Description of dollars and provide the provide of the State Transure of the particulation of the particulation of the State Transure of the particulation of the State Transure of the particulation of the State Transure of the State Stock and the diminution of the Debt, was recommended by the Agistature of the State Transure of t

Ing Fund because its design and end are to relieve them. One good point gained in passing the Sinking Fund bill was this—It manifested a determina-tion on the part of the State to make an effort to pay her debts. It proved she intended to be hon-est and showed she was willing to do something, and not stop at words. Again, it appropriated the revenue derived from it to a specific purpose—from which it could not be diverted either by the dishonesty of Locofoco Officeholders, or the generalities of extravagant Inecofoce Legislatures. If the tax had been rais-ed and put into the Treasury without a specific direction as to itsapplication, in less than a month after it reached the coffers of the State, it would have been somewhere along the canals or railroad, corrupting voters or enriching unprincipled dis-bursing officers.

Gov. Johnston and the public Debt.

Debt. The Keystone thinks the revenue system of the State "was settled, pretty much as it is at present, under Governor Slunk." And it sneakingly in-timates that the payment of the State debt during Gov. Johnston's term is about equal to that paid by Gov. Shunk, and has been brought about by the pursuit of a State Revenue policy established under the administration of the latter. The Keystone knows full well this is not true, and it has not ventured to assert it. It contents itself with dark hints and evasive charges. We will, however, show him the difference between between Hsoit with dark hints and evasive charges. We will, however, show him the difference between the administration of Gov. Slunk and that of Gov. Johnston, and it is the difference between decreasing the demands upon the State Treasury $148,555 in four years and reducing them $327,251 in two years. Will this make a difference.—

Gov. Shunk on going into office in the winter of 1845, found the Shunk's administration a canal, motive power and railroad debt was created amounting to $363,000, which together made up the $40,837,736 93, and which shows that the ac-tual indebtodness of the Commonwealth was les-semed in four years the trifling sum of not quite $150,000. A beautiful revenue policy that was, which produced such effects! How rapidly Gov. Shunk's administration was relieving us from our difficulties! The people, however, accustomed under Locofoco rule to hear that the interest on the debt was scarcely paid, were rejoiced to learn that in four years Gov. Shunk and his advisers had succeeded in saving nearly $150,000 to be applied to the payment of the debt itself. But how stands it with Gov. Johnston? It is easily shown.

in two years 227,521 51 In half the time, he has paid nearly four times as much as when the State was in the hands of the opposition—the revenue system, Mr. Keystone, being slightly different. Let the people weigh this well and they cannot fail to see that it is the interest and duty of every tax payer to retain the present able, honest, and faithful Executive in office.

DANIEL WERSTER.—At one of the religious an-niversary meetings in New York, two or three weeks ago, the Rev. Dr. Tyrge, an evangelical clergyman, everywhere admired for his talents and virtues, had occasion thus to remark.—" Op-ring the past year, there was one man whon had been most thoroughly abused—a man whom the speaker had been tanght to look up to and revere from his childhood, as the personification of every thing great, good and intellectual: and he would say with Mr. Everett, that never since the Dec-laration of Independence have the American peo-ple been more faithfully, more honestly, more dis-interestedly served than they have been by the immortal Webster."
