vicinity, numbering over ONE HUNDRED, assembled on board a large canal boat, furnished for the purpose by the indefatigable Capt. David Hazzard, and amid cheers, martial music and spirit-stirring songs by the Huntingdon Glee Club, set sail for the scene of action. On our way thither, we received, at various points, large accessions to our force. At 1 o'clock P. M. we landed at the bridge below Alexandria, and after being formed into line by Major. W. B. ZRIGLER, Chief Marshall, assisted by H. K. Neff, W. Thompson Wilson, (a returned Volunteer) and Major RAYMOND, we marched into town with a procession, (preceded with martial music and the Flag of our country, the glorious Stars and Stripes,) that cheered the hearts of the friends of Old Rough and Ready, and sent dismay into the ranks of the Cassites. Indeed, so formidable were we, in point of numbers, that a story was at once started by the Cass men, that a large number who walked in our ranks, belonged to their party. If they had said that many of them heretofore voted the Locofoco ticket, the story would have been literally true. But we can inform them that there was not a man in our crowd that will not cast his vote for the glorious old Hero of Buena Vista. On arriving at the Hotel of our friend Mr. Sisser, we learned, that although a large number of People from the surrounding country, were present, the inclemency of the day had induced the Committee of Arrangement to dayle. Mr. Sissler, we learned, that atthough a large number of People from the surrounding country, were present, the inclemency of the day had induced the Committee of Arrangement to doubt the propriety of raising the Pole at that time At about two o'clock however, the rain having proceeded with. Accordingly Capt. WILLIAMS assisted by a member of the Rough and Ready boys of the place, was appointed to direct the operations, and by half-past three o'clock a beautiful TAYLOR and FILLMORE POLE, measuring 150 feet, and bearing aloft the banner of the People, was planted in the centre of the town, amid the cheers of the assembled multidleswarth.

The greatest enthusiasm and good order prevailed throughout, and nothing occurred to mar the harmony of the meeting. Porter township in may be expected with confidence to do its whole duty in October and November.

At about half past five o'clock the Hunting-look delegation returned to their boat, escorted by a delegation of our Alexandria friends. And after a neat and appropriate speech by Gen. S. MILES GREEN, thanking us for our attendance, they gave us six enthusiastic parting cheers, which our boys retunel with a hearty good will. After proceeding a short distance on our way home, a meeting was organized on the deck of the boat by appointing DANIEL AFRICA, ESq., 1 Presi'e it. A number of our German fellow citizens being with us, Mr. FIDELL WERT, the Huntingdon Stone cutter, was called for and delivered a brief but pertinent address in the German language which was most rapturously applauded. Addresses were also delivered by Messrs. Clark, Wilson, Cornyn, Cremer, Mc-Elhose, Raymond and Zeigler, amid the most unbounded enthusiasm. We arrived at the Lock above town, about nine o'clock, formed into procession and marched to the turnpike bridge crossing the canal, where we were met by a delegation with two meanificent transparencies. above town, about nine o'clock, formed into procession and marched to the turnpike bridge crossing the canal, where we were met by a delegation with two magnificent transparencies belonging to the Huntingdon Rough and Ready Club, on one of which Gen. Taylon, seated on old Whitey, and directing Capt. Bragg to give the enemy "a little more grape," is represented. With this addition, we entered Huntingdon with a procession numbering more than double any which has preceded it since the opening of the present campaign. After marching around the town, carrying terror into the hearts of the already alarmed Cassites by our numbers and enthusiasm, we halted in the Diamond, where we were welcomed home by A. W. Benedict, Esq. in a neat speech. A song was then sung by the Glee Club, and the delegation adjourned with three cheers for Taylon & Fillmore, three for Capt. Hazzard, and three for the Glee Club and Committee of Arrangement, all being highly delighted with the exercises of the day.

The Globe, with a perfect flourish, says hey "court the presence of Taylor Whigs at Cass meetings." Well you may for without hem your meetings would be miserable small Appointment by the Governor.

