

THE CONSTITUTION OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA, AS AMENDED BY THE CONVENTION OF ONE THOUSAND EIGHT HUNDRED AND NINETY SEVEN.

WE, The People of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, do hereby certify that the following is a true and correct copy of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, as amended by the Convention of one thousand eight hundred and ninety seven.

ARTICLE I. Section I. The legislative power of this Commonwealth shall be vested in a General Assembly, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives.

Section II. The representatives shall be chosen annually by the citizens of the city of Philadelphia and of each county respectively on the second Tuesday of October.

Section III. No person shall be a representative who shall not have attained the age of twenty-one years, and have been a citizen and inhabitant of the State three years next preceding his election.

Section IV. Within three years after the first meeting of the General Assembly, and within every subsequent term of seven years, an enumeration of the taxable inhabitants shall be made in such manner as shall be directed by law.

Section V. The senators shall be chosen for three years by the citizens of Philadelphia and of the several counties, according to the number of taxable inhabitants in each, and shall never be less than sixty nor greater than thirty.

Section VI. The number of senators shall be divided into three classes, the first of which shall be chosen for three years, the second for two years, and the third for one year.

Section VII. The senators shall be chosen in districts, to be formed by the legislature, but no district shall be so formed as to entitle it to elect more than one senator.

Section VIII. No person shall be a senator who shall not have attained the age of twenty-five years, and have been a citizen and inhabitant of the State four years next preceding his election.

Section IX. The senators shall be chosen in districts, to be formed by the legislature, but no district shall be so formed as to entitle it to elect more than one senator.

Section X. The General Assembly shall meet on the first Tuesday of January, in every year, unless sooner convened by the Governor.

Section XI. Each house shall choose its Speaker and other officers, and the Senate shall also choose a Speaker pro tempore, when the Speaker shall be absent from the office.

Section XII. The Speaker shall judge of the qualifications of its members. Contested elections shall be determined by a committee to be selected, formed and regulated in such manner as shall be directed by law.

Section XIII. Each house may determine the rules of its proceedings, punish its members for disorderly behaviour, and with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member, but not a second time for the same cause; and shall have all other powers necessary for a branch of the legislature of a free State.

Section XIV. The legislature shall not have power to enact laws annulling the contract of marriage in any case where, by law, the courts of this Commonwealth are or may hereafter be empowered to decree a divorce.

Section XV. Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and publish them weekly, except such parts as may require secrecy; and the yeas and nays of the members of either house, on any question, shall be entered on the journals.

Section XVI. The doors of each house and of committees of the whole, shall be open, unless when the business shall be such as ought to be kept secret.

Section XVII. Neither house shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be sitting.

Section XVIII. The Senators and representatives shall receive a compensation for their services to be ascertained by law, and paid out of the treasury of the Commonwealth. They shall in all cases, except treason, felony and breach of surety of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the session of their respective houses, and in going to and returning from the same, for any speech or debate in either house, they shall not be questioned in any other place.

Section XIX. No Senator or representative shall, during the time for which he is elected, be appointed to any civil office under this Commonwealth which shall have been created, or the emoluments of which shall have been increased during such time; and no member of Congress or other person holding any office of profit, under the laws of the United States, shall be a member of either house during his continuance in Congress or in office.

Section XX. When vacancies happen in either house, the Speaker shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies.

Section XXI. All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives, but the Senate may propose amendments or additions thereto, which shall be reported to the House.

Section XXII. No money shall be drawn from the treasury but in consequence of appropriations made by law.

Section XXIII. Every bill which shall have passed both Houses shall be presented to the Governor. If he approve he shall sign it, but if he shall not approve he shall return it with his objections to the house in which it shall have originated, who shall reconsider the bill, and may proceed to reconsider it. If after such reconsideration, two-thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent with the objections to the other house, by which it likewise may be reconsidered, and if approved by two-thirds of that house, it shall be a law. But in such cases the yeas and nays of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of persons voting yeas and nays, shall be entered on the journals of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the Governor within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, it shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the General Assembly, by their adjournment, prevent its return, in which case it shall be a law, unless sent back within three days after their next meeting.

Section XXIV. Every order, resolution or vote to which the concurrence of both Houses may be necessary (except on a question of adjournment) shall be presented to the Governor, and before it shall take effect, be approved by him, or being disapproved, shall be repassed by two-thirds of both Houses according to the rules and limitations prescribed in case of a bill.

Section XXV. No corporate body shall hereafter create, renew, or extend, without its members present, any charter, privilege, or franchise, or any other right, which shall be in violation of the provisions of this article.

public notice of the intended application for the same in such manner as shall be prescribed by law. Nor shall any charter for the purposes aforesaid, be granted for a longer period than twenty years, and every such charter shall contain a clause reserving to the legislature the power to alter, to renew, or to annul the same whenever in their opinion it may be injurious to the citizens of the Commonwealth, in such manner however that no injustice shall be done to the corporators. No law hereafter enacted, shall create, renew, or extend the charter of more than one corporation.

ARTICLE II. Section I. The Supreme Executive power of this Commonwealth shall be vested in a Governor.

Section II. The Governor shall be chosen on the second Tuesday of October, by the citizens of the Commonwealth, at the places where they shall respectively vote for representatives. The returns of the votes shall be sealed up, and transmitted to the seat of government, directed to the Speaker of the Senate, who shall open and publish them in the presence of the members of both houses of the legislature. The person having the highest number of votes shall be elected Governor. But if two or more shall be equal and highest in votes, one of them shall be chosen Governor by the joint vote of the members of both houses. Candidates shall be determined by a Committee to be selected from the members of both houses, and formed and regulated in such manner as shall be directed by law.

Section III. The Governor shall hold his office during three years from the third Tuesday of January next ensuing his election, and shall not be capable of holding it longer than six in any term of nine years.

Section IV. He shall be at least thirty years of age, and have been a citizen and an inhabitant of this State seven years next before his election; unless he shall have been absent on the public business of the United States or of this State.

Section V. No member of Congress or person holding any office under the United States, or this State shall exercise the office of Governor.

Section VI. The Governor shall at stated times receive for his services a compensation, which shall be neither increased nor diminished during the period for which he shall have been elected.

Section VII. He shall be commander-in-chief of the army and navy of this Commonwealth, and of the militia, except when they shall be called into the service of the United States.

Section VIII. He shall appoint and remove all officers in the civil service, and shall have the power to pardon and remit fines and penalties, except in cases of impeachment.

Section IX. He may require information in writing, from the officers in the executive department upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices.

Section X. He shall, from time to time, give to the General Assembly information of the state of the Commonwealth, and recommend to their consideration such measures as shall appear expedient.

Section XI. He shall convene the General Assembly, and in case of disagreement between the two houses, with respect to the time of adjournment, adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper, not exceeding four months.

Section XII. He shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed.

Section XIII. In case of the death or resignation of the Governor, the Speaker of the Senate shall exercise the office of Governor, until another Governor shall be duly qualified; but in such case another Governor shall be chosen at the next annual election of representatives.

Section XIV. The Governor shall have the power to pardon and remit fines and penalties, except in cases of impeachment.

Section XV. He may require information in writing, from the officers in the executive department upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices.

Section XVI. He shall, from time to time, give to the General Assembly information of the state of the Commonwealth, and recommend to their consideration such measures as shall appear expedient.
