

From Ireland.
DEATH! DEATH!! DEATH!!!

[From the Dublin Freeman's Journal.]
Is this to be forever and forever the cry—death! death!! death!!! We came to our office yesterday hoping that we would not have to peruse the usual amount of awful, heart-rending death lists, but need we say that our heart sank within us, and that our blood ran cold as we read letter after letter, and found the burden of each to be the same appalling cry—death, death, death. The humane Protestant rector of Ballinrobe addresses Lord John Russell today, through our columns, and every line of his eloquent, expressive, and philanthropic letter is as a voice from the dead—a voice telling of over one hundred and thirty-six registered deaths occurring in one week in the parishes of Ballinrobe!—a voice telling of the increase of the people's wretchedness and misery—a voice telling of the poorhouse being shunned as a pestilential snare through "the vain hope" of the victims, "that death may not all at once overtake them elsewhere"—a voice telling of the deplorable fact that the people have neither food nor raiment in any way commensurate with their wants, or even the necessities of nature, and that the painful consequence is "they are dropping into their graves in MULTITUDES."

Rev. Mr. Conway, the active, zealous and humane Catholic curate of the same place, writes to us—and the burden of his letter also is the same fearful cry as that which gives an awful interest to the communication of the compassionate Protestant rector. He says:
"We have dead bodies everywhere. I am obliged myself to handle them, coffin them, and bury them in the earth. We cannot procure a sufficient number of men to bury the dead, or of coffins to contain them. Every village has dead bodies lying unburied for many days; almost every house in the suburbs of the town has its corpse. We cannot, I repeat, get coffins, boards or men for the necessity of the moment.—May God forgive our rulers for their cruel conduct toward God's creatures here!"

Again and again we ask in anguish of spirit will men be apathetic while such is the fate of brother-men? Will creatures endowed with souls—with human hearts—be silent while the very stones, had they voices, would cry to Heaven against such appalling horrors.
Tuesday night we took up the evening papers, and said, here at least the cry of death would meet us at every line. We were mistaken. It was still the same. The wail of the destitute poor was taken up by the Conservative Packet, and rung among our rulers with a vigorous and truthful eloquence which few could command. The first thing that met our eyes in that journal, ever true to the cause of suffering humanity, was this:

"DOOM OF THE MERE IRISH.—We feel it is not necessary to utter one syllable of comment when introducing the following letter to our readers. It has been communicated to us by a highly intelligent gentleman, who would be incapable of exaggeration, and the fruits of whose talent and learning have frequently delighted and instructed our readers.

"There are some facts simply stated in this letter that are terrible suggestive of the state to which our peasantry are reduced—our once happy, light-hearted peasantry. The children fighting for the nettles is one of these. Childhood struggling with childhood—struggling for such means to exist a little longer in living death! The 'well-grown girls' cowering before the writer is another, the agony of their shame—God help them!—surpassing the agony of their hunger. And what, in all the records of this unrelieved famine that is slaying our unhappy people, can be more demonstrative of the desert through which our correspondent passed, than the driver's significant words, 'You won't hear the cry of a child from this to Limerick.' Not a child's cry in a district once fruitful and beautiful—once peopled with life and happiness—once filled at this season with the bustle of harvest preparation—once musical with the glad mirth of young voices! Good God! could volumes suggest a more appalling change than the simple words, 'You won't hear the cry of a child from this to Limerick!'"

The following is the letter:
"To the Editor of the Evening Packet:
April 28, 1849.

"Dear Sir: I have been for the last ten days through the counties of Limerick, Galway, Clare, and across thence to the King's county.

"All attempts to depict the existing state of the misery of the masses beyond the Shannon must come utterly short of the truth. All that tract of country from Killalee to Portumna, on the Galway side of the Shannon, is lying waste and uncultivated. About three out of four of the miserably huts are unroofed. Some of the former inmates are dead, some in the union, and some few huddled together in one or two of the huts still existing. The men generally have perished.

"With large tracts of land lying uncultivated, a few miserably men are employed on the roads—at what wages thank you! One pound of yellow meal—i. e. less than 1d per diem!!! Great God, how is this to cure famine!"

A SINGULAR TRANSACTION.—We find the following notice of a very singular case in the last number of the Indiana State Sentinel:

The marriage of Mr. Henry Apple and Mrs. Sarah Apple was solemnized at the clerk's office in this city, (Indianapolis) on the 7th inst., by Judge Smith, one of the associate Judges of this county. Mr. and Mrs. Apple have been living together as husband and wife for some twenty years, and have raised a large family of children. Their re-marriage was made necessary by the following mysterious train of circumstances, as we learn by a friend who was present at the examination of the case in the circuit court now in session in this city. Mr. John Apple, many years ago left this county as a volunteer to the Black Hawk war. During his absence a traveler passed through the county, who informed Mrs. A. that her husband had been killed, that he, the traveler, had aided in burying him, and had marked with an axe, the tree under which he was interred. Apple did not return, and no doubt was entertained by his wife or her friends of his decease. Time passed on, nothing was heard to discredit the traveler's story, and Mrs. A. after having continued for a proper length of time in a state of supposed widowhood was formally married to Mr. Henry Apple, a farmer of this county, with whom she has since cohabited. A few months since, it was authentically ascertained that John Apple was yet actually living. A divorce was obtained by Mrs. Apple and she was re-married on Monday last, as above stated, to Henry Apple, the man with whom she has been innocently living for many years past as her supposed husband. We have heard no cause assigned for the singular manner in which the first husband acted.

