STAR & BEPUBLICAN BANNER.

G. WASHINGTON BOWEN, EDITOR & PROPRIETOR.

"The liberty to know, to utter, and to argue, freely, is above all other liberties."-MILTON.

CBTTTSBORG, PA., TOBSDAY, AUCUST 10, 1341.

TPHOLE SPO. 590.

Office of the Star & Banner COUNTY BUILDING, ABOVE THE OFFICE OF than answered, but you know as well as I THE REGISTER AND RECORDER.

PDB. XIII.—390. 20.

I. The STAR & REPUBLICAN BANNER is published at TWO DOLLARS per annum (or it seems that we don't agree on the subject, to you, than is that of Misses Eberly and Volume of 52 numbers,) payable half-yearly for I call Caroline Murry genteel, and you Fitzwilliams to me." in advance: or TWO DOLLARS & FIFTY don't; so you see that different things may OENTS, if not paid until after the expiration of the year. II. No subscription will be received for a shortor period than six months; nor will the paper be discontinued until all arrearages are paid, unless at the option of the Editor. A failure to notify a discontinuance will be considered a new engagement and the paper forwarded accordingly. III. ADVERTISEMENTS not exceeding a square will be inserted THREE times for $1, and 25 cents for each subsequent insertion—the number of insertion to be marked, or they will be published till forbid and charged accordingly; longer ones in the same proportion. A reasonable deduction will be made to those who advertise by the year. IV. All Lettersand Communications addressed to the Editor by mail must be post-paid, or they will not be attended to.

THE GARLAND.

With sweetest flowers enrich'd From various gardens cull'd with care."

THE PRINTER'S SONG. Print, comrades, print; a noble task Is the one we gaily ply; "Its ours to tell to all who ask, The wonders of earth and sky; We catch the thought all glowing warm, As it leaves the Student's brain; And place the stamp of enduring form

On Poets siry strain. Then let us sing, as we nimbly fling The slender letters round: A glorious thing, is our laboring, Oh where may its like be found !

Print, comrades, print; the fairest thought Ever limned in Painter's dream, The rerest form e'er Sculptor wrought; By the light of beauty's gleam, Though lovely, may not match the power Which our own proud art can claim; That links the past with the present hour, And its breath-the voice of fame. Then let us sing, as we nimbly fling The slender letters round; A glorious thing, is our laboring,

Oh where may its like be found ? Print, comrades, print; God hath erdained That man by his toil should live; Then spurn the charge, that we disdained labor that God would give ! We envy not the sons of ease, Nor the lord in princely hall; But bow before the wise decrees

In kindness meant for us all.

Then let us sing, as we nimbly fing The slender letters round; A glorious thing, is our laboring, Oh where may its like be found?

Misobppy disorim

GENTILITY. BY T. C. ARTHUR.

"Didn't I see you walking up the street with a young lady yesterday, William?" not gen-" York, after an absence of some months. "Perhaps you did; I was in company one.

with a young lady in the afternoon," replied the brother. "Well, who was she? I did not see you until after you had passed the store I "It was Caroline Murry; you know her, | morning." I suppose?"

"Caroline Murry! Why brother! what were you doing in her company?" and liams." Anna's face expressed unfeigned astonishment.

hope there is no blemish on her character. | ted gravity. But what is the matter? I feel concerned to know."

company." "Indeed! and you dont associate with her are not genteel."

several times?" "No, I do not," replied the brother em-platically.

"Well, they're what I call genteel; and Caroline Murry would'nt be tolerated in the society where they visit."

"And why not, sister?" "But I don't understand what you coneider genteel, Anna. If I know what gentility means, as far as that is concerned, Caroline is in every way superior to Ernestine Eberly or Zepherine Fitzwilliams." "Now, William, that is too bad! If any other man had said that to me, I would never have spoken to him again as long as I lived."

"But seriously, Anna, what do you mean by gentility?" asked the brother.

"That's a question more easily asked !

body knows." be called by the same name. "Now, what about, William." I wish to know is, what precise meaning you attach to the word? or, why you do not come now, sister, let us both be rational to question. think Caroline genteel?"

