

The Huntingdon Journal.

"LIBERTY AND UNION, NOW AND FOREVER, ONE AND INSEPARABLE."

WM. BREWSTER, EDITOR & PROPRIETOR.

HUNTINGDON, PA., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 12, 1859.

VOL. XXIV. NO. 2.

SAVING FUND.

NATIONAL SAFETY TRUST COMPANY.
WALNUT STREET,
SOUTH-WEST CORNER OF THIRD,
PHILADELPHIA.
Incorporated by the State of Pennsylvania.

FIVE PER CENT INTEREST

Money is received and payments made daily in gold without notice.

Money is received and payments made daily in gold without notice.

Money is received and payments made daily in gold without notice.

Money is received and payments made daily in gold without notice.

THE GREAT BEAUTIFIER

So long unsuccessfully sought,
FOUND AT LAST!

For it restores permanently gray hair to its original color; covers luxuriantly the bald head; removes all dandruff, itching and all scrofula, scald head and all eruptions; makes the hair soft, healthy, and glossy; will preserve it to any imaginable age, removes, as if by magic, all blotches, &c. from the face, and cures all neuralgia and nervous head ache. See circular and the following.

Dover, N. H., Feb. 23, 1857.

Prof. O. J. Wood & Co.—Gents: Within a few days we have received so many orders and calls for Prof. J. H. Wood's Hair Restorative, that to-day we were compelled to send to Boston for a quantity, (the 6 dozen you forwarded all being sold) while we might order a quantity from you. Every bottle we have sold seems to have produced three or four new customers, and the approbation, and patronage it receives from the most substantial and worthy citizens of our vicinity, (and every where) is a MOST VALUABLE PREPARATION.

Send us as soon as may be one gross of $1 size; and one dozen $2 size; and believe us yours very respectfully,
Signed, D. LATIROP & CO.

Hickory Grove, St. Charles co. Mo.

Nov. 19, 1856.—Prof. O. J. Wood.—Dear Sir: Some time last summer we were induced to use some of your Hair Restorative, and its effects were so wonderful, we feel it our duty to you and the afflicted to report it.

Our little son's head for some time had been perfectly covered with sores, and some called it scald head. The sores almost entirely came off in consequence, when a friend, seeing his sufferings, advised us to use a bottle of your Restorative, we did so with little hope of success, but to our surprise, and that of all our friends, a very few applications removed the disease entirely, and a new and luxuriant crop of hair soon started out, and we can now say that our boy has as healthy scalp and as luxuriant crop of hair as any other child. We can therefore, and do hereby recommend your Restorative, as a perfect remedy for all diseases of the scalp and hair. We are, yours respectfully,
GEORGE W. HIGGINBOTHAM,
SARAH A. HIGGINBOTHAM.

O. J. Wood & Co., Proprietors, 212 Broadway New York, in the great N. Y. wire-railling establishment, and 114 Market St. St. Louis, Mo. And sold by all Druggists.

Sept. 22, 1858.—3m

THE CASSVILLE SEMINARY.

ONLY $22.50 PER QUARTER THE PRESENT FACULTY.

M. McN. WALSH, Principal,
Prof. of Languages and Philosophy.

Chas. S. JOHNS, A. M.,
Prof. of Latin, Greek, etc.

James W. Hughes,
Prof. of Mathematics.

Benjamin F. Houck,
Adjunct Prof. of Mathematics.

Geo. W. Linton,
Prof. of Vocal Music.

Mrs. M. McN. WALSH Preceptress,
Teacher of Botany, History, Reading, etc.

Miss E. M. Faulkner,
Teacher of Polish Work, Painting, Drawing.

Miss D. L. Stanley,
Teacher of Piano Music, Wax Fruit, Flor's.

Mrs. Dr. Darwin,
Teacher of English Branches.

Miss J. M. Walsh,
Teacher of Primary English.

The recent success of this school is extraordinary. Besides being the cheapest one of the kind ever established, it is now the largest in this section of the State. All branches are taught, and students of all ages, and of both sexes, are received. The expenses for a year need not be more than $90. Students can enter whenever they wish. Address,
JOHN D. WALSH, Cassville,
Huntingdon Co., Pa.

June 23, '58.

Notice to Coal Purchasers.

