

bood—that roasted pig and that spare rib of pork. The "vegetable" consists of potatoes and peas. One of the peculiar features, called "mince" seemed to attract the peculiar attention of the guests. There was a richness, a singularity of construction which rendered the exquisite execution of the palate, and as there was enough of it, each partook freely. After dinner, the boys were provided with a pipe, or Havana, as they chose, and seated themselves under the capacious piazza, which extended in front of the house.

"Doctor Physics," said our friend Spivey, "we are aware that the ostensible motive for our visit here, is to enable you to fulfil your promise in regard to that wonderful skill of which you are possessed, and I know of no more convenient time than the present."

"Ay," interrupted Doctor Physics, "I agree to distribute my powers equally among you—and as matters which concern a community, a single individual, or a family, have concluded to admit the truth of a declaration by one of your number, that all my virtue was in my leather breeches?"

"I may get amuse to interrupt the doctor here, for the purpose of observing, that instead of the nether garment, he had worn for a long series of years, he now had on another pair, when he came to this point in his remarks, the company first noticed the important fact.

"And, gentlemen," continued he, "though extremely loth to part with that which has been of such signal benefit to those around me, yet private considerations should always succumb to the body politics. In this view of the case, without a single regret I have, gentlemen, divided my breeches equally among you, with the hope that they may be the means of healing dissension, extending our science, and conducing to your own individual welfare and prosperity."

"Divide them among us!" exclaimed Dr. Spivey. "Ay, my worthy friends, I have divided them among you: I had them made into mince pies, and you have eaten them for your dinner."

"Eaten your leather breeches?" ejaculated they, "then we are physiced with a vengeance!"

"Never did their own nostrums operate so surely, and more vigorously than the Doctor's unique prescription on his medical friends, and he never afterwards was troubled with the importunities or jokes of his empirical neighbors."

SAV YOUR OLD BREAD.—Every person who does not know, what however is true, that pieces of old bread, crumbe, &c., being soaked and mixed up with dough, in making new bread, improves it very much. Try it and do not allow pieces of dry bread to be lost afterwards—especially when flour is nine or ten dollars a barrel.

ADVERTISING.—One great cause of the commercial prosperity of New York, is the practice prevalent among the merchants there, of advertising their goods in the newspapers—an example which might be followed, with great advantage.

The best dowry to advance the marriage of a young lady is when she is in her countenance, mildness; in her speech, wisdom; in her behavior, modesty; and in her life, virtue.

SCANDAL.—What one half the world takes a pleasure in inventing, and the other half in believing.

They that marry old people merely in expectation to bury them, hang themselves in hope that one will come and cut the halter.

In New York a man has been recommended as a candidate for office because he was a handsome wife. Right. The "best wife" of a man ought always to be the best of his qualifications to serve the public.

"The town of Northampton, Mass. have voted, that hereafter all drunkards shall be posted." That's right—there is no use in railing all the time.

A drunkard went into a store in Salem for week and asked for refreshment. Having already rather more of that article than he could stand under, he was ordered off, and staggering to the door dropped a bottle of rum from under one arm and Pain's Age of Reason from the other.

Smoking.—Such is said to be the passion for smoking among the lower class of females in French prisons, that they make pipes of bread, in which they smoke snuff-tobacco being prohibited.

The monstrous practice of selling a woman took place at Chinnock during the past week. A man actually led forth and sold the one he had solemnly promised to "love and to cherish, and worship," for sixpence and a quart of ale with a new hat round for neck, which cost 5d.

A woman lately, in Brussels, killed her own child. After she had strangled it, she cut off its head and threw it into a frog-pond, and gave the remainder of the body to a dog.

HOMICIDE.—When they don't take to do the honors in the demoralized communities of the old world, they go out into the head of this country. We must compete with them in deeds of atrocity. A woman lately, in Brussels, killed her own child. After she had strangled it, she cut off its head and threw it into a frog-pond, and gave the remainder of the body to a dog.

IMPORTANT FROM TEXAS.

From the N. O. Commercial Bulletin, May 23. GLORIOUS NEWS FROM TEXAS! (SANTA ANNA TAKEN!)

We have been politely favored with the following extract written to a gentleman of our party, from Napoleon, which goes still further to corroborate the account received by the Levant which we publish to-day.

The substance of which is, that an express has arrived here, via Natchitoches, from Texas, and is confirmed by Gen. Gaines, that Gen. Houston of Texas, has conquered Santa Anna and his army. Santa Anna himself, and his soldiers and prisoners. The forces of Santa Anna were estimated at 11000, and those of Houston at 600. The express further states that Houston's army destroyed half of the Mexicans, and the loss on his side was 6 killed and 20 wounded.