Townsen Haines, Esq. of Chester county, has been appointed Secretary of the Common-wealth, by Governor Johnson.

We learn from the Pa. Intelligencer that Mr. Haines has arrived in Harrisburg and accepted the appointment. The selection is an admirable one.

It was rumored a few days ago that the Hon.

Jas. COOPER had been tendered the appointment of Attorney General. We do not see any confirmation of the rumor.

Capt. S. D. Karns, publishes a card in the Pa. Intelligencer, declining the appointment of Adjutant General, for which office he had been named by several papers. Capt. K. thinks the selection should be made from among the brave

An intelligent citizen of this place who has been on a tour to the West, gives it as his opinon that Van Buren will beat Cass in Michigan. on that Van Buren will beat Cass in Michigan.

Gen. Taylor's Principles.

The locoloco press, with an annable generosi-ry, profess to be very solicitous lest the Whigs may be deceived about Gen. Taylor's princi-les. They say he has not declared himself a ank man, or a Tariff man, or an Internal Im-rovement man, &e., and that, for all he has yet aid on these subjects, he may be a thorough-oing locofoco—he may rat like John Tyler, and nake up a cabinet exclusively of the progresmake up a cabinet exclusively of the progressive democracy.

We pass by the very obvious suggestion, that if the old General were not a Whig, he would most probably have been nominated by our opponents; and that if they really thought him a disguised democrat, they would be very unliketo rouse our suspicions about it—and we proed to consider the truth of the allegations.

We mean the rules of morality, the dictates fairs of government, and the conduct of publi business. We know that others seem, by their

2. That, as it is impossible for the people to legislate in person, by reason of their numbers, they must make laws, through their representatives, elected by themselves for a limited time, and responsible to them for their coaduct.

3. That, an executive head being necessary for the administration of the government, this unavoidable delegation of power to one man, shall be limited and confined by every restriction, consistent with an efficient discharge of the executive functions.

4. That the will of the people, as expressed in the laws passed by their representatives in Congress, ought to be carried into effect, in almost every conceiveable case, for the simple reason that it is their will, expressed through their representatives, in the mode provided by the Constitution.

5. That the power of the veto, confided to the executive the control of the veto, for the purpose of arresting legislation, not of this character of legislation, deliberately entered into, after mature consideration—warranted by numerous precedents, approved by the practice of former Presidents and legislatures, and sanctioned by the solemn judgment of the Supreme Court of the United States—is a dangerous and alarming usurpation.

four of the United States—is a angerous and larming usurpation.

7. That, to sustain such practice, is to deeat the great end and aim of Republican Government; and, under the specious pretext of a hock upon hasty legislation, virtually to transper the power of making laws from the Reprentatives of the people to the President alone.

Now these are the fundamental principles of the Whig party; to these Gen. Taylor has uncontinually given by assent and dealered by:

Now these are the fundamental principles of the Whig party: to these Gen. Taylor has unequivocally given bis assent, and declared his intention to adhere. He has proclaimed that he would have no friends to reward and no encomics to punish—that he would leave the duty of legislation to the representatives of the people, not interposing his veto, unless in cases of MANIFIST NECESSITY—and that he would administer the government on the principles respected and observed by the earlier Presidents of the republic. To these principles, the so-called Democracy of this day are opposed. For nearly twenty years, their administration have been progressing further and further in disregarding and violating them; until they have, as we trust, attained their climax, in the recent assumptions of the power to make war—to annex territory by conquest—and to establish territorial governments, without the authority, and even without the knowledge, of the people's representatives.

out the knowledge, of the people's representatives.

As to the Bank, the Tariff, and the other questions alluded to, these are not principles—they are measures. It is true that no measure ought to be adopted, unless it be constitutional. But admitting it to be constitutional, it may or may not be expedient; it may or may not consist with the dictates of sound policy. What is expedient and proper at one time, may not be so at another.—It is for the representatives of the people to consider and decide on these questions. In their hands, where the people have reposed the trust, Gen. Taylor declares his intention to leave it—and with that declaration, for our own part, we are entirely content. for our own part, we are entirely content. Richmond Whig.

