Temperance vs. Cholera.

"An ounce of prevention better than a points of cure." Anything for the good of humanity should never come amiss. Anything which will allay the miseries of our common family, or preserve the fives of the perishing, should be hailed with gladness. A man's life is everything to him in this world. Hence it was that Temperance was so applauded a few years ago; hence those meetings, and speeches, and pledges, and processions, and banners, and soul inspiring songs. Where are they!!! It may be well to repeat the word Temperance, as it seems to be forgotten. The fragrance of its name is still sweet like the memories of joys and days long since passed away. In times of misfortnne and misery, we are glad to return and cling to forsaken friends. And a friend in need is a friend, need not be proved. Reference may be had to the files of papers, to the speeches and affirmations, the solemn declarations and acknowledgments, &c., &c., of the period of the Temperance Revolution. Let conscience also have full play and a perfect work; and we will imagine everything said. Of the general influence of ardent spirits ou the whole system of man, nothing need be said. Let us come to the point in hand; a point of no little interest at the present writing, viz: "Ardent spirits the friend and promoter of Cholera," or "Temperance the foe and preventive of Cholera." Without being frothy let us pass on to the facts.

Dr. Bromson, of Albany, who spent some time in Montreal, Canada, during the prevalence of the Cholera in 1832, wrote as follows:— "Cholera has stood up here as it has everywhere, the advocate of Temperance. It has pleaded most cloquently, and with tremendous effect. The disease has searched out the haunt of the drunkard, and has seldom left it without bearing away its victim. Even moderate drink. As have been but little better off. Ardent aparits in any shape and in any quantity have been the firmental. Some temperate men e.s have been but little better off. Ardent apprint in any shaps and in any quantity have been highly detrimental. Some temperate men resorted to them during the prevalence of the instally as a preventive, or to remove the feelings of uneasiness about the stomach, or for the purpose of drowning their apprehensions, but they ald it to their weit. purpose of drowning their apprehensions, but they did it at their peril. Intemperance of any kind, but particularly in the use of distilled liquors, has been a more productive cause of Cholera, than all others. Drunkards and tipplers have been sought out with such unering certainty, as to show that the arrows of death have not been dealt out without discrimination. There seems to be a natural affinity between Cholera and varient series? 12. P. R. Physicalder. have not been dealt out without discrimination. There seems to be a natural affinity between Cholera and ardent spirits!? Dr. Rhmelander who was deputed from New York, to visit Canada, at the same time, says: "We may ask, who are the victims of this disease? I answer, the sixtemperate it invariably cuts off." A Montreal paper stated, after twelve hundred in that city had been attacked, that not a drunkard attacked with the disease had recovered; and that almost all the victims were at least moderate drinkers. In Paris, the thirty thousand who died of that disease, were, with few exceptions, those who drank freely intoxicating tiquor. Nine-tenths of those who died in Poland, were stated to be of the same class. In St. Petersburg, and Moscow, in Russin, the average number of deaths recorded in the bills of mortality during the prevalence of Cholera when the people abstained from the use of brandy was no greater than when they used it during the ordinary months of health: brandy drinking and attendant dissipation may have killed as many, in the same time as the Cholera. The London Morning Herald, after stating that the disease fastened its deadly crass upon that class London Morning Herald, after stating that the disease fastened its deadly grasp upon that class of mru, added "The same preference for the intemperate and uncleanly has characterized the Cholera everywhere. Intemperance is a qualification which it never everlooks. Often has it passed harmless over a wide population of temperate country people, and poured down as an overwhelming scourge, upon the drunkards of some distant town." Rammohun Fingee, the famous Indian doctor, states with regard to India, (where the Cholera has most prevailed,) "People who do not take the disease, even when they are with those who have it."

Dr. Sewall, of Washington, D. C. in a letter from New York, stated, that, of two hundred and four cases in the Park Hospital, there were only six temperats persons; and that they had on Morning Herald, after stating that the and four cases in the Fark Hospital, there were only six temperate persons; and that they had all recovered, while, of the others one hundred and twenty-two, when he wrote, had died; and that the facts were similar in all the other hospitals." Such are some of the facts from the collection on the subject by Rev. J. Edwards, D. D. The conclusion of the whole matter is, let dram-selling and dram-drinking be suspended indefinitely or rather strength?

let dram-selling and dram-drinking be suspended indefinitely, or rather eternally?

Father Mathew.

The New York papers, having exhausted every other subject relative to Futher Mathew, are now busy in discussing his pedigree. They say he is actually descended from "Gwathwood, King of Cardigan, in a direct line, from whom was descended the great standard bearer of King Edward the Fourth, Sir David Mathew, whose monument is in Landaff Cathedral, of about the date of 1530." The grand-son of Sir William Mathew was high Sheriff of the county of Glumngan and heir of the estates of Landaff and Aradyr in 1592; thereon one of his sons, George, went to Ireland in 1610, where he married the widow of Lord Thurles, mother of the first great Duke of Ormond. We understand that General Taylor has written him a letter of invitation to the White House, and that it has been accepted. The General is an ardent admirer of the Apostle of Temperance.

of Temperance.

