

CANADA.

ANNEXATION TO THE UNITED STATES.

The intelligence from Canada, informing us of the movement at Montreal in favor of annexation to the United States is highly important. An address to the people of Canada has just appeared with the signatures of some three hundred of the most influential citizens of Montreal. It sets forth the many evils under which the Provinces are suffering, it discusses various propositions for relief, and comes to the conclusion that the final remedy for colonial grievances consists in a friendly and peaceful separation from British connections, and a union upon equitable terms with the great North American Confederacy of Sovereign States.

This avowal is calmly made; and along with it goes the expression of sentiments of kindness and respect towards Great Britain, without whose consent it is declared that separation is not to be considered as either practicable or desirable. The change of policy which has taken place in England, by which her dependencies lose all the advantages, while they retain all the inconveniences of the Colonial relation, has evidently prepared the public mind of Canada for a disruption of the ties that bind her to the mother country. While the Corn Laws continued, the produce of Canada had the benefit of a high protection in the markets of Great Britain. The abrogation of those laws places Canada upon the footing of other countries—with this difference, that while the British market offers no advantage to Canada, the Canadian market is monopolized by British manufacturers.

It is worth while to note the stress which is laid upon this fact in the Montreal Manifesto. If Canada could have home manufactures she might give up the benefits formerly derived from the Corn Laws. But it is not the policy of England that her colonies should manufacture anything. "With super-abundant water power and cheap labor, especially in Lower Canada," says the Address, "we have yet no domestic manufactures; nor can the most sanguine, unless under altered circumstances, anticipate the home growth, or advent from foreign parts, of either capital or enterprise, to embark in this great source of national wealth."

The movement at Montreal is the first definite step in the matter of annexation and it seems to bring the issue into a startling prominence. It is intimated in some quarters that local discontents have instigated many to join in this Manifesto, who have no wish to see annexation consummated but desire merely to alarm the British Government and to intimidate it if possible, into acquiescence with their demands. But the thing once started will be likely to get beyond the control of finesse and such petty diplomacy. The tendency towards annexation grows out of that natural instinct which impels a people to demand a political existence of their own when the colonial state no longer contributes to their growth and prosperity. Canada, as a parasite plant would have clung longer to the parent stock, if it could have continued to draw subsistence therefrom. But now that she has to pay the expenses of her own government, without any commercial privileges pertaining to her relation with Great Britain, it is quite natural that she should wish to enjoy for herself all the advantages of self-government.

PHILADELPHIA RIOTS.—Death from injuries.—Mr. Edward Lelar, brother of Sheriff Lelar, died at his residence in German street, on Thursday afternoon. His death was precipitated by a blow in the stomach, while with the Sheriff during the riots of Tuesday night. This makes three persons killed, including Griffith and Himmlebright. The Pennsylvania of the 13th says: "It is the intention of the authorities to have the military on duty some days. The appearance of the neighborhood is anything else than what it is in ordinary times. Hundreds of people are seen in every direction and many are actively engaged in moving their household effects from the immediate neighborhood. We sincerely hope the whole affair is now at an end, and that another outbreak like it will not again occur in the city for years to come."

DESPERATE EFFORT FOR FREEDOM.—A negro named H. Anderson, incarcerated in the Michigan State Prison for murder getting some favors shown in the way of liberty to walk about the prison yard, made a desperate attempt to escape. He unfastened the ball and chain from his ankles, got upon the roof of the main building, leaped 22 feet to the roof of the guard house thence 3 feet to the wall where he was seen and fired at by the guard, the bullet hitting him in the right arm. Still keeping on he was fired on and shot again clean through the body above the hip. He fell outside, but got up and swam across the river, when he made for the shore. Here his pursuers came up, and after a hard fight captured him. Notwithstanding his wounds he will recover.

HOGS.—A Paddy writing from the West, says pork is so plenty that "every third man you meet is a hog."

Does not the echo in the ocean-shell tell of the worm which once inhabited it; and shall not man's good deeds live after him and sing his praise.

FOREIGN NEWS.

We are unable to give the full details of the late foreign news, brought by the steamer Europa. The most important feature in the news is the threatened rupture between Russia and Turkey. We give the following comment upon the news from the Daily News:

The intelligence from Europe received by the Europa, is full of interest and will cause all eyes to be turned towards Turkey to mark the progress of events in the threatened rupture between that government and Russia, growing out of the refusal of the Sultan to surrender to the Czar the Hungarian refugees.—There is something so noble and generous in the position taken by the Sultan, and so much baseness and tyranny in the demands of the Czar that the whole civilized world cannot but commend the one and condemn the other. The deplorable and melancholy termination of the gallant and well conducted struggle of the Hungarians for their nation's freedom, seems to have redoubled the disposition of Russia for oppression; and the Emperor seems determined to pursue to the death the few Magyar refugees who have sought succor and protection in Turkey. His effort, however to bring them within his grasp has met the firm but temperate resistance of the Sultan, with whom hospitality is an article of religious faith and who having promised the vanquished exiles protection, will not yield them even to the Autocrat of the strongest empire in the world, who can bring into the field his 700,000 men. There is yet doubt as to what the decision of the Czar will be, or whether his reply will be a declaration of war but in the meantime England and France have not been indifferent spectators of the outrage which Russia would perpetrate on the rights of nations and if war shall ensue, Turkey will have ample aid in defending the great cause of humanity. Looking at all the probabilities and the disturbed condition of the countries under Russian domination we do not anticipate that Russia will declare war but if it comes it can only result in Russia's humiliation. Her demand is unjust and contrary to a law which ought to be held in sacred regard by all nations.

The intelligence from France is of but little importance. The Poussin affair for obvious reasons had created no excitement. M. Bois Le Compt, would at once set out for Washington. The affairs at Rome continue disturbed and threatening, and from other parts of Europe there is little worthy of especial comment. The Europa doubtless arrived at Boston yesterday and we shall receive to day the details of her advices.

A NEW ERA IN IRON.—S. S. Salton, of Newark, has invented and put in operation at Boonton, the New York Tribune says, a triple chamber, by which wrought iron, now commanding $45 per ton in the market, may be made for $30. The Tribune describes the process as follows: Into the upper chamber of which good iron ore (any which does not turn out a great deal of slag) and anthracite coal, pulverized and mixed are placed, and fire being applied, the coal is consumed and the ore melted; whereupon it is allowed to descend into the next chamber, and thence into the next, (but not exposed to the air at any time,) and finally drawn off at the bottom, fully transformed into malleable (wrought) iron or blooms, ready to be rolled or hammered as may be desired.
