YOUNG AMERICA.

A certain Judge, while attending Court in a shire town, was passing along the road where a boy was letting down the bars to drive some cattle in. His father stood in the door of his house, on the opposite side of the road, and seeing what his hopeful boy was doing shouted out:

"John, don't you drive the cattle in there; I told you to put them in the pasture behind the house."

The boy took no notice whatever of the

ture behind the house."

The boy took no notice whatever of the remonstrance, and his father repeated the order in a louder tone, without the least effect; and a third time gave orders not to drive the cattle in there. The son didn't even design to look up, and disobeyed the parental injunction with a coolness which positively shocked the Judge, who looking at the culprit, said, in a tone who looking at the culprit, said, in a tone of official duty:

"Boy don't you hear your father speaking to you?"

"Oh, y-a-a-s," replied the youth, casting a glance at the Judge and then at the parent. "but I don't mind what he srys.

Mother don't neither; and twixt she and I we've about got the dog so he don't."
