Henry Grafius was nominated for Coroner, by a vote of 35, to 15 for Wm. Eynart.

It was then moved that the nominations be made unanimous, which was heartily agreed to.

Dr. John McCulloch was then elected Representative delegate to the next People's State Convention, by acclamation.

Col. John A. Doyle, Dr. H. K. Neff and Levi Evans, Esq., were appointed conferees to meet those of Bedford and Somerset, to elect a Senatorial delegate to represent the district in the next State Convention of the People's Party.

The following resolutions were presented, and adopted by the Convention by a unanimous vote:

"Resolved, That we adopt the platform of the late People's State Convention, held at Harrisburg, as the basis of our action in the ensuing election in this county."

"Resolved, That the People's Party of this county, will give their undivided support to the nominees of the State Convention, Messrs. Cochran and Keim, both being men of high character for honesty and integrity, and eminently qualified for the positions they have been nominated to fill."

"Resolved, That in the person of the Hon. Samuel Calvin of Blair county, we recognize an old and highly valued resident of our own county—and one who by his sterling integrity and substantial worth as a man, and his attainments as a scholar, as well as his experience and sound judgment as a statesman, especially commend him to the people of our State, as one eminently qualified to fill the gubernatorial chair of the State; and we respectfully urge his claims upon their favorable consideration in the next contest for Governor.

"Resolved, That we recognize in the Hon. Simon Cameron, our present efficient United States Senator, a friend to the industrial interests of Pennsylvania, an active opponent of the extravagance of the present Administration, a man eminently fitted for the times and the place he occupies, and his course as U. S. Senator commends itself to our best judgment as calculated to conduce to the prosperity and happiness of the country."

"Resolved, That in justice to our noble old Commonwealth, in vindication of our character as freemen, and the maintenance of our rights which have been so unscrupulously betrayed by Buchanan, a recreant Pennsylvanian, we feel gratified in adding our mite to the already popular demonstration in favor of the noble Cameron for the Presidency."

"Resolved, That we deem it the right of the people to instruct their representatives, and we hereby instruct our candidate for Assembly, to oppose the repeal of the three mill tonnage tax imposed upon the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for freights, &c."

The Convention then adjourned, with a resolve that every member would use his best efforts to increase the majority for the People's candidates, in Huntingdon county, and secure the triumph of the principles which they represent.

J. B. SIMMONS, Pres't.

JOHN A. DOYLE, Sec'y.

W. H. GORSUCH, Sec'y.

"DEMOCRATIC" COUNTY CONVENTION.—A "GO IT BLIND" TICKET.—HIGH OLD TIME GENERALLY.—The same Democracy met in convention, on Wednesday last, in the Court House, and organized by electing Dr. Daniel Houtz of Alexandria, Chairman, and Dr. R. Clark and — Seckler, Secretaries. The Chairman delivered himself of a few cautious and well guarded remarks, upon taking the chair, urging that a spirit of compromise and good feeling should reign in democratic bosoms, and took his seat amid an ominous silence. After the credentials of all the delegates had been presented, the Convention proceeded to ballot for Assembly. At this stage of the proceedings, a member rose and wished to know "Under which king, Bezonian?" they were to fight; whether they were to support the Huntingdon Globe and its Douglassism, or the Huntingdon Union and its Buchananism, as their organ. This bombshell created a tremendous excitement and uproar, and it was only after the rural gentleman had been appeased by a promise that his motion should be considered hereafter, that he consented to follow the direction of the chair, and "dry up."

A "peace pregnant with war" having been secured, Messrs. Africa, Cresswell, and Porter, were placed in nomination for Assembly. Mr. Cresswell asked and gained permission to address the Convention. He "pitched into" the Pennsylvania Railroad, that "hary word" said the virtuous candidate of Democracy, nor of the doctrine of Know Nothingism, which he once so warmly espoused. Mr. Africa followed—defining his position on the railroad question, and took a "Common Sense" view of the duties of a Legislator, thereon. He proposed, if elected, to accept as a compensation for services rendered, $200 less than his fellow-members, but did not once advert to Locofocoism, nor the Know Nothing Party, from which he expects votes. A vote was then taken, and resulted as follows, on the first ballot:

J. Simpson Africa, 42

Jacob Cresswell, 23

The announcement created great excitement, this being considered a test of the comparative strength of the two factions. One delegate, (whose name will be found on the criminal record of our last Quarter Sessions for illegal interference in an election—be being an unnaturalized foreigner) gave vent to the pent up feelings of his Celtic heart, by a "Hooroo for Boocannu." Another yelled "for little Dough." and they kept it up. The next move was the Sheriffialty. There were nominated for this office, Thos. Bell, of the Squatter Sovereigns, David Black, of the Buck wing, and G. W. Speer, who occupies both sides of the fence, with a leaning towards "hald hornetism." He was elected on the 2d ballot; the vote stood:

Speer, 32

Bell, 22

Black, 12

" 35 " 12 " 18

After this ballot, the question of salary for Representative, was again brought up, under the most intense excitement; every delegate on his feet, and the "Mt. Vernon case" of the Chairman, vainly thumping for order, on the pine boards. It was finally settled that Mr. Africa's salary should not exceed $309! The other officers nominated were:

Jacob Miller, of Huntingdon, for Treasurer; G. W. Galbraith, for Commissioner; Sam. T. Brown, for District Attorney; Robt. McBirney, for County Surveyor, and N. K. Cobert, for Auditor.