Richmond Whig.

The York Republican says, the Harrisburg Union scolds like a very drab at Mr. Van Buren, and fully justifies the Whigs in everything they ever said about the "Little Magician" —"only a little more so!" The whole kennel of Locofocoism is let loose upon Matty, and the way they beplaster him with epithets "is a caution to hardened sinners!"

The Compromise Bill.

The protracted discussion on the Bill from the Select Committee for the organization of Territorial Governments in Oregon, New Mexico and California, was brought to a close on Thursday morning last, at 7 o'clock—the Senate having been in session all the previous night. The vote on the Bill was 33 to 22. Three members were absent. The amendments offered by the Hon. Revend Jonsson, a few days since, providing for appeals to the Supreme Court without regard to the amount involved, and prohibiting legislation in regard to the admission of African slavery into the Territories, were adopted, and now form a part of the Bill as it goes to the House of Representatives.

History and the papers of the day tell us that Colonels M'Arthur and Miller broke their swords at Hull's surrender, but no mention is made of Cass's pretended exploit.

A Big Screw Loose!

Francis P. Blain, Esq., editor of the Globe, and the legatee of Gen. Jackson's political papers, opposes the nominees of the Baltimore Convention. This truly comes under the head of defection in high places.

MICHIGAN.

The N. Y. Tribune says that the Free Soil movement has become very formidable in Michigan. The accessions from the Locofoco party are numerous and weighty. We see that Ex-Gov. Greenly, late acting Governor, heads a call for a Free Soil County Meeting in Lenawee County. We have already given the names of other strong men who go the same way. The Jackson Patriot (Loco) gives the following:

A Cass and Butler Club Dissolved!!

other strong men who go the same way. The Jackson Patriot (Loco) gives the following:

A Cass and Butler Club Dissolved!!

The first Cass and Butler Club organized in this county, was in the tewn Oxapoleon. Nearly all the "Democrats" in the town joined it. But owing to Cass's views of the Free Soil question not being in accordance with those of Washington and Jefferson, upon mature consideration, and at a special meeting, it was unanimously resolution of HAUL DOWN the flag of Cass and Butler, and hoist in its stead that of Martin Van Buren.

Buren.
The thing is now settled. The Barnburners in that town and throughout the county will cast their votes for a Northern man with Northern Principles. The work gross heavely on work goes bravely on.

work goes bravely on.

Its Dimensions.

The BLACK COCKADE, (says the Pennsylvania Telegraph,) worn by CASS when a FED-ERAL schoolmaster at Wilmington, Delaware, in old John Adams' time, is said to have been exactly four inches and three-quarters across its face from edge to edge. When it was made, the black ribbon seffered a few yards! Like Cass himself, by this time it is a little greasy about the edge, and somewhat rusty; but the original color is there, and can easily be revived. In this respect, also, it is prototype of Cass.—This original Federalism is still cherished in his bosom. Give him but the opportunity of power, and he'll soon scour the rust off it, and bring it out in stronger colors than ever.

More Evidence.

The following resolution was passed at a Locofoco meeting held in Union county last summer, over which the Hon. George Kremer—the same who first preferred the charge of bribery and corruption against Mr. Clay—presided, and at which John Snyder, formerly a locofoco member of Congress from that district made a speech. Truly nothing more is necessary to condemn the enemies of Gen. Taylor, than the application of their own denunciations:

"Resolved, That in the fighting and the writing of Gen. TAYLOR, the idea is forced upon the mind, that his God was the God of our two wars; his, and the preservation of our army under his command, savor of the good will bestowed on our Washington and Jackson; his labors, as theirs, have received the sanction of Heaven, which none but IAMPS, base as those of the LOWER REGION, censure; instruments too base for the the enjoyment of a republic."

Riair County Convention.

The Whigs of Blair county met in County Convention on Wednesday last, and placed in nomination the following County Ticket. The ticket is a strong one, and will receive the united Whig vote of the county:

CALVIN, Esq., for Congress.

