Star and Republican Banner

D. A. BUBHLER, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

"FEARLESS AND FREE."

TERMS TWO DOLLARS PER ANALY

POETRY.

VOL. XVI.—52.}

From the American Review. The Rayen.

RY EDGAR A. POE.

Once upon a midnight dreary, while I pondered, weak and weary,

Over many a quaint and curious volume of for gotten lore, While I nodded, nearly napping, suddenly there came a tapping, As of some one gentle vrapping, rapping at my chamber door.

"'Tis some visiter," I muttered, "tapping at my chamber door-Only this and nothing more." Ah, distinctly I remember, it was in the bleak

And each separate dying ember wrought its ghost upon the floor, Eagerly I wished the morrow;—vainly I had tried From my books surcease of sorrow-sorrow for the lost Lenore-For the rare and radiant maiden whom the angels Nameless here for evermore.

And the silken sad uncertainfrustling of each purple curtain Thrilled me—filled me with fantastic terrors never felt before; So that now, to still the beating of my heart, I stood repeating,

"'Tis some visiter entreating entrance at my chamber door;—
Some late visiter entreating entrance at my chamber door ;—
This it is, and nothing more."

Presently my soul grew stronger; hesitating then no longer, said I, "or Madam, truly your forgiveness I implore; But the fact is, I was napping, and so gently you came rapping, so faintly you came tapping, tapping at my chamber door,

That I scarce was sure I heard you —here I opened wide the door :-

Darkness there and nothing more. Deep into that darkness peering, long I stood there wondering, fearing, Doubting, dreaming dreams no mortal ever dared to dream before;
But the silence was unbroken, and the darkness gave no token,

And the only word there spoken was the whispered word "Lenore!"

whispered, and an echo murmured back Merely this and nothing more.

Then into the chamber turning, all my soul with in me burning, heard again a tapping comewhat louder "Surely," said I, "surely that is something at my Let me see, then, what thereat is, and this mystery

Let my heart be still a moment and this mystery explore:—
'Tis the wind, and nothing more.'

here I flung the shutter. flirt and flutter, In there stepped a stately raven of the saintly days of yore;
Not the least obeisance made he; not an instant stopped or stayed he; But, with mien of lord or lady, perched upon my chamber door-Perched upon a bust of Pallas just above my cham

Perched, and sat, and nothing more. Then this ebony bird beguiling my sad fancy into smiling. By the grave and stern decorum of the counter

"Though thy crest be shorn and shaven, thou," said, "art sure no craven, Ghastly, grim and ancient raven wandering from the Nightly shore-

Tell me what thy lordly name is on the Night's Plutonian shore! Quoth the raven, "Nevermore!" Much I marvelled this ungainly fowl to hear discourse so plainly, Tho'its answer little meaning-little relevancy bore For we cannot help agreeing that no living human Ever yet was blessed with seeing bird above his chamber door-Bird or beast upon the sculptured bust above his chamber door. With such a name as "Nevermore."

But the raven, sitting lonely on the placid bust spoke only That one word, as if his soul in that one word he did outnour. Nothing farther then he uttered-not a feather then he fluttered-

Till I scarcely more than muttered, "Other friends have flown before On the morrow he will leave me, as my hopes have Quoth the raven, "Nevermore." Startled at the stillness broken by reply so aptly

"Doubtless," said I, "what it utters is its only stock and store, Caught from some unlucky master whom unmerciful Disaster Followed fast and followed faster-so, when Hope he would adjure. Stern Despair returned instead of the sweet Hope he dared adjure-That sad answer, "Nevermore." But the raven still beguiling all my sad soul into Straight I wheeled a cushioned seat in front of bird, and thust, and door; Then upon the velvet sinking, I betook myself to Fancy unto fancy, thinking what the ominous bird

What this grim, ungainly, shartly, gaunt and ominous bird of yord Meunt in croaking "Nevermore."

Thus I sat engaged in guessing, but no syllable exfowl whose flery eyes now burned into my bosom s core This and more I sat divining, with my head at ease reclining

On the cushion's velvet lining that the lamp-light quired the Captain with a contemptuous such a way, was the conduct of maniaes or who pretended to be asleep until her beau But whose velvet yielst lining with the lamp-light glouting o'er Sux shall press, ah, nevermore! Then methought the air graw denser, perfumed froill iht unseeni censer the tutted floor, GETTYSBURG, PA., FRIDAY EVENING, MARCH 13, 1846.

