

Wednesday Morning, December 26, 1855.

WILLIAM BREWSTER, EDITOR. SAM. G. WHITTAKER, EDITOR.

DON'T SCOLD.

Our devils were worked faithfully for you reader, for one year. The Journal has been issued regularly, not a single number lost, and so you won't scold us, if we only give you three columns of reading this week?

So don't scold, for we will make it all right. The imps would "have a time," and we felt a little inclined that way ourselves.

FROM KANSAS.—The New York papers have voluminous correspondence from Kansas, to the 4th inst. No attack had been made upon Lawrence, but the excitement among the people was on the increase. One of our correspondents says the invader's camp contains nearly a thousand armed men, who are loud in their threats against the "Abolition City," as Lawrence is called. The citizens of Lawrence have been making no great preparations to meet the mob, whose blustering indeed, they treat with proper contempt. They are simply on the defensive, and herein will resist to death.

The Missourians, it seems, have despatched their ultimatum, but, with all their fierce display of power and pretensions, they will never be able to bully the Free-State men of Kansas into submission. A public meeting has been held in Lawrence, at which the representatives and excuses made by Governor SHANNON for calling on the militia, were declared to be wholly false.

LAND WARRANTS are still dropping down, and fall at the following rates to-day, December 10, viz: 50's and 150's, . . . 93 cents per acre. 60's and 120's, . . . 87 " " "

A letter was shown us to-day from a dealer in New York, who states that he had bought largely on Saturday at 87 cents for 120's and 92 cents for 80's and 150's and predicts that the market will fall below 75 cents per acre.—The demand West has almost entirely fallen off and as the issue is increased, there is nothing to hold the market up.—Washington American Origin.

OUR DEVI, JR.—Wishes us to inform his patrons, that he has prepared, with the assistance of two or three other blockheads—Byron, Pope, Shelley, &c., for instance, a full-blooded, Yankee-Doodle New Year's Address. He desires us to say further, that, if the question be asked, why he "stole" so much from other men and things, he would only say, if the authors he quotes from had not written those parts long ago, he would have been compelled to do it.—It saved him the trouble. Have something for his satanic highness.

"ALAS, MY COUNTRY!"—We have fallen indeed into the "hands of the Philistines." Last week, the editor of the Globe, a scornful editor under James Campbell, took the liberty of making the readers of his paper acquainted with the contents of certain documents so were given by mail—in other words, committed an open violation of duty, one which requires investigation. Next week we will notice this at greater length.

THE SLAVE TRADE.—New York is believed by many persons to be deeply concerned in the slave trade, and it is said a Portuguese captain who has just covered landed six hundred and fifty slaves in Cuba, left Havana on the 23d ult., in the Crescent City, to renew his labors in the other northern cities.

SOUTH CAROLINA.—It is stated that the Senate of South Carolina, by a majority—38 to 3—have passed a bill to amend the Constitution so as to require two years' residence after any one had become naturalized to entitle him to a vote.

WHAT IS DEMOCRACY?—Already has Gen. Cass introduced two bills into the Senate, one making an appropriation for the flats of St. Clair river, and another for the flats of St. Mary's—both in the face of Mr. Pierce's veto of the last River and Harbor bill.

UNION AND HARMONY.—The New York Mirror says all the Young American ladies in the city are practicing Sam Tunes, preparatory to the grand campaign concert of the coming year.

"Our voices keep tune, And our hearts beat time."

YOUNG AMERICA.—Is the title of a new illustrated weekly paper, just started in New York, by T. W. Strong, $2.50 per annum, the first No. of which is before us. It is a comical concern.

"CHRISTINE," or Woman's Trials and Triumphs, is the title of a new work about to be published by Dewitt and Davenport, N. Y.—It is from the pen of Laura Curtis, and will be a worthy production.

The "young sprig" we noticed last week threatens to inflict sundry contusions and bruises upon our fair proportions. We would be most happy to have an opportunity of switching the young "amalgam."

