

HUNTINGDON, TUESDAY, MAY 21, 1850.

TERMS:
 The "Huntingdon Journal" is published at the following rates, viz: $1.75 a year, if paid in advance; $2.00 if paid during the year, and $2.50 if not paid until after the expiration of the year. The above terms to be adhered to in all cases.
 No subscription taken for less than six months, and no paper discontinued until all arrearages are paid, unless at the option of the publisher.

Auditor's Notices.
 On account of the difficulties heretofore experienced in collecting pay for publishing Auditor's Notices, we have determined to insert none hereafter unless paid in advance, or the payment is assumed by some responsible person. Our charge is $1.25.

Hon. S. Calvin will accept our thanks for Congressional favors.

An Apology.
 We issued no paper last week. A press of job work rendered it entirely beyond our power to do so. We could not disappoint those who had favored us with their work without seriously affecting their interests, and hence we were reluctantly compelled to disappoint our readers for one week. We shall make up for this at some future time, and promise that it shall not so occur again if within our power to prevent it. The same cause has prevented us from giving that attention to our paper this week which we desired.

See new advertisements. Valuable real estate is offered for sale.

ICE CREAM.—We cannot say that as yet the evenings have been decidedly warm; but we do say that Louis Schneider is serving up ICE CREAM at his establishment, so delicious, that it is not "hard to take," let the weather be as it may. Ladies and Gentlemen, if you don't believe us, step into Mr. Schneider's Saloon, and judge of his Cream for yourselves. See card.

SCHOOL BOOKS.—Those wishing to buy school books, would do well to call at the Book Store of H. W. Smith, who, it will be seen by his card, offers them at greatly reduced prices.

GODDY'S LADY'S BOOK for June is received, and is a rich number, both in engravings and matter. He promises a magnificent Book for July, and Godley always more than fulfils his promises. Back numbers from January can be supplied.

AMERICAN ART UNION.—The Annual Report of this Institution for 1849, is before us. We have not had time to give it much examination, but it affords us pleasure to learn, from a hasty glance at its pages, that the Institution is in a flourishing condition, and that the objects of the projectors—the promotion of the Fine Arts in the United States—is being crowned with brilliant success. The subscribers for the year number eighteen thousand nine hundred and sixty. All who have a taste for the fine arts should become members of this Institution.

Mr. J. SMITH has been appointed Honorary Secretary for this county, to whom persons wishing to subscribe can apply.

To Correspondents.
 Several communications have been overlooked until too late for publication this week. We shall give attention to them in our next. The poetic effusion of a son of an esteemed friend and patron, is rejected. The production evinces talent, but does not possess sufficient merit to be given to the public.

A letter from California, written by a son of Mr. James Stewart, of West township, in this county, and left with us for publication, has been mislaid, and we are unable to lay our hands on it. We regret this, as the letter contained much interesting information, which we were anxious to lay before our readers. We omitted noticing the loss of this letter sooner, in the hope that it would turn up amongst some of our papers.

Some evil disposed persons are trying to make the impression that the editor of the Blair County Whig is vexed at us, and that his article of last week, headed "the Huntingdon Journal," was intended to be offensive to us personally. But we are not so verdant as to believe a word of this. We know the editor of that paper too well to believe that he would be so nicely sensitive as to be offended at us for our complimentary notice of himself, a few weeks since. We know the Major's modesty is easily shocked by flattery; but then our principal compliments were quoted from his own paper. He is surely not angry with us for re-publishing that which he had endorsed. It is true, the Major says something about our heart being "clothed with wrangled venom," but he certainly means nothing by it;—the expression, we apprehend, was intended to be entirely figurative, and we might add, purely original. Gentlemen of high wrought and lively imaginations, often drop from their lips and pens expressions offensive to the taste of those not fitted by nature and education to soar so high, and it is not fair to hold them to a strict account in so doing. Their imaginations must be allowed a liberal scope. And on this ground we entirely excuse our 'personal friends' of the Blair County Whig, for the elevated train of thought indulged in by him last week, relative to the editor of the Huntingdon Journal.

A "split" has occurred in the Locofoco party of Blair county, resulting in the appointment of two sets of Delegates to the Williamsport Convention. H. L. Patterson represents one faction of the party, and Adam Moses the other.