A resolution was offered, that "this Convention adjourn to meet again on the first week of the January Court." This brought Mr. Cresswell to his feet, who thought he discovered "a nigger in the wood-pile," and he proceeded to address the Convention, as follows:

JACOB MAKETH A SPEECH.

The Col. "wished it distinctly understood that he was an uncompromising Buchanan, old stripe Democrat." [Cries of "go in, Jake; 'put him out;'" "hooroo for Boocannu, be Jasus!"] This Convention was "a farce; and the creature of the Penn's Railroad, and a humbug, generally. Both the Secretaries hold office under the Railroad Company, and the busiest man on the floor, has a $75 per month sinecure under the same corporation." [This brought the Secretaries "up standing;" one of them declaring that although he did hold office under the Company, he was now a good, honest Democrat, and had been one long before Mr. C. was converted from Know Nothingism.] Jacob proceeded: "I reiterate it, you are sold, 'body and breeches," to this corporation." [Here the Chairman vainly cried out, brandishing his cane overhead, and making a feint as if to throw it at the refractory members. "Take your seat, sir; I will not have the Convention thus disgraced, sir. I tell you, sir, take your seat, sir! your seat sir! your seat s—i—r—!" But Jacob, like Banquo's ghost, "would not down," but continued in spite of the "noise and confusion," to "shake his goary locks" and backed by his friends he went on:

"I have the floor, sir! Why don't you send for your constable, and arrest me? I say you have bargained with the Railroad and sold us." After the noise had subsided a little, he finished, thus: "Are we to be bamboozled by the tools of John W. Forney, in this manner? They are so working it, fellow-democrats, that they hope to carry you all over to the support of Simon Cameron." The gentleman concluded by asserting that the resolution now offered, if carried, would be disastrous to the Buchanan wing.

The Col. was finally forced down, and the resolution was passed. Then, without passing a single resolution, nor erecting a single plank to govern the party in the present campaign, this miserable, conglomerated mass of factions adjourned. So ended the first chapter of the attempt to harmonize the elements. We might as well attempt the mixture of oil and water. Alas! poor "democracy."

NEWS ABOUT HOME.—On Wednesday evening last, some half-witted or two-thirds drunk fellow amused our citizens by a series of comic evolutions on horseback, on Montgomery street.

The exercise consisted in trotting backwards, sideways and maneuvering, a la Rarey.

A most disgraceful and outrageous scene occurred on Allegheny street, on Friday night last, a repetition of which, we think our borough authorities should not suffer to disturb the respectable residents of the vicinity. A ball was given at the "—" in which many of the canal rats, town loafers and characters of the "genus blackguard" participated, and which was kept up until near daylight, Saturday morning. The programme consisted of an interspersing of "hoe-downs" and free fights, in which the ladies indulged to their heart's content, and in which they appeared to be particularly delighted. Common decency forbids the mention of all the disgraceful acts which occurred, but the winding-up was sufficiently bad to call for an arrest of the participants. The "pots and pans" containing the supper were carried off, and the latter, being a compound of dirt and chicken-soup—poured out on the steps and on the pavement in front of the Journal and American offices. We shall give the names as soon as we can obtain them.—A most serious accident resulting from the careless use of fire-arms, and which might have caused a horrible death, occurred at Col. Sumner's restaurant, on Montgomery street, on Thursday last. Several persons were examining a revolver, kept for sale by the Col., which was not known to be loaded, and in snapping the trigger, the load was discharged; the ball entering the mouth of a young man named McAlister, who was standing by, knocking out a tooth, cutting the tongue and fracturing the jaw. From a most miraculous and unaccountable cause no farther injury was sustained. This is another warning relative to the careless manner in which some people handle fire arms, and which we have no doubt will be beneficial to the present parties. Mr. Mc. is recovering.—HORRIBLE ACCIDENT.—On Tuesday last, a well known and highly respected citizen of Onida township—Mr. Samuel Courts, mill-wright—met with a most horrible and sudden death. He was engaged in doing some repairing about Neill's Steam Mill, on Shaver's Creek, on scaffolding erected for the purpose, when he fell amongst the machinery, and was crushed to death in an instant. We are informed that when taken out, the body was so dreadfully mangled as to be unrecognizable by his friends. Mr. Courts was about sixty years of age, and was an honest and industrious citizen. He leaves a wife, and we believe a large family of children. Since penning the foregoing, and just as we go to press, we received the particulars in a letter from our friend Mr. Neff, and we are sorry we have no room for it entire. It appears, in company with his son, he was placing a piece of timber as a sill, upon which to erect a frame, when it was caught by a crank of the steam engine, by which the mill is propelled, and threw him several feet high and against the fly-wheel, which carried him into the pit, crushing him, in an instant of time, into a lifeless mass.—On Thursday last, one of our citizens—Mr. Zach. Yeuter—while examining the machinery of the new steam mill of Messrs. Harrison & Mattern, recently erected in this place, had his head crushed by the falling of some heavy weight upon it. No bone was broken, but the flesh was terribly bruised and torn, and at first it was supposed that amputation would be necessary. At last accounts, it was improving, but it will require many weeks, ere he will be able to go about.—WINE making appears to be successfully carried on by our citizens, and a good article they make too. We tested some the other day manufactured from currants by Blanch Miles, Esq., which we pronounce as good as any Foreign production.—We had the pleasure of taking our old friend Over, of the Bedford Inquirer, by the hand, the other day. The Col. is a fine specimen of the genuine editor, and the way he handles "beef heels," is a caution to toddlers.—For some of the largest and best plums we have seen or tasted this season, we are indebted to Miss. Lou Foster. Miss Lou will please accept our thanks for her kind present.—Our colored friends intend having a camp meeting the coming month, at Beechen Glen. It will commence on the 2d of September, and will probably continue eight or ten days.—SAMUEL CALVIN, Esq., of Hollidaysburg, a prominent candidate for gubernatorial honors, paid us a visit last week. He is every inch a gentleman, and we would like to see him nominated in 1860, if we cannot have the first man of our choice, Hon. John Covode.—How swiftly time flies. It appears as but yesterday when we sat beside companions—who are now "mothers and fathers"—in the little old school room, and went over and over again our a, b, c's. Many have went "the way of all flesh," and the good man who took so much pains with "his little family," too, has rested from his labors. Yes, truly, time wears slippers of list, and his tread is noiseless. The days come softly on dawning one after another; they creep in at the windows; their fresh morning air is grateful to the lips that part for it; their music is sweet to the ears that listen to it; until, before we know it, a whole life of days has possession of the citadel, and time has taken us for its own.

