O CHEAP

When earthly things grow dim, and heaven more fair.

Ohl in night's holy hours may strength be given

To thy ford heart, O Night,
Thou foldest safe the weary bird to rest;
Thy gentle fingers close the blossoms bright,
The wandering bird thou bliddest seek its nest
The dew-gemmed leaves hang low, and al

things sleep
In silence calm and deep.
Now sinks the light of day: Now suns the light of day:
From bill and vale the sunset splendor dies,
From every cloud the glory fudes away;
And now the stars look forth with gentle eyes
And beam upon the earth with smiles of love
From their blue homes above.

Now, as returns each star, Come back the earnest tho'ts dispelled by day Earth's many cares seem trivial as they are, And thoughts of endless life the spirit sway. Eternity! thy solemn mornings roll
Like billows o'er the soul.

TO MAGGY.

Death, swful death, has drawn the veil That separates forever; Between us and the silent dead There is no way, whatever.

I saw her near the close of life. Let us prepare to go that road
That's traveled day by day,
For soon our heads must be brought low,
And here we cannot stay.

The Improvement of Grass Lands.

In the improvement of grass lands, the first thing to be done is the removal of all stagnant water by means of thorough under draining. Unless this is accomplished the best of cultivation, seeding and top. dressing, will fail to produce their full ef-

When our meadows fail, from whatever cause, it is generally advisable to plow them up in the fall, and cultivate them thoroughly for two or three years, with corn, potatoes, or other root crops, manu-ring them heavily, and seeding down again when the white daisy and other weeds have been destroyed, and the old turf has entirely disappeared. It, however, the land is so low that it is not desirable to cul tivate with other crops, it may be plowed up in August, and well worked with a cultivator, harrow, &c., till a fine "seed bed" is obtained, not forgetting to give it a good manure, if long manure, plow it in; if well decomposed which is the best, spread it on the furrows, harrow and cultivate till it is thoroughly incorporated with the soil. About the first of September, sow with artificial grasses, and be not sparing of the seed; half a bushel of timothy and half a bushel of red top or other grasses in proportion is none too much. Generally, by so doing, a fair crop of good hay is obtained the next season. This method of re stocking worn out meadows has been practiced with much success by many ex-cellent farmers in New England. Some recommend sowing clover with the timo thy and red-tod, in the fall, but we should inclined to fear it would seldom survive our hard winters; unless, indeed, it were sown quite early, say in July or first of

We have seen meadows greatly impro ved by simply scarrilying the sward in the fall by means of a heavy harrow, and then sowing from eight to sixteen quarts of timothy, red-top and rye grass seeds, equal parts, to the acre. In the case alluded to, heavy rains followed immediately after the the winter months. The effect was very beneficial. Unmixed manure was seldoin used. Since the introduction of Peruvian Guano, however, the practice of compost ing old headlands has, to some extent en way to top-dressing with light artificial en way to top-dressing with light aruficial manure. Guano gives a better immediate effect, at a much less cost; but whether it eas ultimately more profitable is an open at ultimately more profitable is an open state. question. With hay at from $15 to $20 per ton, there can be no doubt that a judicicus application of good Peruvian guano in the fall, or very early in the spring, will give sufficient increase, for a few years at least, to pay for the guano and have a MISCELLANEOUS ADVERTISEMENTS. tion of hay draws heavily on the soil for potash, and as guano contains very little potash, (not more than two per cent.) it sonably be supposed that to man ure with guano alone will soon leave the soil deficient of available potash. If such be the case, an application of wood ashes would supply the deficiency .- Gennessee Farmer.

Southern View of Thanksgiving in the Northern States.

The Baltimore Sun, alluding to the fact that Thursday. November 20, has be n fixed upon by most of the Governors of the Northern States for the annual Thanksgiving, saks : Where are the Governors of the States south of Maryland ? The in quiry has provoked the following rather snappish reply from the Carolina Times:

"We are impressed that the Governors of the States south of Maryland are all at home and competent to decide for them-selves when it will be proper to fix upon a day to offer up thanks to the Almohiv for past blessings. The movement on the part of Northern Executives is no criteri on for the Southern men. We are subject to law, common and divine, and need

'No bleeding bird nor bleeding beast, Nor hysep branch, nor sprinkling priest, Nor running brook, nor flood, nor sea To wash a dismal stain away.'

"It is meet and proper that the misers ble, sin stricken, polluted and ungodly pe-pulat on of the North should beg parden for their black sins recorded, committed against God, their country and fellowmen. As a generation of vipers they ought to be warned to fire the wrath to come; yet we believe that the waters of Jorlan, Abana and Pharpar would fail to wash them and heal their leprosy, even though they were to dip seventy times seven. They have much to be forgiven, and we would advise them to pray often—pray long and pray loud. Baltimore, especially, ought to be covered with sackcloth and ashes "

Reader, I pediode over a thousand bottles of this in the vicinity of Boston. I knew the effector it in every case. So sure as water will example the inc, so sure will this cure humor.—I never sold a bottle of it but that sold another; after a trial raiway is speak for itself. There are two things about this berth that appear to me surprising first it grows in our pastances on some places quite plentinal and yet its value has never been known until I discovered it in 1846—second that it should cure all kinds of humor.

In order to give some idea of the sudden rise and great popularity of the discovery. I will state that in April, 1853, I pedduct it and sold about six bottles per da,—a April, 1854, sold over one thousand yer day of it.

Some of the wholesale Druggists who have been in basiness twony and thirty years, say that nothing in the annuals of patert medicines was ever like it. There is a universal praise of it from all quarters.

In my own practice I always kept it strictly for humor—but since its introduction as a general family medicine, great and wenderful viruses have been found in it that I never suspected.

Several cases of epileptic fits—a disease which was always considered incurable, have been cared by a few bottles. O, what a mercy it it will prove effectual in all cases of that drendful midady—there are but few who have more of it than I have.

I know of several cases of Dropsy, all of whom aged people enred by it. For the various diseases of the Liver, Sick Hardiene, Dyspepsia, Asthan, Fever and Ague. Etni in the Site, Liseases of the Spine, and particularly in diseases of the Kidneys, &c., the discovery has done more go of than any medicine ever known.