WHOLE NO. 832.

these angels he hath sent thee Respite-respits and Nepenthe from thy memories of Lenore! Quaff, oh quaff this kind Nepenthe and forget this lost Lenore!" Quoth the raven, "Nevermore."

"Prophet !" said I, "thing of evil!—prophet still, if bird or devil!-Whether Tempter sent thee, or whether tempest tossed thee here ashore, Dosolate, yet all undaunted, on this desert land

On this home by Horror haunted-tell me truly I implore -Is there—is there balm in Gilead ?—tell me—tell me I implore!" Quoth the raven "Nevermore." "Prophet," said I, "thing of evil-prophet still, if bird or devil ! By that Heaven that bends above us-by that God we both adore-Tell this soul with sorrow laden, if within the distant Aidenn, It shall clasp a sainted maiden whom the angels

Clasp a rare and radiant maiden whom the angels name Lenore.'

Quoth the raven, "Nevermore." "Be that word our sign of parting, bird or fiend!" I shrieked upstarting—
"Get thee back into the tempest and the Night's Plutonian shore!

Leave no black plume as a token of that lie thy soul hath spoken! Leave my loneliness unbroken!-quit the bust above my door!

Take thy beak from out my heart, and take thy form from off my door !" Quoth the raven, "Nevermore." And the raven, never flitting, still is sitting, still is sitting On the pallid bust of Pallas just above my cham ber door: And his eyes have all the seeming of a demon that is dreaming, And the lamp-light o'er him streaming throws his shadows on the floor;

And my soul from out that shadow that lies floating on the floor
Shall be lifted—nevermore!

MISCELLANEOUS.

From the New York Knickerbocker.

War and Duelling.

A correspondent who is kind enough to speak in terms of commendation of the few observations upon war which we ventured to offer in a recent notice of Mr. Sumner's excellent oration on "The True Grandeur of Nations," among other coroborative remarks advances the following: "We may safely calcutate," he writes, of our schools, and public and private ligotiation and legislative procedure, and the | "and when I have counted three, fire!progress of the arts, and the extension of the boundaries of human knowledge, are hurried over, as dull and tiresome reading, the eye of the reader brightens, and his in- forward. terest warms, the moment the story returns to the narrative of battles. Strange reflections were raised in my mind, by fiercely. witnessing the impressions of the people where I happened to sojourn, at the time a youngman repaired to the battle-ground awhen this fact was related, it was generally viewed by the community as a circumstance geous than the shot. In the one case, there other was cool, wanton, sarcastic outrage, and dissembling exultation of a fiend. I cessary to premise, that the duel is stated to have been occasioned by a dispute commenced jestingly, which of the two had the fairest claims to be considered the elected favorite of a country belle. "Captain," said Mr. Trevor, firmly, extending his right hand, with his glove half He cotinued on his knees by the side of towards him, with a furious scowl, "I am convulsively, and his eyes glaring upward told you are a dead shot, ch?"

Captain, haughtily, and with some curios- years, and died of a broken heart. ity in his countenance. "You know I am short-sighted, blind as ng matters.''

with surprise and displeasure. 'Why what do you mean by all this?' in-

"Oh! merely that we ought not to fight tween the two. It is gratifying to be engreatest amazement, and said, "I think you abled to believe that the war-spirit and the ought to be ashamed."

some consolation."

The Captain made no reply to Trevor's quired Trevor, sarcastically.

Captain, who saw of course that certain United States. death was preparing for both. The preparations were soon made, and they consisted, by mutual agreement of the seconds, in loading the pistols with blank cartridges. loading the pistols with blank cartridges. et, how potent a spell lies in a pleasant on this saith the story, Abraham fetched fancy article, was a young gentleman of the principals were impatient, the pistols were impatient, the pistols were placed in the back again, and gave him hospitable much assurance, who gazed upon the latest tells were placed in the back again, and gave him hospitable much assurance, who gazed upon the latest placed in the back again, and gave him hospitable much assurance, who gazed upon the latest placed in the back again, and gave him hospitable much assurance, who gazed upon the latest placed in the back again, and gave him hospitable much assurance, who gazed upon the latest placed in the back again, and gave him hospitable much assurance, who gazed upon the latest placed in the back again, and gave him hospitable much assurance, who gazed upon the latest placed in the back again, and gave him hospitable much assurance, who gazed upon the latest placed in the back again, and gave him hospitable much assurance, who gazed upon the latest placed in the latest tols were placed in the hands of each in power to south—to charm—to delight when entertainment and wise instruction. "Go proached each other. Though I was almost blinded with agitation, and in combusiness? And have you not felt that pleasspecting the success of the scheme of loading the pistols with blank cartidges, my ence has come over your own soul. eyes were riveted on their every movement. There was something solemn and impressive in their demeanor. Though stepping your brow has been furrowed and your to certain death, as they supposed, there thoughts perplexed-when troubles of the was not the slightest symptom of terror or agitation visible, no swaggering, no affectation of a calmnesss they did not feel .-The countenance of each was deadly pale and damp, but not a muscle trembled.

