

Huntingdon Journal.

Wednesday Morning, September 28, 1859. LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

On Thursday morning of last week, a pheasant was seen to fly against the window, at the store of Mr. David Grove.

CAMP JUNIATA.—We learn that the Encampment, held at Lewistown, was well attended—there being eleven companies there.

We are pained to learn that James Platt, a member of the Jackson Artillery, of Mc. Alevy's Fort, this county, was mortally if not fatally wounded, during the encampment at Lewistown.

SEWING MACHINES.—A table has been prepared showing by actual experiment of four different workers, the time required to stitch each part of a garment by hand, and with the Sewing Machine.

Table with 3 columns: Machine, Hand, and Time. Rows include Gents' shirts, Frock coats, Suit vests, Linen vests, Cloth pants, and Summer pants.

Autumn.—The Autumnal months are here; the summer foliage is strewn over the side walks of our borough, and the inclemency of the weather has driven the fair daughters of Huntingdon to other employment than promading, to a greater or less degree.

Mr. Editor.—In looking over the Globe of last week, I see a communication from Barren, signed by a "Republican," stating that the prospects of some of the Leacock candidates were quite promising—that it was a conceded fact that some of them would be elected.

Medical Impossibilities.—For a long time a certain class of diseases have baffled the skill and practice of the most eminent members of the regular medical faculty.

Our friend, Jas. A. Brown has just received one of the largest and best assortments of Hardware ever brought to Huntingdon.

See the communication on the first page.

Local Correspondence.

Mr. Editor.—Dear Sir: Having lately travelled through several of the townships in the lower end of the county, and been brought a great deal in contact with the people there, I am enabled to give some tolerable idea of political sentiment in that locality.

At the same time, I am enabled to give some tolerable idea of political sentiment in that locality. I find there is a determination existing on the part of those acting with the People's party, to adhere to the regular nominations.

Sept. 24th.
