The Sub-treasury.
The Eric Gazette very justly remarks:—
Much is said—and said very justly—about the importance of repealing the tariff of 1846, but all are silent in regard to the odious and oppressive Sub-Treasury law adopted and sustained by the party in power.—Why is this so? The very fact that a judicious and wholesome Tariff very fact that a judicious and wholesome Tarifi is to be substituted for the present injurious one furnishes additional motive for the recinding of the Sub-Treasuty law. It is calculated to stand in the way of the salutary operation of a Protective Tariff, and more than any opposing agency would contribute to defeat its benificent purposes. We trust the pressand the people will raise their voices for its repeal simultaneous with that of the present Tariff, so that no se rious obstacle may be interposed to the publi prosperity,

State Treasurer.

Ner Middleswarth, Esq., is spoken of in connection with the office of State Tressurer. J.

G. Ball, Esq. of Erie is spoken of in the same connection.

Both good men.

A GOOD ONE .- The Indianapolis Journal states that a prominent locofoco in that city, on hearing that Taylor was elected, went home a good deal chop-fallen. His wife, to console him remarked "that Taxnon might die, as General Harrison did, and the administration might thereby come into the hands of the Democrats."
"Die, the deal," replied her husband, "thunder could'nt kill him!"

A Severe Rebuke.

Tennessee, the home of the President and his Post Master General; Pennsylvania, the home of the Vice President and the Secretary of State; New York, the home of the Secretary of War; Connecticut the home of the Attorney General, have all given decided majorities for Gen. Taylor; and the probabilities now are that Mississippi, the home of the Secretary of the Treasury, has likewise gone for the old Hero. Was ever an Administration so signally rebuked and repudiated by the people?

POPULARITY.—Carroll county, Kentucky, the home of Gen. Butler, the locofoco candidate for the Vice Presidencoloco candidate for the Vice Presiden-tey, has given 47 majority for Taylor and Fillmore It has hitherto been a staunch democratic county. Taylor also carried Kinderhook, N. Y., and the county in which it is situated, thus besting the fox in his own burrow.

The "Journal of Commerce," in its loading article, has "A view at the Polls," in which it sketches voters as they came up. Here is one sketch:

which it sketches voters as they came up. Here is one sketch:

"But behold these two gentlemen dressed in black, walking up with great calmoss, yet with considerable spirit, and depositing each his ballot, as if he had discharged a christian duty.—They are clergymen—no matter of what denomination—for those of every shade of belief went in at the polls for Taylor, as the surest peace man to be found in the country; for he has beheld with an agonized heart the horrors of war, and fervently wishes that the terrific vision may never be renewed. Congenial to those is another class of peace men, to which that gentleman belongs with a broad brimmed hat and drab sut. With much satisfaction we saw venerable, tranquil and datermined Quakers go up and vote the Taylor ticket, as the best of the bunch. That little "inevitable war" speech of Cass has lost him many votes, while the roble humanity of the real old soldier amid the crueltics of a bloody field has gained him multitudes."

DANIEL WEBSTER ON ADOLITION.—Hon. Daniel Webster said in a late speech:

"I say that all agitations and attempts to disturb the relations between master and slave, by persons not living in the Siave States, are unconstitutional in their spirit, and, in my opinion, productive of nothing but evil and mischief. I countenance none of them. The manner in which the governments of those States where slavery exists are to regulate it, is for their own—consideration, under their responsibility to their constituents, to the general laws of propriety, humanity and justice, and to God. Associations formed elsewhere, springing from a teeling of humanity, or any other cause, have nothing whatever to do with it. They have never received encouragement from me, and they never will. In my opinion, they have done nothing but to delay and defeat their own professed objects."

Election Riots in Schuylkill County.—
The election did not pass over in Schuylkill county, Pa., without several outrages being committed.

committed.

At Mount Carbon a fight occurred, in which Mr. Johnston, an engineer, was was struck on the head with a club by one of his party, in a mistake, it is alleged, which prostrated him to the earth. He was sent home, but he died next evening, leaving a wife on the eve of confinement, and several small children to mourn his loss. A number of others were also severely injured. At Middleport the Sheviff had a difficulty with a number of rioters.

THE RULING PASSION STRONG IN DEATH THE RULING PASSION STRONG IN DEATH.—During the dying moments of Gov. McNutta person entered the room with a new paper in his hand. It was about the time when the election returns were coming in from Pennsylvania. The eye of the dying politician assumed a momentary brightness as his feeble voice faintly articulated the inquiry. "What's the news from Pennsylvania?" Before the answer could be given the querist was a corpee.

A Good Joke.

After the tidings of the result of the election in Pennsylvania had reached Gen. Taylor, he left Baton Rouge on board of a steamboat for his plantation in Mississippi. During the passage, a stranger who happened to be a Democrat, entered into a pollutical conversation with Gen. Taylor, and in the course of his remarks said he thought Gen. Taylor totally unft for the office, and asked the General if he was a Taylor man. Old Zach said: "not much: I did not vote the Taylor ticket, and my family, especially the old lady, are all opposed to him." A gentleman at the moment stepping up spoke to Gen. Taylor calling him by name, when the stranger began to feel very uncomfortable, and finally disappeared.
