Arrival of the Steamship Niagara.

The Steamship, Niagara, from Liverpool, with two weeks' later news from Europe, arrived at Boston on Friday last. We give her most important news: Cotton had advanced fully a quarter of a penny per lb. The price of flour had suffered a slight decline of about six pence per bbl. Corn had also declined about six pence per quarter.

France.

An aid-de-camp of General Baraguay De Hilliers has just reached Paris with important despatches, the nature of which has, in part transpired. It would seem that there is little likelihood of an understanding being come to between the gallant General and the Government of the Cardinals, owing to the manifest jealousy of French influence entertained by the latter. While the Cardinals are for placing the Pope under the protection of a mixed garrison of Austrians and Italians, Gen. De Hilliers insists upon leaving a French force of 12,000 men in the city of Rome. This proposition has been met by the Cardinals with a decided refusal, and affairs are as far as ever from being arranged.

The French funds continue to rise.—The Five per Cents have reached 94f. 55c.

Austria.

The Breslau Gazette of the 6th, says that the public mind in Vienna is much taken up with reports of a coup d'etat—reports which are even current in military circles. The day named for putting it into effect was the 6th or 7th instant. The military measures are really formidable. Within a circle of six miles around Vienna, the houses are full of soldiers. There are at least 50,000 men in Vienna, and 50,000 more could be poured in by the railways in the course of three or four days.

The reply of the Austrian Cabinet to a note from Prussia, on the subject of the Erfurt Assembly is as follows:—The Austrian Cabinet is sorry to find that its former communication, instead of producing the desired effect upon Prussia, has elicited replies, which, though evasive, are full of significance. In its former remonstrances, the Austrian Cabinet fully stated its view of the question and of the consequences of the step which Prussia was taking. Since these remonstrances were unheeded, Austria will not condescend to wage a war of words with the Prussian Cabinet but reserving all her objections, protests and rights till a further opportunity, she wishes it to be understood that her silence is not to be construed into an acquiescence with the Prussian project, nor with a dereliction of her rights."

General Count Wilna, who commanded the imperialists when they were defeated at Raab by the Hungarians, has committed suicide at Verona. The typhus fever was raging fearfully at Verona on the 20th ult. No less than thirty medical men had been seized with it from visiting their patients.

Prussia.

BERLIN, Jan. 7.—It is understood that the ministerial crisis was over, and that on this day the Chambers would receive a royal message proposing the oath to be taken to the Constitution, and accepting the same with some slight amendments.

Turkey.

The correspondent of the London Times, under date of Dec. 19th, says:—A courier has arrived here from St. Petersburg with the Emperor's answer to the last communication made to his Imperial Highness by the Sublime Porte, with regard to the question of the Polish and Hungarian Refugees.

In a former letter I told you that the Turkish Ministers were willing to consent to the expulsion of the Poles who had been concerned in the late Hungarian insurrection, but they objected to the expulsion of the Polish refugees who were resident in Turkey previously to that event, and who were provided with French and other passports. The Czar has agreed to the terms proposed by the Porte, and Dembinski and the other Poles who served in Hungary are to be expelled.

Their countrymen resident in Turkey who were not concerned in that insurrection are to remain unmolested. If, however, any one, without reference to the country under whose protection he may be, shall, while resident in the Ottoman Empire, be guilty of any act hostile to the Government of the Emperor Nicholas, he shall, at the demand of the Russian Envoy, be expelled from the Sultan's dominions.

Kossuth and the Hungarian refugees are to be confined in a fortified tower in the interior. They are not to be close prisoners, but their place of residence will be under the constant surveillance of the Turkish authorities.

The correspondent of the Morning Herald, however, writing on the same day, asserts that the Emperor of Russia has refused to accept the Sultan's guarantee for the conduct of the Poles, and that the matter is as far from being settled as ever.

There is a philanthropist in Boston who drinks all the brandy he can get, in order to "get the cursed stuff out of the country." He thinks rum ought to be put down. One murder, two attempts at murder, and one suicide are recorded in the Cincinnati papers of the 14th; besides any quantity of minor offences.

The Parkman Case.

More developments.—The Tan Box.—Attempt of Prof. Webster to induce a Woman to make a Wrong Statement.—The Trial &c., &c.

We find the following additional particulars relative to this horrid affair in a fourth edition of the Boston Herald of Tuesday:

A few of the developments made before the Grand Jury relative to this extraordinary case have leaked out and from the subject of public comment. The circumstance of finding in Prof. Webster's laboratory the thorax and one of the thighs of a human being, imbedded in tan, in a tea box, will of course be recollected by our readers. A striking feature calculated to involve the Professor still more completely in the horrid affair, is among the disclosures recently made.

It appears that the tan in which the remains were found, was brought from Professor Webster's house in Cambridge by Mr. Sawin, the expressman, at the same time he conveyed the grapevine cuttings to the Professor's laboratory.—These cuttings, it has already been stated, could be used in burning the body, and concealing the offensive odor. The fact, then, of the remains being discovered in Professor Webster's laboratory, partially charred by burning—the unusual material used in consuming them—and above all, the circumstance that the tan in which they were concealed, was brought from the Professor's own house at his own request—form one of the most startling developments implicating the Professor that has yet been made public.

We learn that a Mrs. Bent, who resides in Cambridgeport, near the bridge testified before the Grand Jury to the fact that the Professor had called upon her a day or two after the disappearance of Dr. Parkman, and asked her if she could not state that she recognized the Dr. on passing the bridge. Upon her replying that she did not, he urged her to reflect carefully and discover whether such a circumstance could not be recalled to her mind. She still insisted upon her ignorance in the matter, and Professor Webster exclaimed, "Alas! I fear the poor Doctor has been murdered."

