

You can hardly fail to avail yourselves of the light which the experience of the past casts upon the future.

The growth of our population has now brought us, in the destined career of our national history, to a point at which it will be hooves us to expand our vision over the vast prospective.

The successive decennial returns of the census since the adoption of the constitution have revealed a law of steady progressive development, which may be stated, in general terms, as a duplication every century. Carried forward from the point already reached, for only a short period of time as applicable to the existence of a nation, this law of progress, if unchecked, will bring us to almost incredible results.

A large allowance for a diminished proportional effect of emigration would not very materially reduce the estimate, while the increased average duration of human life, known to have already resulted from the scientific and hygienic improvement of the past fifty years, will tend to keep up through the next fifty or perhaps hundred, the same ratio of growth, which has been thus revealed in our past progress; and to the influence of these causes may be added the influx of laboring masses from Eastern Asia to the Pacific side of our possession, together with the probable increase of the populations already existing in other parts of our hemisphere, which, within the period in question, will, with yearly increasing force, the natural attraction of so vast, powerful, and prosperous a confederation of self-governing republics, and will seek the privilege of being admitted within its safe and happy bosom, transferring with themselves, by a peaceful and healthy process of incorporation, spacious regions of virgin and exuberant soil, which are destined to swarm with the fast-growing and fast-spreading millions of our race.

These considerations are clearly to justify the presumption, that the law of population above stated, will continue to act with undiminished effect, through at least the next half century; and that thousands of persons who have already arrived at maturity, are now exercising the rights of freedom, and are the eyes on the spectacle of more than one hundred millions of population embraced within the majestic proportions of the American Union. It is not merely as an interesting topic of speculation that I present these views for your consideration, but as a matter of serious bearings upon all the political duties we are called upon to perform. Hereafter our system of government has worked on what may be termed a miniature scale, in comparison with the development, which it must thus assume within a future and handsomely secured by to beyond the present of the existing generation.

It is evident that a confederation so vast and so varied, both in numbers and in territorial extent, in habits and in interests, could only be kept in national cohesion by the strictest adherence to the principles of the constitution, as understood by those who have adhered to the most restricted construction of the powers granted by the people and the States. Interpreted and applied according to those principles, the greatest freedom of action, and the greatest ease and freedom of an unlimited extension of that benign system of federative self-government, of which it is our glorious, and I trust, immortal charter. Let us, then, with redoubled vigilance, be on our guard against yielding to the temptation of an unwise and imprudent policy, even under the pressure of the motives of conceded temporary advantage and apparent temporary expediency.

The minimum of Federal Government, compatible with the maintenance of national unity and efficient action, with our relations to the rest of the world, should afford the rule and measure of construction of our powers under the general clauses of the constitution. A spirit of strict deference to the sovereign rights and dignity of every State, rather than a disposition to subordinate the States to the central relation to the central authority, should characterize all our exercise of the respective powers temporarily vested in us as a sacred trust from the generous confidence of our constituents.

Like manner, as a manifestly indispensable condition of the perpetuation of the Union, and of the realization of that magnificent future, more and more clearly upon us, as citizens of the several States, to cultivate a fraternal and affectionate spirit, and to conduct, in regard to other States, and in relation to the varied interests, institutions, and habits of sentiment and opinion, which may respectively characterize them. Mutual forbearance and respect, and non-interference in our personal action as citizens, and in the political action of the most liberal principles of comity in the public dealings of State with State, whether in legislation or in the execution of laws, are the means to perpetuate that confidence and fraternity, the decay of which a mere political union can so easily and so speedily dissolve.

In still another point of view, it is an important practical duty suggested by this consideration of the magnitude of dimensions, to which our political system, with its corresponding machinery of government, is so rapidly expanding. With increased vigour in the great efforts to cultivate the cardinal virtues of public frugality and official integrity and purity—Public affairs ought to be so conducted that a settled conviction should pervade the entire Union, that nothing short of the highest tone and standard of public conduct, as every part of the administration and legislation of the general government. Thus will the federal system, whatever expansion time and progress may give it, continue more and more deeply rooted in the love and confidence of the people. That wise economy, which is so generally removed from parsimony as from corrupt and extravagant extravagance—that single regard for the public good, which will from upon all attempts to approach the treasury with insidious projects of private interest cloaked under public pretence—that regard for the public good, which, in the legislative department, guards against the dangerous temptations incident to overflowing revenue, and in the executive, maintains an unswerving watchfulness against the tendency of all national expenditures to extravagance, while they are admitted elementary political duties, may I trust, be deemed as properly advised and urged, in view of the more impressive sense of that necessity, which is directly suggested by the considerations now presented.

Since the adjournment of Congress, the Vice President of the United States has passed from the scenes of earth, without having entered upon the duties of the station, to which he had been called by the voice of his countrymen. Having occupied, almost continuously, for more than thirty years, a seat in one or the other of the two Houses of Congress, and having, by his singular purity and wisdom, secured unbounded confidence and universal respect, his failing health was watched by the nation with painful solicitude. His loss to the country, under all the circumstances, has been justly regarded as irreparable.

