

Canal Commissioner.

To the Democratic Whig Young Men of Pennsylvania:

The office of Canal Commissioner is one, the importance of which cannot be too highly appreciated by the people of this Commonwealth. Charged, as the Board of Canal Commissioners are, by law, with the general superintendence and management of the entire State works—with the appointment of subordinates, upon whose honesty, skill and attention, the credit and much of the profit of those vast lines of improvements must in a large measure depend—with the formation of contracts involving heavy expenditures of the public monies—with the collection, either directly or through agents of their own appointment of a large proportion of the revenue of the State—with extensive purchases on account of the disbursement of large sums of money—with power to bind the State and its resources, to a considerable extent—with the power and patronage of our great and growing improvements—it becomes apparent that weighty trusts are committed to the administration, a due and honest performance of which are vital to the public weal.

A bare glance at the trusts and duties which devolve upon those officers, is all-convincing of the truth which we assert. But if further evidences are desired, they are multiplied in the history of our State finances for past years, no less than in the personal experiences of every tax payer. The waste of enormous sums from the public Treasury, upon plans injudiciously and ignorantly formed—the squandering of other vast sums among political favorites, and in furtherance of corrupt political schemes—the amount of losses from defaulters, rendered entire by the inadequacy or worthlessness of their bonds and sureties—the unwarranted and expensive manner in which contracts have been formed but—and the utter disregard of the public interests which has characterized the administration of the power and patronage of the Board, in the hands of our political opponents, to the impoverishment of the Treasury, the increase by millions of the State debt, and a commensurate increase of taxes, are living and speaking evidences to the tax payers of the office of Canal Commissioner, and the extent to which it should be appreciated in the approaching canvass.

It is not, asserting too much to say, that the success and profit of our public works—the pride of every true hearted Pennsylvanian—depend mainly upon the election of Commissioners who are both qualified to discharge the high and diversified duties of their office, and will devote themselves to their work with honest fidelity and economy. Upon the success of these vast undertakings depends, in a great measure, the prosperity of the State; and that, which appeals strongly to the pride no less than to the interest of all, the final extinguishment of the State debt. Let the fact not be concealed, therefore, that the approaching contest for the office of Commissioner is one of real and wide spread interest to the people.

We congratulate the friends of the National and State administration throughout the extent of the Commonwealth, upon the nomination of HENRY M. FULLER, of Luzerne county, as our candidate for Canal Commissioner. Young, ardent and energetic, eminently qualified from a knowledge of the details of that office, and a practical acquaintance with the resources and interests of the State, to discharge its duties with credit and ability, we hail his nomination as a harbinger of glorious success. In his election, and the intelligence, integrity and devotion to duty, which would accompany him into office, the true friends of the commonwealth would find proud and ample satisfaction. He is just the man for the station; with abundant assurances to be drawn from his past devotion to the public interests that he is worthy of it.

We could not ask a more convincing proof of his fitness for the office, than the singular unanimity with which the convention united upon him in the nomination. Great, unquestionable indeed; must be the private and public excellence of that man who can concentrate upon himself, with such prompt and entire harmony, the suffrages of an assembly convened from every section of a great commonwealth, and liable to be divided by local and personal partialities.

This, of itself, is an eloquent testimonial to his worth of heart and understanding, who, like Mr. Fuller, receives at once, unanimously and by acclamation; the nomination of his fellow citizens to one of the most responsible offices in the gift of the State. And this, too, is an earnest—an inspiring earnest—of the personal popularity of our candidate, and of the strong, cordial support which awaits him before the people. Not a support from those alone who are his political friends, but from all honest and good men, who can sometimes, as occasion may require, raise themselves above the biases of party, and choose from among opposing candidates the man best qualified by his virtues and abilities to serve the State wisely and well.

With the importance of the office in view, and with such a candidate to fill it, let there be no laggardness on the part of the gallant yeomanry of Pennsylvania, in the completion of the work thus satisfactorily begun. The noble regeneration of last year; must be no less nobly sustained now—nay, its career must be progressive, until every department of our government shall have experienced its invigorating power; and borne the fruits of its creation.

