

CAMPAIGN JOURNAL

more generally during the last few years, to this salutary principle of that great measure of Jefferson. Some indeed, have ventured to question its constitutionality, although for near seventy years it has been the basis of submission with lawyers and statesmen of the highest eminence in all sections of the country, and has received the sanction of every judicial tribunal in which it has been discussed, and that, too, in the slave States.

In these latter days, Jack-a-lanters, generated in the bottomless marbles of party politics, seem to allure quite as many followers as are found in the path illustrated by the puer and safer lights, emitted from the precepts and examples of the age, of the revolutionary period, and political action seems to be directed rather by considerations of conceived party necessity than by the suggestions of reason, justice and patriotic principle.

Occupying the position I do, it is not permitted to me to speak of the transactions in Kansas in their legal aspects; but I may say with you, that I contemplate the violence, bloodshed and civil and fraternal war now transpiring there with mingled emotions of sadness, alarm and mortification. They are the fruits of that blighted and mischievous measure—the repeal of the Missouri Compromise, which from the first, I have earnestly deprecated; and I have no hesitation in saying that the immediate admission of Kansas as a State into the Union under the Constitution already formed, commends itself to me as a measure of sound policy, and well calculated to bring peace to the territory and to the country.

With these views, I have not been backward in advising in all suitable ways, the adoption of that measure. There are several precedents which may be appealed to in support of it, and especially that of the admission of Michigan. It would do no injustice to any section of the country. It would powerfully tend to tranquillize the public mind, allay sectional jealousies, and bring the masses of the people to the earnest support of the Constitution and the Union in their pristine integrity. The South would have no just cause to complain of it, and indeed ought freely and generously to yield it upon the altar of public good. Since the adoption of the Constitution, as many Slave States as Free States, have been admitted into the Union; and the Slave States, while they have only about one-fourth of the white population of the country, embrace a much larger extent of fertile territory, with a more genial climate than the Free States.

No intelligent observer can fail to see that the tendency of our institutions is downward, and all history and experience show that no free government, with such tendencies, was ever arrested in its declining career without a revolution, either by a peaceful change of its policy and rulers, or by the bloody overthrow of the sword. It is an axiom in government, as clear as any intuitive truth, that no free government can rest upon any other than a sound basis, and that basis must consist in its strength. How much of this foundation remains for our model Republic, it will be well for the people, yet virtuous and enlightened, to ponder in season. If they do not see or appreciate their danger, it is in vain that they hold the power to apply the corrective.

With the greatest respect,
I am very truly yours,
JOHN McLEAN.

LATER FROM KANSAS.—Chicago, June 19.—A company of 75 men, the first company of the Chicago Emigrant Aid Society, left yesterday for Kansas. Mrs. Brown, the wife of the editor of the Herald of Freedom, had just arrived here. She left Leavenworth on the 12th, on which day a band of 250 Missonians were encamped three miles from Lawrence. She met Colonel Sumner, en route for Lawrence, with a strong body of troops, including a company of artillery. The Pro-Slavery Vigilance Committee of Leavenworth had renewed their notice to the Herald of Freedom, and she had been warned by Col. Sumner that she would be liable to be arrested if she visited the Missonians to desert. Gen. Whitfield arrived at St. Louis on Monday en route for Washington.

PHILADELPHIA MARKETS.
For Flour the market continues dull, there is very little inquiry for export, and for about 600 lbs, mostly good straight brands, was made within the range of $6.66 1/2 for common retailing brands; $6.75 1/2 for extra, as to brand; and $8.50 per barrel for fancy family flour. There have been disposed of in small lots, at $1.00 1/2 for inferior to good white. Rice—Further sales of 600 bushels Pennsylvania are reported at 72c in store. Corn—the demand is moderate, and 7000 to 8000 bushels yellow found buyers at 45c 1/2 for inferior, and 51c for prime Southern, about, including 1500 bushels good Pennsylvania at 49c and 800 bushels at 47c, the latter delivered.

DEPARTMENT OF COMMON SCHOOLS OF PENNSYLVANIA.
HARRISBURG, May 10, 1856.
To School Directors:
Decision No. 11, on page 66 of the Pamphlet copy of the "School Law and Decisions," does not correspond with the general practice over the State, and is also found to be erroneous to some extent as a matter of law, inasmuch as it improperly exempts "trades, occupations and professions," of a less value than two hundred dollars, from taxation for School purposes. It was so regulated to correspond with the State tax on occupations, but the 29th and 30th sections of the School Law adjust the School tax to the County as well as State tax; and as occupations under two hundred dollars are not exempt from taxation for County purposes, it follows as a necessary consequence that they are liable to taxation for School purposes. The various acts of Assembly, with regard to County tax are exceedingly obscure and unintelligible with regard to the manner of assessing the tax on occupations; but the soundest rule of practice to be gathered from them will be for Directors to assess "occupations" for School purposes at such rate per cent, as the necessity of the District may require, not exceeding thirteen mills on the dollar, except where the tax at the rate thus fixed would amount to fifty cents, in which case it should be fixed at that specific sum, according to the proviso to the 30th section of the School Law. Where the Director has already been made out, Directors recall and amend it according to the instructions contained in this circular. The other tax decisions in the Pamphlet copy of the School Law conform to the acts of Assembly and Decisions of the courts, and are to be received as authority by Directors.
Very Respectfully,
H. C. HICKOK,
Deputy Superintendent.

CONSUMPTION
SUCCESSFULLY TREATED BY INHALATION OF MEDICAL VAPORS,
BY
JOHN STEWART ROSE, M.D.
Fellow of the Royal College of Physicians, and for years Senior Physician in the London and Royal Dispensary, &c.
IN this age of progress, Medical Science has contributed her full share to the general welfare, and that which shines resplendent, the brightest jewel in her diadem is Medicine. Various persons in the treatment of Consumption and kindred affections, and I earnestly appeal to the intelligence of all afflicted, or who may have the germs of sickness within them, to embrace at once the soothing, healing, and successful system of Medical Vapor Inhalation, as the only means of curing the disease, and restoring to it its natural state. The inhalation of the vapors of the Lungs, in the form of a Vapor, directly to the diseased surface of the Lungs, will be far more effective than medicine taken into the stomach. The success of "Medicated Vapor Inhalation" in curing diseases of the Lungs, and in any case of chronic cough, and I earnestly appeal to the intelligence of all afflicted, or who may have the germs of sickness within them, to embrace at once the soothing, healing, and successful system of Medical Vapor Inhalation, as the only means of curing the disease, and restoring to it its natural state.
