

Youths' Column.
THE HEART—THE HEART.

BY ELIZA COOK.
The heart—the heart! Oh, let it be A true and bonnetous thing, As kindly warm, as nobly free, As angel's nestling wing.
Oh, keep it not, like miser's gold, Shut in from all beside,
But let its precious stores unfold,
In mercy, far and wide.
The heart—the heart that's truly blest,
Is never all its own,
No ray of glory lights the breast
That beats for self alone.
The heart—the heart! Oh, let it spare A sigh for other's pain, The breath that soothes a brother's care,
Is never spent in vain.
And though it throbs at gentlest touch, Or sorrow's faintest call, Tears letter it should not be too much,
Than never ache at all.
The heart—the heart, that's truly blest,
Is never all its own,
No ray of glory lights the breast,
That beats for self alone.

The Bud Transplanted.

Some years ago a beautiful, frail flower sprung up in a land which is separated from our own happy home by the blue waves of the broad Atlantic, but in a clime so ungenial, and in a soil so rough and stony it could not flourish, although watered by the tears of many kindred. Ere the soft breath of spring had visited it the third time, the hue of its delicate leaf became pallid; and as the wind whistled by, the fragile stem snapped even while the dew-drops lingered on the flower. But not forever was drooped its beautiful head, nor was its fragrance forever gone; it was gathered for the Saviour's chaplet, there to bloom in unblemished beauty when the radiant sun shall be quenched, and the fair moon and stars veiled in eternal night.
This beautiful bud was none other than little Hannah—the much-loved, first-born child of idolizing parents. The world, where every flower brings its thorn, where every joy is mingled with pain, where every smile is chased away by tears, was not her home, nor were those fond friends her companions: but Heaven, the bright abode of angels, was her dwelling place, and the cherubim and seraphim her associates.
From the time when her lips first learned the name of her Creator, all-absorbing then was God and Heaven, and her young spirit seemed to pant for joy is more pure than those of earth and sense.
When the weekly prayer meeting was convened under her parents' roof, no persuasion could induce her to be absent, but with a voice musical with infant pleading she would say, "Hannah loves to hear Brother Burman preach and pray."— Though for a short season she knelt around the family altar, and her guileless heart beat in unison with the pious breathings of God's people, it was the will of the Saviour to take her home: he only permitted her to stay a few brief days on earth to show how fair are the flowers which bloom in Heaven. When the death shades were hanging over her as she lay cradled in her mother's arms, she softly whispered, "See, mother, see the little girls are coming in white frocks for your Hannah!" and then closed her eyes, for though the mother still held the form, angels were wafting the spirit home. They laid her in the quiet church yard, where the birds chanted their requiem, and the nodding trees and lonely tombstones kept their vigils over her lowly grave.
But where now are the father and mother, who long years ago laid their darling away to sleep? That family home, we trust, been re-united in Heaven, and, as we humbly hope, the parents with two loved children have gone to meet their Hannah, never more to be separated.— There are three of that family circle yet remaining upon God's footstool, but not many years will elapse before they too may be called away; and oh! if it should so please our Father in Heaven, what a happy re-union will be consummated, when amid the songs of angels that whole family will, with united hearts kneel at the feet of the Lamb, while their voices are attuned to the music of Heaven.

Reader, this is no fancy sketch, but a simple narration of truth. Can you recall no similar instance of some family whose ties were sundered on earth, but as you hope are re-united above? Possibly, such has been the case in your own happy homestead; a father or mother may have gone before you to the tomb; you may have closed the eyes of a fond husband or faithful wife, or it may be you have dropped the tear of sorrow in the grave of a dear, departed child. Soon the summons may come to you, may the shaft of death may already be speeding its way to your heart, and are you prepared? At the final day when your loved family will be gathered together to sing the praises of the Lamb, most your countenance be missing there?
Or must you from the regions of endless woe be doomed for an eternity to hear the voices of those whom you shall never more behold as they chant "Glory to God," while you are joining in the wail of the lost. If you are not prepared to meet them above, let me say earnestly yet kindly, turn from the path of folly and sin, "seek God while he is to be found," for salvation does not extend beyond the grave. "Watch and be sober" for "in such an hour as ye think not the Son of Man cometh."

But you who have made your peace with God, weep not as you lay your kindred in the dust; you will soon behold them face to face, where sorrow and parting are unknown.—From the Mother's Journal and Family Visitant.

