

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

A Good Sermon.—Last Sabbath morning, Rev. Reid discoursed from the text—"Man was not made for the Sabbath, but Sabbath for man." He clearly defined the duty of all in observing this sacred day of rest, and enlivened with thrilling eloquence, our present and past American Sabbaths.

What sweeter sound e'er thrilled upon the ear, than the peal of the village church bell, sending its quivering vibrations through the air, answered by another and another, and the peal going from steeple to steeple, weaving its airy chain of music o'er the whole, amid the warm and fervid glory of a summer Sabbath day? This bell-music, softened by distance to the gentle breathings of an Eolian harp, touches the heartstrings, and warms to life the best thoughts of nature. Oh, never take from us this "golden clasp," this holy Sabbath, "which binds the volume of the week." Then, the minds of men are estranged from the toils and strifes, and bitter cares, and biting enmities of this existence, and follow in the pathway of light to the happier and better life.—What were poor, toiling, suffering humanity without this day? What would be the condition of our physical and spiritual natures, if there were no rest here to give us a foretaste of "that peace which the world cannot give?"—The mind shrinks from a contemplation of that condition of things which would follow a suppression of the Sabbath, with its sacred observances and duties, and shudders at the shadowy images of desolation the mere thought of it conjures up.

O Sabbath!—needed for a world of innocence—without thee, what would be a world of sin!—There would be no pause for consideration, no check to passion, no remission of toil, no balm for care! He who had withheld thee, would have forsaken the earth! Without thee, he had never given to us the Bible, the Gospel, the Spirit! We salute as thou comest to us in the name of the Lord—radiant in the sunshine of that dawn which broke over a nation's achieved work—marching downward in the track of time, a pillar of refreshing cloud and guiding flame interweaving with all thy light new beams of discovery and promise until thou standest forth more fair than when reflected in the dew and imbedded by the flowers of Eden—more awful than when the trumpet rang of thee in Sinai! The Christian Sabbath! Like its Lord, it rises in Christianity, and henceforth records the rising day. And never since the tomb of Jesus was burst open by him who revived and rose, has this day awakened but as the light of sever days, and with healing in its wings! Never has it unfolded without some witness and welcome, some song and salutation! It has been from the first until now the sublime custom of the Church of God! Still the outgoings of its morning and its evening rejoice! It is a day of heaven upon the earth! Life's sweetest calm, poverty's birthright, labor's only rest! Nothing has such a stamp of antiquity on it! Nothing contains in it such a history! No thing draws along with it such a glory! Nurse of virtue, seal of truth! The household's richest patrimony, the nation's noblest safeguard! The pledge of peace, the fountain of intelligence, the strength of law! The oracle of instruction, the ark of mercy!—The patent of manhood's spiritual greatness. The harbinger of our souls sanctified perfection. The glory of religion, the watch-tower of immortality. The ladder set upon the earth, and the top of it reacheth to heaven, with the angel of God ascending and descending upon it.

THE BALD HORNET.—We have now the positive assurance from headquarters, that this long delayed and anxiously looked for political luminary will make its appearance, without fail, on or about the 10th proximo. We make this announcement gratuitously, receiving the information from the gentleman whose name and services have been secured to conduct it and give dignity to the concern. The material and "good will" of the Shireburg Herald office have been purchased for this object, and the former will be removed to Huntingdon in the course of two weeks, and Mr. Robert Milton Spear, a promising young lawyer of this borough, will then mount the tripod, and "aided and abetted" by the valuable silent partnership of our ponderous post master and his colleague, the "man with the white hat," deal out abuse and utter those sentiments which shall be more congenial to the feelings and affections of the followers of King James than those promulgated by the Huntingdon Globe. At first, it was proposed making Mr. J. S. Africa editor; we are informed, but after consultation, it was thought that it might operate against Mr. A., in the presentation of his name for office this fall, and so it was finally agreed that the poetical warlike name above mentioned should be hoisted at the mast-head.