ICE AND CHOLERA.—The recent sudon a Sunday, a day of general amuse-ment. One writer says—1,600 died in three days; the enormons consumption of ices was one cause.

The hospitalities of the White House have been tendered to Father Mathew, by President Taylor, on his visit to Washington.

Information Wauted.

ANNAH RYAN, from the county of Cork, Iretand, in company with her cousin, Johanna Kally, came to Huntingdon, in the latter part of June last. Her brother, JOHN RY-AN, came to this country about two years ago, and she is very anxious to see or hear from him. Should this notice meet the eye of John Ryan, his sister hopes he will either come to see her, or write immediately. And any one who has any knowledge of John Ryan's whereabouts, would confer a great favor on his sister, by sending information to her, directed to Hannau Ryan, Huntingdon, Pa. She is at Mrs. Hampton's Temperance Hotel.

Prospectus of the Republic.

The undersigned will, on the 13th day of June next, begin the publication in the City of Washington, of a daily Whig Administration paper, to be called Tin Riscustic, the editorial superavision of which will be committed to the exclusive care of Alexander C. Bullitt and John O. Sargent.

The Republic will give to the principles upon which the administration of Gen. Taylor came tinto power a cordial, zealous, and constant support. It will be a faithful record of the times, it will discuss public measures in an impartial and independent spirit, it will be a vehicle of the la est and most authentic information: it will be, in a word, a political newspaper, devoted to the liberalizing and progressive doctrines which prevailed in the late Presidential cenvass; to the interests of labor, as developed in the wants of agriculture, commerce, and manufactures, and to the cause of literature, science, and general intelligence.

The Republic will acknowledge no allegiance except to the country. It will aim to merit the confidence and support of the American people. It will be the organ of no person, or party or fraction of a party, in that compulsory sense which would hinder it from speaking boldy and candidly to the People about whatever it concerns them to know.

The Republic will be printed upon a double royal sheet, in a new, large, clear, readable type. Besades the Daily paper, there will be published a Tri-week y and Weekly Republic, and up of the most interesting and important matter of the Daily issue.

The undersigned announces to his former patrons and the friends of sound Education generally, that he is about to establish, in the new "Huntingdon Academy?" building, a permanent PRIVATE SCHOOL for young persons and children of both sexes.

The course of instruction will comprise all the branches usually taught in the best English Academies, and will be well suited to prepare pupils for the ordinary avocations of life, and the more important and responsible duties of good citizens.

The internal management of the school will be with the Teacher; buthe will be assisted by the general supervision of a Board of nine genetiemen, justly esteemed for their private worth, public spirit, and correct and comprehensive educational views. With this important aid, and sustained by the approbation and kind encouragement of many of the best and purest minds in this community, the undersigned feels confident that he will be able to introduce with ease, and maintam without difficulty, such Regulations as will give to the Institution, a figh MORAL as well as intellectual character;—a character that will secure the confidence and respect of all good men.

The building is a new three story brick structure delightfully situated on the high ground back of town, and affording a commanding view of the valley of Huntingdon and its agreeable mountain scenery. The school room is large and well ventillated; and the chambers are so arranged as to accommodate confortably several boarders, who will be taken on reasonable terms, and treated with all the father or reasonable terms, and treated with all the father or reasonable terms, and treated with all the father.

SPEEDILY & THOROUGHIA OF DISTORY OF BOOMS India Utblasoes.

This excellent compound, which never fails in the cure of Fever and Ague, is for sale by the proprietor's agents. T. READ & SON, Huningdon; L. G. KESSLER, Mill Creek.

WHAT IS THE MATTER with me, Doctor? What is the cause of this sallow complexion, juandicel eye, depression of spirits, pain in the side and shoulder, wearmers of body, bitter taste in the mouth? Such is the inquiry, and such the symptoms of many a sufferer! It is the liver which is diseased, and the Cholagogue is the remedy always successful in curing it. Try it, and judge for yourself. For sale by above named agents.

BETTER DIE THAN LIVE, if I am to be tortured from day to day with this horrlible Ague, exclaims the poor sufferer whose life has become a burden from the racking paroxysms of an intermittent, and whose confidence in human aid is destroyed by the failure of remedies to produce the promised relief. Such has been the situation of thousands who are now rejuicing in all the blessings of health from the tuse of Dr. Osgood's India Cholagogue. In no instance does it fail to effect a speedy and permanent cure. Por sale by above named agents.

"How few who think aright among the thinking

"How few who think aright among the thinking

"How few who think aright among the thinking few.

How many never think, but on'y think they do."

CTHE SENTIMENT IMPLIED in the above exclamation is on no subject more fully exemplified than on that of health: But few give it a single thought, and fewer still reflect upon it with the observation and good sense which matters of minor consequence receive. As observation teaches the tact that Dr. Osgood's India Cholagogue is a never failing remedy in Fewer and Ague, good sense would surely indicate its prempt and immediate use. For sale by the above named agents.
