

Men and Things at Washington.

PARSON BROWNLOW, of the Jonesborough, (Tenn.) Whig, could not resist the temptation of being in Washington to witness the Inauguration of Gen. TAYLOR, and while there he busied himself in seeing sights which he communicated by letter to the readers of his spicy Journal. His impressions of men and manners are decidedly original, and his descriptions are rich in the extreme. A letter from him under date of March 2d, is so unique and like himself that we copy the following extracts from it:

"I have been present during the discussion of the Territorial question, or the proposition to admit California and New Mexico into the Union, as a State, or as States, in both the House and the Senate. I witnessed discussions in 1832, and again in 1844, and I am sorry to say that the tendency of men and manners, is downward. Especially is this the case in the Senate, more so in the Senate than in the House. Great confusion prevails in both, while that order and dignified deportment which characterized these bodies in the better days of the Republic, are numbered with the years beyond the flood. The Senate is the most contemptible body of the two. There are but few fine and imposing looking men in the Senate. Benton, Badger, Bell, Mangum, Underwood, Webster, Calhoun, Upham, Phelps Metcalf, Johnson, and a few others, look like Senators and will command respect. Most of the remaining Senators are young looking men, in a great degree inexperienced, and of disgusting mein and little carriage. Many of them are under size, and in their manners foolish. Douglass, of Illinois, weighs 100 pounds, and wears dirty clothes.

"The most remarkable man in the House, is Horace Greeley, a New York editor. He speaks fluently, but without the manners and gesticulations common to public speakers. He is an odd looking specimen of mortality. As he walks from you, you are struck with his stooping shoulders—his bald pate—his sandy whiskers—his hopping gait—he looks to be seventy years of age, while he is really a young man. He has a deep set, but benevolent eye—a constant but simple smile plays upon his countenance.

"President Polk is 20 years older in appearance than when he canvassed for the office of Governor in Tennessee." "Cave Johnston looks grey, old, dry and feeble, and a stranger would suppose he had seen better days. Amos Kendall looks lean and lank, stooped shouldered and like the latter end of an ill spent life. Old Marcy looms up as usual, and whether drunk or sober, may fitly be denominated the upper crust of all political nastiness. George M. Dallas is the finest looking man in the locofoco ranks, and is the best specimen of an English nobleman to be seen in Washington. Millard Fillmore, is the finest looking man in the Whig ranks, and Speaker Winthrop is the next best in appearance. Mr. Calhoun is sinking fast, under the weight of years and of mental labor."

"A very large party of gentlemen and ladies dined with Mr. Polk yesterday, upon a special invitation, among whom were Old Zack, Gen. Cass, Col. Bell and Marcy, Fillmore and others. Gen. Taylor was as familiar and playful with Marcy, as if he had never given him jesse in the Gaines letter, and as polite to Cass, as if neither of them had ever created any "noise and confusion" in the country.

"I was not present, my name having been overlooked (no doubt unintentionally) in the hurry of issuing the tickets of invitation. Having eulogized the President's Grandfather, "Old Zeke," in former days, it is certain that he intended me to be present."

In a subsequent letter he thus describes the rows which occurred in the House just previous to adjournment: "After a majority of the House became intoxicated, and many of them even beastly drunk, Mr. Meade of Virginia, loco, advanced upon old Giddings of Ohio—took him by the throat, and pressed his fist under his nose, denouncing with oaths and bitterness, suited to the occasion, causing great excitement, and a row generally on that side of the House! Mr. Clarke, of Kentucky, a loco, advanced upon Wentworth, and cursed him for a d—d thief and scoundrel, and every thing else he could think of, all of which he bore like a christian, but from a principle of cowardice. This Clark could charge with impunity, because Wentworth is known to be a common thief and a public robber. The House last session, had to pass a law to prevent him from stealing and franking home all the stationery. And the members throw up to him, his stealing enough wrapping paper one year, with which to print a paper of which he is the ostensible editor."

"The next scene of interest, and surpassing in grandeur, any thing yet named, was an attack upon Ficklin, of Illinois, a loco, by two other locos Johnson of Arkansas, and Inge of Alabama. The former struck Ficklin with his fist, and the latter knocked him down with a cane. After removing Ficklin beyond the bar, and washing the blood off of him, the parties all returned and proceeded to business! One moved an adjournment, as the session had expired by limitation. Old Petit, of Indiana, a locofoco infidel, who was educated for the Ministry, moved an adjournment of this TOWN MEETING," declaring the session to be nothing more. A third moved "for the dispersion of this mob," while another called out from his seat for more whiskey. To this, another fellow replied, that it was contrary to rule to bring the article within the bar, but just outside, in an adjoining room, there was lots. Well, all in all I never witnessed such a scene."

