There are not many speeches remaining on record but even in this small number there is such a rich, yet varied vein of all the characteristics of true eloquence, that we never rise from their persual with regret that so few have been preserved. No where can be found a poetic thought clothed in more captivating simplicity of expression, than in rison, in the conference at Vincennes. It contains a high moral rebuke and a sarcasm, heightened in effect by an evident consciousness of loftiness above the reach of insult.-At the close of his address he found that no chair had been placed for him, a neglect which Governor Harrison ordered to be remedied as soon discovered. Suspecting, perhaps, that it was more an affront than a mistake, with an air of dignity elevated almost to haughtiness, he declined the seat proffered with the words, "Your father requests you to take a chair," and answered as he calmly disposed himself on the ground: "My father! The sun is my father, and the earth is my mother. I will repose upon her

Some of the speeches of Skenendoah, a celebrated Oneida chief, contain the truest touches of natural eloquence. He lived to a great age; and in his last oration in council, he opened with the following sublime and beautiful sentence, "Brothers: I am an aged hemlock. The winds of an hundred winters have whistled through my branches and I am dead at the top." Every reader who has seen a tall hemlock, with a dry and leaffess top surmounting its dark green foliage, will feel the force of the simile, "I am dead at the top." His memory, and his vigorous powers of youth had departed for-

No less felicitous was the close of a speech a western tribe, at a council held, we believe, at Washington, many years since. In alluding to his extreme age, to the probability that he might not even survive the journey walk through the forests, and the Great Spirit will whisper in the tree tops, and the flowers spring up in their trails—but Pushmataha will hear not—he will see the flowers no more. He will be gone. His people will know that he is dead. The news will come to their ears, as the spund of the fall of a mighty oak in the stillness of the woods."

Interesting Law Case.

The Athens (Tenn.) Journal has the following notice of an interesting case which was recently decided at that place by Judge

A Cherokee Indian confined by General Scott for improper conduct was brought before the Judge on a wait of habeas corpus, with a view of procuring his discharge. The case was argued at full length, and with considerable ability-on the part of the prisoner by Judge Roane, of North Caraolina, and J. F. Gillespy, Esq. of Madisonville, Tennessee; in defence of the application, by General Scott, who appeared in person, and made his own defence, assisted however, by Major Jarnagin, who was employed, we suppose, by the Cherokee authorities, to attend to any general question which might arise in the course of the investigation, involving the general interests of the Cherokees on the subject of emigra-

For the prisoner it was contended, first, that he was a citizen of North Carolina, because his ancestor had previously taken a reservation in that State under the treaties of 1817 and 1819; and lastly, that he had been permitted by General Smith, superintendent of emigration, with the approbation of the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, to remain in the country. On the other side of John Torrence, Joseph Smith and others, it was contended that the prisoner was not a citizen, and that the permission to remain | having erected thereon a good two-stoky was void, being in violation of the treaty of 1835-'36, and not given by the authority of the President of the United States. Gen. eral Scott; moreover, claimed the right, and did, in form, in the body of his return to the sion given to the prisoner to remain in the country.

Judge Keith determined, in substance, that the prisoner was no citizen—that, by the terms of the treaty of 1835-'6, the cers of the State possessed no authority to DER, residing on the same. discharge from the custody of the officers charged with the removal of the Indians, the body of any prisoner legally taken in the execution of his order or in discharge of his official functions; and that the perintesion to the prisoner to remain, if given, was void, no matter by whom granted, as no power existed in any officer of the Government to grant a permission to any individual in violation of the terms of the treaty.

It is said that no traces of human exis tence are to be found of a date anterior to that of the last formation of limestone. At Greenleaf's Point, in this city, and near the house formerly occupied by Commodure

Rodgers, is a fragment of gneiss-one of the primitive rocks, and the next oldest to granite-on the upright face of which are the impressions of an entire human foot and than a warrior rising in the council to address of the heel of another. It was found on those who bore the scarred marks of their the shore of the Potomac, at the water's edge, and removed, at the expense of the Commodore, to the place where it now is.

The formation, for miles around, is alluvial. These impressions bear a close resemblance to the drawings of those, in Schoolcraft's Travels, which he saw at Harmony, on what he terms a "tabular mass of lime stone," brought from Missouri. - Nat. Intel

REDFIELD'S THEORY OF STORMS. We consider the theory of our fellow-cit which, from the vory outward restraint im- izen, William C. Redfield, Esq. relative to storms, asfully established. The discovery There is a mine of truth in the reply of Red is one of great importance, and on the other side of the water, appears to be duly appreciated. At a late meeting of the British all its various branches, at the old stand, in Association, at Newcastle, says the London Literary Gazette:

tuining the opinions of Mr. Redfield, relative to storms.