"Why, in the first place, she don't go into genteel company. People of the first rank won't associate with her."

said—

"Well, why won't they associate with her, Anna? I hope she has not been guilty of improper or immoral conduct."

replied the sister. "But, then, genteel young ladies don't work in the kitchen,like replied the brother, "from the slavery you me to marry?" hired servants; and she does. And, beside are now in to false notions of what is truly this, call on her when you may, and she genteel. If any one esteems you less for is always doing something. Why I am being kind, attentive, and courteous to one said, smiling. "But to corner you so that her, as if anxious to catch the deeper meanstreet, with her head tied up, sweeping, a bright example of the pure and high toned the three. Now tell me which you would made his appearance, cast an inquiring and making beds! And Clarrissa Sprig-principles that govern her, that one is unrather it would be." gler says that she saw her once, with worthy of your regard. True genulity "Caroline Murry," the parlor windows open, sweeping and does not exist, my sister, merely in a stud- cally, while her cheeks burned and her immediately placed her arm within his, and dusting like a servant! Nobody is going died and artificial elegance of behavior, eyes became slightly suffused. to associate, or be seen in the street but in inward purity and taste, and a true beside this, when she was invited to balls, The real lady judges of others from what glowing cheek, and whispered in her seemed parelysed. The nature of the few since been heard of I or parties, she never would stay later than they are, and neglects none but the wilful- earten or eleven o'clock, which every body ly depraved. True, there are distinctions knows to be vulgar. Somebody had to go in society, and there are lines of social de- know you will love one another." home with her, of course; and the choicest beau in the company was almost sure to beau in the company was almost sure to beau in the company was almost sure to should be careful in what social sphere we claimed Caroline Murry as his bride, and libertine, and warned his sister to shun him season. Over 1400 have arrived within a have his good nature and his politeness are drawn, and how we suffer ourselves to her good sense and winning gentleness of for the future, as she would a serpent. But fortnight, and large quantities of catment taxed for this purpose. Once I heard her be influenced by the false notions of real character, influenced Anna, and effectual- the first impression had been made; and say, that she considered the theatre an unfit worth which prevail in some circles ly counteracted the false notions which the brother finding it impossible to keep to a party among genteel people since."

taking a long breath. "Yes, and I should think that was enough in all conscience," replied the sister. spect her." "Why, Williaml"

"Why, Anna!"

"But seriously, William, you cannot be in earnest?"

nest?" "Of course I am." "Woll, sister, I am afraid my old tash- saidallege against Caroline Murry raises, with my wishes?"

as pinks of gentility."

and disappointment. "But you are not going to walk with her n the street any more, I hope?" she at length said.

"And why not, Anna?" "Because, as I have suid before she is "Genteel, you were going to say. But

4 Well, we won't talk any more about it

"On whom!"

"On Miss Eberly and Miss Fitzwil-

"It would'nt be right for me to do so,

"Oh, nonsense, brother! why will you good sense and was industrious. trifle so?"

genteel. We dont think of keeping her strong claims to gentility; and, like you, face with an encouraging smile. have no wish to associate with those who Fitzwilliams, whom you have seen here plainly; and you must do me the justice to in every way their superior. believe that in speaking as I do I am in earnest. And you must also remember, that, in saying what you did of Caroline Murry, you spoke of one with whom your brother has associated and with whom he is still willing to associate." Anna looked very serious at this, nor

"But seriously. Brother William, won't you call on those young ladies with me?

"Yes, on one condition."

in a positive tone. "And why not, Anna?"

"I know what I mean by it, Anna. But ty of Miss Murry cannot be more repulsive so singular."

