For the Huntingdon Journal. The State Senator.

In. Clane: —As the time is fast approach-when an individual will be placed in nomi-ion for State Senator by the Conferes of this trict, to represent us during the next term; as the subject is beginning to be considera-gitated, I have considered it nothing more elder of the three, and for that reason is ter entitled to the Senator. What has she since the division of the county! Nothing pet what Blair herself has had, an annual resentative in the Legislature; and now she not even send a man there without the asacce of Huntingdon. Yet she wants both Congressman and Senator. It seems to me lair county will give the matter only a short estigation, she must inevitably conclude that is not entitled to the Senator this fall, but Huntingdon is, and will not hesitate to wher influence to that effect. Huntingdon nty wants no more than what she feels hereintiled to, and her rights she is ready to retain meintain. She is also ready and wilcosupport to the last moment of her life.

The Bucks County Intelligencer contains a simely and able reference to the nominees of the late Whig Convention for the several State offi-timely and able reference to the nominees of the late Whig Convention for the several State offices, from which we take the following notice of Joshua Dungan, Esq., the Whig candidate for Canal Commissioner, who it is known is a citizen of Bucks county. It is a just tribute to his worth. The Intelligencer says:—

Joshua Dungan, the choice of the Convention for Canal Commissioner, is a citizen of our own county, a native of our own soil, identified with our own interests and those of our beloved Commonwealth. Born and bred upon the farm on which he now resides, and which he cultivates with a judgment matured and enlightened by long study and experience, he is one of our most skilful agriculturists. Though always taking a lively interest in questions of state and national policy, and ever ready to lend a hand in aid to establish and maintain the principles of the party with which he is identified, from a sincere conviction of their beneficent influence upon the country, his attention has been more particularly directed to the interests of his profession, and its improvement and clevation. Hence he was led to unite with others, seven years ago in organising an association of farmers under the title of the "Bucks County Agricultural Society." This enterprise, of which Mr. Dungan has been one of the fathers and pillars, has already grown in importance and usefulness, until it is scarcely second to any similar institution in the State. His several addresses before this society, to which we may take occasion to refer hereafter, evince an honorable enthusiasm in his occupation, a highly cultivated mind, and a knowledge drawn from observation, experience and extensive study, which constitute some of the highest adornments of the character of the practical statesman, and our good old Common-wealth prospered greatly during his administra-tion. His son, Henry W. Snyder, our candidate for Auditor General, has inherited his father's integrity and sound judgment. It is altogether superfluous for as to tell the people of Union county, that Mr. Snyder is eminently qualified to fill this office. But we would send it abroad throughout the Commonwealth as the united voice of Union county, that we who know him, can and do hear testimony of his honesty, integ-rity and ability. As an account my. Snyder can and do hear testimony of his honesty, integ-rity and ability. As an accountant Mr. Snyder has few if any superiors. He possesses excel-lent business habits, an obliging disposition, an enlarged experience, and every other qualifica-tion requisite to make a popular, faithful and competent officer. Mr. Snyder being of Ger-man descent has a thorough knowledge of that language, and is identified with the interests and feelings of our German population. His na will be a tower of strength in the German p ions of our state; and wherever the fr and admirers of Old Simon Snyder live, Henry W. Snyder we predict, will receive a stre

A GALLANT RESCUE.—A young lady living a A GALLART RESCUE.—A young lady living a Fort Hamilton, saved a gentleman, one day las week from the double death of drowning and be ing crushed. It appears that the steamboat ha thrown its plank to the wharf, and that a gestleman, in hurry to land, attempted to "walk the plank" before the boat was secured. By som motion of the vessel he was percipitated into the motion of the vessel he was percipitated into the big drink, and in a moment longer would have been crushed between the boat and the wharf. A young lady standing by—a pretty courageous muscular, and charming young lady—at once leaned over and seized the dapper little fellow by his coat collar, as he floundered in the briny element, and lifted him safely to terra firma.

Reports from the mining portions of the country, both rorth and south, continue to be of the most favorable nature. The general state of health at the placers also is good.

We regret to state that another destructive fire occurred at San Francisco on the night of May 4th, by which nearly one-third of the city was reduced to asbes, and the probable loss is estimated at $500,000. The United States, the El Dorado, Delmonico's, and the Verandah hotels were among the buildings burnt.

In six days there arrived at San Francisco seventy-six vessels freighted with eargoes to inid a market there.