The saddle of Santa Anna was taken and brought in, and is of a costly order, being estimated as worth between 6 or 800 dollars, and was confirmed by the news, the news, rode on the horse of Santa Anna.

All this is indeed cheering news, calculated to arouse all the better feelings, which are implanted in the hearts of those who can rejoice in the triumph of freedom over their civil and savage oppressors. The intelligence received early yesterday morning, and which is also published, will be seen to be confirmed by the news, the news, rode on the horse of Santa Anna.

HEAD QUARTERS, ARMY, April 23, 1836. To the People towards the West. We met the army of Santa Anna, on the 21st, and attacked him with 600 men; he had 1100 in camp, two howitzers—we entirely routed his whole force, killed half of his men, and took the prisoners. Santa Anna himself, and all his principal officers are among the prisoners. The history of war does not furnish a parallel to the battle. We had 6 killed and 20 wounded. I have not time to send you a full report, I will do that in the course of to-morrow. I again call on my fellow citizens to come to the field; let us fall on and conquer the remaining troops, and the express just received from the Secretary of War, who was himself in the battle.

THOS. J. RUSH, Sec. at War. I certify the above to be a true copy of the express just received from the Secretary of War, who was himself in the battle.

A. HOUSTON. To J. R. Dunn. San Antonio, April 26. The following is the information which came to hand early yesterday morning: A gentleman of this city who arrived this morning from Atakapas in the S. B. Velocipedo states that on the evening previous to his departure two companies of the Texas forces under Gen. Houston, and the Mexican army, in which the latter were totally routed having lost 700 men killed and wounded, and 500 prisoners, among whom was Gen. Cos. The loss of the Texas was said to be incalculable.

The circumstances as related by these gentlemen, were that the Mexican army had from some cause or other been separated into two bodies divided by the River Brazos, that the sudden rise of that river prevented the two bodies from effecting a junction; that Houston marched against the larger body amounting to 1300 or 1400 men, that the latter retreated, and in their retreat set fire to the town of Harrisburg. Houston succeeded in over-taking them about seven miles from the town, made a sudden and vigorous attack on them, and after some severe fighting, the Mexicans were totally defeated, with the loss above mentioned. The gentleman who related these words a short distance from Harrisburg and could distinctly hear the firing and that the result was well known before their departure, that Houston had marched in pursuit of the other body which it was supposed could not possibly escape him.

The N. O. Bev. of the same date as the above says, he heard it stated as if on good authority that General Houston had a council of War on the fate of his prisoners, and that Santa Anna and all his officers had been taken to the city of Mexico, and that it was also stated that General Gaines had written a private letter confirmatory of this account; but we did not see it. There can however be no doubt that Houston has conquered; and that the Mexican army is prostrated. The day of retribution has at length come, and Texas is free.

LETTER FROM GEN. GAINES. TEXAS.—The following letter from Maj. Gen. GAINES has been furnished for publication by the War Department: Head Quarters, Western Department, Camp Sabine, 28th April 1836.

I have the honor to state that reports have just now reached this place through various channels, which leave no doubt of their correctness, that on the 21st instant, a battle was fought near twenty miles west of Harrisburg, in Texas, between the Mexicans, under the immediate command of their President, SANTA ANNA, and the Texans, under General Houston, their commander-in-chief, and it resulted in a complete overthrow of the advanced corps of the Mexican army, which appears to have been very far out of supporting distance from the larger part of the army, most of which were in Arkansas lands which shortly have to St. Philippe, distance six miles. It is stated that between five hundred and six hundred of the Mexican troops were killed, and the residue of the advance, about the same number taken prisoners, including the President himself, with his staff, and most of his principal officers, and that he has declared himself ready to surrender to the Texan forces.

Mammoth Exhibition. We call attention to the "Mammoth Exhibition" proposed to be opened here on Monday the 30th inst.

That portion of the news from Texas, in another column, relative to the defeat and capture of Santa Anna, appears, by later date, to be incorrect. A battle has been fought, which resulted in favor of the Texans; but the Officer captured is Sontano, and not the tyrant Santa Anna.

There was some little opposition on Friday evening last to the proposition to lay an additional tax for the support of Common Schools in this Borough. It was not, however, so much to the system as the very unpopular manner in which the Board of School Directors have acted in making so many changes of Teachers. The School in our Ward, we believe, within the past year has been honored with something less than a dozen "Knights of the Birchrod Rod." For awhile, the children scarcely knew who was their teacher. This is wrong, and calculated more to injure the system than all the opposition of the miserly and the ignorant.

THE INDIANS IN FLORIDA have recommenced their work of destruction. So much for sending a "petticoat General" to take command of those far superior in skill and bravery!