"That is my impression about you. But each other, I am willing to go with you if you will go with me." "Yes, but William, you don't reflect would you prefer to call your sister?" that, in doing as you desire me, I will be in ciety. Caroline Murry is not esteemed ments, and then said: genteel in the circle in which I move, and if it should be known that I visit her, I will liam." be considered on a level with her. I teld that she has even been seen at the against whom suspicion has never dared to there can be no escape, I will confess that ing of his words. We had not lingered chamber window fronting on the public breathe a word, and whose whole life 19 I have made up my mind to marry one of more than a few minutes, when the brother little known as the practice which gave "And is that all?" said William Enfield, a true part if not engaged in doing some most deserving of praise, Caroline Murry, true and false gentility. Although Caro- ted. But the incident struck us at the time "So should I, Anna-to make me to who spends her time in doing something line Murry had been proscribed by a cer- as one of a forcible character, and well calcuuseful to her whole family; or your friends tain circle in which false pride, instead of lated as a text for a chapter of comments the Misses Eberly and Fitzwilliams, and principle, was the governing motive, she on society. It is a great error on the part begin with the letter P.-Piety, Persevethose constituting their particular circle, had still been esteemed among those who of many parents, to permit their daughters rance, Patience, Prudence, Patriotism, who expect services from others, but never knew how to look beyond the surface. As to associate so indiscriminately with the think of rendering any, and who carry the wife of Enfield, she at once took a posi- dissolute and depraved. And yet there are "And, seriously, Anna, are you in ear their prejudices so far as to despise those who work?"

Anna did not reply, and her brother ioned notions, for such I suppose you will "I am in carnest, sister, when I say, that call them, and your new fungled notions, you cannot confer a greater favor upon your "I am in carnest, sister, when I say, that star.

for such I must call them, will not chime brother, than to go with him to see Caroline well together. All that I have heard you Murry. Cannot I induce you to comply portment is concerned, I think her greatly disturbed in her feelings.

In half an hour she was ready, and, superior to the two friends you have named taking her brother's arm, was soon on the Anna looked into the face of her brother way to Miss Ernestine Eberly's residence. sume, and entertained them with the idle gossip of the day, interspersed with an at the expense of Caroline Murry.

And now, with a reluctance that she lady who had lost caste, because she had

"I know my sister's lady-like character minutes' walk brought them to the door, within the last year, from her constant ap- He rode to the spot, and beheld what is gives to a married woman, after a residence I am any judge of gentility, Caroline Murry is about as genteel and lady like as any girl most intimate friends spoken of so lightly; parlor in which was the young lady they I know—always excepting, of course, my own dear sister."

She sat near a window, and in society. Thus, on consulting the family and at the same time accused of a want of war seeking. She sat near a window, and in society. Thus, on consulting the family and at the same time accused of a want of war seeking. She sat near a window, and in society. Thus, on consulting the family and each wrapped in a blanket, was lying gentility. You must remember that you was sewing. She was plainly dressed in Physician, and becoming alarmed, lest the "Why, brother, how you talk! You are reflecting upon your sister's associates." comparison with the young ladies just jewel that he prised so dearly, should lose two females—near them a small child.— "You must not, and I know you will called upon; but in neatness, and in all that some of its lustre, from the very excess of Leaning against the forewheel of the wagon, trol over her property, and the right to conwith a pleasant unembarrassed smile, at the same time extending her hand. Miss Enfield took the proffered hand, with "Hav'nt I told you? Because she is could she frame in her own mind a reply could but a few hours before. Somehow or please—to enchant her. Her brother is as not considered genteel; that is the reason." that was satisfactory to her. At last she other, Caroline seemed to her to be very watchful and attentive as brothers generalmuch changed for the better in manner ly are. But he cannot be with her at every and appearance. And she could not help, moment, and therefore she is eften for during all the visit, drawing contrasts be hours beyond the reach of his eye, and lad's distress, addressed him:tween her and the two very dear friends away from the admonitions of his counsel. "Why, on condition that you will after- was in no way favorable to the latter. The companion is one of the most agreeable men Don't you see mammy there shakin with placed near its mouth one by one, and in the she had just called upon; and the contrast Such is her position at this moment. Her ward call with me, and see Caroline Mur- conversation was on topics of ordinary in of the day. He dresses well—talks well—the ager! Daddy's gone a fishin! —Jim's course of ten minutes it devoured thirtyterest, but did not once degenerate into is easy and graceful in his manners—is the got every cent of money there is, playin six, without apparently impairing its appe-"I cannot do that, William," she replied frivolity or censoriousness. Good sense son of a merchant of Philadelphia, recently poker at a bit antee!"-Bob Stokes is gone tite in the least. It is impossible to say manifested itself in almost every sentence deceased, and has connections and relatives on a hoad with Nancel-Sal's so corned what number it would have swallowed, if that Caroline uttered, and this was so ap- who mingle in the very first walks of soci- she don't know that stick of wood from they had been offered to it - Houstonian.