Working-Men Ahoy!
 It is high time for the working-men of Pennsylvania—by which we mean farmers, manufacturers, merchants, mechanics, tradesmen, laborers,—every body in fact but rich or poor loafers, who won't work if they have a chance—to take active measures to have the doctrine of Protection to Home Industry re-incorporated in our Tariff Laws. It is getting to be clearer every day, that they must either put down the Tariff of '46 or be put down themselves. Both cannot stand together. Under the present system Great Britain is the workshop for America.—The money that should stay here to keep our people employed, is sent to England to enrich British manufacturers and working-men. The policy of the day is to import British iron and export American gold.

There is but one way to arrest the evil. It is to call meetings in every city, town and village, in favor of increased duties on the great staples of Pennsylvania—to pour petitions day after day into both Houses of Congress—to write letters to our representatives—and to show them that we are in earnest. It must come to that at last, and the sooner we begin the sooner can we hope to succeed.

We do not urge this as a party, but a Pennsylvania measure.—It concerns all—Whigs and Democrats.—The two parties have a sufficient number of exciting questions to discuss, without quarrelling about the propriety of a measure so vital to their interests, in regard to which they should be of one mind and one heart.

So says the Reading Journal, and we heartily endorse it.

Party Desperation.
 It will be seen, by reference to our Harrisburg letter, that on Monday last a most disgraceful scene was enacted in the House of Representatives at Harrisburg. Because their political villainy was about to be thwarted by the passage of something like a fair apportionment bill, forty-two Locofocos banded together to stop Legislation by refusing to vote! And during the whole of that day this revolutionary movement was adhered to, the forty-two refusing to vote, which left the House without a quorum. The Pa. Intelligencer says, that at the head of this desperate movement was James M. Porter, a man reeking with political profligacy and corruption, who is notorious for his disregard of law and order when he has a favorite political object to accomplish.—That he should have advised and resorted to such a course, surprised no one; but it did surprise many of both parties, that such counsel from such a quarter, would be followed by such men as Judge Conyngham, Andrew Beadmont, the pious Father Meek, and some others we might name, who had some character to lose.

An Outrage on the Tax-Payers.
 A few years since a Law was passed to the effect that whenever our Legislature remained in session more than one hundred days, the pay of the members should be reduced to one dollar and a half. This Law was intended to limit the sessions to one hundred days—long enough to do all the Legislation required by the People. In 1847, when the Whigs had a majority in the Legislature the session ended on the 16th of March, all the business being done. This year the Locofocos had a majority in both branches, and having chartered banks enough to supply a generation with bank rags, created all kinds of monopolies, and squandered the hundred days in granting special privileges to the few, and conducting political schemes, they show their utter disregard of the interests of the Tax-payers, by VOTING THEMSELVES THREE DOLLARS A DAY for all the time uselessly spent over one hundred days! This is the Locofoco reform promised to the People! It is perfectly characteristic however. The spoils is the main feature in the Locofoco creed. And he who can manage to secure the largest amount of public money, is considered the most efficient member of the party.

The Cuban Expedition.
 The New York Sun makes some further disclosures in reference to the expedition for the invasion of Cuba. The whole force is on its way. The point of landing is to be either at the Isle of Pines, a small island on the southern side of the western end of Cuba, or Baracoa, a small port on the eastern extreme—the commander to make selection between the two when all the vessels shall have met at their rendezvous. The object of landing at Baracoa is to make an easy conquest of St. Jagode Cuba, the capital of the Island. The whole Spanish force on the Island is stated at 20,000, but of these about 10,000 will be kept at Havana, and it is thought impossible for more than 3,000 to concentrate at any point away from their fortresses. The Sun calculates that 1,000 Americans will be more than a match for any 5,000 Spaniards, and also thinks that Gen. Lopez's popularity will cause some defection among the Spanish troops. We shall hear more soon.

New Banking House.
 In another column will be found the advertisement of a New Banking House in Hollidaysburg of which Mr. R. BRYAN is Cashier. The Hollidaysburg Register in noticing the new House says: Mr. BRYAN, (formerly Agent of the "Farmer's Bank of Lancaster" in this place,) has associated with him a number of other capitalists, and opened a Banking House at the old stand, opposite the Post Office. The former Institution was eminently useful in improving the currency of the neighborhood, and if the present establishment renders a like public service, it will be deserving of like flattering encouragement. We are pleased to note that Mr. BRYAN is Cashier.