The object of this paper is to meet the wants of the Buchanan wing of the Locofoco party of Huntingdon county, in opposition to the Douglas faction, represented by the Globe, and will be the means under Providence, of distracting to a still greater degree the already torn and dismembered sham Democracy. We hail with exceeding gladness the advent of this new candidate for public notice, and sincerely hope that the "Bald Hornet" may not merely blash into life and pass away, but that it may accomplish that for which it was sent; that we may see again, re-enacted, the memorable fight between the two snakes, when each takes the other by the tail, and "gulph down" until nothing remains of either.

How much money has been appropriated by "Old Buck" to carry out the project, we are unable correctly to state, but the presumption is the amount is considerable—perhaps the price of a half score of mules. The silent partners are not noted for any "stupendous" amount of liberality, but government funds are very good backers. Again we say, pitch in gents, and let "The Hornet" tickle the Peesee's tail.

DEATH OF J. A. HALL.—No announcement has fallen with so crushing a weight upon this community, for years, than the sad tidings which greeted us on last Sabbath morning—that our valued neighbor and tried and true friend had passed into the portals of eternity. Mr. Hall breathed his last at about 10 o'clock, Saturday night, after many months of bitter suffering, which he bore with the resignation and calm patience which has ever marked the devout Christian, passing through "the dark valley" which leads to the sunny plains of Paradise.

No man has ever stood higher in the esteem of a community than did the deceased, and his death leaves a blank which it is almost impossible to supply. His tomb is the tomb of genius; and the friend, the martyr to the education of youth is there deposited. Let his eulogy be made in tears.

Could this beloved man, whose teachings have been so telling upon this community, now address us from the spiritual world, his language no doubt would be,

"All, all on earth is shadow, all beyond is substance—the reverse is folly's creed." He would charge us to use all our talents and endowments under the sensible influence of this impression, and discharge the whole business of time with this view—a view which unriddles human life, gives meaning to all its seeming mysteries, and explains the intention of all its toils, its afflictions and its trials; that presents an object suited to those ceaseless graspings of the soul which we are all conscious, but which no mortal ever did, or ever can fill with any possession of attainment on this side of the grave. He would tell us that the future world is to rectify the disorders, supply the deficiencies, compensate the labors and reward the sufferings of the present. There the soul of virtue drinks to the full, expands her faculties and pursues her pleasures without hindrance, and finds that "these light afflictions which are but for a moment, work out for her a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory." Filled with these reflections, we take a last look at the ashes of one who filled up life with usefulness and duty, who bore its burdens with patience, and looked forward to its close with pleasure. Who considered death but as the birth of a new and nobler existence; as a dark but short passage to the regions of eternal day; and who in the very agony of his change, could exclaim in triumph, "O death, where is thy sting! O grave, where is thy victory! Thanks be to God who giveth us the victory, through our Lord Jesus Christ."

And now, as we pay the last, sad tribute of a tear, to the friend and instructor of our youth, whose sun has set to rise no more until the morn of the resurrection, we may proudly add, to such a man "No tomb shall be wanting to his ashes nor memory to his virtues!"

JERRY SNEAK.—Our community, and especially the reader of the Huntingdon papers, is sometimes gratified with a sight of this character, done up in rags and lamplack. He is known by this peculiarity—a morbid craving for notoriety, no matter for what and no matter how, so that wretched personalities may be thrust before the public, and "T" have his name appear in capital letters. Master Jerry is no doubt very smart, but he should remember that only when a young man is really distinguished, when he occupies a place won by exertion of superior intellect, when he has for years received the tribute due to superior merit, when scholarship, political talent and tact, or heightened yet unobtrusive worth have distinguished his deeds, can he be pardoned when he displays a thirst for newspaper celebrity. We hope he will mark this, and never cultivate that spirit which goes fusing and blowing through life, strutting its pretty name in every paper and on every wall, until it drops into its grave, when down it goes, plump, like a leaden weight, into oblivion—or perhaps deeper, for a life spent in a feverish chase for notoriety, seldom improves the soul in reality, no matter what its speciality of vanity may have been. Long hair and long articles are no index to a superabundance of brains.