Birmingham Female Seminary.
The liberal patronage which this School has received in the past, encourages the proprietor and friends of female education, to expect by proper exertion to make it a permanent and important Institution; and no pains will be spared to sustain its growing reputation.
Among other considerations which inspire hope as to its future success, the location is not unimportant. Three years actual experiment has developed a more philosophical, if not a truer reasoning for the existence of Birmingham than many which have been assigned—then, it is the situation for a Female Seminary, surrounded as it is by most romantic scenery—retired—healthful—easy of access and in itself a place where one might almost grow wise in the study of Nature alone unmolested by the works of Art.
The school year is divided into two Sessions of twenty-two weeks each; the summer term commencing the last Tuesday in April, the winter term the last Tuesday in October.

DR. HOOFLAND'S
CELEBRATED GERMAN BITTERS, Prepared by
DR. C. M. JACKSON,
AT THE GERMAN MEDICINE STORE, 120 Arch Street, Philadelphia.

Their power over the above diseases is not exceeded—if equalled—by any other preparation in the United States, as the cures attest in many cases after skilful physicians had failed.
These Bitters are worthy the attention of invalids of diseases of the Liver and lesser glands, exercising the most searching powers in weakness and affections of the digestive organs, they are vital, safe, certain and pleasant.
READ AND BE CONVINCED.
From the "Boston Bee."
The editor said, Dec. 22nd Dr. Hooplund's Celebrated German Bitters for the cure of Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Chronic or Nervous Debility, is deservedly one of the most popular medicines of the day. These Bitters have been used by thousands, and a friend at our elbow says he had himself received an effectual and permanent cure of Liver Complaint from the use of this remedy. We are convinced that in the use of these Bitters, the patient constantly gains strength and vigor—a fact worthy of great consideration. They are pleasant in taste and smell, and can be used by persons with the most delicate stomachs with safety, under any circumstances. We are speaking from experience, and to the afflicted we advise their use.
"SCOTT'S WEEKLY," one of the best Literary papers published, said Aug. 25—"Dr. Hooplund's GERMAN BITTERS, manufactured by Dr. Jackson, are now recommended by some of the most prominent members of the faculty as an article of much efficacy in cases of female weakness. As such is the case, we would advise all mothers to obtain a bottle, and thus save themselves much sickness. Persons of debilitated constitutions will find these Bitters advantageous to their health, as we know from experience the salutary effect they have upon weak systems."
MORE EVIDENCE.
The Hon. C. D. HINELINE, Mayor of the city of Camden, N. J., says:
"HOOPLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.—We have seen many flattering notices of this medicine, and the source from which they came induced us to make inquiry respecting its merits. From inquiry we were persuaded to use it, and most say we found it specific in its action upon diseases of the liver and digestive organs, and the powerful influence it exerts upon nervous prostration is really surprising. It calms and strengthens the nerves bringing them into a state of repose, making sleep refreshing.
"If this medicine was more generally used, we are satisfied there would be less sickness, as from the stomach, liver, and nervous system the great majority of real and imaginary diseases emanate.
Have them in a healthy condition, and you can bid defiance to epidemics generally. This extraordinary medicine we would advise our friends who are at all indisposed, to give a trial—it will recommend itself. It should, in fact, be in every family. No other medicine can produce such evidences of merit.
Evidence upon evidence has been received (like the foregoing) from all sections of the Union, the last three years, and the strongest testimony in its favor, is that there is more of it used in the practice of the regular Physicians of Philadelphia, than all other nostrums combined, a fact that can easily be established, and fully proving that a scientific preparation will meet with their quiet approval when presented even in its form.
That this Medicine will cure Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, no one can doubt after using it as directed. It acts specifically upon the stomach and liver; it is preferable to calomel in all bilious diseases—the effect is immediate. They can be administered to female or infant with safety and reliable benefit at any time.

Encourage Your Own Mechanics!
WEN & WM. BOAT, would respectfully announce to the public, that they are now carrying on the COACH MAKING BUSINESS in all its various branches, at the old stand formerly occupied by A. & B. Boat, a few doors west of the Presbyterian church, where they are now manufacturing Buggies, Carriages, Barouches, Rockaways, Danburies, &c., in short any thing in the line of carriage making, of the very best kind of material, and in the latest and most approved style.
They have on hand now several Buggies and Rockaways, finished in the latest style. They have a good assortment of Lumber, selected with a great deal of care, seasoned for use, and invite those who are desirous of purchasing vehicles to call and examine their work and materials, and judge for themselves, as they intend to make good work and warrant it to be so. All kinds of country produce taken in exchange for work.
N. B.—OWEN BOAT returns his thanks to