The subscriber is now prepared to furnish Coal & Coke at his bank at Lilly's Station, on the Penna. Railroad, of as good quality as can be had on the mountain. I will run a cart to Hollidaysburg, or any other point on the Penna. Railroad, if application is made personally or by letter.

ALSO—I will agree to deliver COKE at any bank, in cars, at four and a quarter cents per bushel of viz—Thirty-five pounds to the bushel, or deliver it in my own cars, at any points desired, at the lowest possible rates.

For either of the above articles, address
J. MCGONIGLE,
Hemlock, Cambria County, Pa.,
where all orders will be promptly attended to.
Aug. 25, 1858.6t.

SHOT, LEAD, CAPS, POWDER AND

Gamobags for sale at the Hardware Store of

JAS A. BROWN.

Sept. 5, '59.—4t.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

To the Honorable the Senators and Members of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

GENTLEMEN:—Although the year just closed has been one of great depression in the business and monetary affairs of the country, I am happy to be able to announce to the Representatives of the People, that the finances of Pennsylvania are in a most satisfactory condition.

The receipts at the Treasury, from all sources, for the fiscal year ending on the 30th day of November, 1858, were $1,139,778 35; and the expenditures, for all purposes, during the same year, were $977,857 06, leaving an excess of receipts over expenditures, of $161,921 29.

This exhibit shows that, there was actually in the Treasury, on the 1st day of December, 1858, the sum of $363,921 29, more than there was on the 1st day of December, 1857. In addition to this, among the expenditures, were

Loans redeemed, $380,306 85
Relief notes redeemed, 41,071 00
Interest certificates redeemed, 116 70

Making the public debt, funded and unfunded, paid during year, the sum of, 421,494 55

If we add to this the excess of money on hand, at the end of the fiscal year, over what remained in the Treasury, at the same time last year, viz:

363,921 29

We have the sum of 785,415 84

But this is not all. The amount paid on the public improvements, including damages and old claims, during the fiscal year, was 341,036 58

While the amount of revenue, from the same sources, for the same period, was only 95,070 06

Making an excess of expenditures over receipts, which happily will be relieved from in the future, of 245,966 52

This sum should, also, be credited to the operations of the Treasury, during the year, for it was an extraordinary expenditure, which cannot again occur, and was, in fact, a reduction of the liabilities of the Commonwealth, to that extent.

If we add this sum to the amount of debt paid, and the excess of cash on hand, we have for the year a balance in favor of the receipts, over the extraordinary expenditures, amounting in the aggregate, to $1,031,382 36

But from this, however, should be deducted the extraordinary receipts, which were,

1st. The amount paid by the Pennsylvania railroad company, on the principal of the debt due by the said company to the Commonwealth, for the purchase of the main line, $100,000 00

2d. The amount received from the Girard Bank, for loans of the Commonwealth, sold by that Bank, 28,000 00

In all 128,000 00

Which, deducted from the aggregate of $1,031,382 36, leaves the true balance of the ordinary receipts over the ordinary expenditures for the fiscal year, at $903,382 36.

The funded and unfunded debt of the Commonwealth, on the 1st day of December, 1857, was as follows:

FUNDED DEBT.
6 per cent. loan, $445,180 00
5 " " " 38,773,212 52
4 " " " 385,200 00
4 " " " 100,000 00

To this should be added 5 per cent. coupon bonds sold by Girard Bank, not before reported, 28,000 00

Total funded debt, 397,343,592 52

UNFUNDED DEBT.
Relief notes outstanding, $146,421 00
Interest certificates outstanding, 23,473 82
Do. unclaimed, 4,448 38
Domestic creditors, 802 50

Total unfunded debt, 175,145 70

Making the entire debt of the Commonwealth at the period named, $59,909,738.22.

The funded and unfunded debt of the State, at the close of the last fiscal year, December 1, 1858, stood as follows:

FUNDED DEBT.
6 per cent. loans, $445,180 00
5 " do 38,420,965 67
4 " do 385,200 00
4 " do 100,000 00

Total funded debt, 393,542,285 67

UNFUNDED DEBT.
Relief notes outstanding, $105,350 00
Interest certificates, 23,357 12
Do. unclaimed, 4,338 38
Domestic creditors, 802 50

Total unfunded debt, 133,958 00

Making the public debt on the first of December last, $59,488,243 67. Since the close of the fiscal year, the Commissioners of the Sinking fund have redeemed of the five per cent. loan, the sum of 220,132 51, leaving the real debt of the Commonwealth, at this time, funded and unfunded, $59,268,111 16.

