DYSPEPSIA! DR. J. S. HOUGHTON'S

DIGESTIVE FLUID, OR, GASTRIC JUICE.

Prepared from Rennet, or the fourth mach of the ox, after directions of Baron big, the great Physiological Chemist, by J. S. oxplton, M. D. Philadelphia, Pa. is is a truly wonderful remedy for Indigestion, spepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Constitute, and Debility, Caring after Nature's own thod, by Nature's own Agent, the Gastric ce.

pation, and Debility, Caring after Nature's own method, by Nature's own Agent, the Gastric Juice.

Half a teaspoonful of Pepsix, infused in water, will digest or dissolve, Five Pounds of Roust Beef in about two hours, out of the stomach.

PEPSIN is the chief element, or Great Digesting Principle of the Gastric Juice—the Solvent othe Food, the Purifying, Preserving, and Stimulaf ting Agent of the Stomach and Intestines. It is extracted from the Digestive Stomach of the Ox, thus forming an Artificial Digestive Fluid, precisely like the natural Gastric Juice in its Chemical powers, and furnishing a Complete and Perfect Substitute for it. By the aid of this preparation, the pains and evils of Indigestion and Dyspepsia are removed, just as they would be by a healthy Stomach. It is doing wonders for Dyspeptics, curing cases of Debility, Emaciation, Nervous Decline, and Dyspeptic Consumption, supposed to be on the verge of thegrave. The Scientific Evidence upon which it is based, is in the highest degree Curious and Remarkable.

SCIENTFIC EVIDENCE!

BARON LEIBIG in bis celebrated work on Animal Chemistry, says: "An Artificial Digestive Fluid, analogous to the Gastric Juice, may be readily prepared from the meat and eggs, will be softened, changed, and digested, just in the same manner as they would be in the human stomach."

Dr. COMBE, in his valuable writings on the same manner as they would be in the human atomach,"

Dr. COMBE, in his valuable writings on the "Physiology of Digestion," observes that "a dimit ation of the due quantity of the Gastric Juice is a prominent and all-prevailing cause of Dyspepsia;" and he states that "a ditinguished professer of medicine in London, who was severely afflicted with this complaint, finding everything else to fail, had recourse to the Gastric Juice, obtained from the stomachs of living animals, which proved completly successful."

Dr. GRAHAM, author of the famous works on "Vegetable Diet,," says: "It is a remarkable fact in physiology, that the rtomachs of animals, macerated in water, impart to the fluid the property of dissolving various articles of food, and of effecting a kind of artificial digestion of them in owise different from the natural digestive proerty of dissolving various articles of food, and of effecting a kind of artificial digestion of them in no wise different from the natural digestive process."

Call on the Agent, and get a Descriptive Circular, gratis, giving a large amount of Scientific Evidence, similar to the above, together with Reports of Remarkable Cures, from all parts of the United States.

AS A DYSPEPSIA CURER,

Rr. HOUGHTON'S PEPSIN has produced the most marvelous effects, in curing cases of Delility, Emaciation, Nervous Decline, and Dyspeptic Consumption. It is impossible to give the details of case in the limits of this advertisement; but authenticated certificates have been given of more than Two Hundred Remarkable Cures, in Philadelphia, New York and Boston alone. These were nearly all desperate enses, and the cures were not only rapid and wonderful, but permanent.

It is a great Nervous Antidote, and particularly useful for tendency to Bilious disorder, Liver Complaint, Fover and Ague, or baddy treated Pever and the evil effects of Quinine, Mercury, and other drugs upon the Digestive Organs, after a long sickness. Also, for excess in eating, and the too free use of ardent spirits. It almost reconciles Health with Intemperates.

OLD STOMACH COMPLAINTS,

There is no forth of old Stomach Complaints which it does not seem to reach and remove at once. No matter how bad they may be, it Gives Instant Relief! A single dose removes all the unpleasant symptoms; and it only needs to be repeated on the Agent of the Blood, Heaviness, Lowness of Spirts, Despondency to Insanity, Suicide, &c.

Dr. Houghton's Pepsin, is sold by nearly all the dealers in fine drugs and Popular Medicines, hroughout the United States. It is prepared in Played and in Flaid form—and in Prescription vials for the use of Physicians, Private Circulars for the use of Physicians, and polying the authorities upon which the claims of this new remedy are based. As it is not a Secret Remely, no objections can be raised against its use by Physicians in respectable standing and tract from Mr. Sark's Poem, read at the late Manchester, N. H., Fair.

The daughter sits in the parlor And rocks in her easy chair, She's clad in her silks and satins, And jewels are in her hair— She winks and giggles and simpers, And simpers and giggles and winks, And though she talks but little, 'Tis vastly more than she thinks.

Her father goes clad in russett, And ragged and seedy at that— His coats are all out at the elbow, He wears a most shocking bad hat, He's hoarding and saving his shillings, So carefully day by day,
While she, on her beaux and poodles,
Is throwing them all away.

She lies a-bed in the morning, Then comes down snapping and snarling, Because she was called so soon, Her hair is still in the papers, Her cheeks still dabbied with paint, Remains of her last night's blushes, Before she intended to faint.

She's eloquent over moustaches, They give such a foreign air. She talks of Italian music, And falls in love with the moon, And tho' but a mouse should meet her, She sinks away in a swoon.

Her feet are so very little, Her jewels are so very heavy, And her head so very light; Her color is made of cosmetics, Though this she never will own, Her body's made mostly of cotton, Her heart is made wholly of stone.