Professor Bache stated that Mr. Redfield's opinions had been controverted by Mr. Espy, of Philadelphia, who held that the answer of Teeumseh to Governor Har- storms were created by winds blowing into a centre made by condensation of atmosphere; and he (Mr. Bache) had himself surveyed the course of a land tornado, in which all trees, buildings, &c. had fallen inwards, as if this were the true exposition of the phenomenon. From the centre he presumed that the air rushed upward, and thus the tempest continued.

Professor Stevelly explained his views, and compared the motion of the aerial phenomenon to that of water running out of a tub, in the bottom of which a small hole was made.

Sir John Herschel spoke highly in commendation of Col. Reid's paper, and of the important consequences to which the further investigation of the subject and the accumulation of data must lead. He illustrated it by an amusing allusion to Franklin, who, when contemptuously asked by the sailor, ·What has any landsman ever done in inquiries of this kind?" replied, "Why, they have done one thing; for landsmen invented navigation." A knowledge of the present subject will teach seamen how to steer their vessels and save thousands of lives. The spots on the sun were attributed by Sir John to the passing of hurricanes over the disc of that luminary.

BEET SUGAR MANUFACTORY .-- The Newburyport, Mass. Herald states that the Beet Sugar Company of Northampton are made by Pushmataha, a venerable chief, of getting their buildings ready to operate on a large scale. They pay $5 a ton for beets, and some of the farmers have raised 20 tons to the acre. The manufacture is carried ger upon the German principle of drying, back to his tribe, he said, "My children will grinding, and making of the powder a strong decoction of strup for crystallizing.

> SUGAR FROM BEETS.—The production of Beet Sugar has become so extensive in France that the colonial product is no longer able to stand without injury a competition with it, under the existing impost, and the Chamber of Commerce of Havre has accordingly addressed a strong remonstrance to the Government against the cor tinuance of the duty on the colonial article. It calls for a reduction of the duty, without which the colonial sugar cannot maintain the competition with indigenous (beet-root) sugar in the markets of France. The Chambers of Commerce of Bordeaux and Nantes have also sent remonstrances to the Ministry against the system which it seems inclined to adopt with respect to this article.

Brandreth's Vegetable Pills.

UBLIC OPINION.—Public opinion is per-haps the only unerfing guide from whose decision there is no appeal; and was there ever such a manifestation of its approval, as there is with BRANDRETH'T VEGETABLE UNIVER-SAL PILLS? Step by step has this Medicine wormed itself into favor, in spite of ENVY, DERIsion and scoun. Triumphant has been its progress to its present sphere of extensive usefulness. It has surmounted obstacles before which quakery sinks paralysed—and has gained for itself a reputation which neither physicians, nor flippant sordid counterfeiting apothecaries can ever injure. These charlatans nevertheless no assail it with the malignant shafts of their despicable envy, and which rebounds upon themselves with a power each day on the increase, until they themselves will be covered with the slime of their own manufacturing. They can no more injure the reputation of BRANDRETH'S PILLS than they can lay their hands upon the sun.

How TO BE SECURE FROM COUNTERFEITS. Never to purchase Brandreth's Pills without being positively sure that the person selling has a copperplate certificate of Agency, and To observe it has been renewed-no CERTIFICATE BE-ING ANY GUARANTEE AFTER TWELVE MONTHS FROM DATE that Pills sold by the holder are genuine.

All Pills having Wm. Brandreth on the label, and George Hodgkinson on the edge, are counterfeits, and made to DECEIVE THE PUBLIC and avade the law at the same time.

These, and indeed ALL counterfeit Pills, if used according to the direction of my Pills, are calculated to DESTROY LIFE. They are made by men having no standing or respectability, without habitation or name-perfectly careless of consequences, provided money is obtained.

[Extract from Dr. B's address to Citizens of U.S.] And he careful to remember that I have never authorised any Doctor, Druggist, Apothecary, or Podler in the United States to sell my Pills. These contemptible Persons universally sell counterfeits. Nover forget that this class. Doctors Druggists, Apothecaries, and Pedlars are the men who sell counterfeits, and that all Tradesmen who are made agents, have each of them a COPPER-PLATE cortificate of Agency, signed in writing with a pen by me; and which certificate requires renewal every twelve months, it being no guarantee for more than one year from date-observe the date is not WRITTEN, it is COPPERPLATE.