To meet this, besides the ordinary sources of public revenue, the State owns bonds received from the sale of the public works, and which, I have every reason to reason to believe, are well secured, amounting to $11,000,181. Deducting this from the outstanding debt, it leaves, to be otherwise provided for, the sum of $28,087,111 16.

It is believed that, with the existing sources of revenue, and the observance of strict economy, this sum may be reduced, during the current year, at least $1,000,000.

The present would seem to be the appropriate time—when our nation is at peace—and when health and reasonable prosperity prevail within our own borders—to greatly reduce the public debt. We have but to carefully husband our legitimate resources, avoiding extravagant and unnecessary appropriations, and practicing a proper economy in all the departments of government, to render the extinguishment of our debt a fixed fact within a very brief period. To carefully guard the public Treasury at this interesting epoch in our financial history, is so manifestly the duty of the public authorities, that I cannot for one moment believe that any other policy will be proposed. If there be any, who, relying on the improved condition of the finances of the State, would encourage the adoption of new schemes for depleting the Treasury, or would cut off the resources of our present revenue, and thus reduce it, let all such efforts, coming from whatever quarter they may, be sternly resisted. Let Pennsylvania be just before she is generous. Let our good example be a light in the pathway of our sister States, as well as an admonition to our own local governments. This is due alike to the favors which Providence has so bountifully bestowed upon us, and to that high character for honesty and integrity which has ever distinguished the people of this good old Commonwealth.

In pursuance of the act, entitled "An Act for the sale of the State Canals," approved on the 21st day of April last, I did as the Governor of the Commonwealth, on the 19th of May, 1858, convey to the Sunbury and Erie railroad Company, all the public works belonging to the Commonwealth, then remaining unsold, consisting of the Delaware division—the Upper and Lower North Branch divisions—the West Branch division—all the Susquehanna division of the Pennsylvania canal, with all the property thereunto belonging, or in anywise appertaining, and all the estate, right, interest of this Commonwealth therein, for the sum of three millions five hundred thousand dollars. To secure the payment of this sum, the Sunbury and Erie railroad company paid to the State Treasurer its bonds, secured by a mortgage, as directed by the act, for the amount of the purchase money. The company also complied with the provisions of the act which required it, as additional security, to execute and deliver to the State Treasurer a mortgage on the Delaware division for one million—a mortgage on the Susquehanna and West Branch divisions for half a million—and a mortgage on the Upper and Lower North Branch divisions for half a million of dollars. The deeds and mortgages were all executed under the immediate supervision of the Attorney General, and were in strict conformity with the requirements of the law.

After the conveyances were duly executed and delivered, possession of the canals was given to the railroad company.

The act further provided that the Sunbury and Erie Railroad company should not re-sell the canals, or any part of them, without the consent of the Governor; and that if a re-sale were made for a greater sum in the aggregate, than three and a half millions of dollars, seventy-five per centum of the excess should be paid to the Commonwealth, in the bonds of the purchasers. It was also provided that upon a re-sale, the mortgage given by the Sunbury and Erie railroad company to the Commonwealth, upon the canals, "should be cancelled by the State Treasurer and surrendered to the Company by the Governor, on deposit made by the said company in the office of the State Treasurer, of an equal amount of the bonds of their grantees, secured by mortgage of the canal or canals sold as aforesaid"—with a provision that no transfer of securities should be made until the Governor should be satisfied that the new securities to be given were sufficient to protect the interests of the State; and that his written approval of the change should be filed in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Sales were made by the Sunbury and Erie railroad company, and reported to me under the oath of the president, of the different lines, as follows:

The Upper and Lower Branch canal company, for $1,600,000 00
The West Branch and Susquehanna division, to the West Branch and Susquehanna canal company, for 500,000 00
The Delaware division, to the Delaware Division canal company of Pennsylvania, for 1,775,000 00
In all the sum of 3,875,000 00

Upon investigation and inquiry, having become satisfied that these sales were made for fair prices, and upon such terms and to such persons composing the various purchasing associations, as to insure the payment of the purchase money, they were severally approved.