Com'th vs. Charles Corbin.—Indictment: Fornication and Bastardy. Recognizance and information filed.

Other cases appear upon the docket, but the defendants not appearing, they forfeited their recognizances.

We have received the following, which we give our readers verbatim:

Mr. editor—Dear sir,—I wd like to no wot is the best plan for ein. Do u think a lady ort to use vittils with a wife, or fork ur spouse, or wd it be lice wen dri def is dezet to take ure fingers to it? A parcel of us was together, and thinkin ur it, but we thort u was smarter nor us bout prackitike ettikil, (that's lating, mind), so we thort we'd rite to u bout it. Sim sez spone, sum sez nife, sum sez fork, which is most propur? Nife, spone, ur fork? The argumens i woud sen u, but im afere'd u'd bust luffin at em. rosis Red and possil pal, i luv fur u shal never fale, that's so.

ANGELINA SOPHIA.

We are gratified that the lady has taken the trouble to address us upon a subject of such vital importance. Our modesty heretofore restrained us from making known this useful information, pro bona publico, but we now heartily respond to the request of our fair correspondent—not, however, to show "we're smarter nor common folks." "Prackitike ettikil" teaches that a "spone" is preferable to either a knife or fork in eating soup, and there is no apology for the abominable and filthy practice of lapping soup. That settles the "spone" question. But again, however, the "nife" is far superior to either spoons or forks in the dissection of fowl or fish, yet, at the same time, the fork must not be considered indispensable, in such cases, if the fingers are clean. That settles the "nife" question. Next come "fork." In our opinion (and our opinion upon this subject should be received as unquestioned authority) while knives and spoons receive their full quota of public notice, it would be worse than barbarous, and totally unworthy a civilized people, to ignore the use of "fork." For it would be utterly impossible, yes, madness, to attempt the elevation of an apple dumpling from its recumbent position in a bed of boiling liquid without the aid of "fork." That settles the "fork" question. Next comes fingers. Fingers may be used, when scrupulously clean, in conveying the luscious luxury (hovee, we mean) from plate to platter—(but "fork" are not to be despised. Argumnt 2d. Fingers may also be used (clean or dirty) in the absence of the other articles. This settles the finger question. By way of improvement, permit us to remark, that notwithstanding the diversity of opinion upon the subject of "prackitike ettikil," there is a universal truth which shall never fail—where fingers are absent, "fork" are useless. So it will be seen that we could not dispense with either of these articles, without inflicting upon ourself an annoying inconvenience; and so we dismiss the subject.

McConoughy, the razor powder man, does a thriving business in this place, during our Court. The reason is he sells an article which has been tried by our citizens and found to be all he claims for it. His "Electric Oil" is of the genuine stripe, and wherever he goes, he should be hailed as the reliever of almost all the "ills that flesh is heir to." We have tried both, and can safely recommend the articles as genuine, and excellent for what they are intended, and deserving the high estimation in which they are held by our neighbors.

Young ladies wishing to learn Wax Fruit and Flowers; Ornamental Leather Work; Grecian, Oriental or Italian Painting; Wax Vases, (imitation of marble) Potichomony, or any other kind of ornamental work taught at the Cassville Seminary, should do so immediately, in order to have their articles finished in time for the fair.
