

Column and County.

THANKS—To Hon. John R. Edie, and others for several valuable Congressional documents.

STONERSTOWN BRIDGE.—We are informed that one span of this work is too short. The bridge was framed in the vicinity of our borough.

THE BROAD TOP BASIN.—This work is progressing rapidly. The stables, &c., on the ground where the basin is located, have been removed, and the work of excavation is progressing.

"BROTHER BONES."—It may not be amiss to state that Landis and his negro minstrels will shortly visit Harrisburg, and probably our borough, and give us a concert.

POOR OLD MARIA.—Maria Hamilton, an old colored woman generally known here as "Aunt Maria," died very suddenly last week. She retired in the evening as well as usual, and the next morning was a corpse.

Oh, Turkey!—Christmas will soon be here and—we are minus a fat gobbler. Who, among our eleven hundred patrons, wishes the prayers of a couple of hungry individuals?—If any, speak, and send along a turkey.

WORKING OF THE "WOMAN'S RIGHT" LAW.—A representative of the "Woman's Right" law, was picked up in one of our streets the other day, gloriously inflated; or, in vulgar parlance, drunk. She was cared for. We believe this is the only instance on record, in our borough, in which a feminine has made public a profession of her love for the fire water.

SALES.—Major Steel has disposed of his late splendid residence in this borough, to Rev. O. O. McClean, on behalf of the Presbyterian Congregation. It is purchased for a parsonage. Capt. Wm. Dorris has likewise sold his stone mansion. John McCahan, Esq., has likewise disposed of a frame building in Market Square.

MAP OF FRANKLIN TOWNSHIP.—It will be seen by an advertisement in another column, to which we invite special attention, that Mr. J. S. Africa, proposes getting up a map of the above named township. This is a long needed article, and we hope Mr. Africa may receive such encouragement as may induce him to give a similar map of every township in Huntingdon county. See advertisement.

A GOOD ONE.—An amusing incident occurred in one of our hotels up the country the other day. A countryman stopped there for the night, and having a very large coat on, the host politely requested him to "lay his overcoat off" as supper was ready. "Ya-es, oh ya-es!" replied the guest, and in he goes to a crowded table in very dirty shirt-sleeves. Never jerk a man's coat off, till you see if there's another about.

FIRE—FOUNDRY BURNED.—On Friday evening last, the extensive foundry of Gen. R. C. McGill, in this borough, was almost entirely destroyed by fire. The fire originated in the lower story, and before the discovery was made, the entire building was in flames. Our good citizens were promptly on the spot, and by great exertion a large amount of property was saved. The loss is a heavy one for Gen. McGill, there being no insurance on the building.

We understand that the gentlemen who had rented the foundry, intend rebuilding it, and that they will be ready for casting again, in a very short time.

WHO WILL BET ON THE RAY?—The beautiful little daisy, ye'pent the Huntingdon Globe, has been amusing us for some time past in its sharp attempts to draw a notice from us, of its editor's five and a half pounds of job type.—Last week he heroically staked $10 that he has a "gooder" assortment than we have. Bah!—We don't often resort to such expedients to "raise the wind," neither do we consider our selves as proficiently skilled in the "letting," art, or any other species of gambling, as the Globe man, but in order to give him an opportunity of exercising his genius, we will make the following:—We will bet $506 17 that we shall never again loan our type to the Huntingdon Globe office, or print handbills. We will bet $101 05 that the Huntingdon Globe office shall never borrow our job type again, for "love or money." Now friend Billy, you bet or "take the water."

GRAND-FLOQUENT.—One of our contemporaries splurges dealfully about the "fir-t hill-breath of Winter!" He is out amid the home of nature, among its wild forest and beautiful gardens, and he says this icy, northern blast has made sad havoc. Masses of brown leaves cringed by Autumn's sun, now frozen by the wintry wind, are thrown upon the ground. The bower of the anemone and the chaste violet is rudely desolated, and the bitter wailing of the storm finds innumerable echoes in the leafless woods. There is a sadness in nature which corresponds with the boreal gale. O, Autumn! why so soon?

"Depart the hues that make thy forests glad? Thy gentle wind, and the fair sunny snow, And leave them wild and sad?"

And in our town, also, there are, at this season, bare leaves and faded flowers. In the hearts of many of its denizens there is Winter—the fourth season of the heart! A chilling influence has frozen up the fountains of sympathy and happiness in its depth; a cold burden has settled over its withered hopes, like snow on the serene leaves, ice on the faded flowers; a rude blast of discontent moans and shrieks in its desolate chambers. With some, penury has taken the place of ease and plenty; summer friends have forsaken them, and the unyielding world passes them with scarcely a look or word of compassion. Death has severed the dear ties that bind others to earth, leaving them in fearful darkness. The little child has been taken from them—the sole joy of their lives—the partner with whom they had shared a weary pilgrimage in humanity. And the spirit clings to the lost one with a wild tenacity, which not even the shadow of the tomb can utterly subdue. Sere leaves, faded flowers! the revolving seasons will in their course replace you with others as fresh and as fair as you have been; but even nature cannot undo her handiwork, and in the human heart as on the bosom of earth, the "dead past" must "bury its dead," and the heart's emotions, like leaves and flowers, be succeeded—not restored.

GOLD OF BROAD TOP.—Rumors have been floating around for some time past, to the effect, that several rich veins of gold have been discovered on or in the vicinity of the Broad Top Mountain. As to the truth or falsity of this statement, we "know nothing," but give it as a currently reported and partly credited rumor here.
