How to improve a Poor Farm. Richard A. Leonard, of Middletown, N J. has furnished us an interesting account of his manner of improving a worn out farm and of the sale of its products the last year; and we regret that from the great accumulation of matter on hand, we cannot give his letter in detail. We are obliged to contont ourselves with a brief abstract of material facts.

Mr. Leonard came into possession of 90 acres of cultivated but exhausted land in May, 1833. In that year the sale of its products amounted to $550,88; in 1834. the sales amounted to $718,05; in 1835 to B1.125.04; and in 1836, notwithstanding the unfavorable season, and the failure of most of his staple crops, to $1,166,13-thus more than doubling its products, by judicious management in three years. His expense during the last year, for labor, dung and freight, amounted to $254,72-thus leaving him a nett profit on his farm of $912,41-or more than $100 per acre por annum. We will quote Mr. Leonard's statement of the means he adopted to thus double the fertility of his soil.

"My farm," suys he, "was in so low condition that it would not produce more than ten bushels of rye or twenty of corn per acre; and as I had no other income but what I could make upon this poor farm, I set about farming in earnest. I found it was in vain to attempt improvement without manure, so I contrived to get about 400 loads a year, 300 of which I made in the following manner. I have marl, though of very interior quality. I cart about 100 loads of this into my barn yard, and by yarding my cattle upon it through the season, contrive to increase it to 200 loads. I also cart about 50 loads to my hog pen, on which I keep my hogs the year round. In this way I got 100 loads more, which is excellent for potatoes, corn, &c., and as my farm is situate near the bay, I obtain from New York annually, from 50 to 75 loads of the best stable dung, at about $1 per load on delivery, and by mixing it with the earth, &c. made up the 400 loads. By this treatment, I find my land improve rapidly, and my income in like proportion. But I am sorry to say there are many farmers amongas a manure; but I conclude for the present."

This communication affords a worthy example of predent industry and good management, and shows that even a poor farm, well managed, may be rendered more productive than many a good farm now is, under bad management -Albany Cultivator.

From the Pittsburgh Daily Times. The Farmer & Manufacturer

In a short excursion to the country at this delightful season, when nature is clothed in beauty, and the birds are singing their Maker's praise, we have seen how pleasantly many of our farmers live in these times of almost universal distress. While our country flourished, the farmers have been reaping a noble harvest for years past, from the high prices and constant demand for every article produced and brought to market .-We sincerely wish them continued health, peace and happiness.

The times are momentous, and pregnant with good or evil; and we believe, if there is no radical and immediate change in the order of things, the distress now so severely preying upon the manufacturing, mechanical, and commercial interests, will soon find its way to the cottage and fireside of the farmer; and that the agricultural interest of our country will, as it already does in the Southern States, feel the painful change of times. The farmer can do much to save the country, and promote its best interests, to foster all branches of business, and aid all classes of industrious citizens; while at the same time he promotes his own, and secures for himself a sure market, that of the operatives of the cities and towns.

On meeting an old and intelligent farmer in the street, he justly remarked, that "the generally goods of every kind. interest of town and country, the farmer, manufacturer, and mechanic, are one, and cannot be separated, without producing loss and inconvenience to all parties." The town and country must necessarily support each other, supply each other's wants and contribute to each other's prosperity.

Willbin the last 22 years there have been two periods, when the farmer suffered the keenest distress, and labored under the most painful treals: The first was immediately after the last war with Great Britain, when our manufactories were destroyed and broken up, our mechanics and workshops desorted, our stores and dwelling houses empty. rents and produce down to almost nothingand when farmers, with their produce, begged people to buy at any pricel and when, after staying the whole day in Putsburgh etriving in vain to sell, and procure groceries and necessaries in exchange, they have been obliged to take their produce home, and give it to the hogs, or to leave it unsold, or o waste in some cellar or garret!

We have seen flour, good fresh superfine flour; sell in the Pittsburgh market at from $1,25 to $1,75 a barrel, and from 75 cents to $1,25 per ewt.; beef, I to 2 cents per lb.;

pork, 11 to 21 cts. bacon, 4 to 5 cts.; good fresh butter, 61 cts.; oats, 121 to 15 cts.; wheat, dull at 25 cts.; and other articles in proportion; but little money, and few buyers and consumers; because our manufacturers were obliged to suspend their operations, discharge their hands, and lose their capital the fruit of their toil and industry; and our country overrun with British goods, and sold at any price, to sweep the specie out of our land, to break down our home industry and manufactures. A similar time occurred about 10 years since, at the commencement of the Pa. canal, when for a time our country's energy and industry were paralyzed and the productions of the farmer reduced very low indeed. Let the farmers resolve to sustain the home manufacturer, the mechanic, the mer-