What if it should really come to pass that before another twenty years said and always are six million visits have been paid to the great shrine of art by persons who have travelled scores, and hundreds, and thousands of niles for the purpose. Excursion trains bring up four or five thousand adults repeated the bymn the next day in Hyde Hark. We forget how many millions are returned as having travelled by railway last year. The visits to the British Museum and the Thames Tunnel are now of the millionaire class.—
Twenty years ago the figure of the national debt stood alone in its glory, as the only work of man that approached to the railways to set all the populations of the consideration of others, and especially of our statesmen, than to answer ourselves.

New Purchase for Liberia.

New Purchase for Liberia.

New Purchase for Liberia.

The New Jersey Colonization Society has recently made a new and valuable purchase of land in Africa, for colonization purposes. It lies beyond the previous housands of miles for the purpose. Excursion trains bring up four or five thousand adults repeated the bymn the next day in Hyde Hark. We forget how many millions are returned as having travelled by railway last year. The visits to the British Museum and the Thames Tunnel are now of the millionaire class.—

Twenty years ago the figure of the national debt stood alone in its glory, as the only work of man that approached to the five thousand children sang "God save the Queen, at Manchester, on Friday, and fifty thousand adults repeated the hymn the next day in Hyde Hark. We forget how many millions are returned as having travelled by railway last year. The visits to the British Museum and the Thames Tunnel are now of the millionaire class.—
Twenty years ago the figure of the national debt stood alone in its glory, as the only work of man that approached to the infinite, and was really stupendous. We are now so familiar with great figures, that the national debt is descending, by comparison, to the level of our ordinary conceptions. But, among all these vast fig-

tion which the name seems to cast on the rulers left behind. The writers who treat of this exodus tell us that it will go on till the whole race is departed and their place left untenated. Having once begun, the migration will go on; and the strong social instincts that have hitherto bound the Irishnan to the soil of his birth will now opperate in drawing him to the great westward stream. In England it has been anticipated by some writers, that when the Irish population should be reduced to a certain low level, the inducements to remain would rise so high that the migration would stop, and the remnant left behind would be contentedly and permanently attached to the soil. The Irish authorities, as we are disposed to think, very correctly, do not expect the migration to stop as soon as the population has assumed its proportion to the work to be done. The people who have been in the habit of paying on the land if it were reduced the and would be not the land if it were reduced the analysis of the soils. The land if it were reduced the analysis of the soils of this ancestors. But when you make the English labourer richer, more independent, intelligent, and more of a citizen, you have put him more in a condition and temper to seek his fortune wherever it may be found. The men who in the U. States leave their homes for the Far West are generally they who have prospered where they are, and who want the excitement of another start in life. On the whole, we are disposed to think that the prospect is far too serious to be neglected, or treated as a merely speculative question. The She falls in love with a fellow,
Who swells with a foreign air;
He marries her for her money,
She marries him for his hair;
One of the very best matches—
Both are well mated in life,
She's got a fool for her husband,
He's got a fool for his wife.

Probable Depopulation of Ireland.

From the London Times.

THERE is a branch of statistics which has been lately forced into notice by actual events of a new and extraordinary character. The "statist' no longer confines himself to populations, that is, to the number of persons dwelling quietly in certain countries and cities and such sober facts, for society itself is undergoing a change, and is no longer content to dwell quiety.

The tream once set that way, it will not stop till Ireland is absolutely depopulated. In Ireland the fact is brought home to the understanding in so forcible a manner by the actual sight of emigrant-trams emigrant-ships, depopulated districts, ruined habitations, and labour beginning to rise in the market, that it cannot be disposed of so easily as in this country. The journals there have styled the movement the "Celtic exodus;" and, considering the actual difference between the condition of an average Irish peasant at home, and that which he easily attains to in the United States, we shall not quarrel with the reflection which the name seems to cast on the rulers left behind. The writers who treat of this exodus tell us that it will go on till celt. It will, however, cost no more ef-In Ireland the fact is brought home to olitan ideas. In a very few years the ques and his wife and daughter perished in the flames.

From the particulars as they have reached us, Mr. Seikes left home early on Wednesday morning, to avoid some persons who were in pursuit of him. Late in the evening, two strange-locking men were observed in the vicinity of the house. Some of the neighbors saw the men hastily leave, a few minutes after the flames were discovereded. As soon as the flames was extinguished, the charred and mutilated remains of Mrs. Seikes and her daughter were found. From the peculiar circumstances of the affair, there is every reason to believe that they were nurdered in cold blood by these two men, and the house afterwards fired, to conceal their flendish act. What motive prompted them to it, no one can divine Great excitement prevalls in the neighborhood.

Numerous Conversions from RoManism in Ierland.—At a meeting of the Irish Church Mission Society, the following facts were stated by one of the speakers. "In less than three years, 20,000 to 30,000 converts had been made through the operations of this society. In the west of Galway, in Connemara, there there were but 500 Protestants when they began; now there were from 5,000 to 6,000. A tract of country, fifty miles in length and thirty in breath, in that district, is now characteristically Protestant; before it was Romanist. 'In E Bishop of Tuam has issued an appeal in order to build twelve new churches in Galway for the spiritual necessities of the converts.—
At Sallerna, where one was to be built, the number of sittings stated by the missionary as requisite. was 900."

Sending Letters by Telegraph.

It is stated that a gentleman in New-port (Ky.,) is perfecting an application of electricity for propelling a box containing letters over wires from place to place, on the telegraphic principles. The experi-ment over wires of 600 yards in length, has, it is said, worked to a charm .-- In noticing this statement, the Boston Transcript says:—

We learn that parties in this city have been for some time past experimenting for the same end with a prospect of success—and that the project has been thought plausible by some of the most practical men who have contributed liberally towards its accomplishment.