"I believe you know my sister," said Enfield, on presenting Anna.

"I cannot perceive the force of that rea- frequently noticing and involuntarily appro- subtle and polished villain. He is a spend- horses is loose!—There is no meal in the do, what is meant by gentility. Every son, Anna. But if you will not go with me ving it. "What a pity," Anna once or thrift, a gambler, and a libertine. As such, wagon!—The skillet's broke!—The baby's I must decline going with you. The socie twice remarked to herself, "that she will be however, he is known to but few; and in a "bad fix," and its half a mile to the

"You don't know what you are talking pression of her character than she had al world, to disguise his real character,

"Which of the young ladies, Anna, of the three we called upon this morning, Anna looked up bewildered and surprised, Here ensued a pause, and the brother danger of losing my present position in so- into the face of her brother, for a few mo-"I don't understand you, brother Wil-

"Neither," replied Anna, promptly.

with any one who has nt the spirit to be sense of what is right, all exhibiting them hoped for, though rather unexpected ad- The blood mounted to the cheeks and fore- ing stroke, burst through the wall, run above the condition of a hireling. And, selves in their natural external expression, but stooping down, he kissed her head of his fatr girl, and for a moment she down the street, over the hills, and has not

"Then she shall be your sister, and I place for any young lady; she offended the that profess a high degree of gentility. I were beginning to corrupt a good heart, one of such polished exterior and apparent hold that every one, no matter what may and to overshadow a sound judgment. It respectability altogether from the society a monstrous fine trade this morning—I be his or her condition in life, fails to act was not long before she was fully sensible of his sister, speedily made up his mind and sold our dog for fifty dollars. Why man whole company, and has never been invited hold that every one, no matter what may and to overshadow a sound judgment. It respectability altogether from the society of the real difference which there was be- returned to the city. thing that is useful. Let me put it to your tween the characters of her two friends, and It is probable that the acquaintance thus ney?' 'Oh, I was nt paid in money—but natural good sense, which do you think that of her brother's wife; and also between briefly commenced, was as briefly termina- l've got two pups worth $25 a piece.

for some moments, her countenance ex The young lady received them with all the fair young creature leaning upon the arm of the butterflies of the other sex, the beings hibiting a mingled expression of surprise graces and fashionable airs she could as that tall, handsome and mustachiced beaul of mere tinsel and foppery, to the exclusion occasional space of envious and ill-natured a place of public fashion; and any one who things of an hour. No inquiries are made remark. Knowing that her brother was a is in the habit of studying human nature, as to the morals and habits of these flatterclose discriminator, and that he was by no or who is familiar with fashionable society ers; and thus, many of our females discovmeans prepossessed in her friend's favor, and the out door world, will soon perceive er, when it is too late, and when their charms was drawn down so tight against the bar, Anna herself observed her more narrowly, on watching her movements minutely, that begin to perish, that they have devoted to and, as it were, with his eyes. It seemed she is a novice, and knows but little of the the idle and profligate, the most valuable ning was found in that position by some but a few days before returned from New that allegation, you perceive, Anna, has no to her that Miss Eberly never was so unin arts of her own, or the subtle villanies of portion of their existence. It should be a weight with me; I do not consider it a true teresting, or so mal apropos in what she the other sex. Her very position at this settled conviction with every well-regulation.

