Wash from the Highways.

It is frequently the case that by cutting a small channel and throwing up a temporary embankment, the wash from an extended range of highway may be conducted into a field or pasture where it is much needed, and may be made to subserve the purpose of manure. Irrigating lands in this way, is attended with very little expense, and as the liquid is almost invariably rich in carbonaceous matters, as well as in the materials for soluble humus, it acts upon the soil with an almost immediate and instantaneous as well as sustained effect. The increase of fertility resulting from such irrigation, is often astonishing. Dr. Franklin is said to have demonstrated the important value of plaster as a stimulant of vegetable life by a device which none but himself would have probably conceived. He wrote by sprinkling finely pulverized plaster on a field by the roadside near Philadelphia, the words, "This has been plastered," in colossal letters, so that the sentence could be distinctly perceived by all who passed, first by the whiteness of the plaster, and ultimately by the deep green and increased luxuriance which it produced. In like manner might an advocate demonstrate the utility of this method of irrigation, were it not for the physical obstacles which necessarily render such a demonstration impracticable. But in all cases where water from this source, is conducted all over fields, the demonstration of its beneficial and highly fertilizing effects, is at once rendered obvious and convincing. A deeper verdure clothes the surface—a more luxuriant vegetation follows throughout the year, if the land is in grass; and when plowed and cultivated, no matter what may be the character of the crop, it sustains its acquired superiority from year to year—thus proving by the most incontestible evidence, the benefit it has derived from the application, and judiciousness of economizing this important agent of fertility wherever it can be accomplished without too great an expenditure of labor and money.

Even pure spring water, when flushed over grass lands, is found to be highly promotive of fruitfulness, especially in seasons of drought.

In Germany, persons go about the country for the purpose of irrigating the lands of the husbandmen from springs, streams and lakes. The business is there reduced to a system, and contracts are made to irrigate for so much an acre. Streams of pure water are made to meander over the surface of mowing fields, and through cultivated lanes & plantations in such a manner as to secure a considerable supply of this indispensable liquid to every species of vegetable production known. Even the hillsides are irrigated, and when the fountain is elevated, no part of the farm, however large is permitted to remain unrefreshed. The same system, to some extent, prevails in Egypt and Holland. Canals of various capacity, are seen pervading the cultivated regions in every direction, dispensing freshness and fertility, and adding incalculably to the permanent fertility of the soil.

I find among us, many discreet farmers adopting this mode of promoting their interests, and may we not hope, Mr. Editor, that no one, who has the opportunity, will refuse to avail himself of its advantages.

A PRACTICAL FARMER.
Bald Eagle Farm, Oct. 6, 1852.

PUMPKIN OIL.—A very excellent oil may be prepared from pumpkin seeds.—The seeds are first peeled, and then pressed between iron plates, or wooden blocks, with a screw press. The oil thus obtained is said to burn well, last longer, give a better light than any of the common oils, and emits very little smoke.

GUANO FOR GRASS LANDS.—The application of guano broadcast to grass lands, has been found to produce a decided difference in the crop. In several instances this season, where Peruvian guano has been applied at the rate of 200 lbs. per acre, about the middle of April, the yield of hay has been double in quantity, over the intermediate lands not so treated; and in every instance noticed, it is believed that the difference in quantity produced will amply repay the cost of the guano. —German town Telegraph.

DRYING GREEN CORN.—It is said to be altogether the best method for drying green corn, to take full-grown ears and in a stove, baker or oven, to roast them as if for eating. When cold, shell off the kernels and give them a few days drying, and bag away for winter use. A boiling of eight or twelve hours renders it a valuable ingredient for soups, or for eating with meats, and is a wholesome and nutritious food.

THE POTATO BLOSSOM.—The potato blossom this season is unusually large and handsome. It has been stated to us that whenever the potato crop has been attacked with the rot previous blossoming has been small and meagre. Is it so? Whose observation has been directed to this circumstance?

The potato blossom, by the way, is no mean flower. Skillfully arranged and pressed with the potato leaf, in an herbarium, we have known it to puzzle many an ardent lover of flowers to tell what it was.

Theodore Hook says of railroads and steamboats—"They annihilate space and time, not to mention a multitude of passengers."

