Republican papers make a hue and cry about the Loans to meet the expense of Government. It is no new thing for the Covernment to borrow. All parties have done it, and will again.—Democratic (Ia.) Clarion.

When we borrowed in Washington's time it was to pay off the cost of the Revolution. When we next borrowed, in Madion's time, it was to pay for the war of 1812. The Florida War took Twenty Millions out of the public purse, and we 1812, The Florida War took Twenty Millions out of the public purse, and we borrowed to replenish it. The Mexican war drained the Treasury of a Hundred Millions, and we borrowed again to replenish that. But while War has always saddled us with Detts, Peace has always been considered the time to pay them. Mr. But ded us with Delts, Peace has always been considered the time to pay them. Mr. Buchanan has no War to pay for, past, present or prospective. He is the first Precsident who has found it necessary to adopt the policy of borrowing to meet his extravagant expenditures in time of Peace—a policy which, if continued, can only end in burthening us, as England is burdened, with a Mountain of National Debt.—Albany Even'g Journal.

with a Mountain of National Debt.—Albamy Even's Journal.

Hon. John Hickman, Democratic member of Congress from the Chester county district, in a speech at West Chester, the other evening, said:

"The national debt at the close of the present Administration, will, in my judgment, range from $100,000,000 to $120,000,000. At this time the annual cost of Government is near to one hundred million of dollars, It is not likely that expenditures are to be reduced in the future. The tendency has heretofore been to an increase rather than a reduction. The appropriations for the present fiscal year reach almost to the sum of ninety millions of dollars, and before its close it will be found that certain deficiencies will have to be supplied. Therefore, I am not inaccurate when I set down the expense of the Government at the round sum of one hundred millions a year.