INTERPRETATION OF DREAMS.—To dream of a mill stone around your neck is a sign of what you may expect if you get an extravagant wife.
To see apples in a dream, betokens a wedding, because where you find apples you may reasonably expect to find pairs.
To dream that you are lame, is a token that you will get into a hobble.
When a young lady dreams of a coffin, it betokens that she should instantly discontinue the use of tight stays, and always go warmly and thickly shod in wet weather.
If you dream of a clock, it is a token that you will gain great credit—that is, tic.
To dream of a fire is a sign that—if you are wise—you will see that the lights in your house are out before you go to bed.
To dream that your nose is red at the tip, is an intimation that you had better leave off brandy and water.
To dream of walking barefooted, denotes a journey that you will be bootless.
To dream of eggs, is a sign that you will discover a mare's nest.

REMARKABLE CASE OF FERTILITY.—Four Children at a Birth.—Mrs. Moore, wife of David More, residing at No. 139 Washington Market Place, Southwark, (Shippin street, between Crab and Fifth, north side,) yesterday gave birth to four children! The infants are all boys, and they are as fine, pretty and healthy-looking babies as were almost ever seen. One was born about 10 o'clock, A. M., another about noon, the third about 5 P. M., and the fourth about 7 in the evening. The third child was delivered dead; the others alive, and the latter are as lively and natural to-day as many infants a month old.

The children are all as near the same size as could well be imagined, weighing each about five pounds. Thus it will be perceived that they are as big as the average run of children at the ordinary single births. The three that are living exhibit every symptom of thriving and doing well. The condition of the mother is astonishingly favorable, and her physician and nurse anticipate no danger from the painful and protracted parturition she has passed through, under circumstances so extraordinary. Her accoucheur is Dr. A. H. Graham.

On inquiry, we find the case to be a remarkable one. The mother is a woman about 29 years of age, a native of Ireland. Her first husband, whose name was Bell, was an Irishman, and a middle aged man. She was married to him about ten years ago.—Her present husband, to whom she was married about nine months since, is a young man, only 21 years old. He is a carpenter by trade, but is now engaged in bottling, and keeps a little shop where he resides.

THE MARKETS.
PHILADELPHIA, May 25.
There has been but little activity in the market to-day. Further sales of 6800 bbl. flour have been made for export at $4 50 a 52 1/2 per bbl., and some of a better brand at $4 62 1/2, but the demand is limited. Rye Flour—Sales of 600 bbls. at $2 75. Corn meal continues in limited demand; sales of 500 bbls., Pennsylvania at $2 75 per bbl. Grain.—The demand for wheat is limited; sales of fair and good red at $1 0 1/2 a 1, and white at $1 07 per bus. There is a brisk demand for corn and prices are fully sustained; sales of 800 bus. Southern and Pennsylvania yellow at 59a60 cts. per 56 lbs., but principally declined at the latter rate. Oats are dull; sales of Southern at 31a32 cts. and Pennsylvania at 33a34 cts. per bus. There is rather more activity in the cotton market and prices are fully maintained. Whiskey is dull; sales of hds at 21, and bbls. at 21 1/2 cts.

APPLETON'S GREAT CENTRAL
CHEAP BOOK STORE,
164 Chesnut Street,
Corner of Seventh, Swann's Buildings,
PHILADELPHIA.

KNOWING the wants of the community, the Proprietor of this establishment has fitted up a store in the most elegant manner, having due regard to the comfort of his customers, so that every stranger visiting his Book Store, may feel entirely at home.

HIS IMMENSE STOCK of Books is classified according to the various Departments of Literature, so that visitors can find the books they are in search of for themselves. Buying his stock for the most part at the AUCTION SALES, and being connected with one of the LARGEST PUBLISHING HOUSES in this country, besides publishing largely himself, enables him to sell ALL BOOKS at LOWER PRICES than any other house of a similar character on this continent. His facilities for the IMPORTATION of Books from Europe are unsurpassed, having a branch of his Establishment in London, where orders of private gentlemen are carefully executed and forwarded to this Country by every STEAMER and PACKET.

A CATALOGUE of Books with the prices attached is issued quarterly, containing Lists of New Additions made to his large collection, which are in all cases for sale at the LOWEST PRICES, or, from 25 to 75 per cent. below Publishers' Prices. This in buying even a few books, quite a considerable amount is saved.

As a still further INDUCEMENT to strangers visiting the city, every one who purchases One Dollar's worth of Books, will receive a copy of the STRANGER IN PHILADELPHIA, an elegant 18mo volume, the price of which is 25 cents.

The limits of this advertisement are too confined to enumerate the prices of any of the Books, or to give even a faint idea of the immense advantages to be derived from purchasing at the Great Central Cheap Book-store, but let all who are in search of Books send for a Catalogue, and buy the Books they are in want of, and when visiting the city, give Appleton one call, and you will be sure to call again.

STATIONARY in all its branches, furnished at the Lowest Prices. The Initials of those purchasing Letter and Note Paper, neatly stamped in the corner without charge. Orders for any article may be sent by mail, addressed to the Proprietor, and the directions in all cases will be fully carried out, with great punctuality and despatch.

Orders for Catalogues should be prepaid.