After the contract for the sale of the Delaware division had been entered into, and my consent had been verbally given, and seventy-five thousand dollars of the purchase money had been actually paid to the purchasers, upon the faith of the contract, and my assent thereto, I was informed that a higher price had been offered by responsible persons, for the canal.

But, under the circumstances, my opinion was that the offer came too late; and as the railroad company considered itself bound to consummate the agreement by a delivery of the deed and possession of the property to the first purchasers, I could not, in good faith, withhold my assent. The North Branch canal company, subsequent to the purchase of that division, sold that portion of the canal lying between Wilkesbarre and Northumberland, to the Wyoming canal company, for the sum of nine hundred and eighty-five thousand dollars.

On the 13th of September, 1858, bonds of the various companies owning the different canals, secured by mortgages, were, in pursuance of the act, and by my approval, deposited with the State Treasurer, to the amount of two millions of dollars, and the mortgages on the canals given by the Sunbury and Erie railroad company, were cancelled by the State Treasurer, and surrendered by me to the company in accordance with the directions of the law. At the same time a settlement was made between the Commonwealth and the railroad company, by which the latter paid to the State seventy-five per centum of the proceeds of the re-sale over and above the contract price of three and a half millions. This amounted to two hundred and eighty-one thousand two hundred and fifty dollars and was paid in the following manner, viz:

Bonds of the Wyoming canal company, secured by mortgage on the canal from Wilkesbarre to Northumberland, payable in twenty years, with interest at six per cent, payable semi annually, $281,000 00
Cash, 250 00

Total, 281,250 00

These bonds are well secured, and the accruing interest and principal, when due, will doubtless be promptly paid.

For information of a reliable character recently communicated to me by the President of the Sunbury and Erie Railroad, it appears that the prospects of an early completion of that great public highway are very encouraging. A large amount has been done on the line of the road during the past season, and at this time, very considerable portions of the road are graded, and rapidly approaching completion. It is the opinion of the President of the Company that, within two years, the work will be entirely finished, so that cars will be running directly from the city of Philadelphia to the harbor of Erie.

When this great enterprise shall be consummated, and the desire of its friends finally accomplished, the payment of the three millions and a half of the mortgage bonds, which the State has received in exchange for the canals, will unquestionably be well secured—whilst the railroad itself will prove of incalculable advantage to our great commerce, as well as to the important, but long neglected, region through which it passes. Its construction will undoubtedly add to the value of the real estate of the Commonwealth many times its cost, and develop and bring into use the rich resources of a country which have hitherto remained as they were lavishly strewn by the hand of nature. I have an abiding confidence that the result will abundantly prove the wisdom of the measure, which, while it guaranteed the completion of one of the greatest improvements ever projected in the Commonwealth, it, at the same time, divorced the State from the unprofitable and demoralizing management of her railroads and canals.

Whatever the differences of opinion, may, at any time, have been entertained in regard to the propriety of the details of the legislation authorizing the sale of the main line, or the branches, it can scarcely be doubted, that the public welfare will, in every respect, be vastly promoted by the transfer of the management of the public works from the State to individual owners.

The short experience that we have had already, proves conclusively that the Commonwealth is greatly the gainer, in a financial point of view, and it has been equally demonstrated that the people at large have been as well, if not better, accommodated by the change.

It would, in my judgment, be a public calamity, if, by the happening of any contingency, the Commonwealth should be constrained to again become the owner, and resume the management of any portion of the public improvements.

The power of the General Assembly to the act of 21st of April, 1858, relative to the sale of the State canal was questioned before the Supreme Court of the State, since the transfer of the Canals; and, after full argument, the constitutionality of the act was sustained by the unanimous judgment of the Court.

Since the sale of the public works, and the settlement of the principal outstanding claims against the State, it is obvious that there is no further necessity for a board of Canal Commissioners, or Canal Department. I, therefore, recommend the abolition of the Board, and that provision be made for the transfer of the records to the office of the Auditor General.

In view of the foregoing exhibit of our resources and financial condition it is apparent that a most interesting era has been reached in the history of the Commonwealth. Relieved from the entangling embarrassments of an extensive system of internal improvements, the means of the State are now ample for all legitimate purposes, and her public debt is gradually but certainly disappearing. From these and other causes, governmental action has become greatly simplified, and the nature of the subjects of its operation has changed in a degree no less remarkable.

