Strango destiny, that shaped their course Across the dark waves' foam, And led them to our Western shores, To find their future home.

From where the Alpine storms descend On the fair plains below; And close beside the thick-ribbed ice, The mountain violets grow.

From where the Shamrock's bloom is shed, Beyond the dark blue sea, And the daisy rears its modest head Above the fragrant lea.

And here beneath a stranger sky
Far toward the setting sun,
(Strange blending of a two-fold race)
They mingle into one.

May bounteous Heaven their union bless
With an unsparing hand,
And from it may a goodly race
Arise to deck our land.

use of the Electric Chain during the past year.

ANOTHER FAOT.

It is truly the fact that wherever the electric chains have been introduced, bottled riograms and common lard have greatly diminished in sale, people having become disgusted with the pactive of using their storachs for drug shops.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

The Electric Chains are highly recommended by Professors Mott, Van Buren, Post and Carnochan, of New York; are also in daily use in every Hospital in that city. The chains will last for years, are always readly for use, and produce no injurious results, when used as directed.

FEMALÉ DISEASES.

The introduction of the Electric Chain into this country is the dawn of a new era in medicine.—During the last twenty years, it can safely be estimated that tenthousmand females have died yearly from this one disease. RAGS WANTED.
