We received your letter Mr. which we hereby acknowledge. Compas-sion alone for your stupidity induces us to withhold its publication. It is certainly a literary curiosity and should have been sent to the world's fair as such. We been sent to the world's fair as such. We have no doubt the Committee would have award-ed you a leather medal with the image of

A rude, blustering bragart may be fear A rude, blustering bragart may be fear-ed, but he is never loved or respected. On the other hand, a man who understands and exercises those amenities which infuse into society a spirit of gentleness and im-parts to the social circle or convivial as-semblage a rosy fragrance and delightful helm is constant in the base of oalm is courted by all classes for his good ature and loved for his kindness.

Politeness costs a man nothing. A smile looks far sweeter on any countenance than a frown. A gentle word has more euphony in it and will be far more effective in accomplishing your purpose than the fierce threat or horrid imprecation. We saw an illustration of this fact a few venings since as we passed up Market treet. Two gentlemen, engaged in earnstreet. est conversation, were occupying the mid-dle of the pavement and did not observe the approach of a lady and her escort. When they came up, the latter, in order to show the lady we are certain bloody noses and black eyes would have occasioned some of the party to remember that insolence is the party to remember that motioner is not always the best means of securing a smooth pathway through life. Now, on another occasion, we had the pleasure of witnessing the effects of gentle words. The circumstances were nearly the same as above described, but the lanthe same as above described, but the lan-guage used and the manner of uttering it was entirely different—"Gentlemen will you be kind enough to let us pass?" The party, this time, was several in number, and on stepping aside a blush suffused their checks, when one or two of them said "certainly, sir, we beg a thousand par-dons for our thoughtlessness." A superficial knowledge of human na-ture, we should think, is sufficient to satisfy any one that politeness will have a ten-dency to contribute much to our happi-Rudeness, under any circumstan ness. is but the sowing of a seed which quickly germinates and produces a harvest of thorns nd thistles. It wounds the sensitive and ashes into fury the inconsiderate, driving them on to do some act of violence which. them on to do some act of violence which, in a calmer mood, they will blush to re-member. Gentleness, on the other hand, mitigates many of our sufferings; imparts a delicious perfame to our senses and flings a radiance, like sunshine, along the gloomiest pathway which duty may compel us to travel. To the erring and the brokenhearted the gentle word in kindness spo-ken is like the smiting of the rock of Ho-reb by the Prophet's hand, a delightful

THEANES.

We are really under great obligations to our numerous friends throughout the County for the substantial "aid and Comthey have given us since taking charge of the "Journal." In the short space of three months we have added to our the names of 214 new subscribers! This is certainly encouraging. Notwithstanding this increase there are quite a number of places in the County where our circulation should be greater than it is at present.— Will our friends see to it. Should we ge we get 200 more new subscribers we will enlarge our paper one third and still furnish ic at the same price we now do. We want more names on our list for West, Barree, Jackon and several other places. A little effort on the part of those who are interes-ted in the well-being of the country will secure this desirable end.

ACCOMMODATING.

We had our paper ready at the usual time, last week, to forward, but in conse ce of the flood no mails could be sent West from this place. On Friday last the packets along with nim and reave them on at the former place. We also stated our reason for making the request, viz: that they should have gone the day previous, but as there was no mail going we would have to trouble him, &c. The fellow replied by saying that he "did'nt know about taking them; that he had so much to at-tend to," &c. Now there is not another Conductor on the line would have refused to do so small a favor under the circumstances. The reason is obvious, however; for they are gentlemen, and this is more than can be said of the ignoramus we have named, who is better fitted for a car greas er than to have charge of a passenger train In saying this we are but expressing the sentiments of four-fifths of our travelling community, and we are certain that if the other fifth knew him their opinions would coincide precisely. Conductors Boley, and Ayres are capable of understanding and exercising the amenities which should characterise the intercourse between man and man: but this fellow Whitsell is not.

> GRAND OPENING OF THE Keystone Hotel at Spruce Creek.

"Thère revel reign'd, And joyous mirth was high, Whilst pleasure beamed in every eye."

Whilst pleasure beamed in every eye." We had not the pleasure—in conse-quence of illness—of being present at the opening of this truly splendid establish-ment on the 4th of July. A number of our citizens were there, however, and all bear testimony as to the superb manner in which everything was done connected with the "opening." Col. Hazlett certainly deserves great credit for the liberality he has displayed in the construction of this building. It is 4 stories high and fur-nished in the richest and most sumptuous style. It is said by competent judges that no Hotel between Philad'a. and Pittsburg surpasses it in any respect. On the occa-sion alluded to several hundred persons, of sion alluded to several number persons, or both sexes, were present, and enjoyed themselves in such a manner as to excite a wish that Mr. H. would have month's "openings," so that they might be there to forget, for a while, at least, they were of the "earth earthy."

The young gentlemen who went up from our place returned highly delighted with the Host, the house and the repast; but more particularly with the ladies who were there. It seems, from their representa-tions, that the brightest and most bewitching girls of the neighborhood were present, and, as a matter of course, they must cer-tainly have had a joyous time of it, if Tom Moore tells the truth when he says

Wo wish Col. H. every success in his new house and hope his most sanguine an-ticipations may be realized.

TThe President, Directors, &c., &c. of the Penn. R. Road Company will please accept our sincere thanks for the free ticket se nt us during the Excursion Season to go where we pleased. We did'nt use it and it now remains on hand subject to the order of the board. The only excursion we took was to Petersburg, and for this we paid the same as other folks. We stop'd The keeps a fine house; in o better table can be found anywhere. It is worth double a proposition to surrender the sovereignty of their Islands to the United States to be governed as a territory of the Union.— They see themselves in danger of being swept from the face of the earth, either under their own laws, or those of some other nation, and they have had the good sense to select the alternative. It re-mains to be seen whether the American government will have equal good sense in accepting their offer. Locofoco Recktessness. The Pennsylvanian of the 12th inst. Says :—"Wo assert positively, that not a single measure of economy has ever been recommended by Gov. Johnston." This is a bold falschood. Gov. John-ston recommended a change in the mode of carrying on the public works, which would take away the large discretionary power possessed by the agonts on the public im-provements over the mong of the eitien, a measure adopted, we would not often port. This would doubtless save a large amount to the State Treasury. Were such a measure adopted, we would not often port Acquaduct and the like.—Governor a measing repairs on the canals a had railroads of the State, a change which President Fillmore. A cotemporary justly says of President Fillmore.—" Whether we regard him as a man of moderation and without asperity, or as a man of firmness, doing his duty in West from this place. The mails to go west of this point were suffered to accumulate in this office up un-til Saturday last, no effort having been made by any person connected with this soulless corporation to have them sent on. When they did go we are informed that there was 24 in number. We are not surprised at the indignation manifested by cur Hollidaysb'g, Altoona, Tyrone, Sprue and and have no reasonable excuse for their principle first in view. Great States Becoming Small Ones

There is great truth in the following re-marks which we extract from Sir Henry

Sir Henry Bulwer has made main happy hits in his various festival oration in this country, but he never hit the nail more plumply on the head than in the above sentiments. The present generation has never known anything but national health and strength, and hence it is that some among us talk with flippant tongue of the fatal malady of Disunion. Let them look at Poland, Venice and Genoa, and see the insignificance and obscurity which mu follow division.
