

THE GRANARY.
PAY WHAT THOU OWEST.

A Tale for Every Body.

BY A. C. THOMAS.

Do not defraud thy Neighbor.—Jonathan Homespan, having purchased an extensive farm, and provided himself with everything requisite to prosperous husbandry, proposes to furnish subscribers with one quart of wheat weekly, for one year, at the low price of two dollars and fifty cents, if payment is made after six months.

The facilities afforded by the government, for the transportation of wheat to every section of the Union and the adjacent provinces, are such as must prove satisfactory to every subscriber and the proprietor of the Granary assures all who may patronize him, that he will exert himself to supply an article of the best quality.

"N. B.—Agents will be allowed a generous per centage. Address (post paid) the Proprietor of the Granary, Hopewell."

Such was the Prospectus issued by my friend Mr. Homespan. Feeling a lively interest in his welfare, I visited his farm, although it was a long journey from my home, and was pleased to find every thing in nice order. He informed me that he had contracted a large debt in the premises, stock and implements of husbandry, but he had no doubt of his ability to discharge every obligation in a few years. He also stated that he had received many hundred subscribers, and that in four or five weeks he could commence the delivery of the wheat according to his proposals.

The scheme appeared plausible—and my friend was so confident of his success, that I had not the slightest doubt of his prosperity. I entered my name as a subscriber, and when I left him he was making quart sacks.

Every week for the space of two years, I received my quart of wheat, and concluded from its excellent and prompt delivery, that every thing was prosperous with Jonathan Homespan and his farm. So I gave myself no uneasiness about my indebtedness to him—for thought I to a farmer so extensively patronized as he is, the small pittance of two year's arrears would be but a drop in the bucket. It is true there was occasionally printed on the sacks a general notice to delinquents—but I never suspected that this was intended for his friends.

The notice, however, became more and more frequent, and having leisure, I concluded I would visit my friend, the proprietor of the Granary. He was evidently worn with toil and anxiety, and in the conversation of the evening, he gave the particulars.

"Here I have been laboring day and night almost two years, and am more in debt now than when I began. My creditors are pressing for payment. I am conscious of my inability to meet their demands, and I can perceive no result but bankruptcy."

"But you have a large list of subscribers?" said I.

"Yes, a very large list," was the reply.

"Then why don't you succeed?" I asked.

"Because too many of them are like you," said he.

"Me!" I rejoined in amazement, "too many like me!"

"Pardon me," said my friend in a melancholy tone, "pardon me, for oppression will make even a wise man mad. You have had a quart of wheat weekly for two years—I have a large list of the same kind of patrons, scattered here and there over a thousand miles. If they would pay the trifles they severally owe me, I should be directly freed from embarrassment, and go on my way rejoicing. But they reason as you reason, and among you, I am brought to the door of poverty and ruin."

I felt the whole force of the rebuke, and promptly paying arrears at the increased price named in the prospectus and also a year in advance, I shortly bade adieu to the worthy and wronged farmer, resolved to do every thing in my power to repair the injury I had done from delinquency.

O ye patrons of Jonathan Homespan! wherever ye are!—ye who have eaten the wheat from his Granary, without making payment! ye are guilty of a grievous sin of omission. Therefore, repent; pay him what you owe him. Uncle Sam's teamsters bring the sack of wheat every week to you, and they will carry the money safely back again to Jonathan Homespan.

Reader, if you are in arrears for this paper, do not apply the above to your neighbor, for it is meant for YOU.

A LOCAL ROMANCE.

Tradition has preserved a singular anecdote of John Thatcher, a son of one of the earliest settlers of this town.—He was married in 1661, to Miss Rebecca Winslow, of Duxbury, in Plymouth county, if we mistake not. On his way home with his new bride, he stopped for the night at the house of a friend, a Col. Gorham, of Barnstable, one of the most prominent citizens of the town. Merriment and gaiety prevailed, and during the evening a female infant about three weeks old, was introduced, and the night of her birth being mentioned, Mr. Thatcher observed, "That is the very night we were married," and, taking the child in his arms, he presented it to his bride, and jokingly said, "Here my dear, is a little lady that was born on the same night that we were married. I wish you would kiss her, for I attend to have her for my second wife." "I will my dear, with great pleasure," replied she, "but I hope it will be very long before your intention is fulfilled in that respect."

Mr. Thatcher and his wife lived happily together for about twenty years, and faithfully fulfilled the scriptural injunction to "multiply and replenish the earth." Mrs. T. left a large family of children, among whom was a son named Peter.

After Mr. Thatcher had mourned a reasonable length of time, he began to think of getting another partner. None of the maidens, young or old, seemed to please him like Lydia Gorham, the little lady of the preceding part of the story, now grown up, if we may believe tradition, to a fair comely girl, "full of gushing life," as the poets say. But there was one impediment in the way. His eldest son Peter, had shown a predilection for the girl, and the old man was at a loss to decide whether she favored the suit of the sire or the son. The one rode a black horse in his visits, and the other rode a white. There was a kind of tacit agreement between the two, that one should not interfere with the visits of the other; so when the father found a white horse tied in front of Col. Gorham's unlike the good Samaritan, he crossed on the other side; and the son, when the black horse was there returned the favor. Thus things went on until the patience of the old gentleman was well nigh exhausted, and he resolved upon a desperate step to decide the matter.