ARRIVAL OF THE NIAGARA.

Two Weeks Later from Europe.

ST. JOHN'S, April 6. The Niagara reached Halifax on Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock with 41 passengers. The Europa had arrived at Liverpool, March 20th. The Germania had reached Southampton on the 26th for New York. The Sarah Sands made the passage out in 17 days. Trade had been depressed in consequence of the Continental news, until within three days before the steamer sailed, when favorable news caused an improvement in the cotton market; cotton had fallen 1 penny per lb., but rallied 3/4, and the market closed with an improved demand. Fair uplands and Mobile 4 1/2; fair Orleans 4 1/2. The sales for the week ending March 30th, 31,690 bales; for week ending March 30th, 24,290.

Breadstuffs had not improved, but prices continue to recede. Flour—Western Canal 23s. Philadelphia and Baltimore 23s. Ohio prime 23s. Grain—American wheat 6s to 7s. Indian corn is in moderate demand at 27 to 28s per quarter. Best yellow corn meal 12s 6d to 13s 6d.

FRANCE. The clubs have been abolished by the Assembly. The socialists are unusually active in sowing disaffection among the troops. In consequence of the state of Italy, troops are embarking at Toulon, and the army of the Alps is to be reinforced. The French funds have fluctuated. The King of Holland died on the 17th of March.

Official notice has been given of the cessation of the Holstein Armistice. The Paris papers state that Matternich is shortly expected in Paris. An office has been opened in Havre for the purpose of registering the names of all who may wish to go to California. The election has been held throughout Prussia, and so far give strong indications of a large Democratic majority. There has been considerable rioting and attempt at fraudulent voting in the Duchy of Posen, where the Democratic party are in a decided majority. Some of the Legitimists and Red Republican papers of Paris mutually accuse each other in unmeasured terms of wishing to overthrow the form of government.

It is reported that the Sicilians have proclaimed Lucien Murat, King of Naples. He is the so of Murat, formerly the King of that country under Napoleon.

AUSTRIA. An order has been given by Windischgratz to hang all the inhabitants who may be found with arms in their hands, and that any place of which even a few inhabitants shall attempt to molest any Imperial courier, shall be levelled to the ground.

A motion to separate Austria from the German empire was carried in the Diet sitting at Frankfurt, by a vote of 261 to 224. The motion created considerable excitement. An order had been given at Munich for 8000 Infantry helmets to be made in that city, which seemed to indicate an increase of the army.

A letter from Berlin states that in consequence of negotiations with the German Imperial Minister, a Prussian envoy will proceed to the United States shortly, for the purpose of buying both sailing vessels, and steamers, to be commanded by American officers until the natives shall be qualified sufficiently for the purpose.

It is stated on good authority that the Ambassador of Russia, Baron Kissals, has demanded his passport from the French government.

It is said that the Emperor of Russia had declared to the French Ambassador at Lello, at St. Petersburg, that he should acknowledge the French Republic if Cavaignac were elected President, but since the election of Napoleon he has changed his tone. He considers this a sign of a still existing spirit of conquest. Gen. Lebo has left St. Petersburg in consequence of the cholera. The cholera is disappearing. The total number of deaths in England is 3,464. It still rages in Ireland.

In the manufacturing districts the demand for goods has fallen off, and the price of manufactured iron had also receded.

A Whole Family Lost.

The Keokuk (Iowa) papers contain the account of the loss of a family by the breaking up of the ice in the Des Moines river.

Two families, named Frederick and Cross, finding their dwellings suddenly surrounded by water, attempted to escape in a canoe to the highlands.—The canoe being small, Frederick and family left first, leaving Cross, his wife and two children behind on a log. Frederick and family reached the shore nearly frozen, and sent a man by the name of Colvin back with the canoe to Cross, and all set out for the shore in the Canoes. The canoe upset, and Colvin held the children in his arms, holding on to the branches, and kept all afloat. They were in speaking distance of the people on shore, but no assistance could be rendered.