The call on Zepherine Fitzwilliams moment is conclusive upon this point, to my ted head of a family, to avoid as the assocame next in turn. Scanning her also with mind. She is the only daughter of a gen. ciate of his child, a man-be he fool, fop, just now, for it would be of no use," said other eyes than her own, Anna was disaptleman of Philadelphia; of considerable gambler, or libertine—in whom he would not the sister, changing her voice and manner; pointed in her very dear friend. She look wealth and unsullied character, who doats rejoice as her husband and companion for "and so I will change the subject. I want ed through her and was pained to see that upon her, and whose whole existence from life. This is the only true course, and if was in, and then I could not see her face." you to make a call or two with me this there was a hollowness and want of any this time forward, may be said to centre in adopted generally, would prevent much and lodgings. Some are obliged to travel thing like a true strength or excellence of the prosperity of this favourite child. He ruin and wretchedness.—Philad. Inquirer. a mile to the farm houses to sleep. Those character about her. Particularly was she has watched her for years, as a young girl displeased at a gratuitous sneer thrown out watches and nurses a favorite flower-has instilled into her, mind the purest morals, might have been seen on the Vicksburg hang themselves on hat pegs. Husbands and has kept her till now, from the impu- road, a staid looking old gentleman on are separated from their wives, (not a could not overcome, Anna turned with her dent gaze of the world, fearful that the rude horseback, with his coat buttoned tight a severe dispensation always) while ladies "Why, really, you surprise me, sister; I them genteel," said the brother, with affect brother towards the residence of the young looks and coarse voices of men, might sully round him, and an umbrella hoisted over with children are crowded by dozens into or profane a soul, that he conceives as un- his head, protecting him from a druzzling narrow and sultry apartments. But there touched by guile or vice, as that of a child rain that had that evening "set in," with is some fun and frolic left there for the peoof a few summers. But you see that she every indication of a continuance. His ple after all. The sea beach is extensive will prompt her to right action, in our next has budded, and expanded into full and per- horse moved sluggishly along as though the roads are hard, and the surf rolls alike brother; but, then, Caroline Murry is not that those young ladies have any very call," said the brother, looking into Anna's fect womanhood; and although only eixteen, jaded by a long journey. The rider seemed over plebian and patrician heads." is tall and more rounded in her form than anxiously looking for a whereabouts to She did not reply, yet she felt somehow many beings several years her senior .or other pleased with the remark. A few Her health, too, has suffered somewhat with Ernestine Eberly and Zepherine not, get angry with me, sister, for speaking constitutes the lady in air and appearance his care—he was induced, with much refuc- was a lad of about 10 or 11 years of age, tance, to permit her to accompany her he wore a pair of linsey-woolsey trowsers, brother to this scene of giddy mirth, Higi- too short for him-a roundabout that reachene and fashion. She has been here some ed down half way from his shoulders to his "We have met a few times," she replied, thing like a week, and is delighted—too waist—no hat—and possessing one of those much delighted-and yet it is quite natural. tow heads of hair so frequently to be met She is young—a beauty—with rich expec. with among the piney wood nondescripts of gluttony in an insect which has ever come tations—a free and happy heart, and all Alabama. There he stood crying most under our observation. A dragoon fly, or less reductance than she had imagined she that she hears and sees is calculated to vociferously.

parted with Caroline under a different im- conversation, he contrives, before the gener- a, h. ever before entertained. After her return and to mingle, as you see him, in the sociwith her brother, he asked her this abrupt ety, of reputable and beautiful females. But what a dangerous companion for a girl of sixteen-for such a being as Cecilia -, all youth, hope, innocence, and impulso!"

The description arrested our attention, and our eyes were riveted upon the two just described. They were indeed, as fine than gentleman, I will eatisfy you how it a pair in all the elements of life, health, bouyancy and beauty, as we ever gazed called ladies, even before their husbands "Why, I thought I asked a very plain upon on any occasion. The young spend- had any title to convey that mark of dis-"Oh, nol nothing of that. I never heard would do any thing to oblige you, but in question. But I will make it plainer .- thrift never looked botter. It seemed one tinction to them. You must know, that "Un, not nothing of that. I never heard would do any thing to ong you, here." Which one of the three young ladies we of the happiest moments of his life. The the slightest reflection on her character," deed, I would be risking too much here." Which one of the three young ladies we of the happiest moments of his life. The the slightest reflection on her character, "deed, I would be risking too much here." Called upon this morning, would you advise voice of his companion rang out in peals of replied the slater. "But, then, genteel "You would only be breaking loose," called upon this morning, would you advise joyous laughter, but occasionally she turned bute a certain quantity of bread to her poor her eye with a more steady gaze than or-"That is only jumping the question," he dinary upon the youth who stood beside "Caroline Murry," said Anna emphati- seeing in whose companionship she was, drew her aside. A moment more and he lately painted upon canvass a locomotive William Enfield did not reply to the addressed to her a few words in a low voice. steam engine, which as he gave the finishwords we are of course unable to state. -But our knowledge of the parties authorizes the belief that the brother had briefly and tion in circles where those who had passed hundreds in our own city, who permit to her by as unworthy, would have sought young and unsullied females, the attentions in vain for an admission, and in those of the known and sometimes acknowledged circles she shone as a bright particular libertine-of young men who do not pretend to disguise their evil habits, but rather ex-AN INCIDENT AT A WATERING PLACE. of vice and disorder. The engerness of the Society. - We happened to be at a fash. young and inexperienced to be admired, to ith my wishes?"

