No effort will be spared, either on the part of Teachers or Trustees, to render the School the patronage of parents and guardians who wish to give their sons and wards a thorough academic education without exposing them to the immoral influences of more populous communities.

The Academic year is divided into two sessions of five months each. The Summer Session commences the third Wednesday of April (April 20th, 1853). The Winter Session commences the third Wednesday of October, (Oct. 19th, 1853). The entire expenses of a student need not exceed forty-five dollars per session. SHIRLEYSBURG FEMALE SEMINARY AND JUNIATA ACADEMY.
THE Summer Session of these Institutions commences on WEDNESDAY THE 4TH DAY OF MAY, and continues five months. A fund of $1500 has been procured, to be applied to the purchase of a superior philosophical apparatus and a complete library of books. With these facilities for instruction, the Principals and Trustees of these Institutions offer to all, and especially to those seeking to qualify themselves for teaching, advantages equal to those enjoyed by the academic student in our colleges.

These Institutions are in the same village, though entirely separate, and some distance apart, thus affording to parents the opportunity of sending their sons and daughters together. Believing that the same principles sought to be carried out in our common school system, should, and will eventually, extend to the highest branches of a liberal education, the Principals and Trustees view what they have done only as the nucleus of further and more extended efforts, which, as they proceed, will enable them to afford to all classes, a liberal course of education, at an expense more commensurate with the limited means of a large number of the youth of our State, who are engaged in the praiseworthy endeavor to obtain an education. And with this expectation, they commend their Institutions to the patronage and kind assistance of all friends of a sound, liberal and general education.
