

DOGGEREL.

THE UNDER DOG IN THE FIGHT. BY DAVID BARKER. I know that the world, that the great big world...

But for me—and I care not a single fig If I say I am wrong or am right— I shall always go in for the weaker dog...

I know that the world, that the great big world, Will never for a moment stop, To see which dog may be in the fault...

But for me I never shall pause to ask Which dog may be in the right, For my heart will beat, while it beats at all...

Perchance what I've said, I had better not said, Or 'twere better I had said it inco, But with heart and glass filled cheek to the brim...

THE UPPER DOG IN THE FIGHT. BY JOHN SMITH. The world likes success, the mighty great world...

Kicks the peasant and caresses the king; I don't care a dime what other men say, This is the song to sing.

The world it applauds the man who succeeds, And awards him honor and place; So fill to the brim and shout with strong lungs...

The world hates the fool, the snivelling fool, Who sneers, but fails in his fight; And talk as we please, we all burrah...

What right has a dog, the great world says, To allow himself under at all; He disgraces his race, and deserves to be kicked...

It might do says the world, the mighty world, And keep everything well balanced and right; Were there no upper dog and no under dog...

Not for cavilling fools will I stop, For the dog of success, that glorious dog, Who looks sharp to keep upon top.

THE OUTSIDE DOG IN THE FIGHT. BY JOHN JONES. You may prate of your upper and bottom dog...

And blow an alarming sight, But, as I've found, the safest dog, Is the outside dog in the fight.

He never desires to be counted in, Thus showing an instinct bright; He saves his grinders for polishing bones...

Mr. Heenan may try as long as he likes, To damage his foe's right sight; But the pleasant position of looking on...

Utterly heedless if in the strife, The might prevail, or the right; The appetite's good, and tranquil the life...

When danger threatens, the rapid way That he runs is refreshing sight; And simply evades the sound good sense...

Then here's to the healthy and happy days, Luck send him abundance of prog, And drink to the hero of private life...

A health to the outside dog!

WIT AND HUMOR.

The Doctor and Dirty Feet. Dr. H.—J.—of New Hampshire, was one of the most able, talented and eccentric surgeons of the last century...

'Doctor, I've got a desperate sore foot. Can you help it?' 'I will try. Let me see it.'

The old drone proceeded to divest her understanding of the apology for a horse with which it was covered, and displayed to the astonished doctor a foot—and such a foot!

'La! doctor, you needn't be in such a wonderment about it. There's dirtier foot in the world I've warrant—and a dirtier foot than that in your own house, as proud as the young lady, your daughters, are for all that!'

Whereupon the old woman stripped off the other stocking, and displayed a foot that begged all description, and grinning in the face of the astonished doctor exclaimed:

'G' me the guinea! G' me the guinea!—I know'd it—I know'd it!—washed 'oother foot fore I come here!'

Letter from a Thief. The following epistle sent to the editor of the Baltimore Clipper, explains itself...

'What's that?' said the school master pointing to the letter X. 'Daddy's name.'

'No it isn't your daddy's name. It's the letter X.' 'It's daddy's name, blowed if it ain't! I've seen him write it often, guess I know what's what.'

ANTIPHLOGISTIC SALT; A Perfect Substitute For the Lancet, Leeches and Blisters!!!

When the undersigned, after a long series of laborious and costly experiments, became fully convinced in his own mind, that the Antiphlogistic Salt which he now has the happiness to present to the American public, was a PERFECT SUBSTITUTE...

For Blood-letting, Leeches and Blisters, his mind was so agitated that he could not sleep for many nights. The cause of his agitation was the striking fact, that the manner of its operation like that of the virus in vaccination, could not be satisfactorily explained upon any known principle.

How, in strict ways, it so effectually subdued Inflammatory Diseases, and in others, was at first wholly inexplicable—but, on further experiment, it was proved that it equalizes the fluids of the body, the want of an equilibrium in blood, in the circulation. Such is its potency, that like the vaccine matter, it requires merely to adhere to the point of a quill dipped into a solution of it, to effect the entire system—but must be instantly used to prevent decomposition and its loss.

Three quills in acute, and two in chronic diseases, every 24 hours, till the heat, pain and febrile action have subsided, and a perfect cure effected. When it takes the place of blisters, ointment and leeches in local affections, as Brain Fever, Croup, Toothache, Pleurisy, &c., its mode of administration is two-fold. (See direction of directions, &c.)