Col. Doniphan.

This distinguished gentleman is devoting his oratical powers to the cause of Gen. Taylor. A late effort of his at Brookville, Ky., is highly spoken of. The Maysville Herald says:

His sketch of the character and services of General Taylor was superior to anything of the same kind we have ever heard, and we speak but the universal sentiment of the audience, when we say that his friends may as safely rest his claims to distinction upon his capacity as a public speaker, as upon his Santa Fe expedition, which has given him a fame co-extensive with the civilized world.

A Great Speech.

Senator Corwin of Ohio made a great speech the other day against the Compromise Territorial Bill. The Washington Union though violently opposed to Mr. Corwin thus speaks of his effort:

"We should be doing injustice to our own feelings—we should probably dissent from the opinion of every man who heard Mr. Corwin—we should violate the injunctions of truth, if we did not frankly admit the power with which he yesterday addressed the Senate against the Compromise Bill. His remarkable speech was a long, and plausible, and elaborate, and, in some respects, a brilliant effort."

The Missing Letter.

The letter of Gov. Morehead, President of the National Convention, it appears was sent in a bundle of other letters, to the dead letter office in Washington city. It has since been sent to Baton Rouge, and the New Orleans Bulletin says: "We understand there is a letter in the city from Baton Rouge, stating that Gen. Taylor has at length received the official letter from Gov. Morehead announcing his nomination by the Philadelphia Convention."

The General's reply may now soon be looked for. It was despatched from New Orleans to Gov. Morehead, on the 19th inst.

The breaks in the Canal between New port and Duncan's Island were expected to port and Duncan's Island were expected trepaired, so as to pass boats to-day.

Vice President, and requesting my acceptance of the nomination.

The honor of being thus presented by the distinguished representatives of the Whig party of the Union for the second office in the gift of the people—an honor as unexpected as it was unsolicited—could not fail to awaken in a grateful heart emotions which, while they cannot be suppressed, find no appropriate language for utterance.

ful heart emotions which, while they cannot be suppressed, find no appropriate language for utterance.

Fully persuaded that the cause in which we are enlisted is the cause of our country; that our chief object is to secure its peace, preserve its honor, and advance its prosperity; and feeling, morrover, a confident assurance that in Gen. Taylor, (whose name is presented for the first office.) I shall always find a firm and consistent Whig, a safe guide, and an honest man, I cannot hesitate to assume any position which my friends may assign me.

Distrusting, as I well may, my ability to discharge satisfactorily the duties of that high office, but feeling that, in case of my election, I may with safety repose upon the friendly aid of my fellow Whigs, and that efforts guided by honest intentions will always be charitably judged, I accept the nomination so generously tendered; and I do this the more cheerfully, as I am willing, for such a cause and with such a man, to take my chances of success or defeat as the electors, the final arbiters of our fate, shall, in their wisdom, judge best for the interests of our common country.

Please accept the assurance of my high regard and esteem, and permit me to subseribe myself your friend and fellow citizen,

Signs of the Times.—New York, New Hampshire and Connecticut.—An incident occurred recently on Mount Washington, up among the White Hills, which is very significant, in the way "sign" studying people read these things.—Some time since, three young men met upon the top of that famous spot, strangers to each other, and intent only upon pleasure. After somewhat doubtful glances at each other, one of them mounted the monument, and taking off his hat, introduced himself with a loud cheer for Old New Hampshire, and another, still louder, for "Old Zack Taylor." This done, he descended as a man might who had presented a pretty respectable card to the company. A second now mounted the monument, and sounded a rousing cheer for New York, and another, of no less fervor, for "Old Zack Taylor!"—and he came down, curious to see where the third man would place himself. With becoming alacrity, No. 3 ascended, and, swinging his hat, gave out, so that the echoes rang again, "Old Connecticut!" and then, "Old Zack Taylor, for ever!" Then all three gave a united "Hurra! for General Taylor," and, shaking hands upon this novel introduction, pledged their States respectively to the hero and patriot of Buena Vista. And so you will find it, go where you will. A Cass man is as rare, almost, as hen's teeth—but the Taylor boys are all about.