the Captain, in a whisper, which, though of a pleasant word at such a time. Tell low, was heard all over the room; "for in us how that, ere you opened your door, the Broadway-to the strains of military music. this sort of affair, if one fires a second be- sound of glad voices reached your ear and fore the other, he is a murderer."

At that moment a noise was heard. It entered breathless.

maise your pistols"—the muzzles were the turbulent waves so quietly to rest?

One, two, three!" They fired; both recoiled several paces with the shock, and their friends rushed

"Why, what is the meaning of this?" exclaimed both, in a breath. "Who has infatuation! Melancholy proof of a phys- dared to mock us in this way! There were but to speak and gloom, unbidden and unical and animal education! Many painful no balls in the pistols!" exclaimed Trevor,

The seconds explained the well intended fatal duel occurred. A young man of my pains. It was in vain we all implored of the earth, how small the number who the Duke," replied the lively lady, "and stal duel occurred. A young man of my pains. It was in vain we all implored of the done particular acquaintance had been called out by a practised duellist, and had been selected with fury. You have met them. Now and then they have crossed your path, and I have been so happy as to please him, he whole for that sum. Trevor almost gnashed his teeth with fury. which were required for his recovery, the There was something fiendish, I thought, doubt not your whole soul has blessed in the expression of his countenance. "It them as it ought, for the words which were

Each put themselves in posture. custom, and for the forcible and impressive ed his right hand to his breast, and with a

to speak, expired. face so blanched and horror-stricken, that it coming and mourn your departing footfroze my very blood to look upon him. steps. "What have I done? Can all this be real?" for several minutes. The unhappy survi-"Well, sir, what of that?" inquired the vor lingered an exile in a foreign land five

What admirable characters, adds our correspondent, these young men would have a beetle, and not very well versed in shoot- formed, had their noble stamina developed rule your tongue and your words be as under a right education, and trained to true Every one present started, and looked views of moral greatness! As it was, it were difficult to tell whether such a quarrel, for such a cause, and terminated in fiends. To me it seems fairly divided be- had well kissed her, woke up as if in the ture, with an amendment submitting the This is complete the particular to the proposition to the pro

"Wretch," I cried, "thy God hath lent thee-by our fighting breast to breast, and muzzle, referred enthusiastically to the laurels he to muzzle across a table. Yes, he contin- had gained, that he could not deny the posued, elevating his voice, nearly to a shout, session of them; but while he did not unwe will go down to hell together! That's derrate their value, it was his earnest prayer that the world would never again be-"Infamous! monster!" was echoed from hold such a wreath; purchased with so and travel, coming towards him, who was observe things that are supposed to be unall present. They said they would not much misery, so much anguish to the great a hundred years of age. He received him known, and receive impressions of which hear of such a thing; they would not stand family of man. In every leaf of the sol- kindly, washed his feet, provided supper, their parents are unconscious. If precept by to see such butchery. Eight or ten dier's laurel were blood and tears. He and caused him to sit down. But obser- be unaccompanied by good temper and muleft the room abruptly, and did not return. had seen a great deal of the horrors of conquest, and it was his prayers that his coun- nor begged not for a blessing on his meat, for their own petulance and ill-nature. If the proposal, but was conversing anxiously try, at least, would forever be spared a re- he asked him why he did not worship the kind looks and endearments of parents, be "Now, Sir, who is the coward?" inuired Trevor, sarcastically.