cliant, and the well conducted bank, in their own neighborhood, which has by its judici ous discounts to the manufacturer and mechanic, or the commercial man, sustained he country's industry and enterprise. Let hem not hoard up their money, but put it out to active and profitable use, when it is so much wanted by the community. Let them at once look over their list of balances due their saddler, shoemaker, blacksmith, weaver, ploughmaker, school master, merchant, &c., and pay them off cheerfully, and encourage them to go and do likewise. If no debts are owing, so much the better .-Go and purchase of them necessary articles, and pay for them, and thus encourage them. Thus your best customers will all be encouraged, and made stronger friends and better customers. Another plan of usefulness, which will put your surplus money out at compound interest, and benefit society, will be, to follow the example of an intelligent old farmer, who has visited the Pittsburgh market for 30 years, and has become richa not by hoarding his specie in his old chest, but by loaning out his money to deserving men, and by buying from time to time bank stock, on which he drew his dividend semiannually, and with the proceeds, and products of his farm, bought more stock. He, within the last week, gathered all his availa-chants, and left a thousand dollars with another gentleman to buy more bank stock in our Pittsburgh banks. Like causes produce like effects. Two years, and perhaps in much less time, with the present system of things, flour will again be down to 2 or 83: bacon, 4 to 5 cents; and every thing down to the lowest price; and few buyers. Our consumers become farmers and producers, or pass into the illimitable West; our manufactories and workshops again broken down and described; and all sellers-no money and no buyers. Let our farmers look these things soberly in the face; let them trace effects to their true and legitimate causes; and let them resolve to protect their own and their country's best interest by using all their power and influence to protect home AN OLD MERCHANT. industry.

YEW-YORK, Dac. 11, 1833. I hereby certify that my wife has been for years afflicted with a most distressing periodical sick headache; and that remedies, prescriptions, and diet, had been tried in vain. Nothing relieved her until she commenced the use of Dr. Spohn's Head ache Remedy, which gave her unmediate relief and by the use of a few bottles she has become entirely cured. I therefore recommed it to all abouring under the dreadful complaint, as a cer tain remedy.

I have also witnessed its virtues in many other asos, in altof which it has proved effectual. WM H. WHITAKER, No 12, Bowery Just received and for sale by

Spring-seat SADDLES

Notwithstanding the prejudices against these Saddles heretofore, he teels justifiable in saying, that he hopes to gain the confidence and patronage of the public-as he is enabled, on the present principle, to ensure ed. all his saddles without any extra charge. -That a soft, easy saddle is desirable to all persons who ride much, and particularly to hose who may not be favored with a very pleasant horse; I presume all persons will unhesitatingly patronize the spring saddles, when they will be ensured as long as the purchaser may deem necessary.

The elasticity of the Saddle acting in harmony with the symetry of the horse and ner of the Diamond, in the Borough of Gettys- rider, not only affords ease to the man, but incalculable advantage to the horse. All persons of judgment and experience must know, that a dead, unelastic weight on a horse is oppressive. The Spring in the Girth affords the following advantages: 1st Moving or yielding with the horse's chest in breathing, no cramps or cholics or any disease can rise therefrom. 2d. The girth will outlast two or three of the common kind, because the yielding of the spring on the sudden expansion of the chest prevents the girth from breaking, and saves the rider from falling; many fulls have been the fruits of breaking girths.

GENTLEMEN and LADIES are invited to apply, as the little difference in the cost of these and the hard Suddles is so trifling, and incomparable with the difference in comfort and safety.

It is unnecessary here to state in detail, how much I suffered; suffice it to say, that I have been severely afflicted for many years, and suffered great pain; and that I obtained two bottles of your Anti-Rhoumatic decoction, and two phials of the liniment, which accompanies it, and that it has banished every vestige of Rheumatism from my frame .-overy vestige of Knoulina in the state of the afflicted would do well to resort to this remode.

Highly Important to the Afflicted. It will no doubt be gratifying to our readers to learn the wonderful success which has attended Mr. P. O'Noill, in the use of his valuable Anti-Rheumatic Medicine, which has been ascertained to be a specific not only in Rheumatism, but also in White Swelling, disease of the Hip Joint, Scrofula, &c. &c. We are urged to make these remarks, not from the certificates of unknown persons, but from our own knowledge of several im-portant cures effected by his medicine, which have created general astonishment. The most imporour worthy Post-master, who, after years of suffering, has been relieved solely by the use of Mr. O'Noill's medicine—the Medical Faculty having tried every thing in vain. These are Miss Rohr's own statements. The high reputation of Mr. O'Noill's endorsers justify us in saying that their statements merit universal credence

From the Baltimore Chronicle. We are not in the habit of expressing an opin ion of the efficacy of Patent Medicines, but in the case of the above mentioned remedy for Rheumatism, we feel called on, by principles of humanity, to state that it has had the most surprising of fects. The inventor is a gentleman in whom the greatest reliance can be placed; but he has other than his own testimony in favor of the medicine which he offere to the public. Clergymen, physicians, and those who have been relieved, have borne voluntary witness to its astonishing effica-cy; and those who have the misfortune to be afflic ed with this distressing complaint may be assured of immediate relief by resorting to this remedy

The following is from the Fredericktown Her ald, edited by Win. Ogden Niles, Esq. April 6th,

Mr. O'Neill's Rheumatic Medicine, offered to the public in this day's paper, if we form an opin-ion from the character of the maker, and numerous certificates in his possession from highly respoctable individuals, who have been cured by the use of it, is one of the most valuable of recent discovery. Its effects upon those afflicted with chronic and inflammatory rheumatism,have been truly marvellous; a few bottles enabling them to dis pense with crutches, finnnels and bandages, with which for years they have protected their limbs and bodies. Mr. O'Neill merits the gratitude of are troubled with Rheumatic pains, the afflicted, and the testimony of respectable either chronic or inflamatory, to give him physicians torbids those imputations which are generally attached to venders of panaceus.