The almost entire disposal of the lands which belonged to the State, has already dispensed with one of the departments created for their care, and will ultimately render the other unnecessary, except for preserving the evidences of their transfer.

The state of the public works has relieved the Executive branch of the government of many of its most responsible and perplexing duties, and in effect, dispensed with one of its most formidable and difficult departments.

In the same proportion, the action of the Legislature will, if the representatives of the people be true to the interests reposed, and sternly refuse to entangle the public with those numerous projects and enterprises which are continually seeking its alliance, be simplified and economized, purified and strengthened.

And it is as remarkable as it is propitious, that an era which has thus relieved the State authorities of burdens that consisted, either of mere material interests, or the care of local administration—committing the one to the local sovereignty of the people, and the other to private or associated enterprise—should also present for consideration and promotion intellectual and moral claims of peculiar importance.

It is in this period in our history that the system of public education challenges the attention of the most unobservant. And I shall be much mistaken in the cautious and steadfast character of the people of Pennsylvania, if their representatives do not make it the first object of their solicitude.

The annual report of the superintendent Common Schools will lay before you the present condition of the common school system, and of its operations during the past year. Your close and scrutinizing attention is invited to the details of that document.

Including the city of Philadelphia, it will be observed, that there were in the public schools of the State, during the year which terminated on the first Monday of last June, 628,201 pupils; these were instructed during the average term of a little over five months, in 11-281 schools, by 23,856 teachers, at a total cost of $2,427,632, 41.

Here is a public interest, which—whether we regard its ramifications into every portion of our social fabric, its large cost the important powers over the present which it wields, or its incalculable influence upon the future—undoubtedly transcends all others committed to the care of the secular authorities. This being the case, I have no hesitation in asserting that the time has arrived when its full importance should be recognized, and that its due administration should be made the duty of a fully organized and effective, as well as a separate department in the government.

But the mere care and promotion of our system of common schools—important and extensive as it obviously is,—should not be the sole object of such a Department.

If it is true that the power to punish crime includes also the right to prevent it, by providing for the proper intellectual and moral training of the people, it would seem to follow that the Department charged with the latter momentous duty, should also be in possession of all the sources and subjects of information, calculated to shed light upon the object of its action. Hence the collection, arrangement, and practical deductions from population and industrial statistics, from natural defects, such as deafness and dumbness, blindness and lunacy; from crime in its various forms and developments; together with such control over all the literary and scientific institutions in the State, as shall bring their full condition into view—should also belong to the same Department.

Therefore, I most respectfully, but earnestly, urge upon your favorable consideration, at the present propitious moment, the organization of such a Department, in the room of those for the care of mere matter whose agency has been or soon will be discontinued by the onward and upward progress of the Commonwealth.

A suitable Department of Public Instruction, will not, however, of itself, effect all that is needed in this direction. The general results of the common school system already cited, show the importance of its nature, and the magnitude of its operations. If we look, also, into its special statistics, the conclusion will be equally clear that certain improvements in its working machinery, are indispensable.

It is needless to attempt to prove the truism that the properly qualified teacher is the life and success of the school. But the facts are startling, that of the 12,828 teachers of our public schools, exclusive of those in Philadelphia, only 5,088 are reported as "qualified" for their important trust; while 5,387 are returned as "medium," or such as are only tolerated till better can be obtained; and that 2,313 are stated to be "unfit." In other words: of 569,880 children attending the schools out of Philadelphia, only about 230,000 (less than one half) are under proper instruction and training; while about 240,000 are receiving insufficient instruction from inferior teachers; 100,000 are actually in charge of persons wholly unfit for the task.

This presents the subject in a light that cannot be shut out, and though the great and commendable efforts recently made by the teachers of Pennsylvania, for their own improvement, are fully recognized, it cannot be concealed that there is a work yet to be done, in this relation, which would seem to be beyond their unaided power to accomplish.

When, however, we look further into the special statistics of this branch of the system, the material for improvement is found to be of the most promising kind. Of the 12,828 teachers of our common schools, 10,889 are under thirty years of age, and 10,946 are natives of Pennsylvania; and a larger proportion than in most of the other states, are permanently devoted to the profession of teaching. To render these fit for the position which they aspire—undoubtedly one of the most useful and honorable in the world—and to raise up a constant supply of well qualified successors, is the work to be done.