And as to duelling, it is now abolished, by penalties of answer Abraham grew so zealously angry, but a feeble and transient influence while "A few moments will show," replied the utter disgrace, from the British army and that he thrust the old man out of his tent, the effects of the latter may be permanent Captain, stepping forward with no sign of navy; while the social position of the offi- and exposed him to all the evils of the and invincible. agitation, except a countenance of an ashy cer who may decline making haste to shed night in an unguarded condition. When hue; "for I accede to your terms, ruffianly blood is protected against animadversion the old man was gone, God called to Abraand murderous as they are; and may the or evil-speaking, by positive enactment; ham, and asked him where the stranger curse of a ruined house overwhelm you and this example, I have no doubt will at was. He replied, I thrust him away beand your family forever?" faltered the no distant day be followed throughout the cause he did not worship thee. God an-all things else fail ?- As you have passed thou and do likewise," and thy charity 'Are you prepared, Mr. Trevor?' inquired on through the journey pf life, have you will be rewarded by the God of Abraham. one of the Captain's friends. Being an | not seen it smoothing many a ruffle brow, swered in the affirmative, in a moment af- and calming many an aching bosom? Have ter the two principals, pistol in hand, ap- you not noticed it in the house and by the mon with those around me, anxious re- ant words are among the "charities that sweeten life?" Ah! yes, and their influ-

CHARITIES THAT SWEETEN LIFE.

When you come from the counting room or workshop care worn and weary—when present and anxieties for the future have heart, and when you almost dreaded to return to your own fireside, lest the sight of regiment." dear ones there should increase your dis-"Who is to give us the word?" asked tress-tell us what has been the influence soul were laid at rest, and cares, for the was the surgeon, who hadarrived, and now present and for the future. fled before the superior persons and brilliant equipments. pleasant words of your smiling children In the rear of the troops came a band of

"Step out, and give the word at once," and the gentle greeting of your wife.

Said Mr. Trevor, impatiently.

Both the Captain and Mr. Trevor re
Both the Captain and Mr. Trevor re-"that the last great sweeping wars in which turned, and shook hands, with a melancholed supreme in your breast—when the anternor was seen to be directed towards a gry threat was just rising to your lips, or and marched with a grave turned, and shook hands, with a melanchol- ed supreme in your breast-when the anthe human race three millions of victims. gentleman who was to give the signal then the malignant wish about to burst from the narratives of these butcheries spread stepped toward them, and closing his eyes your heart—what mighty spell caused the over every page of history, are the reading with his hands, said in a tremulous tone, storm so suddenly to subside, and spoke archly observed, "I perceive your Excel- has been looming upon us through the braries; while the pages which record ne- instantly touching one another's breast- Was it the whisper of a pleasant word that restored calmness to your tempest-tossed soul? Did the softanswerturn away your > Reader we might write a volume on this lelightful theme. Go where we will, abide where we may, we feel its power .-In every place we find some, who have welcome guest, departs in haste, and the raging waves of passion are hushed as by His voice who once said-"Peace, be still." good heart? Bul while you thus wished vor, in a broken and hollow tone, with a by the smiles of those who welcome your three thousand francs.

Mothers, speak pleasantly to the little ones who cluster around you-speak ever drawn on. The Captain turned suddenly his fallen antagonist, with his hand clasped pleasantly, and be assured that answering tones of joy and dispositions formed to constant kindness shall be your reward.

Sister, brother, friend-would you render life one sunny day, would you gather around you those who will cheer you in the darkest hour? Let the law of kindness pleasant as the "dews of Hermon," and as pleasant as the "dew that descended on the mountains of Zion."-Scars' M.

rel is of your own seeking, I shall insist in ing lately said, in reply to a toast which als, Pelopium, Nicobium and Ruthenium. in Maryland.

RELIGIOUS TOLERATION. -When Abraham sat at his tent door, according to his custom, waiting to entertain swered him, I have suffered him these hundred years, although he dishonored me. and could'st thou not have endured him of the tables. Among the throng which PLEASANT WORDS! Do you know, read- one night, when he gave no trouble! Uper, how potent a spell lies in a pleasant on this saith the story, Abraham fetched

PERSONAL APPEARANCE OF WASHINGTON. While Col. Washington was on a visit to New York in 1771, it was boasted at the table of the British Governor that a regiment just landed from England contained among its officers some of the finest speciimens of martial elegance in his majesty's service; in fact the most superb looking fellows ever landed upon the shores of the new world. "I wage your Excellency a pair of gloves," said Mrs. Morris, an American lady, "that I will show a finer man crowded every peaceful feeling from your in the procession to-morrow, than your Excellency can select from your famous

As the troops defiled before the Governor as you entered, how the troubles of your he pointed out to the lady several officers by name, claiming her admiration for their officers not on duty, of colonial officers, and strangers of distinction. Immediately on their approach the attention of the Governor was seen to be directed towards a eyes are turned to the right object: York."—Curtis's Reminiscences.