To young men of the party—to those whose patriotism and devotion to the public weal is seldom invoked in vain—to those who moulded the last campaign into an enduring monument of well applied energy—to you, in particular, we appeal, to renew the vigor of your youth in the approaching canvass. The candidate of the party is with you in every generous tie that binds heart to heart in a great and glorious cause. In his nomination every one of you should feel a personal pride and interest. He is one of yourselves—taken from your ranks—a frank and ardent—a warm-hearted and right-minded young citizen of the Keystone—committed by every impulse, by every principle of the generous, self-devoting spirit of youth, to the faithful service, the honor and prosperity of his native State. We, therefore, cordially ratify the nomination of HENRY M. FULLER, of Luzerne, as the Whig candidate for the office of Canal Commissioner—we send to our young brothers of the State our hopeful congratulations upon the event, and in a spirit of amiable emulation, we throw down the gauntlet and challenge them to outdo us in the battle that is coming for Whig men. Buckle on your armor, then—rally—organize—and resolve, one and all, that there shall be neither backwardness nor wavering in your ranks.

WM. S. PRICE,
President of the Young Men's Whig Association of the city and county of Philadelphia.

RIOT and BLOODSHED.

On Saturday evening, about 6 o'clock an attack was made upon the blacks, residing in the vicinity of Sixth and St. Mary streets, by the Killers of Moyamensing, in which bricks and other missiles were used, to the great danger of all who chanced to be in the street at the time. At the moment of the attack officer Curran of the city police, with a few of his men, were in the neighborhood, and measures were at once taken to check the riot and arrest the participants. Upon the first volley of bricks thrown, the blacks, who had been greatly exasperated, rushed from their houses with such weapons as were at hand and commenced battle with their assailants. One of the foremost of these was arrested by Police Officer Curran; and taken from the ground amid a perfect shower of bricks, which fell harmless at the feet of the officer but one of which struck the prisoner on the jaw and inflicted a severe wound. Upon the first appearance of the rioters, word had been sent to the Sheriff for aid, also to Captain Bennett, of the Night Police, the last of whom was early on the ground with a good force, and aided materially in quelling the riot. At about 7 1/2 o'clock Sheriff Lelar made his appearance, and before he had time to station his forces to advantage, a rally was made on Seventh street by the Killers, and the whole Police force, including the Sheriff, was compelled to fly. In this attack, a number of guns were fired from a house in Seventh street occupied by blacks, and several of the rioters were seriously injured. Williams, the reputed lessee of the house in question, was taken into custody, and is now in Prison awaiting a hearing. The Sheriff and his posse having recovered themselves, the rioters were driven back into Moyamensing, and two or three arrests were made.

A number of riotous and disorderly blacks were also taken into custody, and placed in the city lock up. During these attacks and repulses of the rioters, it is impossible to describe the noise and confusion that prevailed—the cries of the rioters—the rattling of bricks and stones upon the pavement and against the houses, and the discharge of firearms, all at the same time fell upon the ear of those who were in that neighborhood and created a fearful state of apprehension. The riot continued at intervals for the space of an hour and a half, during which period the City Police, and the Sheriff and his posse did all that men could do to restore order, and arrest the offenders. Several of the City police were injured. High constable Curran was struck on the cap of the knee with a piece of brick, and almost disabled. He did not however, leave the ground. Austin Knowles, of the day police, was taken away in a cab. He was struck with a brick also, but in what part of the body we did not learn. Police Officer Wallace, was struck with a missile, but was not disabled; he was on duty yesterday. Of the residents of Moyamensing injured, the following are all that we could get positive information about: Bernard Pencarble, residing in Baker street, received several slugs in his body and head, and is not expected to recover; John Hughes, residing in Fifth street near South; was shot over the eye; a member of the Hope Engine company was also shot over the eye and is badly injured; Felix Burns had his nose broken with a brick; John Wilson was seriously injured by a blow from a club, and Terence Moneghat was struck in the temple with a stone and rendered insensible. Whether any or all of these persons were engaged in the riot, of course we are unable to say. It is probable, however that some of them were mere spectators. A large Police force remained at the scene of the riot all night, and no further attempt was made to renew the outrages of the previous evening.

