PHILADA. Aug. 13, 1847.

I have this day carefully inspected a conductor or Lightning Rod, with vane and index, erected by Mr. Thomas Armitage, on Bellevue House, Gloncester, and have no hesitation in saying that it is not only the best that I have ever seen, but that it is the only one I have yet examined that its constructed on strictly vicinitip ringiples. It is with much pleasure that I recommend this conductor to the attention. H. McMURTHIE.

I am well satisfied that the Magnetic Lightning Rod, manufactured by Mr. Thomas Armitage, of Philadelphia, is the best that has ever been made. That we have the saying that these Rods are constructed upon the only principle of safety. The electric shock is received and dispersed by the magnet at the top of the rod, and it would be impossible, according to the laws of a struction and repulsion, for a building to be injured by a stroke of lightning of the laws of the top of the rod, and it would be impossible, according to the laws of a struction and repulsion, for a building to be injured by a stroke of lightning when protected by one of these rods. I have been acquainted with Mr. Armitage for several years, and before he commenced the manufacture of these rods I examined the principle on which they are constructed, and felt convinced my and another protection of the rod, and it would be injured by a stroke of lightning when the protect of the second of the rod, and it would be red, and the extensive sales in all parts of the contract, and the extensive sales in all parts of the contract, and the extensive sales in all parts of the contract, and the extensive sales in all parts of the contract, and the extensive sales in all parts of the contract, and the extensive sales in all parts of the contract, and the extensive sales in all parts of the contract, and the extensive sales in all parts of the contract, and the extensive sales in all parts of the cont

My Dean Shi: After a trial of many weeks, it affords me great pleasure to inform you that I am highly delighted with the lightning rod you placed upon my house at Bustleton. As far as my chemical knowledge enables me to perform an opinion, I am satisfied you have developed the correct principles in the adaptation of rods to protect property from destruction by lightning; as soon as the advantages of your arrangements are understood, I am convinced that the persons will be founds or reckless as to fail to avail themselves of the protection afforded by your rods.