An Angel .- The Duke of Roquelaure, while on a journey, met at a ball at Toulouse a young lady of surprising beauty. He could not forget her, and sent back by a confidential friend to say she was the perpetuate the misery it affects to cute. posessor of his heart, and he would give artifice, and were cursed by both for their But they are few. Among the multitudes her eyebrow. "Make my compliments to fifty thousand louisd'ors for one hair from

WHY DO NATIONS TO WAR ?-Dr. Frankgain. His cool and practised antagonist shot is easily remedied," said the Captain, as balm to your wounded spirit. And did lin answers this question in a single senhim to the heart; and then ran and squared his eye caught several small-swords hang- you not wish you were like them? Did tence. "The foolish part of mankind

Presence of Mind-A boy returning a keeper of one of these "palaces," We did you resolve to add one to their number? home from Montreal, with the price of a most honorable to the slayer, as evincing fell back, horror-stricken at the relentless Did you determine to imitate their exampair of oxen, was lately accosted by a high-day night a guiner a minute has been taken his possession, along with perfect intrepidity and coolness, of the most accomplished do not know which was the better swords- that it is your duty so to do—that hence- usual order, "stand and deliver!" The boy misery and crime. traits of gentlemanly manners. Such was man. Ionly recollect seeing a rapid glancing forth you should make it a study. You becoming alarmed, pulled from his pocket the general impression, against which it of their weapons, flashing about like sparks think it a small matter requiring little efwas in vain to contend. To me, the lat- of fire, and a hurrying about in all director act was unforgiveable, more diabolical, tions, which lasted for several moments, many a struggle ere you could learn to immediately jumped out of his sleigh, substance of the last one is, that a Hoosier a thousand times more wanton and outra- when one of them fell. It was the Cap- speak in pleasantness to all whom you which was then some yards in advance of saw a man in Broadway with an enormous tain; for the strong and skilful arm of might chance to meet even in one short the purse, and ran back for his longed-for moustache and stared at him fixedly, until was excitement, danger, revenge. The Trevor had thrust his sword nearly up to day; and if you accomplished it perhaps treasure, when the boy, with great pres- the victim angrily exclaimed in the sword nearly up to day; and if you accomplished it perhaps treasure, when the boy, with great pres- the victim angrily exclaimed in the sword nearly up to day; and if you accomplished it perhaps treasure, when the boy, with great pres- the victim angrily exclaimed in the sword nearly up to day; and if you accomplished it perhaps treasure, when the boy, with great pres- the victim angrily exclaimed in the sword nearly up to day; and if you accomplished it perhaps treasure, when the boy, with great presthe hilt in the side of his antagonist. His it would be a better day's work than ever ence of mind, took hold of the reins, and heart was cloven. The unfortunate young you did, and you might lay your head on drove off as fast as he could, with both horgive the following record of a duel, at once man fell without uttering a groan. His the pillow of rest at night with feelings a- ses and sleigh. The robber then fired his as a powerful comment upon this horrible sword dropped from his grasp. He press- kin to those of spirits around the throne. pistol, the contents of which passed through Oh, learn ye this art yourselves, all ye the back of the sleigh between the boy's manner in which it is related, it is only ne- quivering motion of his lips, as if struggling who have felt its kindly influence from oth- legs. The boy reached home in safety, ers. Speak plensant words to all around and after examining the sleigh, found in "Oh! my great God!" eqclaimed Tre- you, and your path shall ever be lighted the box of it, which was locked, the sum of MARRIED Almost !- During the progress of a Wedding party in Orleans coun- fect that the payment would be very, desity, recently, a couple, who might have able. been from Albion, concluded to get married, and thus double the dose for the company present. A Justice was called, his fees paid, and the parties arranged for the performance of the ceremonics. The officer of the law was about to commence the discharge of his duties, when the lady, as if moved by an electric shock, exclaimed,-"Oh! what will Joe say?"-