Cross and wife after remaining an hour and a half in this situation, sunk. The children froze to death in Colvin's arms. He held their bodies until two o'clock; (five hours) when fearing he too would perish, dropped them. Colvin was rescued at 6 o'clock.

TEMPERANCE VOTE IN VERMONT.—The following is the official statement of votes cast at the recent election in Vermont for and against granting licence for the sale of ardent spirits.

Table with 2 columns: For granting licence, 11,371; Against granting, 23,816; Majority for no licence, 12,445.

THE MARKETS.

PHILADELPHIA, April 6, 1849. The Market is dull and flour has further declined. Sales of $8000 bbls. common and good shipping brands at $4.44 to $5 per bbl. Sales of Rye flour in small lots at $2.75 and Penna. Corn meal at $2.37 1/2. The demand for wheat continues limited, with small sales of common and good red at 90 to 95c. per bu., and white at 97c. Rye is dull at 60c. Corn is in fair request at 45 to 52 1/2c. per bu. for good yellow; sales of Southern oats at 30c. per bu. Whiskey is dull, and prices tend to a further decline, sales of bbls. at 20c. per gal.

NEFF & MILLER, SURGEON DENTISTS, MARKET SQUARE, HUNTINGDON, PA.

THE subscribers to the capital stock of "the Spruce Creek and Water Street Turnpike Road Company," who have neglected to comply with the previous calls of said Company, for the payment of the several instalments, are again notified that they are required to pay me at my residence, in Franklin township, Huntingdon county, for the use of said Company, on or before the tenth day of April A. D. 1849, any and all moneys now remaining due and unpaid by reason of or on account of their said subscription to said stock. Any subscribers who have subscribed to said stock since July, A. D. 1847, are also notified that they are required to pay at the same time and place, ten per cent of the stock subscribed, and on or before the tenth day of each succeeding month the like sum of ten per cent until the whole is paid. JACOB S. MATTERN, Treasurer of W. S. & S. C. T. Co. March 6, 1849—4t.

IMPORTANT CHANGE.

MRS. SUSAN HAMPSON, TAKES this method of informing her old customers and the public generally that she has leased the large and commodious house on Allegheny street, Huntingdon, Pa., known as the "MANSION HOUSE," occupied for several years by Mrs. E. Clarke, and lately by John Marks, as a public house.—She will be found there on and after the 1st of April, 1849, prepared to accommodate all who may favor her with a call in a manner that cannot be surpassed by any other house in the county.

MILNWOOD ACADEMY.

THE subscribers, residents of Shade Gap, Huntingdon county, Pa., beg leave to inform their friends and the public generally, that they have established at the place above mentioned, a BOARDING SCHOOL for the education of young men. The course of instruction comprises, in addition to the usual branches of a common English education: Philosophy, Mathematics, and the Latin and Greek languages. The location is distinguished for its healthfulness and the moral and religious character of the surrounding community. Every attention will be paid to the health and morals of the pupils as well as to their mental training and advancement in scientific knowledge, and every facility will be afforded for their personal comfort and convenience. The year is divided into two sessions of five months each; the winter session commencing on the 1st of November, and the Summer session commencing on the 23rd of April.

Terms per Session:—For Orthography, Reading and Writing, $5.—Arithmetic, Geography, Grammar, Philosophy, History and composition, $8.—Mathematics, Greek and Latin languages, $12. Boarding, exclusive of fuel and light, $1.25 per week. Instruction given in French and German, at an additional charge. The subscribers, encouraged by the liberal patronage which they have already received, would repeat, that they are determined to spare no effort in making the Institution one that will commend itself to all parents who desire to give their sons a thorough preparatory education, without exposing them to the contaminating and immoral influences that exist in more populous communities. For reference or further particulars address JAMES Y. MCGINNES, J. H. W. MCGINNES, Shade Gap, March 13, 1849.

REMOVAL!

Capt. David Hazzard, WOULD respectfully inform his old friends and customers—which includes about the entire population—that he has removed Standing-Stone Head-Quarters to the room next door to Prewell & Store, directly opposite Wallace's Washington Hotel, where he has fitted up an OYSTER SALOON, above ground, which can't be beat on the Juniata. The lovers of good Oysters can always be accommodated by giving him a call. His new stand is fitted up "on purpose" to accommodate Ladies and gentlemen. The "old Captain" therefore hopes that his friends of both sexes will extend to him a liberal support. CONFECTIONARIES, APPLES, NUTS, &c., &c., always on hand. March 6, 1849.