Various modes of effecting this object have been suggested or tried; but, after mature reflection, I am led to prefer that devised by the act of May 20, 1857, entitled "An act to provide for the due training of teachers for the common schools of the State." It places, in relation to the State, the teacher on the same footing with the members of such of the other learned professions as have been recognized by public authority; and it is to be regretted that the prostration of business and scarcity of money, that so soon followed the passage of the act, had the effect of checking many laudable efforts to put its provisions into operation. Under these circumstances, does it not become the duty of the State to afford such aid, or at least hold out such inducements as shall enable this measure to be fairly tested?

The passage of law guaranteeing the payment of a moderate sum to one teaching school in each of the districts created by the act of 1857, would no doubt cause a sufficient number to establish the efficiency and practicability of the plan, to be completed in a few years; the money not to be paid till the schools were in full and approved operation. It is not probable that this grant would cause any considerable draft on the Treasury; but, even if the whole twelve schools should ultimately be established the boon would neither be out of proportion to that which has been conceded to other literary institutions, nor the number of graduates beyond the wants of the community. Up to the present time, Pennsylvania has appropriated about $600,000 in aid of her colleges and academies, and this mainly in the hope of obtaining from them teachers for the common schools. Though the benefits of this munificence have been, in other respects, quite equal to the amount given, it will be asserted by no one that the avowed object has been to any considerable extent effected. It would, therefore, appear to be time that the aid of the State should be brought directly to bear in favor of the great object so long contemplated.

I have thus briefly laid before you the condition of our noble educational system. It will afford me sincere pleasure to concur in the adoption of these, or any other measures, for its perfection, that the wisdom of the Legislature may advise.

In this country, the want of a school which shall combine the elements of learning and agricultural labor, and thus adapt itself to the education of the farmer, has been most seriously felt; for, whilst our many colleges well fill the measure of usefulness in their appropriate sphere of influence, it must be conceded that the training they impart is badly adapted to the art of practical agriculture. In Pennsylvania that interest is so important as to demand at all times our anxious attention and active support. "The Farmers' High school of Pennsylvania," lately projected and planned by a few public spirited individuals, and which has received, to some extent, the patronage of the State, and the contributions of a number of our patriotic citizens, is destined to afford a place where young men may be educated at an expense commensurate with their means, and to a condition qualifying them for the pursuit of the business of the farm. Here, whilst daily occupation will train the body to the ability to labor, and give to the student the enviable feeling that he contributes to his own support and education, it will instruct and enlarge his mind, that it may give force and effect to his future efforts. The design of the institution is to afford a school where boys may be thoroughly educated in all the branches of natural science, and, at the same time, be induced to the performance of labor; so that at their graduation they may return to their parents abundantly prepared to join the domestic circle, to give a right direction to the business of agriculture, and act well their part in every department of life. An object so fraught with usefulness is entitled to the highest commendation.

The application of scientific principles to the practical purposes of life, is but realizing the full benefit of those laws of nature, to discover and to profit by which is undoubtedly one of the great ends of human reason. The more this important subject is held in view and effected by our higher institutions of learning, the more valuable and useful will they become. The Polytechnic college of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia, is founded on this basis; and its attempt to popularize science, and connect high acquirement with practical ability, is presented to your favorable consideration.

Under a resolution of the last House of Representatives a committee was appointed by the Speaker of the House, examine the state and condition of several banks chartered at the session of 1857. The resolution directed the committee to report to the Governor the result of its examination within ninety days after the adjournment of the Legislature. On the 20th of July last, the report of the committee, together with the accompanying evidence, was filed in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, a copy of which will be laid before the House of Representatives.

In view of the facts reported by the committee, reference to the organization and subsequent management of the Tioga County Bank, the Crawford County Bank and the Bank of Shamokin, I would recommend a careful inquiry into the present condition of these institutions and if it shall be ascertained that the public is likely to suffer injury from the further existence of either, a speedy and certain remedy may be found in a legislative repeal of the rights and privileges granted by the acts of incorporation. The power to alter, revoke or annul the charter of a bank whenever its continuance may, in the opinion of the Legislature be injurious to the citizens of the Commonwealth, is expressly given by the Constitution to the General Assembly,—to be exercised, however, in such manner as that no injustice shall be done to the corporators.

Obedience to this constitutional injunction would require that in the event of a repeal of the charter of a bank, care should be taken that the rights of the stockholders