The House of Delegates of Maryland, cle on using cold water on consumption has passed the bill from the Senate, proving ed that we cannot have haven been ding for biennial sessions of the Legisla, and that we have haven treated that the hard haven treated that the hard haven treated the senate of the legisla, and that we have haven treated the senate of the legisla. proposition to a vote of the people at the on unequal terms; do you think, my good abled to believe that the war-spirit and the Sir, that I will stand to be shot, without duelling spirit are on the decline, through-having a chance of returning the favor? I out the civilized world. The Duke of have to say, therefore, that since this quar-velling to the say, therefore, that since this quar-velling to the say, therefore, that since this quar-velling to the say of the say, therefore, that since this quar-velling to the say, therefore, that since the say, therefore, that since this quar-velling to the say, therefore, that since the say, therefore, the say of t

PARENTAL EXAMPLE. Though parental example may sometimes fail, there are few so wayward as to receive no benefit from strangers, he espied an old man, stooping its influence. Children are ofich too and leaning on his staff, weary with age shrewd and sensitive on this point. They newal of the misery. In a word, he trust- God of heaven. The old man told him too often changed for gloomy frowns, and

> IMPERTINENCE PUNISHED. -- We find in the Courier des Etats Unis an account of a curious incident which occurred at a charity fair in Paris.

A young lady, Miss A for her beauty and her wit, presided at one passed around the fair vender of elegant dy with offensive freedom, and affected to admire the various articles exposed for sale, but who bought nothing. "What will you please to buy, sir?" asked Miss - with a smile of peculiar meaning.

"Oh," replied the exquisite, with a fairguishing look, "what I most wish to purhase is unhappily not for sale." "Perhaps it is," said the lady."

"Oh, no, I dare not declare my wishes." "Nevertheless," said Miss A let me know what you wish to bay "Yell, then, since you insign upon it, I should like a ringlet of your glossy black The lady manifested no embarrassment at the bold request, but with a pair of seis-"Done Madam," replied the sors immediately clipped off one of her Governor. The morrow came, the 4th of beautiful locks and handed it to the astori-June, and the procession, in honor of the ished youth, remarking that the price was birth-day of the king, advanced through five hundred france!

Broadway-to the strains of military music. Her bold admirer was thunderstruck as the demand, but dare not demur, as by this time a crowd had collected and were listening to the conversation. He took the hair, paid over the five hundred francs, and with an air of mortification and sadness, left the hall, West topic of the

FARINE IN IRELAND .- The London Times he 6th of February, says:—793 1409 (1611) hen

"There appears to be no longer a doubt that an almost universal famine is about to visit Ireland. Such is the dire reality which what say you to your wager, now, sir ?" lity these four or five months, and which "Lost Madam," replied the gallant Govern- is now too distinct and too palpable to be or. When I laid my wager, I was not any longer denied. But the worst feature aware that Col. Washington was in New of the case is the almost utter absence of resource. A dreadful visitation of nature is aggravated by the imperfect character of our social institutions, It is impossible to hit on a remedy which shall not run into abuse, pass into a vicious precedent, and, perhaps to a great extent, millify itself and

"The commissioners to investigate the condition of Ireland say it appears from undoubted authority, that of 32 counties in as having suffered."

GIN DRINKING.—A London paper that to supply one "gin palace", in himself in Chesterfieldfieldian attitudes before the expiring sufferer, embracing him, as he weltered in his blood, and begging his forgiveness for what he had done.

his f brings ruin upon the poor, that on Saturacross the bar. What a prolific source of

> GOOD JOKE. The Knickerbocker tells "What are you looking at?" defeabaliff

"There!" shouted the Hoosier, "Lknew you had a mouth. Let's drink or fight don't care which, myself!" monleager a They drank.

"A YEAR'S NOTICE."—A down cast of-"A YEAR'S Norice."—A down cast cu-itor wonders why his subscribers, who are so rampant for Oregon, will not walk up and pay their subscription, after his had more than "a years notice," to the

GOOD TIME FOR PUBLISHERS. The Hist newspaper published in Virginia was detablished in 4780. The subscription was fifly dollars a year-price for advertising, (ep collars the first week and seven dollars for each subsequent insertion, and the baper was issued weekly, in the pausal saw

WATER OURE. The Water Chie Tearand darted from the room. Troy Budget. Indi of Dr. Shew, of New York if the article on using cold water on com