As agent of the Bank he won universal esteem.

STATE TREASURER.—Gen. Bickell, the newly elected Locofoco State Treasurer entered upon the duties of his office, on Monday, the 6th inst: Asa Dimmock, Esq. of Susquehanna county, has been appointed Chief Clerk, or Cashier; Mr. R. McLaughlin, of Westmoreland county, Clerk; and James Fager, of Schuylkill, Messenger.—The other appointments have not been made.

Apportionment Bill.
 The following is the bill to Apportion the State for the election of Senators and representatives, as passed finally by the Legislature. The bill is tolerably fair in its provisions—much fairer than a large majority of the Locofoco members intended it should be.

Triumph of Mr. Ball.
 The special committee appointed by the House of Representatives to investigate certain charges against Gideon J. Ball, the late State Treasurer, reported at length on Tuesday last. The report of the Committee is unanimous, and fully exonerates Mr. Ball from any charge preceding in the discharge of his duty.

The report is honorable in the highest degree to Mr. Ball, and must enable him to retire from office with feelings of the proudest satisfaction. The investigation has resulted not only in his entire acquittal from all the charges preferred against him, but in securing him the most decided testimonials of approbation from his political opponents. His efforts to save the laborer from a vitiated currency, and his earnest desire to cherish the credit of the Commonwealth, are both affirmed by the unanimous report of the committee; and though it was not strictly within their province to pass judgment upon his labors generally, they have, throughout their report, given evidence of their conviction that he discharged these intelligently, wisely, earnestly, and without unselfish regard to the interests committed to his charge.

The Census Bill.
 On the 13th inst., in the Senate, Mr. Davis, from the Select Committee on the census bill, reported back the House amendments with amendments, proposing concurrence in some, and disagreements in others, along with which he designated a new section adopted by the House, fixing the future number of members of the House of Representatives.

The Southern members strenuously oppose every provision in the bill, having for its object an exhibit of the productive industry of the country; apprehending, no doubt, as they well may, that the peculiar institutions of the South will present but a meagre exhibit when compared with the enterprise, skill and productive free labor of the North.

Death of the Hon. Jas. M. Power.
 Hon. JAMES M. POWER, whose health for some months has been rapidly declining, died at the residence of his sister in Allegheny city, on the 12th inst. He was on his return home from the South, whither he had gone with the hope of improving his health, and at our last previous accounts had reached Louisville, where he was obliged to suspend his journey. Mr. Power was in the prime of manhood, his age being but 35, and enjoyed the friendship and esteem of a large circle of personal and political friends.

The Cabinet.
 Various false rumors having been set afloat by letter writers from Washington, with regard to a dissolution of the Cabinet, the National Intelligencer of Tuesday sets them at rest in announcing semi-officially that the Cabinet will remain as it now is for the present. The Intelligencer says:—"We now therefore state, on the authority of the President, that he lends no countenance to any attempt, from whatever quarter it comes, to disturb or unsettle his administration, as it is. All the statements or inferences to the contrary are utterly without foundation."

Good News.
 The Legislature has adjourned. This is considered the best act of the session. Our Harrisburg correspondent gives a brief review of the doings of the session, to which we invite attention.

Before the Senate adjourned, Mr. McCaslin Locofoco, of Green county, was elected Speaker.

Of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania commenced its sessions at Harrisburg on Monday last. The return day for this judicial district is May 23d.

Letter from Harrisburg.
 Correspondence of the Huntingdon Journal.
 HARRISBURG, May 17, 1850.

Dr. CLARK:—At last that august body, the Legislature of Pennsylvania, have adjourned. One hundred and thirty five days of a session, have just closed. The longest session known for fifteen years; and you, and your readers, I doubt not, will be glad to know that the labors of such a body have at length concluded.

