Recommendations.

Philada. Aug. 13, 1847.

Thave this day carefully inspected a conductor or Lightning Rod, with vane and index, erected by Mr. Thomas Armitage, on Bellewel House, Glouce-ter, and have no hesitation in saying that it is not only the best that I have ever seen, but that it is not only the best that I have ever seen, but that it is not only the best that I have ever seen, but that it is constructed on strictly vicintific principles. It is with much pleasure that I recommend this conductor to the attention of owners of buildings.

I am well satisfied that the Magnetic Lightning Rod, manifestured by Mr. Well Mouter Rod, and the conductor of the attention of the lows of electricity and magnetism, and have no hesitation in saying that these Rods are constructed upon the only principle of safety. The electric shock is received and dispressed by the magnetist the top of the rod, and it would be impossible, according to the laws of attraction and repulsion, for a building to be injured by a stroke of lightning when protected by one of these rods. I have been acquainted with Mr. Armitage for several years, and before he ourmenced the manufacture of these rods I examined the principle on which they are constructed, and felt convinced which they are constructed, and felt convinced which they are constructed, and felt convinced plete success. The increasing downed for thee rods, and the extensive sales in all parts of the country, is ample commendation of their millity and superiority.

My Dear Sir: After a trial of many weeks, it amends and in the street, Philadelphia.

My Dear Sir: After a trial of many weeks, it am highly delighted with the lightning rod you placed upon my house at Bustleton. As far as my chemical knowledge enables me to perform an opinion, I am satisfied you have developed the correct principles in the adaptation of rods to protect property from destruction by lightning; as soon as the advantage of your arrangements are understood, I am convinced that few persons will be found so reckless as to fail to avail themselves of the protection afforded by your rods. Wishing you all success in any outstruly,
