THE POOR HOUSE OFFICIALS.

KENZIE'S DEFENSE OF HIMSELF AND OFFICIAL ASSOCIATES.

There is so little point in this lengthy document that we hardly deem it necessary to notice it at all, believing the mere reading of it will confirm the evidence already presented against its authors.

But by her truthfulness she had brought it sorrow upon her head, and the mother said, with tears, 'Must my dear one suffer always, when I received that happy dream as a message from the skies?'

Another like yourself twenty five years ago, the small, round head, the dear little bundle almost smothered by care.

'Dear Lewis,' and 'Dear Dora,' father and mother of the 'pet,' the 'darling,' named Dora too.

Happier, Dora Howard, than ever before—than imagined even in thy girlish days; with a man for thy husband—a being with a large, pure, holy soul.

man that can not present a clear political record, shall never be imposed on the American Republican party of this country, if we can prevent it.

But Kenzie had another motive in this distribution of poor house patronage; he wished to expose his swindling operations as little as possible.

THE MAGNETIC LADY.

It will be seen by posters that this lady will give one of her interesting lectures and experiments at the Town Hall to night.

JONES OF THE REGISTER.

If any of Jones' over charitable friends have entertained a lingering hope that he would yet abandon the ruined fortunes of the miserable remnant of a faction of the Straightouts that have bewildered him with their orgies and corrupted him with their Jesuitism—the last number of the Register must dispel the delusive hope.

The House was very beautifully decorated and lighted, and as all were very attentive, and good order prevailed, every person had an opportunity to hear and see what was said and done.

HANGSMAN'S DAY IN LANCASTER.

Execution of Anderson & Richards. LANCASTER, April 9, 1858.

This is the day appointed by the Governor for carrying into effect the sentence of the Court upon Alexander Anderson and Henry Richards, two negroes convicted of the murder of Mrs. Garber and Mrs. Ream, two respectable elderly ladies of Manheim township, about five miles from this city.

PHILADELPHIA DAILY BULLETIN.

We have been for some time in receipt of the Evening Bulletin, published by Cummings & Peacock, and find it one of the best, if not the very best Daily that comes to our office.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

We learn from our friend, Capt. John A. Osborn, that a very serious accident occurred on the Six Mile Run branch of the Broadtop Railroad, in this county, on the 30th ult.

Passed.

The bill for the sale of the public canals to the Sunbury and Erie R R Co has passed the House of Representatives by a vote of 54 to 37.

Educational.

For the Journal.

MR. EDITOR.—On Wednesday evening, the 7th, inst., we found our way to the Exhibition of School No. 2 Cromwell District, in charge of James Baker, Esq., and being very well entertained, while there we thought that it would not be out of place to give to your readers a small sketch of this school and its exhibition.

School No. 2, consists of scholars of all sizes and ages, between 5 and 21 years, Male and Female. This School has been kept open for four months, the last session under the charge of Mr. Baker as Teacher, who has filled that responsible office (we believe) to the satisfaction of both Parent and Pupil.

This School stands among the first in the District for size and progress. But to the Exhibition. There were about forty pieces on the Programme; Declarations, Dialogues &c., the principal part of which was taken from the different text books used in the School.

The Declarations were all very well spoken, the Speakers acquitting themselves creditably. The Dialogues were all well performed and gave general satisfaction, some were quite amusing but were innocuous and interesting.

Occasionally during the exercises of the evening the chair appeared on the stage and entertained the audience with a very pleasant piece of vocal music, giving us to understand that this important part of Education had not been neglected.

The House was very beautifully decorated and lighted, and as all were very attentive, and good order prevailed, every person had an opportunity to hear and see what was said and done.

The animals belonging to the circus of Dan Rice, passed through this place on yesterday morning.

ANTI-LECOMPTON VICTORIES.

The evidences of repugnance to the Lecompton policy are overwhelming. We speak not of such elections as those recently held at Chillicothe, where the Union ticket was elected by a large majority.

In Ohio—Cincinnati, Opposition by majorities ranging from 1,000 to 3,000. Toledo, Republican by 138 majority—last year, heavily Democratic.