President Pierce has issued a proclamation against the Niegrogian filibusters, who are about to sail for New York, and also a proclamation announcing that Newfoundland has complied with the provisions of the Reciprocity treaty, and is entitled to all its benefits.

There are nine newspapers published in Kansas Territory, of which six are free state papers.

We wish it distinctly understood that we do not intend "taking the street," to make room for the abominable hoop fashion.

A Little Romance.

Quite a sensation was created in one of the townships of our county, a few days ago, and which has verified the statement of a certain Mr. Samuel Patch, that "some things can be done as well as others." We will mention no names, but nevertheless, notwithstanding, our readers may rely with implicit confidence upon the truthfulness of our statements.

A very "nice" young man had been paying his "distresses" to a handsome young lady, for some eight or twelve months, but lacked courage sufficient to "pop the question" to his darling Angelina. Things moved along in this comfortable manner, until some six weeks ago, when our young Johnny Raw discovered that another fellow laid claims to his calico and cotton. Indeed he had been "cut out." Our hero had read sundry novels, including the "Discarded," and we may believe that indignation boiled in his stomach at his fellow-healed lady's love. He resolved to be revenged on his rival, and had thought of many ways until at last he settled on a plan which he thought was calculated to gratify his spirit of revenge. He determined to challenge his rival. His note was accepted, seconds were selected, and all the preliminaries adopted for a "bloody time." To cap the climax, he wrote to his "angel" requesting her to have "his remains," [we quote from the letter itself,] placed beneath the old elm tree, which appears to have been the "crystalline tree." The night before the "duel" he was sent for by his rival. He went, and reader, who do you suppose he was?—A lady relative of his Angelina's, who had played this harmless trick upon him; whether to have some sport of his vanity or to "bring him to terms," deponent saith not.

FINANCIAL CONDITION OF THE COMMONWEALTH.—It will be seen by the statement we give below, that the fiscal concerns of the State under the present Administration, are in a very prosperous condition. It has been the custom of our Democratic friends, when they were in power, to utter every now and then a triumphant blast of the trumpet in praise of the Executive or State Treasurer,—attributing to the unparalleled exertions of these officers whatever indication of prosperity might be exhibited by the annual examination of the Treasury.—We do not desire to imitate them in this respect, but only to call attention to the fact that all the giants did not die out with the last Democratic Administration, and that there are still a few left who have some financial ability, and are competent to take care of the pecuniary interests of the Commonwealth. The statement is as follows:—

Balance in the Treasury, Nov. 30, 1854, . . . $1,240,928 72 Receipts for the year 1855, . . . 5,390,474 11 6,631,402 83 Expenditures for the year 1855, 5,985,705 52 Balance in Treasury Nov. 30, 1855, 1,245,697 31 The receipts on the public works during the same period are as follows:—

Canal Tolls, 1855, . . . $1,945,376 71 " " 1854, . . . 1,918,606 30 Excess of 1855 over 1854, . . . 23,770 41

The condition of the Treasury as exhibited above is such as to be deeply gratifying to the people of the Commonwealth. It will be seen that the February interest may be paid, this year, without a resort to a cotemporary loan, as formerly. In view of all the facts, we may hope that this is but the dawn of that brighter day in Pennsylvania for which her citizens have been so long and so eagerly looking.

ALLEGED ROBBERY OF THE ARSENAL.—On Thursday last Anthony E. Drane, keeper of the State Arsenal, at Harrisburg, was arrested by officer Young on a warrant charging him with taking state arms from the Arsenal, without authority, with a view of disposing of the same—in short with larceny. After a hearing before Justice Snyder he was committed in default of bail which we understand was fixed at $2500. It is rumored here that Mr. Aaron Coburn, member elect to the Legislature from Philadelphia city, has also been arrested as a participant in the same transaction and held to bail in $5000.

The authorities at Harrisburg supposing the missing arms (six boxes) were in Philadelphia despatched a messenger, who made affidavit before the Mayor of the larceny. Upon this information, officers Clark and Levy made inquiry at every place where it was thought the missing property might be concealed, and finding none there discovered that the arms had been sent to New York. They repaired thither and found the six boxes and their contents at an establishment in Broadway, the proprietor of which it is alleged had an interview with Mr. C., who informed the keeper or superintendent of the Arsenal, as concluded arms. Under the impression that he had done nothing but what was perfectly fair and legal in the matter, Mr. Coburn waited on Mayor Conrad and offered himself to the authorities to wait any investigation of the case.

