The Crystal Palace Burned Down.

The fire at the Crystal Palace broke out in the lumber room which was filled with empty boxes and a large quantity of old lumber.

It is believed the fire was the work of an incendiary.

When the flames were first discovered, the Palace engine was brought out, but the hose was so full of holes that it was rendered perfectly useless.

The flames spread with astonishing rapidity creating an intense excitement among the visitors, of whom, it is estimated upward of two thousand were present.

The heat was intense. The services of the firemen were of no avail. The whole building is in ruins.

But a very small portion of the contents was saved. Two only, of the many fire engines on exhibition were got out uninjured.

The building was crowded with articles on exhibition of every possible description.

It is impossible to estimate the loss with accuracy. The building itself is estimated to have been worth $250,000, and the contents must have been worth fully that amount.

Wilson, have been completed—and the groves have been beautifully laid out and adorned.—The Hotel parlors and chambers airy and comfortably furnished; and the prospect, from the verandas for beauty, cannot be exceeded. For half a century, these Springs have been celebrated for their medicinal qualities, and the great nature of the waters in rheumatic and chronic affections.