In Michigan—The Town Meetings show an almost unbroken line of Republican triumphs though the Democratic party there has generally cut loose from and opposes Lecompton.

In Indiana—Indianapolis recently went Republican by a large majority; Lafayette, ditto by 50 to 75 majority—usually Democratic.

In Iowa—Davenport has gone largely Republican; Dubuque (usually two or three to one Democratic) has elected a People's Ticket over the Democratic by some 500 majority.

In Missouri—St. Louis has chosen the straight-out Free Democracy ticket by 1,200 majority over a People's ticket headed by an Emancipationist, but made and supported in good part by a union of the various Pro-Slavery interests and factions; while Jefferson (the State capital) has also chosen Free-State officers throughout by a handsome majority.

This is the first time a distinctive Emancipation ticket was ever run in that city. Florissant, a smaller city, is also reported Free-State.

We ought, perhaps, to add that Louisville, Ko., has just chosen 'American' officers with very little opposition—their Representative, Humphry Marshall and their organ, The Louisville Journal, heading the fight against Lecompton.

—We give these merely as straws showing the course of the wind; but who finds any sailing the other way? The extent of a change wrought in the public mind by a bad measure is never fully evinced in the ensuing popular vote, especially if the contest be for local officers alone.

From Washington. WASHINGTON, April 10, 1858. Col Benton's spirit took its flight gently and tranquilly this morning at about thirty minutes past seven o'clock. He was conscious and calm. He was 76 years and 27 days old when he died.

Hard on Bigler. The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Sunday Dispatch describes a scene in the Senate last Friday, while the Crittenden Kansas bill was pending, which is in no way flattering to our Pennsylvania Senator.

The Bedford Gazette says:—After writing to persons in this District that 'all the sympathies of his heart' were with the Free State men in Kansas, Wilson Reilly has lately betrayed them. What knows? Thanks however, to free, unthought, unperceivable men in the House of Representatives, Wilson Reilly's treason did not accomplish its object; and Heaven, we hope, will prevent it in the future.

The New York Tribune says:—After the first defeat of Lecompton, a week ago, the President wrote to Gov. Wise a very long letter, deploring the evil which this Lecompton business had brought upon the Administration asking Gov. Wise for advice, and beseeching him to help save the Administration and Democratic party, telling him at the same time that the Union was not Mr. Buchanan's organ and that he had not approved its proscription and unparliamentary course.

On Friday the 9th inst., ANNIE, daughter of the late Mrs. Catharine Gwin, aged 16 years, 5 months, and 17 days.

The certificates can be obtained by paying one-half, and the Deeds by paying the other half.

70,000 Acres of Land, in large or small tracts can also be had at private sale, and upon the most reasonable terms. Some of it is high to sell these lands. Liberal inducements will be given. For full particulars apply to E. BAUDEL, Port Royal, Caroline co. Va., Apr. 14, '58.-3m.

PUBLISHER'S PROSPECTUS

On the 31st of April, 1858, we begin, in connection with Messrs. Little, Son & Co., Boston, the New Series of the Living Age, monthly, enlarged to eighty pages, handsomely printed on fine paper, with cut edges, etc. The long-established, and deservedly high reputation which this esteemed book has enjoyed, renders it superior to any other of its kind in circulation as a most choice and also economical selection from the best fugitive literature of our own country, it will be at once apparent that it possesses a character alike unique and unrivalled as that of the most valuable commodity for all classes of the reading community—the statesman, student, and philosopher, as well as the family circle.

In addition to the intrinsic value of its literary contents, the quantity of reading matter embraced in a single year of this work, amounts to four thousand one hundred and sixty double pages,—the subscription price of which is only Six Dollars per annum,—thus constituting it not only the best, but the cheapest periodical in the world.

This work, which has been received with universal favor of the Press, religious and secular, has also enjoyed the cordial approbation of many eminent men of our country, among them, PRESIDENT ADAMS, HON. JAMES SPENCER, JUSTICE STONE, W. H. FRESCOTT, CHANCELLOR KENT, W. H. MORTON, BISHOP POTTER, H. G. TICKNOR, REV. DR. BETHUNE, H. J. RAYMOND, REV. A. BAILEY.