GREAT FEAT OF ROPE WALKING.—Signor and Signora Caroni, this afternoon, performed the feat of walking a tight rope from the ground in front of International Hotel, to the fourth story window of the building. The distance was about 175 feet, and the rise near sixty.—The ropes were an inch and a quarter in thickness, placed at a distance of three and a half feet from each other, and steadied by twelve "guys."

At a quarter past twelve the lady ascended on the rope followed by the gentleman, when interlocking their arms they commenced the ascent, which being accomplished and the applause subsided, the descent was performed, the parties stopping after half the distance was performed, and quietly sending themselves up on the rope. The feat was performed with the greatest ease, and the lady evidenced the most perfect composure, laughing and talking during the passage.

Signor and Signora Caroni are natives of Italy, and are now somewhat advanced in age. They are married, and have nine children.—The crowd in attendance has been variously estimated at from eight to twelve thousand people, the streets, vacant lots, houses windows and house tops in the neighborhood all being packed with spectators.—San Francisco Chronicle.

On account of only issuing a half-sheet, we cannot publish "H. C. B.'s communication" this week. It will appear next week.

New York Correspondence.

New York, Dec. 23, 1855.

MESSRS EDITORS.—The accounts from the seat of war are not important. In Russia, the effects of the war have driven the Bank of Odessa to a suspension of specie payments, and raised the premium on Silver fifteen per cent.

You have, of course, heard the result of the Baker trial—the unanimous verdict of the jury. I don't think Baker ought to be convicted of murder. Two years' imprisonment would be punishment enough for him. Probably you, whose opinion is based upon the published evidence, think differently. But every newspaper man who has been a reporter, and been obliged, in the performance of his duties, to "travel" occasionally, knows well that there was not an essential witness, either for the prosecution or the defence, who would not perjure himself unhesitatingly, if he could make anything by it, or in the service of his clique. The witnesses on either side dared not give their testimony against their own party. Sensible persons, here, look upon what is called the "Poole Murder" merely as a brawl between two rival cliques of Blackguards, who have gone about for years armed to the teeth, who have been biting, gouging, cutting and shooting peaceable citizens at primary elections, and who, during the intervals between these, have amused themselves, and kept their hands in practice, by experimenting on each other.

Timid conservatives are continually ascribing the misgovernment of the city to the fact that there are so many offices to which the incumbents are elected instead of being appointed. I don't agree with them, and in the meantime I give them the following nut to crack. "Tim," the most wealthy of the blackguards under indictment for the murder of Poole, has received the appointment of Inspector of Public Buildings, at a salary of $2,500 a year. Poole, on his death-bed, said that he did not blame Baker as much as Morrissey and Irvin. Irvin is not a first class sporting man, but a vulgar, obscene, sweat-cloth gambler, who talks horse and game, and cannot speak on any subject but illustrating his ideas on it by gambling and horse-racing phrases. That man couldn't have been elected to any office in New York. Baker, also, was appointed a policeman.

There has been some little newspaper-bickering here, between Mr. Silas C. Herring, the well known real estate manufacturer, and another gentleman also engaged in that business, but who does not, it would seem, meet with much success. When the Croton Mills were consumed by fire, all the books and papers of the establishment were preserved; and shortly after it was advertised that the instrument of their preservation was one of Herring's make. A notice of that assertion was published by Mr. Herring, accompanied by a certificate from the proprietors of the Croton Mills, to the effect that their safe was one of Herring's make, with the maker's name on it, and that they never had used, nor would use, any other. The result is that Herring's safe stands higher than any other in public estimation, and his reputation as a maker of safes is higher than that of any other in the world. There are, doubtless, other good manufacturers; but it will be long before the public will withdraw their confidence from their old favorite, who has been the means of saving more money from the flames, and more businesses from entire ruin, than perhaps any other man in the world.