The discoverer has withheld it from the public till now, by the advice of a physician, a friend and valuable friend who he consulted a gentleman friend and felt in the medical world—and who desired to submit it to the test of experiment. After witnessing under his own eye the most successful results in every acute and chronic inflammatory disease, in repeated and re-peated trials, he offered $25,000 to come in as a special and equal partner in the Recipe for its manufacture, but the proposition was rejected.

The disease of the lancet and blisters, is demanded both by humanity by humanity and science. It is not a mistake, to suppose that a kettle of boiling water (the inflamed blood) will cease to boil by dipping into it a quill, or a cork of bad cider (bad blood) be made good, by drawing a portion of it! Is it not a mistake, to suppose that blisters and rubefacients will remove inflammation, when they virtually supersede one inflammation, and create another?

Dr. B. Waterhouse, of Harvard University, said 'I am sick of learned quackery.' One of the most eminent physicians in New England acknowledged just before his death, that the blood-letting for many years, which he had practiced, and blisters did not aggravate rather than arrest disease. Some who stand high in the Old and New School, have quite recently espoused his views and now openly confess that they believe in the salutary effects of blisters in ten cases where they benefit one. They think there is a meaning to Deut. 12, 23—Gen. 9, 4—and Levit. 17, 14—that 'the blood is the life.' It is not the excess of blood (that never is too much) that causes disease, but the want of a balance between the fluids and solids.

The special excellence of the Antiphlogistic Salt, is that without the useless loss of blood and strength, it effectually cures inflammation (no others) by producing an equilibrium of all the fluids in the body and a consequent unimpeded circulation. It exerts, like the vaccine matter, and extraordinary influence over the veins and arteries—resulting in a gradual decline of inflammation as indicated by the pulse, which assumes its natural state as the heat, pain and fever disappear.

Many medicines offered for sale, are but by doubtful certificates, their chief virtue and claim to be universal remedies, curing all maladies—a burlesque on common sense. As the discoverer of this Salt, solemnly protests against having it placed in the category of fads and humbugs, he has resolved that it shall go forth to the world, like the pure gold dollar, with no other passport than its true value. If the public find it genuine, they will reward it as it should be rewarded, and condemn it. Instead of being panacea for all ills, it has control over but one ill,—has but one aim—accomplishes but one thing, to wit, SUBDUES INFLAMMATORY DISEASE—whatever be its form or locality—whether in the head, throat, chest, abdomen, extremities or skin. It is a simple, and it does this—simply by restoring the lost balance between the fluids and solids.

The following differs from which the undersigned has secured, and many not here mentioned that have more or less been tested, and (no others) as first perfected by water. 1. Cases where the unbalanced fluids affect the Head and Anus—viz; Brain Fever, Fits, Headache, Inflamed Eyes, Ears and Cancers, Neuralgia, Erysipelas, Catarrh, Croup, Bronchitis, &c.

2. Cases where the unbalanced fluids effect the Chest and Anus—viz; Inflamed Lungs and Liver, Colic, Pleurisy, Croup, Asthma, Dropsy, Heartburn, Gravel, Piles, Gonorrhoea, Venereal, &c.

3. Cases where the unbalanced fluids effect the Extremities and Anus—viz; Rheumatism, Gout, Sciatica, Ulcers, Chilblains, Chills, Chicken and Small Pox, Salt Rheum, with Itching and other Cutaneous Affections, &c.

This Salt greatly alleviates the inflammatory pains necessary to treat ladies, before and after the time of confinement) and many febrile complaints, and is very efficacious in Fever, Ague, Wounds, Nervous and Spinal Affections and any other forms of (mark this) inflammatory disease, attended with heat, pain or febrile symptoms.

Persons who have a tendency of blood to the head or heart, or lead inactive lives, or become the impure air of manufactories and the poisonous fumes of metals and mines, or live in unhealthy climates, are exposed to a particular vitiation of the fluids of the body, which one dose without interfering with the diet or business, once in three months, would invariably prevent. It is believed to be a powerful remedy in infectious diseases, and therefore travellers, sailors, and soldiers should supply themselves with it.

While many nostrum-makers victimize the food nature and pill-ridden public by ordering 'from six to a dozen boxes or bottles, to cure any malady,' no matter what—the undersigned is happy in being able to state, that the use of recent inflammatory disease, was over come by one Acute package, and the most obstinate and long standing by one Chronic package. It does just what it claims to do—and no more, or less—equalizes the fluids by moving from the system all arterial and venous obstructions.