YESTERDAY, every thing was quiet at the scene of the riots, up to about one o'clock, when in the absence of a large portion of the Police force, the Killers made fresh attack upon the blacks, and for a brief period the outrages of the preceding night were renewed. Officer Curran and a few of the City Police were on the ground; Captain Bennett was again sent for, and made his appearance in a few minutes and several arrests were made by him and his men. Upon the Sheriff reaching the ground he called upon the authorities of Moyamensing & Southwark for aid which was promptly met, and the Police of both districts repaired to the scene. An efficient force was now stationed at Lombard South & Shippen on Sixth street to prevent persons from passing up and down. Officers were also stationed at Lombard and Seventh and Eighth street and several other streets in that vicinity. In the course of yesterday thousands of persons visited the scene of the riots. At the present writing, 10 o'clock, P. M. all is quiet.

Gen. Taylor and the Clergy.

While the President was in Harrisburg, he was waited upon in a body, by the Reverend clergy of the borough. They were introduced by the Rev. Mr. Coit, of the Episcopal Church, who, after presenting the different gentlemen, addressed the President to the following effect: "Sir—The clergy of Harrisburg have called in a body to tender you their desire to express to you their high consideration for yourself, as a man and for your office. Your past experience in the evils of war, is our surest guaranty that you will labor to secure to this nation the blessings of peace. We trust that your administration will be so guided by wisdom from above, as will ensure the welfare and the prosperity of the people of these United States.—And for yourself personally, sir, we desire happiness. We welcome you to our borough and hope that your visit here and throughout our State, will be both pleasant and agreeable."

To this Gen. Taylor responded in the following words: "I thank you, gentlemen, for your kindness. My life for more than forty years has been spent on the frontier of our country. Wherever there has been the most of hardship and the most of danger, the government has seen fit to require my services, so that I have indeed enjoyed opportunities of learning the horrors of war. I have never been averse to war; and in my negotiations with hostile powers, as in advising with the government, I have ever advocated pacific measures. It is natural for a people to rejoice in victory, but all the glories of victory cannot compensate for the losses that come upon individuals. Triumphs will not make up to parents for the loss of their sons, nor to the wife for the loss of her husband, nor to the child for the loss of its parent. We must bring war home to the heart-stone to appreciate all its horrors. But while I confess my aversion to war, yet I must also declare my purpose to defend the country against all aggressions; and I would, that all that is dear to me should perish, rather than any wrong should be done to our free institutions. My reception in your State has been most cordial, and the hearty welcome of this day especially shall never be forgotten."

The interview then closed, and the reverend gentlemen retired.

A gentleman more remarkable for the excellence of his appetite than for the brilliancy of his intellect, remarked one morning at the breakfast table, 'there is a singular sensation in my head to-day.' 'Perhaps, my dear,' meekly suggested his better half, 'you've got an idea in it!'

FEVER & AGUE

Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Intermittent & Remittent Fevers & all the various forms of Bilious Diseases SPEEDILY & THOROUGHLY CURED BY Dr. Osgood's India Cholagogue

This excellent compound, which never fails in the cure of Fever and Ague, is for sale by the proprietor's agents, T. READ & SON, Huntingdon; L. G. KESSLER, Mill Creek.

WHAT IS THE MATTER with me, Doctor? What is the cause of this hollow complexion, jaundiced eye, depression of spirits, pain in the side and shoulder, weariness of body, bitter taste in the mouth? Such is the inquiry, and such the symptoms of many a sufferer! It is the liver which is diseased, and the Cholagogue is the remedy always successful in curing it. Try it, and judge for yourself. For sale by above named agents.

BETTER DIE THAN LIVE, if I am to be tortured from day to day with this horrible Ague, exclaims the poor sufferer whose life has become a burden from the racking paroxysms of an intermittent, and whose confidence in human aid is destroyed by the failure of remedies to produce the promised relief. Such has been the situation of thousands who are now rejoicing in all the blessings of health from the use of Dr. Osgood's India Cholagogue. In no instance does it fail to effect a speedy and permanent cure. For sale by above named agents.

How few who think aright among the thinking few, How many never think, but only think they do."

THE SENTIMENT IMPLIED in the above exclamation is on no subject more fully exemplified than on that of health. But few give it a single thought, and fewer still reflect upon it with the observation and good sense which matters of minor consequence receive. As observation teaches the fact that Dr. Osgood's India Cholagogue is a never failing remedy in Fever and Ague, good sense would surely indicate its prompt and immediate use. For sale by the above named agents. June 26, 1849.