Taking the son to one side he said to him, "Peter, are you or are you not going to marry Lydia Gorham?" Peter replied that he had not yet made up his mind. "Well," said the old gentleman, "I will make you an offer; if you will give her up and court her no more, I will give you thirteen pounds in money and the pair of black steers. What do you say to that?" The young man hesitated but a moment. "Tis a bargain," said he; and it is due the parties to say that it was observed by them all with pretty good faith. Whether Lydia knew the bargaining that her charms had occasioned, tradition sayeth not! but she subsequently became Mr. Thatcher's wife, and bore him ten children, from whom many members of the numerous family have sprung. Our venerable townsman, Mr. Peter Thatcher, is the great grandson of Peter Thatcher.

LIFE INSURANCE.
The Girard Life Insurance Annuity and Trust Company of Philadelphia.
Office No. 159 Chestnut Street.
Capital $300,000.
GRANTER PERPETUAL.

CONTINUE to make Insurances on Lives on the most favorable terms, receive and execute Trusts and receive deposits on interest. The Capital being paid up and invested, together with accumulated premium fund, affords a perfect security to the insured. The premium may be paid in yearly, half yearly, or quarterly payments.

The Company add a BONUS at stated periods to the insurances for life. This plan of insurance is the most approved of, and is more generally in use, than any other in Great Britain, (where the subject is best understood by the people, and where they have had the longest experience,) as appears from the fact, that out of 117 Life Insurance Companies there, of all kinds, 87 are on this plan.

The first BONUS was appropriated in December 1844, amounting to 10 per cent. on the sum insured under the oldest policies; to 8 3/4 per cent. 7 1/2 per cent., &c. &c. on others, in proportion to the time of standing, making an addition of $100, $37.50, $25 &c. &c. to every 1,000, originally insured, which is an average of more than 50 per cent. on the premiums paid, and without increasing the annual payment of the company.

The operation of the BONUS will be seen by the following examples from the Life Insurance Register of the Company thus:

Policy.	Insured.	Bonus or Addition	Amt. of pol. and bonus payable at the party's decease.
No. 58	$1,000	$100.00	$1,100.00
" 88	2,500	250.00	2,750.00
" 205	4,000	400.00	4,400.00
" 276	2,000	175.00	2,175.00
" 393	5,000	437.50	5,437.50

Pamphlets containing the table of rates, and explanations of these subjects; forms of application and further information can be had at the office, gratis, in person or by letter, addressed to the President or Actuary. B. W. RICHARDS, President. JNO. F. JAMES, Actuary. May 8, 1849.—1y

GREEN'S OXYGENATED BITTERS,
FOR THE CURE OF
DYSPEPSIA, GENERAL DEBILITY,
&c., &c., &c.

This medicine is an excellent tonic. It imparts health and vigor to the digestive organs and thus strengthens the whole system. Hence it is justly the thing for spring, when so many need something strengthening. Let every one read the following cases, and if you have one or more symptoms like those mentioned, don't fail to try this invaluable medicine.

Severe Case of Dyspepsia. From R. P. STOW, Esq., Asst. Clerk U. S. House Representatives. WASHINGTON, D. C. June 15, 1846.

Dr. Geo. B. GREEN:—Dear Sir—I feel it not only a pleasure, but a duty, to make known to you and to the public, (if you desire it,) the surprising effects of the "Oxygenated Bitters," in relieving me from that disgusting disorder, Dyspepsia. I have been afflicted for about seventeen years with the usual attendant symptoms, viz: corruption of the bowels, headache, pain in the chest, flatulence acidity of the stomach, and severe nausea; and for months at a time not the least particle of moisture would appear on the surface of the chest or limbs, and most of the time I was extremely bilious. I have used various remedies, have been strict in my diet, have been dosed with calomel and emetics day after day by physicians, but all to no good purpose.

Hearing of the wonderful effect of the "Oxygenated Bitters," in the cure of Dyspepsia, I procured some as a last resort, have used four bottles of the medicine, and find the bad symptoms all removed, and myself once more in the enjoyment of health. None but the Dyspeptic sufferer, who has felt the horrors of the disease, can at all appreciate the value of the medicine. I most sincerely hope that all will make trial of the medicine, and with me be able to rejoice in the return of health.

Lady Cured of Neuralgia. From Rev. THOMAS KIDDER, of Vermont. WINDSOR, Vt., Aug. 8, 1846.

DEAR SIR:—It gives me great pleasure to inform you that the "Oxygenated Bitters," which you furnished my wife, has wrought a cure in her case. About two years since, my wife was violently attacked with neuralgia in the face, through the chest, in the wrists and ankles. So violent was the disease, added to a general derangement of the female system, that her strength was completely prostrated, her flesh wasted, and she rendered miserable indeed. I feel grateful for the restoration of her health, and in duty bound to give publicity to the above facts, that others similarly afflicted may know where to seek for cure. Truly your friend, THOMAS KIDDER.

For some twenty years I had suffered severely from humoral Asthma. I was compelled to sit up one-third of the night, and the rest of the time my sleep was interrupted by violent fits of coughing and great difficulty of breathing. In all my attendance upon our courts I never went to bed in Northampton in twenty years but twice, and then was compelled to get up. Now I lie in bed without difficulty, and sleep soundly. I took the "Oxygenated Bitters," according to the directions, and in consequence of its having removed all its troubles, the consequence is, the value of such a remedy is incalculable, and I hope its virtues may be widely diffused and its beneficial agency extensively employed.

GREX & FLETCHER, General Agents, No. 26, South 11th St., Philadelphia. Sold wholesale and retail by THOMAS READ & SON, Huntingdon, Pa. Price—$1.00 per bottle; six bottles for $5.00. May 8 1849.
