

One week later from Europe.
ARRIVAL OF THE STEAMSHIP HIBERNIA.

Boston, Aug. 16, 12 1/2 A. M.
The Hibernia arrived here about midnight, having left Halifax at 8 o'clock yesterday morning.

England and Ireland.

The Queen having quitted Osborne House for Ireland on the 1st inst., the parliament was prorogued by commission. The speech delivered at the close contains nothing very novel.
The inhabitants of Cork, Dublin, and Belfast, are making the most active preparations to give a loyal and enthusiastic reception to the Queen, and political feelings are almost forgotten in the general excitement which prevails.

France.

The President has been on a tour to the south. On his return to Paris he is to review the whole of the army of the Seine, amounting to 450,000 men. This spectacle is at present fixed for the 15th August.

There seems every prospect of a most abundant harvest throughout France. In some of the departments the wheat is already cut under the most favorable circumstances.

The funds are also on the advance, so that the national comfort is still within the grasp of the public.

The President is still accused of aiming at the Imperial crown.

The Liverpool Journal says he had a reception in the provinces, which did not warrant the hope he is said to entertain of being re-elected for ten years. We put no faith in the reports of reaction in France, of the restoration of the Orleans and Bourbons. The day is past for loyal dramas, and Louis Napoleon is not the man to forward a dynasty.

Italy.

Although the French have restored the Government of the Pope in Rome, they had not persuaded the Pontiff to return to the Vatican. Gen. Oudinot has been himself at Gaeta in the hope of modifying the intentions of his Holiness, but with what effect has not yet been announced.

The Austro Piedmont Treaty is not yet settled, nor from appearances is it likely to be at present, if at all. On consenting to the payment of seventy-five millions indemnity money, the Piedmontese Government further insists upon amnesty being granted to the Lombards, the Venetians and to the inhabitants of Parma and Placentia, which Austria peremptorily refuses to comply with. Both parties have expressed their determination to make no concessions, and it is said that under the circumstances Sardinia has demanded the support of France.

The Milan Gazette of the 23d, states that a rumor is current at the Neapolitan frontier, that Garibaldi had embarked for America, under a flag of disguise, and that the bands on the Tuscan Apennines merely pass up his name as a sort of prestige.

Charles Albert, Ex-king of Sardinia, died at Lisbon on the 28th July.

Hungary.

The Hungarians continue successful again. They have defeated and outmaneuvered the enemy—placed the Austrians in peril, and cut off the Russians from their base of operations. The three great Generals are now in communication with each other, and ready to act together if necessary. Their respective positions are rendered secure by the nature of the country—while there is nothing to prevent their emerging from their fastnesses when occasion presents itself. The whole population serve them with heart and hand, and bring them food, horses, and intelligence of the enemy's movements.

The London news of Aug. 3, has Vienna dates to July 28th.

The English papers with the Hungarian debate had arrived, and the Vienna public were occupied extensively in studying the translation which appeared at the above date, of Lord Palmerston's speech. This, it is said, has been a clap of thunder to the ministers. The news of Georgey having beaten the Russians at Japeo, entered Raschaw and crossed the Theiss came at the same time, and already there were rumors of intentions to negotiate for peace.

Leneswar is reported to have surrendered to the Magyars.

The Ban Jellachich was continuing his retreat towards the south of Smyrna, and Bem announced his victory to Kosuth in these three words: "Bem, Bam, Boun."

In a later despatch he says: "Our army requires now to conquer only two generals more, Julia and Augustus."

Letters from Cracow of the 23d of June, states that a number of Russian troops who were on the point of leaving the above city for Hungary, had received counter orders.

Seventy railway wagons had arrived recently in Cracow filled with wounded Russians.

Later.

From postscript to the Liverpool Courier of the 4th.]

The accounts from Hungary through Paris, Vienna and Cologne, announced another battle in Hungary, and another victory for the Hungarians at Eylaw. It appears the troops of Dembinski and Paskiewitch came to an engagement which ended in the defeat of the Russians. Paskiewitch is cut off from his line of operations, and Dembinski, Bem and Georgey are in communication.

Haynan is described in a most perilous situation. The Magyars generals are master of the whole line from Esseg to Assoba, facilitating their communications with Belgrade and the Turkish provinces.

The cabinet of Vienna is obviously in a state of alarm. A peremptory order has been issued prohibiting the purchase of foreign stock, shares, &c. The object being, it is supposed, to prevent money being sent out of the country.

On the 15th of July, a desperate battle was fought at Waltzen between the Russian commander Paskiewitch and the Hungarians, under Georgey, in which the former was defeated.

The army of Georgey has broken through the lines, and marched north, thus affecting a junction with the main army.

A letter from the seat of war says the attack of the Hungarians upon Paskiewitch's division was tremendous, and the Russians were borne down and compelled to yield before the terrible onslaught of the Magyars who fought with unexampled courage and daring.