ionable Watering Place, a year or two ago, attract around a coterie of fashionable beaux, when a friend, who was familiar with all to become the centre of a group of flatter. to become the centre of a group of flatter. having stolen from a sty at Andruic, in the So far as a gentle, and truly lady-like de and then hurried away, evidently no little the lions of the place, directed our attended with most fatal Pas de Calais, a pig weighing 125 pounds, tion to a group of ladies and gentlemen, who consequences. This is especially the case was in the act of carying off his booty, were engaged in lively conversation, a few in the middle walks of life, and among fe- dreaming of polonies, black puddings, and yards from the balcony under which we males who are attractive either for beauty, other dainties of the grunting tribe, when, were seated. 'You observe,' said he, that wit or dress. They draw around them overcome by fatigue, he stopped to rest, The lady is here with her brother, and is of the meritorious and deserving, who seek had swung, cravat-like, about his neck scarcely sixteen. This is her first visit to for companions for life, and not for the play (having previously tied the four feet togeth-

---pass the night, when a fire a short distance from the road attracted his attention.-

The old gentleman rode up to him, and in a tone of voice calculated to soothe the

"What's the matter my son?" "Matter! Fire, and d-n, stranger! - parent to Anna, that she could not help jety. But he is nevertheless a cool, calm, seven dolfars and a half! Every one of the through the agency of his fine appearance, creek! | and I don't care a d- o, if I The call was but a brief one. Anna his family, his skill in dress, and his tact in never see Toxas! ! - Bal a, a, a, - Bs,

The old gentleman gave spur to his horse and again moved forward, not having any desire to prolong his chance visit to a family going to Texas .- Yazoo Whig.

ORIGIN OF THE WORD LADY.-In an old work, the date of 1762, is the following account of the term Lady:-"As I have studied more what appertains to the ladies came to pass that women of fortune were affluence, once a week or oftener, to distraneighbors, with her own hands, and she was called by them the Leff day, i. e. the breud giver. Those two words were in time corrupted, and the meaning is now as

Don't Believe Ir .- The Cincinnati Microscope says that an artist in that city

Poor Emigrants.—At the sheds srected near Montreal for the use of poor emigrants,

A FINE BARGAIN.- Well Polly, I made

A BACHELOR'S IDEAS OF A WIFE.-A wife should have eight qualifications, which

That which should be first of al!, and most in consideration, which is prety, is now a days, the least of all; and last of all, and with many not at all. That which should be the last of all and least of all in consideration, which is portion, is now become first of all, most of all, and with some all in all .- American Magazine.

THE PIG HIS OWN AVENGER .- A man leaning his load on the top bar of a gate. But what a mishap! The swine, which he er with a strong cord,) slid back on its glossy bristles over the gate, and its unwary bearer, unable to recover his balance that he was strangled; and the next morneighboring peasants.

CAPE MAY is overflowing full of visiters, anxious to enjoy the delights of sea-bathing. The Philadelphia North American says that "the crowd is so great that much inconvenience is experienced, both for food who lodge in the Hotel, often are piled up Going to Texas .- Not long since, in layers, while others lean against posts or

> An Acr.-The Legislature of Rhode Island at the last session past an act, which control of her children. And after a residence of two years, she also acquires conhusband. This will have an effect upon the celebrated D'Hautville case.

A Voracious Insect--- We witnessed vesterday the most extraordinary case of as it is generally called, "Musquito bawk," Bal a,-a,-Bal a,-a,-a, roared the little three and a quarter inches long, was caught and being held by the wings, flies ware presented to it, which it swallowed with the greatest greediness. In order to ascertain what amount of food would be required to satisfy its appetite, a large number of the common house flies were caught and