Alexandria.

Since the establishment of peace and the consequent return of the soldiers from Mexico, there has been a general uprising of the people throughout the whole course of their journey, and more especially in those parts of the country to which they respectively belong, to do them honor, and welcome them back once more to their homes. The cities have received them with the splendid and brilliant displays which they alone can offer, and the country, with less of show, but not of warmth and enthusiasm, has done its share to add to the gen-ral joy. In accordance with this spirit, the citizens of Alexandria and surrounding country assembled on the evening of the 20th of July to honor and welcome back among them two volunteers, Frederick Shriver and David Ash, who had borne well their parts in the victories of the American army in Mexico, by partaking with them of a sumptuous repast prepared by Mr. Michael Sissler. The number of persons who sat down to the tables, (spread in the open air beneath the overhanging trees) was little short of one hundred. After doing full justice to many good things prepared by our host, the cloth was removed and the following efficers for the evening were announced by the committee of arrangements. GEORGE WH.SON, President; Maj. Wm. Mooke, and Isbard. Gravius, Esq., Vice Presidents; and Isbard. Gravius, Esq., Vice Presidents; and Isbard. Gravius, Esq., The Presidents in this damination of their services in the battles with the enemy in which they were engaged. Mr. Shriver in reply expressed for himself and fellow soldier their profound feelings at the kindness of their friends in this exhibition of their good will. The regular toats were then read and received with loud applause, after which the Orator selected for the occasion, Mr. Charles Byrne, delivered an elegant and appropriate address. Volunteer toasts, and speeches by Gen. Green, Dr. Gemmill, John Porter, Esq., and others, interspersed with thrilling music by the Alexandria Band, followed unti

BARNBURNERS MEETING.—A large and BARNBURNERS MEETING.—A large and spirited meeting of the friends of Martin Van Buren was held in the city of New York, on Tuesday evening last, for the purpose of ratifying his nomination as a candidate for the Presidency. The number of persons present is variously estimated, from 5 to 15 or 20,000. A long string of resolutions were adopted, expressing the utmost resolution and determination to carry out the objects and designs of the Bornburner's organization. Speeches were made by B. F. Butler, Martin Grover, of Allegheny county, and others. A number of letters had been received from various distinguished men, both in and out of the State, expressing their regret at not being able to participate in the meeting, and declaring their concurrence in its object. Among these letters was one from Senator Dix, of New York; also, one from Senator Niles, of Connecticut.

Noble Sentiments.

One of the most striking traits in the character of Gen. Taylor, (says the N.O. Bee) is his kindness of heart. At, incident occured a few days ago, strongly illustrative, of his predominant feeling. A party of friends were on a visit to the General, and while in conversation, referred to his exploits in Mexico, and the glory and fame he had acquired by his victories. "Gentlemen," replied the true hearted patriot, "it may be that I have gained some military reputation, by my campaign in Mexico, but, if I know myself, I would gladly forfeit every particle of what you term "glory" could the sacrifice but bring back to life any one of my gallant countrymen whose blood flowed like water in the accomplishment of the victory to which you allude."

MILLARD FILLMORE AT THE SOUTH .-The efforts of the Loco press to pro-duce the impression that the South will du ce the impression that the South will yield a lukewarm support to our Vice Presidential candidate, are totally frustrated by the following article from the N. O. Bee:

Millard Fillmore is, thank God, no "Northern man with Southren principles," like Martin Van Buren and Lewis Cass. He is a northern man, with broad national principles. His sympathies are not hemmed in by State lines, but extend to the whole Union, and embrace every American citizen. He is no sneaking, Janus-faced politician, veering like a weathercock, to please both North and South—no profuse lavisher of pledges—that cheap coin of the hypocrite. His course has been constant, manly, unequivocating—true to the North and true to the South. Hence the people will trust him, while they repudiate such a wolf in sheep's clothing as Lewis Cass.