Money Matters.

The Legislature of South Carolina have passed a law prohibiting the circulation in that State of notes of the Banks of other States of a less denomination than $5, under a heavy penalty. They have also incorporated eight new Banks with a capital of $3,600,000.

The Legislature of Ohio have recently passed a bill relative to the sale of bonds of railroad companies, of which the following is one of the sections:

Sec. 2. No Director of any Railroad Company shall either directly or indirectly purchase any shares of the capital stock or any of the bonds, notes or other securities of any Railroad Company of which he may be a Director, for less than the par value thereof; and all such stocks, bonds, notes or other securities that may be purchased by any such Directors for less than the par value thereof shall be null and void.

Another provision makes the maximum number of a Board of Directors of a Railroad, 13.

The Vermont Banks are required to keep their notes at par in Boston. The Suffolk Bank last year redeemed $244,000,000.

The funded State debt of Iowa is $81,795,75 of which $26,795,75 are payable at the option of the State.

The receipts of Cotton up to this date are 400,000 bales more than up to the same time last year.

The present debt of the United States is $67,484,742 26.

The debt of Tennessee is $3,901,856 66. For the week ending Thursday, Dec. 30, 11,420 tons of coal were brought over the Reading road and 522 tons over the Sch'ykill Navigation. The increase in the business of both this year up to this date over the same time last year, is 676,573 tons.

The official majority in favor of a General Banking Law in Wisconsin is 24,115, omitting three counties which have not been officially returned. The reports from those make the majority 28,553.

The receipts at the Custom House, Philadelphia, during 1852 were $4,033,909 20—being an increase of $360,000 over 1851. From January 1 to December 31, 1852, $37,363,569 in specie were entered at the N. Y. Custom House per California steamers.

The business of the Phil'a Mint for the last year has been as follows:

Gold deposited during Dec'r, $3,300,000
Gold coined, " " 5,700,705
Total deposits of gold for '52, 51,049,295
" " " '51, 47,929,405

Gold coined for 1852, 51,505,638
Of which there were 2,538,226 Double Eagles, 263,106 Eagles, 573,901 Half Eagles, 1,159,281 Quarte Eagles, and 2,045,351 Gold Dollars.

The silver coinage during the year was $847,310, of which $559,905 were in Three Cent pieces.

The genius of the Cleveland Plaindealer is about as profound as "Seth Stokes, the man who knew how to manage the women." Hear him:—

Look out for the Women.

Young men! keep your eye peeled when you are after the women. If you bite at the naked hook, you are green. Is a pretty dress or form so attractive? Or a pretty face even flounces, boy, are of no sort of consequence. A pretty face will grow old. Paint will wash off. The sweet smile of the flirt will give way to the scowl of the termagant. The neat form will be pitched into dirty calico. Another and a far different being will take the place of the lovely goddess who smiled sweet smiles and kept your sugar candy.

Keep your eye peeled, boy, when you are after the women. If the little dear is cross and scolds at her mother in the back room, you may be sure you will get particular fits all around the house. If she blushes when found at the wash tub with sleeves rolled up, be sure, sir, that she is of the cod-fish aristocracy; little breeding and less sense. If you marry a gal who knows nothing but to commit woman slaughter upon the piano, you have got the poorest piece of music ever got up. Find the one whose mind is right and then pitch in.—Don't be hanging round like a sheep thief, as though ashamed to be seen in the day time, but walk up like a chicken to the dough and ask for the article like a man.

A bed of coal six feet thick, lying five feet below the surface, has been discovered in Kendall county, Illinois. The quality of the coal is said to be that of the Pennsylvania mines.

The stomach prepares the elements of the bile and the blood; and if it does the work feebly and imperfectly, liver disease is the certain result. As soon, therefore, as any affection of the liver is perceived, we may be sure that the digestive organs are out of order. The first thing to be done, is to administer a specific which will act directly upon the stomach—the mainspring of the animal machinery. For this purpose we can recommend HOOPER'S German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, Philadelphia. Acting as an alterative and a tonic, it strengthens the digestion, changes the condition of the blood and thereby gives regularity to the bowels.