LEARN TO SWIM.—Everybody, we believe, should learn to swim—women no less than men. "Beauty, the mother of love," according to one of the significant myths of the ancients, "is the daughter of the waves and of light." Water and sunshine still acknowledge the relationship, and the fairest forms grow fairer still in the loving embrace of the limped element. The maidens of the Pacific islands swim like water nymphs; so do the Italian, Mexican and South American women, and many others, and we hope the time is not far distant when we shall have it in our power to chronicle the fact that the ladies of our own country—our wives and daughters—will be classed among the list of those who indulge in the delightful practice.—The exercise is not only a pleasant but a healthful one; and the emergency may arise when such knowledge would be eminently useful and practical. We are emphatically a moving people, and if found on a boat or vessel where some accident may occur—which is often the case, wherein the lives of passengers are imperiled—then it would be all-important that they should be considered, and perhaps it will not be long before our people—the women especially—will count themselves imperfectly educated without knowing how to swim!

THAT LECTURE.—As all parties have now been heard, we deem it but an act of justice to ourselves to give the full facts of the case in regard to the charge of plagiarism made against Mr. Swoope, in his recent lecture in this place. Our charge was made wholly upon "casual comparison" of the two lectures—the one as it stands in our columns, and the other as recollect by Mr. McDivitt. It was made at the latter gentleman's instigation, by his request and with his authority, who also furnished us with the dates of the same, otherwise we had not known that such an address as he claimed had ever been published. If any blame is to be attached to this, we hope it will be laid at the right place.

Pic Nic.—We have heard some talk among a few of our young friends, relative to the getting up a mammoth pic nic party to be composed of all our young and old citizens who may wish to be counted in. We have a prediction to make—it will fizzle out.

BOUND OVER.—The boys whom we mentioned last week, as having been engaged in throwing stones at a passenger train of cars on the Pennsylvania Railroad, near this place, had a hearing on Saturday last, before Justice Snaer, who bound one of the party over for his appearance at the August term of Court. Two other boys engaged in the matter have disappeared; they will, however, be similarly dealt with whenever they make their appearance. We hope this may be a lesson to those of our fast youngsters who delight in amusements of this nature; and one which the parties in question will heed.

HAIL STORM.—A very severe hail storm visited the northern part of this county on the 19th inst., confined however in its limits within a circle of about a half mile. In the village and vicinity of Saultburg, its violence was more particularly felt, although other sections in that part of the county suffered seriously from its effects. In the former place, we are informed by a resident, the window glass went down wholesale, and a considerable amount of uncut grain was partially beaten to the earth. We have not been informed of the full extent of the damage, but presume it was considerable.

DR. McLANE'S CELEBRATED VERMIFUGE AND LIVER PILLS.

WE beg leave to call the attention of the Trade, and more especially the Physicians of the country, to two of the most popular remedies now before the public. We refer to

Dr. Chas. McLane's celebrated Vermifuge and Liver Pills. We do not recommend them as universal Cure-alls, but simply for what their name purports, viz: THE VERMIFUGE, For expelling Worms from the human system. It has also been administered with the most satisfactory results to various Animals subject to Worms.

THE LIVER PILLS, For the cure of LIVER COMPLAINTS, all BILIOUS DERANGEMENTS, SICK HEAD-ACHE, &c. In cases of FEVER AND AGUE, preparatory to or after taking Quinine, they almost invariably make a speedy and permanent cure.

As specifics for the above mentioned diseases, they are Unrivalled, and never known to fail when administered in accordance with the directions.

Their unprecedented popularity has induced the proprietors, FLEMING BROTHERS, PITTSBURGH, PA. to dispose of their Drug business, in which they have been successfully engaged for the last Twenty Years, and they will now give their undivided time and attention to their manufacture. And being determined that Dr. McLane's Celebrated Vermifuge and Liver Pills shall continue to occupy the high position they now hold among the great remedies of the day, they will continue to spare neither time nor expense in procuring the Best and Purest material, and compound them in the most thorough manner.