It will be recollected that the tollman on the other end of the bridge, has asserted that the Doctor passed him on the afternoon of the day of his disappearance. This was known to the Professor and his effort to induce Mrs. Bent to make a similar statement, for the purpose of corroborating the toll-man, would seem to indicate a deeply laid scheme to get the impression abroad that the Doctor had passed over the bridge after the period of entering the Medical College. On the night of his arrest, the Professor requested the officers to take a different course from that in which they were going, for the purpose of calling on Mrs. Bent, and interrogating her again on the subject.

The multitude of witnesses in the case have given recognisances to appear on the first Monday in March, in the Supreme Judicial Court, at which time the prisoner will be arraigned, and the case probably proceeded with.

The Boston Traveller, of Tuesday, says:—The witnesses in the Parkman case were all recognised yesterday in $100 each; to appear at the March term of the Supreme Court, to testify as to what they know in the matter of the charges against Prof. Webster.

The Transcript has the same story as follows:—It has been stated—we know not how correctly—that the Grand Jury were unanimous in voting the bill. Forty-six witnesses were yesterday recognised to appear at the trial in the Supreme Judicial Court.

Life.

It is a trite remark that youth is the happiest portion of life, but like many other wise sayings, it passes unheeded, till at some late period in the great journey we look back, and by a comparison of the past and present, are forced to feel and confess the truth which we have before doubted or condemned. Mankind are ever tempted to think that there is something better in the future, than is afforded by the present; if they are not happy yet, they still indulge bright anticipations. They are reluctant, even when advanced in years, to believe that the noon of life's joys is past. It is not till the shadows, dark and defined, are creeping around us, and forcing us to deal honestly with ourselves, that we admit the truth—that life is made up of a series of illusions; that we are constantly pursuing bubbles, which seem bright at a distance, and allure us into the chase, but which fly from our pursuit, or if reached, burst in the hand that grasps them. It is not till we are already at the landing, and about to step into the bark that is to bear us from the shore, that we come to the conclusion that human life is a chase, in which the game is nothing, and the pursuit every thing; and that the brightest and best portion of the chase is found in the spring morning, when the faculties are fresh; fancy pure, and all nature robed in dew, and chiming with the music of birds, and bees, and waterfalls. It is something to have enjoyed life, even if that enjoyment may not come back again, for memory can revive the past, and at least bring back its cheers.

Rev. John Wm. Heim, pastor of the Lutheran Church at Loxville, Perry county, Pa., died on the 27th ult., in the 68th year of his age.

Three Young Ladies Drowned.

Three young ladies, one the daughter of Judge Woodward, (Ellen M.), the second Miss Ann Butler, a resident of his family, and the third a Miss Mary R. Benner, of Bellefonte, Pa., who was visiting for a short time in the family of Judge W., left their home in Kingston, to walk over to Wilkesbarre (about one mile) on Saturday last. The water of the Susquehanna had risen over the flat lands and rendered the road impassable for wagons, and on Friday night had frozen to the thickness perhaps of two or three inches. They undertook, in perfect safety as they supposed, to walk on the ice from the house to the bridge and amuse themselves in sliding along; but in attempting to cross a small pond of broken water, (so called,) which had been frozen over, Miss Benner broke through, followed immediately by the other two and all three were drowned, no proper assistance being at hand. The alarm was given by one of two little girls who accompanied them, to some citizens of Kingston who hastened to the spot, a shawl upon the ice designating it to them. By placing boards, they succeeded in reaching the hole in the ice and bringing up the bodies; but life was extinct, and all their efforts to restore it were fruitless, the bodies having been in the water a half hour. This sad event is deeply deplored in the community where the young ladies resided, and where they were highly respected.

KITTANNING IRON WORKS.—This extensive establishment is about suspending operations for an indefinite period. The depressed condition of the iron market is the cause of the suspension. Messrs. Brown, Phillips & Co., the owners will not risk the large capital invested, by continuing a business which at the present prices of manufactured iron, will not only not pay, but must inevitably lead to ruin. This suspension will fall heavily on several hundred persons dependant on the works for a livelihood, and have a depressing effect upon the markets and upon real estate. Here are some of the unmistakable fruits of the Tarif law of 1846, so much vaunted by the leaders of Locofocoism. And, unless the present Congress comes to the rescue, and enacts a law similar to that of 1842, the iron business of the country will be speedily ruined, and Great Britain have the complete monopoly and entire control of that important interest.—Kittanning Free Press.

Socialism in France.

The Paris correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger, says:

"Seizures continue of the journals.—The Reformer, for example, for having published the address of the Democratic Exiles in London, which ends with the customary political aspiration. Do not imagine that Socialism is on the wane in the Provinces. What Martin Luther's trumpet note of reform was in his country, so is Socialism in this. Nothing can stifle it. Ledru Rollin, the great political leader, who brought on the February Revolution, has just issued a powerful pamphlet, entitled 'The Thirteenth of June,' giving an account, and doubtless a true one, of that event. He wrote it from London. The government seized the edition. But a fresh one is out, working through Paris like electricity, under the nose of the police. 'In the Provinces, juries acquit the Socialists. Monance, too, overawes the juries. The object of the Socialists is to get the majority—to remodel the Constitution so as to dispense with the office of President, which they view as an Imperial warming-pan.
