

continuation of our sad journey to some distant shore.

Even the Ambassadors of England and France, to whom I ventured in the name of humanity to appeal were so kind as to assure me of their full sympathy.

His majesty the Sultan, was also so gracious as to give a decided negative to the inhuman pretensions of our extradition demanded by Russia and Austria.

But a fresh letter from his majesty the Czar arrived in Constantinople, and its consequence was the suggestion sent to us by an express messenger of the Turkish Government that the Poles and Hungarians, and in particular myself, Count Casimir, Bathiany, Minister of Foreign Affairs of Hungary under my Government and the Generals Messaros and Perzel (all present here) would be surrendered unless we choose to adjure the faith of our forefathers in the religion of Christ and become Mussulmen. And thus five thousand Christians are placed in this terrible alternative either of facing the scaffold or purchasing their lives by abandoning their faith. So low is already fallen the once mighty Turkey, that she can devise no other means to answer or evade the demands of Russia.

Words fail me to qualify these astonishing suggestions such as never have been made yet to the fallen chief of a generous nation and could hardly have been expected, in the nineteenth century.

My answer does not admit of hesitation. Between death and shame the choice can neither be dubious nor difficult. Governor of Hungary and elected to that high place by the confidence of fifteen millions of my countrymen, I know well what I owe to the honor of my country, even in exile. Even as a private individual I have an honorable path to pursue. Once Governor of a generous country—I leave no heritage to my children—they shall, at least, bear an unsullied name. God's will be done. I am prepared to die; but as I think this measure dishonorable and injurious to Turkey, whose interest I sincerely have at heart, and as I feel it a duty to save my companions in exile, if I can, from a degrading alternative I have replied to the Grand Vizier in a conciliatory manner, and taken also the liberty to apply to Sir Stratford Channing and Gen. Auchup for their generous aid against this tyrannical act. In full reliance on the noble sentiments and generous principles of your excellency, by which, as well as through your wisdom you have secured the esteem of the civilized world, I trust to be excused in inclosing copies of my two letters to the Grand Vizier and Sir Stratford Channing.

I am informed that the whole matter is a cabal against the ministry of Reschid Pasha, whose enemies would wish to force him to our extradition in order to lower it in public estimation, and render impossible its continuance in office. It is certain that in the grand council held on the 9th and 10th of September, after a tumultuous debate, the majority of the council declared in favor of our extradition; the majority of the Ministry against it. No decision was come to in consequence of the altercation which took place; but, notwithstanding, the Ministry thought fit to make us the revolving suggestion I have named.

This mode of solving the difficulty would not, I am convinced save the ministry, because a protection only given in contradiction of the Sultan's generous feeling, at the price of 5,000 Christians abandoning their faith, would be revolting to the whole Christian world, and prove hardly calculated to win sympathy for Turkey in the event of war with Russia, which, in the opinion of the most experienced Turkish Statesmen is approaching fast.

As to my native country, Turkey does, I believe, already feel the loss of the neglected opportunity of having given to Hungary at least some moral help to enable it to check the advance of the common enemy. But it appears to me that it would be a very ill advised mode of gaining Hungarian sympathy by sending me to an Austrian scaffold, and forcing my unhappy companions to abjure their religion, or accept the same alternative.

No friends to the Turkish Government would spring up from my bloodshed by her broken faith, but many deadly foes. My lord, your heart will, I am sure, excuse my having called your attention to our unhappy fate, since it has no assumed political importance.—Abandoned in this uncivilized land by the whole world, even the first duties of humanity give us no promise of protection unless, my lord, you and your generous nation come forward to protect us.

What steps it may be expedient that you should take, what we have a right to expect from the well known generosity of England, it would be hardly fitting for me to enter on. I place my own and my companions' fate in your hands, my lord, and in the name of humanity throw myself under the protection of England.

Time presses—our doom may in a few days be sealed. Allow me to make an humble personal request. I am a man, my lord prepared to face the worst; and I can die with a free look at Heaven, as I have lived. But I am also, my lord, a husband, son, and father; my poor true hearted wife, my children, and my noble mother, are wandering about Hungary. They will probably soon fall into the hands of those Austrians who delight in torturing even feeble women, and with whom the innocence of childhood is no protection against persecutions. I conjure your excellency, in the name of the most High to put a stop to these cruelties by your powerful mediation, and especially to accord to my wife and children an asylum on the soil of the generous English people.

As to my poor—my loved and noble country—must she, too, perish for ever! Shall she, unaided, abandoned to her fate, and unavenged, be doomed to annihilation by her tyrants!—Will England once her hope, not become her consolation.

The political interests of civilized Europe, so many weighty considerations respecting England herself, and chiefly the maintenance of the Ottoman Empire, are too intimately bound up with the existence of Hungary for me to lose all hope. My lord, may God the Almighty for many years shield you, that you may long protect the unfortunate, and live to be the guardian of the rights of freedom and humanity.—I subscribe myself, with the most perfect respect and esteem, (signed)

L. KOSSUTH.

SENSIBLE.—The New York Tribune has an Oregon correspondent, who shows himself to be a sensible fellow. Speaking of gold in Oregon, he says:

"I am informed that some persons, deficient in principle and for the purpose of directing a portion of the California immigrants into this country, have sent to the United States reports of gold discoveries in Oregon. I at first believed the story of these discoveries, but the whole affair proves to be a fable. Nothing of permanent gold is gained by a departure from truth. For myself, I most sincerely hope that a grain of the precious metal will never be found in any part of Oregon. The iron and coal of either Missouri or Pennsylvania is worth all the gold mines in the world. The evils of robberies, murders, stealing and gambling in California, can never be outweighed by the gold of many such countries. Thousands are going there to lay their bodies prematurely in the dust, or to lose a fair fame irrevocably amid the profligacy and general wickedness."