New papers are being started so fast, that it is labor enough for a man to look at their headings. It would amount to a business to examine them. It may be safely said, however, that they will all fail, if not backed by an enormous amount of capital. It takes ten times as much money to establish a paper in New York as would have been necessary ten years ago.—Then, there was a fair chance for a paying circulation and advertising patronage for a weekly paper of moderate size, at two dollars a year. But times are changed. Who will give two dollars a year, now, for a small New York paper, moderately conducted, or written for by even two or three able men, when he can get such a paper, for instance, as the Weekly Times, the most comprehensive and every way the best newspaper published in this city, twice as large at half the price, and its columns contributed to by over thirty able men?

The Court of Death. King Death held a court unto which did resort, All diseases that ravage below, In order that he requited might be. Why business of late had been "slow." There was a great with his crutch and his trier-tong.

Sick headache and jaundice the yellow, With Dyspepsia who'd laid many folks' health to the spade. Of the sexton, that grave-digging fellow. But 'twere vain to describe each one of the tribe That before Old Death made their appearance. Said he, "how is this? there is something amiss 'Tis not made into me of old romance; Just tell me, I pray, the cause of delay, You diseases are getting quite lazy, Do speak up friend God and tell me what you're about, Or slack business will drive me quite crazy!"

Said God, "the fact's this—do not take it amiss For myself and my friends no one cares, For our business below has received a cold blow From a cursed Phil Calvert called 'Agar's' The Pill when folks try, makes each one of us 'Tis for it drives us clean out of the system, Thus it drives away people's breath, so you see my friend Death, That's the way that of late you have mislead 'em."

Frightened. The Quebec Gazette seems to be quite overcome by the recent war panic, and thinks there must be war between the United States and England. It says: It is the duty of the government of this country to be prepared with men; to have lines of earth batteries posted at important points along the frontier, and to have depots of provisions and materials of war wherever they may be needed.

The Montreal Commercial Advertiser adds, with much good sense: The only earth works we require are railroad grades, the only manitous rails and ironing, the only array thousands of warriors against the forest and the soil. Montreal is not destined to see just now the arrival of any more dangerous invading force than such as visited us last summer on hospitable thoughts intent.—And although there are men in the United States that talk of seizing Canada as though she had no claws, and that young men in Canada who affect to rejoice at the prospect, neither the one or the other intend to venture anything in the undertaking but wind, and we can afford to let them work off their superabundant excitement in a way, which if not very wise, is at least very innocent.

EN.—The Tribune says George Law spent $10,000 to carry New York State for the Know Nothings at the late election. The Argus says if he has so much spare cash, he had better come to Easton and secure the woman's hat he forgot to pay, when he left there a few years ago.

SEBASTOPOL.—That name should be pronounced Sev-as-to-pol. The accent is on the third syllable, and by Russian, is pronounced v. We charge nothing for this information.

The death of Robert Schuyler is announced in the papers this morning. He died near Genoa in Italy, about the middle of November.

LATER FROM EUROPE.

PEACE RUMORS, &c.

Affairs in the Crimea are unchanged and the papers furnish no remarkable events there. The rumors of peace are still abundant, but unauthenticated. Nevertheless Consuls went up upon the strength of it. Breakfasts are coming down, and the markets are stocked.

Congressional News.

Congress has now spent three weeks doing nothing—the House having been enacting during that whole period, the monotonous farce of balloting day after day, with no expectation, and consequently no actual purpose of electing a Speaker to preside over that impracticable and disorganized, if not disorganizing body.—And the end seems not yet—the voting on the latest dates showing no material change. The President's message certainly has a chance of becoming well reasoned. The Senate is almost as badly off as the House of Representatives. The Democratic members are sorely perplexed about the election of a printer. They caucus daily, but are unable to agree.

Latest News from Kansas.

By the latest accounts from Kansas, we understand that all the difficulties have been settled. The "border," or Missouri "raiders," retired, without being able to disarm or even to frighten the free state men.