When they first assembled, a majority in both houses against the present State Executive, came filled with hope, and exulting in their power, (numerically) to do as they pleased. The principled and the ambitious—great and small—boasted of their determination to "head Governor Johnston." They had the will and they avowed their determination to find a way. The result of their labors can be best known by an answer to "what have they done?" Well then, generally, they have rendered themselves notorious for reckless legislation, and a total disregard of all the characteristics of fairness and honesty. A few bad bold men, led the way, while the smaller, though equally vicious spirits, emulated their infamy; and with them, united to scourge the "weaker brethren" into their measures, while to the professedly conscientious, they held up the fear of party banishment unless they submitted to their dictation. Never has the truth of the proverb, "go through had join in hand, the wicked shall not go unpunished," been more signally demonstrated; than if I think I should be written on them as a party; so far as their Legislative schemes are concerned. Their glory has indeed departed; FAILURE, is inscribed on all their efforts; and disgrace, with her fearful wand, has driven them all back to their kennels.

Governor Johnston deserves from every Pennsylvania man, heartfelt gratitude, for his calm and fearless defence of Pennsylvania's honor and interest. Aye, he deserves it and will receive it. The majority would have submitted to the deep disgrace of erasing to southern buffets, and Spaniel-like licked the hands that smote them. Governor Johnston awakened all the honest to a sense of right, and the humiliating project expired in its nurseries arms.

Again, with a determination of purpose only engendered by bitter hate, they commenced scheming, to usurp the state, so that the party of Gov. Johnston should literally be strangled; but this could only be done by a callous thoughtlessness of official oaths, and a consequent trampling upon the rights of thousands of the tax payers. It was a price, it is true, that only such as they would be willing to pay. It was the way, and without it they could not succeed. Did they hesitate? No! they joined hands to the bargain, and that "bill of wrongs" was passed. The veto message of the Governor touched it, and bald, in its naked ugliness it stood exposed. It has been spurned by its proponents—and its iniquity openly admitted. Detected and defeated villainy is despised even by the operators themselves; this was the fate of the first apportionment bill.

Another way to be formed. Their will was still the same, but the way was not. The Senate killed the next—it was still-born. Now fear added a bitterness to their hatred. Threats were now their only weapons; even revolution and blood shed was hinted at by their Jack Cades. Defeat, like the demon of the threshold, loomed up in the forward distance, and how to arrest the impending fate, was their only care. A bill was formed in the Senate; madly, they struck it down in the House. Committees of conference were appointed; and the reckless bent every energy to prevent agreement. Four honest men, two of each party, did agree; the Whigs sacrificing much to save Pennsylvania from impending evil. Now began the work of sublimated shame. Every machinery of party was called in to aid in the defeat of the bill; they triumphed, and the bill fell. "Chaos had come again." The Whigs had done all they could—more than they ought—and they would do more. They behaved so generously with the other party they could proudly look back upon their course, and find no cause of regret. Their calm upright course could not but win the honest of any party. It did win the few honest in the ranks of Locofocoism. They moved to reconsider the vote, and on Tuesday, when that motion was before the House, the minority revolted. Truth was about to deal them a death blow. The majority demanded that this bill be passed; it was as one sided Loco Foco as the Whigs could be expected to submit to. The minority knew but one way to prevent it. There was only 92 members in the House, and only 48 of them in favor of this bill. It required 51 votes to make a quorum. The way was opened they thought, and they refused to vote, but sat silent in their seats when their names were called. As there was not a quorum voting, there was no decision. The friends of the bill had called the "previous question." No other motion was in order, but to adjourn. Legislation was stopped! REVOLUTION FOR THE TIME BEING RULED! One whole afternoon was spent, and nothing done; the motion to adjourn being lost, 48 to some smaller number, generally, about 30. And the vote on "shall the main question now be put" being 48 yeas—says none. The hour of adjournment relieved them at last. But the morning call met them. "Shall the main question now be put?" They saw their disgraceful position; there was no escape. If they refused to vote they could never get away; shrewd as was their trap it caught themselves. TO FAIL was too bad. Fate had put her finger on them and they saw it. With a crab-like locomotion, they backed out, almost blushing at their own impotent meanness and public dishonor; and the majority triumphed—the bill was carried.

Governor Johnston signed the apportionment bill, but accompanied the bill with a short message, assigning his reasons for approving it to be, not that the bill was just to the people or his party, but because he saw no hope of saving the pockets of the tax payers, and perhaps the State, from anarchy and dissolution.

It was like enchantment. The clouds cleared from every brow. "Homeward bound!" beam-