For Six Dollars a year, remitted directly to either of the Publishers, the Living Age will be punctually forwarded, free of postage. Complete sets of the First Series, in thirty-six volumes, and of the Second Series, in twenty volumes, handsomely bound, packed in neat boxes, and delivered at the most moderate price of freight, are for sale at two dollars a volume.

Any volume may be had separately, at two dollars, bound, or a dollar and a half in numbers. Any number may be had for 12 cents; and it is well worth the price to subscribers or purchasers to complete any broken volumes they may have, and thus greatly enhance their value. STANFORD & DELISSER, Publishers, 637 Broadway, New York.

THE MODERN ART.

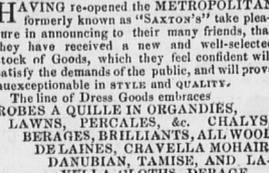

Taming the most Wild, Vicious AND Unmanageable Horses.

As practised by Mr. J. S. Rarey in Europe, and by himself at No. 65 & 67 Watts St., New York, is creating a complete revolution in the manner of training the most vicious and stubborn horse. The public are aware of the immense extent to which now exists in all Europe, in consequence of witnessing these astonishing effects, of the will of man over the horse. By this process, the wildest colt or the most vicious horse, of any age, may be subdued in a few hours so as to obey the slightest word or motion of his master.

No matter how vicious or stubborn, he is subdued in a few days, and learns to obey in proportion to his intelligence; and is astonishingly obedient to his high degree of intellect when directed to the complete control of man, and when once thoroughly trained he never forgets it. I will take the most unmanageable horse in, lie down, and will handle him every way you please, will learn him so that a boy can handle him with ease, and he will then look with affection instead of defiance on his master, and soon will follow him anywhere.

By this process, he is completely broken of four cars, umbrellas, robes, or any other objectionable articles. Many valuable horses have been ruined from fright, and lives have been sacrificed to vicious and unmanageable horses—in fact, nothing is more dreaded than an unmanageable horse. I warrant this process sure in every case, I have determined to keep the secret no longer, as it has hitherto been confined to a few horse trainers in circles in this country, but has existed for centuries in Arabia. I furnish the whole information in printed form, so clearly demonstrated, that any man can practice it at once without the least injury to himself or horse, and will send the same to any address on receipt of five dollars. It is the same that Mr. Rarey is now selling in England and France for $50. I would respectfully say, that I cannot undertake to answer letters which do not contain the above amount. H. B. ARMISTEAD, Apr. 14, '58.-2m. New York City.

mother; but Robert's soul was so very small, that it was terrified by the seemingly Amazonian speech, and believed such strength would cut it off by violence. He went home thoughtfully, afterwards Dora went to her chamber, thoughtfully, and this was the beginning of happiness that few hearts taste on earth. Yes, happiness! although Dora's soul was troubled to its depths, to know, to feel sure that her lover's views were low and narrow—that there was in his character the bigotry of manhood; that untruthfulness was hiding secret theories and determined will. Watching, with newly opened eyes, her lover's soul, she became confirmed that it was small and poorly led. The graceful manners, the gentlemanly bearing, the brilliant wit, were but elegant decorations to a vain, lean spirit. The being that she loved in her imagination had more body and less clothing to it; she could not take for her soul's mate a man all mind and manners, without a Christian heart! She spoke with him in gentle confidence of all she hoped to be, and of all she hoped for him, and he grew restless under it—wondered, rebelled, resented, scorned her—was glad to break the bond which she sorrowfully said she feared could never be happy one. Happiness seemed to Dora a thing she never was to enjoy again upon the earth. She did not wish to marry Robert, but it was hard to give him up when she had loved him so. It was such a disappointment to believe he was not a man, with a great soul in image of the Divine. But by her truthfulness she had brought it sorrow upon her head, and the mother said, with tears, 'Must my dear one suffer always, when I received that happy dream as a message from the skies?'