SILVER MINES IN THE WICHITA MOUNTAINS.—The Little Rock Democrat (Arkansas) gives an account of the return of a portion of the party of 80 men, who left in August last, on a gold hunting expedition to the Wichita Mountains. They had brought back no gold but silver ore of extraordinary richness, which was found in a high prairie ridge, and the quantity is said to be inexhaustible.

THE MARKETS.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 9, 1849.
The receipts for Flour are increasing, but they are not moderate. The demand for shipment continues limited, and only 45,000 bushels common brand sold at 5,00 per bushel. For city consumption, the sales are limited at previous rates.
RYE FLOUR, is but little inquired after. Sales of 12,000 bushels at $3.00 per bushel.
CORN MEAL continues dull at $3.00.
GRAIN—Sales of 566,000 bu. good and prime red at $1.06 1/2, and white at $1.13.
RYE—But little offering. We quote Penna. at 62c. and Southern at 60c.
CORN—Dull. We quote yellow at 65 and white and 62c., but no sales have transpired.
OATS sell slowly, Southern at 28 3/4c., and Penna. at 35 per bu.
WHEAT is scarce. Sales in bushels and hhd. at 28c., with further sales.

AWFUL DESTRUCTION!

Broke out in a New Place!
MICHAEL CLABAUGH respectfully informs the citizens of the borough of Huntingdon and vicinity, that he has opened a new and Confectionery, in the basement story of A. Willoughby's Clothing Store, one door west of T. Reed & Son's Store, and two doors east of the Post Office, where he is prepared to accommodate all who may favor him with their custom. Thankful for past favors, he still hopes for a continuance of public favor, and will use all efforts to accommodate his customers.

Who is this Clabaugh? Why, do you know him? It is our old friend. Oh yes, I know him; I'll go to see him sure, well I will. I'll go too, for he keeps the best Oysters, Tripe, Cold Foods, and a variety of good things, in the town.

Step in Ladies and Gentlemen—Oysters are ready.

NEW STAGE LINE.

THE subscriber respectfully informs the traveling public, that to meet their wants, he has established a new line of MAIL STAGES, between Jackstown, Huntingdon county, and Chambersburg, Pa. The Coach leaves Jackstown at 4 o'clock, A. M., on Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week, and Chambersburg at the same hour on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. It reaches its destination at 5 o'clock, P. M., on the same days.

THE ROUTE through which the line passes, over a good road, is celebrated for the beauty and picturesque character of the country. Leaving Chambersburg, the coaches stop for a short time at Strasburg, Fannettsburg, Burnt Cabins, Shade Gap (the seat of Milwood Academy, under the direction of Messrs. McGINNIS) Oriskania, Shirleyburg, Mt. Union—where it intersects the Pennsylvania canal—to Jackstown. At the last named place it connects with the Packet and Stage Lines between Philadelphia and Pittsburg.

At Chambersburg, it connects with Daily Lines to Philadelphia, Baltimore, Pittsburg, Hagerstown, Mercersburg, and intermediate places.
The wants of the people at the extremes of the road and throughout its whole length have induced the subscriber to embark in this enterprise, and as the Fare has been fixed extremely low, and every arrangement made to insure the safety and convenience of passengers, he trusts to be liberally patronized.

CITY HOTEL.

41 & 43
NORTH THIRD STREET,
PHILADELPHIA.
A. H. HIRST
Would respectfully inform his friends and the traveling public generally, that he has leased the above large and well known Hotel. The location is one of the very best for business men in Philadelphia; and he flatters himself that by giving it his entire attention, that he will be able to render perfect satisfaction to all who may favor him with their custom.
He returns thanks for the very liberal support already extended to him by his friends of Huntingdon and the neighboring counties, and begs leave to assure them that he will spare no pains or expense to render the CITY HOTEL worthy of their continued support.

COVERLY'S HOTEL.

HARRISBURG, PA.
THE Proprietor of this large and well known Hotel, would respectfully inform the public that it has recently been enlarged, repainted inside and outside, newly papered, and thoroughly renovated throughout. This has been done at a very large expense, and with the view of keeping pace with the improving taste and spirit of the age. He now flatters himself that he can accommodate his friends in a style beyond the ability of any other landlord at the Seat of Government. He has in his employ attentive and obliging servants, Cooks of long experience, and he is determined to spare no expense to furnish his table with the very best that can be procured in the market. It is with great confidence in his ability to render entire satisfaction, that he invites members of the Legislature and others to make his house their stopping place while in Harrisburg.
He would beg leave to return his sincere thanks to his friends on the Juniata, for the very liberal support heretofore extended to his house, and respectfully solicit a continuance of their patronage.

700 Acres of Land and about 400 of which are cleared and in a good state of cultivation, the woodland being all first rate Timber Land and heavily timbered; and there is an excellent site for a Saw Mill, on a never failing stream. There are erected on said land two houses and two barns, small, but in a tolerable good state of repair.
The above Tract of Land will be divided into three or more parts, and sold separately; or it will be sold together, as will best suit those desiring to purchase.
TERMS.—No money will be required for five years, provided good security is given by the purchaser or purchasers. An indisputable title will be given. The property will be positively sold at the above time and place.
Any further information can be had by applying to either of the undersigned.
