THE RAVEN.

BY EDGAR ALLAN POE.

Once upon a midnight dreary,
While I ponder'd weak and weary,
Over many a quaint and curious
Volume of forgotten lore...

Is there—'t there balm in Gilead?
Tell me—tell me, I implore!

"Prophet!" said I, "thing of evil—
Prophet still, if bird or devil!
By that heaven that bends above us—
By that God who has borrow'd hden...

Facts and Fancies.

Common friendship stands on equality, and will be no gift.

I have very little respect for the ties of this world, as the rogue said with the rope about his neck.

There are no hands upon the clock of eternity; there is no shadow upon its dial. The very hours of heaven will be measured by the sunshine—not by the shadow.

Somebody has written a book on "The art of making people happy without money." Our devil thinks he is in an excellent condition to be experimented upon.

A mine of Epsom Salts is said to have been recently discovered in St. Cruz county, California. It should not prove remunerating to its proprietors, it will, nevertheless, be always good for working people.

A pious minister, after lecturing to a Sunday school class in a most edifying manner, proposed to "close the exercises by singing Jordan," meaning the hymn "On Jordan's stormy banks I stand," &c. The worthy man was horrified by hearing the whole school immediately strike up "Jordan on a hard road to travel!"

AND HE PLAYED, &c.—We see by a hoop-pole country paper that a 'gentleman' of color has been enlightening the residents of that district by an eloquent and powerful display of oratorical genius never before heard in that section of the country. He closed by saying to his audience that they "would mount on weagle's legs, and sore to the land ob catfish and cels, whar the graby runs downs bofe sides of yer mouf. Yea, verily, de day will cum when all will mount on de weagle's legs, and play upon de harp ob a thousan' strings!"

Setting Fence Posts. Many methods are recommended for setting fence posts, but in cases where firmness and durability are especially desirable, I know of none superior to the following: Having selected your posts, remove the bark from the lower ends, and char them; then finish the whole as you prefer to have them appear when set. The holes for their reception should never be less than eighteen inches in diameter, and three and one fourth feet deep, nor should there be any diminution of the size of the post beneath the soil. The larger the posts are in that part, the more firmly will they set. To supply the material for filling in, take common lime, one part, and washes, one part, pulverised charcoal, one part, and coarse gravel six parts; slacker the lime with water in which half a bushel of salt to one barrel of the former has been dissolved, and mix the materials intimately till the mass is of the consistency of mortar, then throw in a few shovelful to constitute a bedding, and having set the post in the requisite position commence filling in.

Where the fence is to be ornamented or very strong and high, and where swaying from the effects of powerful winds, or other causes, is to be specially guarded against, the introduction of small stones, or chips of granite, before the cement hardens, will be found very desirable. These should be thrown in as the process of filling proceeds, and rammed down to increase the solidity of the mass. This cement is one of the most efficient antiseptic mixtures known when applied to wood beneath the soil. It hardens to the solidity of the firmest granite, and will neither break nor crack. In finishing off the filling in, care should be taken to give a slight elevation to the mass immediately in contact with the post, rising some four or five inches in the form of a pyramid, to prevent the water standing upon it, which would accelerate the decomposition and decay of the post. Posts inserted in this way will always retain an erect position, and endure for ages.

Cook & Co., of same place, and by the very same mail a fourth order from Messrs. MEDICAL ADVERTISEMENTS.

GREATEST MEDICAL DISCOVERY OF THE AGE.

Dr. Kennedy, of Roxbury, has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds a remedy that cures EVERY KIND OF HUMOR, the worst scrofula down to a common pimple.

He has tried it in over 1100 cases, and never failing except in those both under humor. He certifies in his possession over two hundred certificates of its virtue, all within twenty miles of Boston.

Two bottles are warranted to cure a nursing sore mouth. One to three bottles will cure the worst kind of Pimples on the face. Two or three bottles will clear the system of Biles.

Two bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of Scrofula. One to two bottles are warranted to cure all humor in the Eyes. Two bottles are warranted to cure running of the ears and blotches among the hair.

Four bottles are warranted to cure corns and running ulcers. One bottle will cure scaly eruption of the skin. Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism. Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the scaly humor.

Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of Scrofula. A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.

Reader, I peddled over a thousand bottles of this medicine in the vicinity of Boston. I knew the effect of it in every case. So sure was water will extinguish fire, so sure will this cure humor. I never sold a bottle of it but that sold another; after a trial it always speaks for itself. There are two things which appear to me surprising: first that it cures in our pasture, in some places quite plentiful, and yet its value has never been known until I discovered it in 1846—second that it should cure all kinds of humor.

In order to give some idea of the sudden rise in the business of this medicine, I will state that in April, 1853, I peddled it and sold about six bottles per day—in April, 1854, I sold over one thousand per day.

Some of the wholesale Druggists who have been in business twenty and thirty years, say that nothing in the annals of patent medicine was ever like it. There is a universal praise of it from all quarters.

In my own practice I always kept it strictly for humors—its use in other diseases as a general family medicine, great and wonderful virtues have been found in it that I never suspected.

Several cases of epileptic fits—a disease which was always considered incurable, have been cured by the use of this medicine. It will prove effectual in all cases of that dreadful malady—there are but few who have more of it than I have.

I know of several cases of Dropsy, all of whom I have cured by it. For the various diseases of the Liver, Stomach, Headache, Dropsy, Asthma, Fever and Ague, Pain in the Side, Diseases of the Spine, and particularly in diseases of the Kidneys, &c., the discovery has done more good than any medicine ever known.

No change of diet or any other necessary—eat the best you can get and enough of it. Directions for Use.—Adults one table spoonful per day—Children over ten years decrease spoonful—Children from five to eight years decrease spoonful—Children from one to five years decrease spoonful—Children from one to five years decrease spoonful.