Another letter describes the Russians' retreat to Danakess as a disorderly flight before Dembinski's hussars, and states that the Russians were only saved from annihilation by the arrival of Remberg.

It was admitted in Vienna on the 20th that the victory at Waltzen had been completed.

There has been a change in the Austrian ministry.

By the President of the United States.

PROCLAMATION.

WASHINGTON, August 14th, 1849.

There is reason to believe that an armed expedition is about to be fitted out in the United States, with an intention to invade the Island of Cuba, or some of the Provinces of Mexico. The best information which the Executive has been able to obtain, points to the Island of Cuba as the object of this expedition.

It is a duty of this Government to observe the faith of treaties, and to prevent any aggression by our citizens upon the territories of friendly nations. I have therefore thought it necessary and proper to issue this proclamation, to warn all citizens of the United States who shall connect themselves with an enterprise so grossly in violation of our laws and our treaty obligations, that they will thereby subject themselves to the heavy penalty denounced against them by our acts of Congress, and will forfeit their claims to the protection of their country. No such persons must expect the interference of this government in any form on their behalf, no matter to what extremities they may be reduced in consequence of their conduct.

An enterprise to invade the territories of a friendly nation, set on foot and prosecuted within the limits of the United States, is, in the highest degree criminal, as tending to endanger the peace, and compromise the honor, of this nation; and therefore, I expect all good citizens, as they regard our national reputation—as they respect their own laws and the laws of nations—as they value the blessings of peace and the welfare of their country, to discourage and prevent, by all lawful means, any such enterprise. And I call upon every officer of this Government, civil or military, to use all efforts in his power to arrest, for trial and punishment, every such offender against the laws providing for the performance of our sacred obligations to friendly powers.

Given under my hand, the eleventh day of August, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and forty-nine, and the 74th of the Independence of the United States.

Z. TAYLOR,
By the President.

J. M. CLAYTON, Secretary of State.

The foregoing document, says the North American, is an able, direct and upright paper, and well calculated to make a profound impression upon our own country, and to exercise a large and potential influence in our relations with foreign governments. Living in a great commercial community, and sympathizing with all its interests, we feel deeply grateful for this prompt and decisive step; but, as citizens who value the peace of the country; who respect the laws, and who would see faithfully fulfilled our treaty obligations we cannot express too strongly our sense of satisfaction at the spirit of this proclamation. Whilst no one better than Gen. Taylor knows how to defend the honor of the government; to fight its battles and to insist upon its rights; so too, no one better than he knows how to preserve peace and to protect our pledged integrity from violation, through the insane, ambitious or speculative experiments of desperate adventurers.

A Thrilling Scene.

On Saturday morning, about ten o'clock, as a hack belonging to Mr. J. Stewart was about turning into Baltimore street from St. Pauls, one of the front wheels was caught by a dray going in a contrary direction and taken off, which caused the horses to start off down Baltimore street at a furious rate; notwithstanding every effort of the driver to hold them up. The street at the time was crowded with vehicles of all descriptions, but on went the horses with the broken carriage attached without coming in contact with anything until below Calvert street, when the vehicle striking against a passing omnibus, was thrown with great violence against a York wagon, breaking its axle, and driving it in its turn against another small vehicle & doing it considerable damage. At this point, the hack upset with a crash, and the horses becoming detached dashed off with the shaft, the driver holding on to the reins and dragging after them, filling every beholder with horror at the sight! As by a miracle, however, the man escaped, not only death but serious injury, and losing his hold of the reins, was soon running after his horses! Between the point where the hack was upset and Holliday street, the horses came in contact with three other vehicles, completely overturning one, and doing all considerable injury.

To all who beheld the thrilling scene, it was a matter of much wonderment that no one was injured, as the street was crowded with vehicles, and many persons crossing and recrossing. Not even the horses were injured. The cause of the accident was attributed, by those who witnessed it, to the carelessness of the driver of a buggy wagon, who, as the hack of Mr. Stewart was turning into Baltimore street, ran into it and forced it into collision with the dray. The driver of the hack, we should say, deserves much praise for his presence of mind, as by his skillful management he prevented the accident from being more serious in its consequences.—Baltimore Clipper.

LARGE FIRE IN MONTREAL—MORE RIOTING.

MONTREAL, Aug. 17.
About midnight, Donnegan's extensive Hotel took fire, and is now a heap of ruins. The inmates had barely time to escape, and a number lost all they had. One of the firemen was accidentally killed. It is supposed the fire originated through negligence. Loss $35,000—insured for $14,000 of which 2,000 was in the Etna Company.
A number of rows took place last night; lamps were broken, and sham barricades thrown up, though no great mischief was done.
The Jury in the case of Luison, who was murdered in the recent riots, have adjourned.

THE MARKETS.