In compliance with the act of Congress of March 2, 1853, the oath of office was administered to him on the 24th of that month, at Arland Estate, near Matanzas, in the Island of Cuba, but his strength gradually declined, and was hardly sufficient to enable him to return to his home in Alabama, where, on the eighteenth day of April, in the most calm and peaceful way, his long and eminently useful career was terminated.

BALTIMORE LOCK HOSPITAL.
Where may be obtained the most speedy relief from
SECRET DISEASES.—Gleets, Strictures, Seminal Weakness, Pain in the Loins, Affections of the Kidneys, and all those peculiar affections arising from a secret habit, particularly the youth of both sexes, which, if not cured, produces constitutional debility, rendering marriage impossible, and in the end destroys both Mind and Body.
Young Men especially, who have become the victims of Solitary Vice, and dread the destructive habit which annually sweeps of an untimely grave thousands of young men of the most exalted talents and brilliant intellect, who might otherwise have been the ornaments of the State, and the thunders of eloquence, or walked to evening in the living grave, may call with full confidence.
Married persons, or those contemplating marriage, who are afflicted with the above diseases, should immediately consult Dr. J., and be restored to perfect health.
Dr. Johnson, Office No. 7 South Frederick St., seven doors from Baltimore Street, east side up North Street, in the building which bears the name and number, or you will mistake the place.
A cure warranted, or no charge made, in from one to two days.
Dr. Johnson's office is in his dwelling, up the steps. His very extensive practice is a sufficient guarantee, that he is the only proper physician to apply to.
Dr. Johnson is a member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London; graduate from one of the most eminent Colleges of the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spent in the Hospitals of London, Philadelphia, &c., &c., where he has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known, many troubled with ringing in the ears and head when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, &c. The particular nature of his attending sometimes with derangement of mind, were cured immediately.
A CERTAIN DISEASE.—A melancholy fact, owing to the unskillfulness of ignorant pretenders by the use of that deadly poison Mercury, ruin the Constitution, causing the most serious symptoms of that dreadful disease to make their appearance, &c. The particular nature of his attending sometimes with derangement of mind, were cured immediately.

Female Complaints.
Of these are Profluvia Uteri, or Falling of the Womb, Flux Albus, or Whites; Chronic Inflammation and Ulceration of the Womb; Incidental Hemorrhage, or Flooding; Painful, Suppressed, and Irregular Menstruation, &c., with all their accompanying evils. (Cancer excepted,) no matter how severe or of how long standing.
MANY PROMINENT PHYSICIANS in the city of New York and other places, finding themselves without a remedy in innumerable cases of the above complaints, and having due regard for the welfare of their patients, have recommended the use of this medicine; and, after witnessing its salutary effects, are now manifesting their approbation, not only by resorting to it in their treatment of all the diseases for which it is intended, but in some instances accepting the agency of it to facilitate its introduction into more general use by the Faculty.
The modus operandi of this remedy, in the cure of this class of diseases, is through the general economy of the system, with the peculiar determination to the female organs.
ADDITIONAL PROOF of this Cathartic being worthy of the confidence of the afflicted, is a Successful, Safe and Cheap Remedy, which is a success in the pamphlet together with important observations touching the nature and symptoms of the diseases, to which the attention of Ladies and Practitioners is respectfully invited.
THE INGREDIENTS, as certified by high medical authority, (see pamphlet), are All Vegetable, and are not associated with any article inimical to the human system.

Female Complaints.
Of these are Profluvia Uteri, or Falling of the Womb, Flux Albus, or Whites; Chronic Inflammation and Ulceration of the Womb; Incidental Hemorrhage, or Flooding; Painful, Suppressed, and Irregular Menstruation, &c., with all their accompanying evils. (Cancer excepted,) no matter how severe or of how long standing.
MANY PROMINENT PHYSICIANS in the city of New York and other places, finding themselves without a remedy in innumerable cases of the above complaints, and having due regard for the welfare of their patients, have recommended the use of this medicine; and, after witnessing its salutary effects, are now manifesting their approbation, not only by resorting to it in their treatment of all the diseases for which it is intended, but in some instances accepting the agency of it to facilitate its introduction into more general use by the Faculty.
The modus operandi of this remedy, in the cure of this class of diseases, is through the general economy of the system, with the peculiar determination to the female organs.
ADDITIONAL PROOF of this Cathartic being worthy of the confidence of the afflicted, is a Successful, Safe and Cheap Remedy, which is a success in the pamphlet together with important observations touching the nature and symptoms of the diseases, to which the attention of Ladies and Practitioners is respectfully invited.
THE INGREDIENTS, as certified by high medical authority, (see pamphlet), are All Vegetable, and are not associated with any article inimical to the human system.
