

Your correspondent that, unless the Democrats abandon their present revolutionary position, we will not become a State at present. I have the utmost confidence in the honesty and good sense of the people, and an fully confident the Republicans will be triumphantly sustained by them in the position they have taken, but from a Pro-Slave Democratic Congress, judging from past experience, nothing is to be expected.

The Northern Independent edited by Rev. Wm. Hosmer, has nearly completed its first volume. This is among the ablest and best of newspapers. It has a noble list of subscribers in this county, but we hope the list will be doubled for the next volume. We have already received two new subscribers. Friends, let us have the pleasure of sending on a host of them. J. S. M.

We learn from a friend in Ossawatimie, Kansas, that the frauds of the census and the Registry list, were so apparent, that L. D. Williams, late of this county, who accepted a commission under the Bogus laws, refused to vote. We commend this fact to the attention of the Lycoming Gazette. If such a man as Williams was ashamed to participate in your mockery of an election, how was it possible for honest Free State men to attend and give countenance to the fraud?

We have received from Greeley & McElrath, Tribune Buildings, New York, a copy of a pamphlet of 104 pages published by them, entitled, "The Case of Fred Scott, in the United States Supreme Court." The full Opinions of Chief Justice Taney and Justice Curtis, and abstracts of the Opinions of the other Judges, &c. It is sold by the publishers, 25 cents a copy; $1 for five copies; $2 per dozen; $15 per hundred. It should be generally read, and will be valuable for reference.

The Warren Ledger last week came to us containing the valdictory of

J. D. JAMES and the Salutatory of our recent craftsman in this place, Mr. DE WITT C. JAMES. Our personal regard for the latter gentleman, and his recent sojourn in this place, would lead us to give this change in the proprietorship of the Ledger a more extended notice than the crowded state of our columns will at present admit of. We can only say that if he will only carry out the course laid down in the following sentence of his Salutatory, we will soon have the pleasure of announcing the Ledger as one of the most sincere Republican Journals in Western Pennsylvania. In politics, the Ledger will sustain Democratic measures and men, and the faith once delivered to the saints, as promulgated by JEFFERSON and JACKSON steadily adhered to. But we must confess that our hopes are dashed into oblivion by his admiration of the Kansas Dictator, as given expression to in an editorial on the recent difficulties in Lawrence. Nevertheless we will hope for the best, and thus hoping, extend to friend JAMES the best of professional friendship, and welcome to the efforts "ranks" of typography.

In regard to that Potter County weather you request us to send you, we will transmit all we can send by the first "flying machine" going that way—we have plenty to spare. Our farmers would be glad to be rid of a portion of it. Pass some of your 90° stuff up this way.

Free Speech in Missouri.
When we turn from the Buchanan press of this State, to the Independent papers of St. Louis, we always find the contrast most striking and encouraging. The Warren Ledger, Lycoming Gazette, and Harrisburg Courier, have never a word to say like Independent Freemen, but are always siding with the Slave Power, whether it is in their attempt to force Slavery into portions of Mexican Territory, or over the Missouri compromise line onto our own Free Soil. We give elsewhere in this paper an extract from one of these Doughface sheets—read it, and then refresh your soul with the following opposing sentiments from the Missouri Democrat—a paper published in a Slave State, but possessing too much manhood to withhold the truth from its readers. Says the Democrat:

"Every one who has an accurate knowledge of western politics and history, is aware that in a few years the entire territory of the nation, north of Mason & Dixon's line, inclusive of the state of Missouri, will be possessed and cultivated by free white labor, and that every effort to arrest this inevitable destiny will only accelerate the defeat of the system of involuntary servitude. If Kansas had been admitted into the union as a slave state, this result, we believe would undoubtedly have been postponed for many years to come. If Kansas, on the other hand, had been admitted as a free state, by the action of just and impartial laws, Missouri would have been able to retain her institutions for a much longer period than she can possibly do now. But the disunionists of the southern states, aided by a corrupt administration, would not permit justice to have its course. By a series of usurpations unparalleled in history, and discreditable to humanity, they endeavored to deprive the north and the northern settlers, of every right, political and civil, and to drive them like outlaws from their just domain. For let it be remembered that Kansas, by a compact, solemnly ratified by the south, which introduced and passed it, was as justly the property of the north-west as Texas is the property of the south. The south received Missouri as her share of the compromise, and to demand Kansas also was dishonorable and perfidious.

Perfidy is its own reward. The outrages by which the nullifiers endeavored to steal Kansas, by exasperating the free state men, have rendered slave property, along the frontier, the most precarious and unprofitable of all investments. "Every one who knows the character of the people of Kansas, and the history which has formed that character, is familiar with these facts. He knows that no gone has been left unturned that could be turned—that no northern territorial leader has been left alive who could singly be murdered—that no outrage has been omitted which could safely be committed—by the administration of Pierce, and Acheson's banditti—in order to make Kansas a slave state. All have failed. Free institutions have obtained a victory by the valor of free men. Kansas must be a free state. As a reward and punishment for her services to the nullifiers, Missouri—willing or unwilling—will be obliged very shortly to follow in her train. Missouri, which tried to "crush out the serpent," has been stung by it, and must succumb."

The last quarterly meeting of the Coudersport Library Association was held August 1st, at the house of the Librarian, and was a very pleasant gathering of friends, who take an interest in the culture of the mind, and the progress of the world.

There was a larger attendance than usual, but not so large as the interest of the occasion called for. We shall expect to see the next meeting still better attended and more interesting. Why not? Could not the reading people of this village spend two hours together once in three months, to their mutual pleasure and benefit? The last meeting was a feast to us. If it was as much so to others, we are sure the next one will be largely attended. It will be at the Library room, at four P. M., on Saturday, Nov. 7th, at which time John M. Hamilton will preside. H. J. Olmsted is one of the Directors, Hugh Young is Treasurer and Mrs. Hamilton is Secretary. We do not remember all the other officers, but these names are enough to ensure the interest of any meeting they may attend.

A Doughface Complete.

We cut the following specimen of servile submission to the Lords of the lash, from the Warren Ledger of the 22 ult. "It will be seen by reference to another portion of this paper, that the fanatics of Kansas have undertaken to kick up another fuss, and Gov. WALKER has called out the United States troops to bring them to a proper understanding of their position. We hope he will use all the power at his disposal and check this rank treason at once. They have been protected in all their just rights and have been assured that every man of them should have the privilege of voting on the new Constitution. This is enough, and if they desire a row, let them have it with United States troops, in just such shape as they wish."

There was a time when the Ledger was edited with a considerable degree of impartiality; but now, we doubt if a more pliant tool of slavery exists in the state—judging from the above, Napoleon himself, could not ask for a paragraph more thoroughly servile to his power, than the above is to the Power of Slavery. Why, what have the fanatics of Kansas done, that has brought down on them the army of the United States? This question is answered in the following paragraph from the Kansas letter of the N. Y. Eccl. Post, under date of July 18.

"The trouble appears to be this: the Lawrence people—or rather some of them—wish to adopt a charter for their city government, without the aid of the legislature, state or territorial, and this charter is to be submitted to a popular vote. Our redoubtable Governor considers this treason, and forthwith issues his high-falutin pronouncement by which all rebels are threatened with extermination if they unite in any effort of the sort. The United States troops are ordered out, and General Harney tells them to bring in that d—n traitor Robinson, 'dead or alive.' This thing is easier said than done. The whole matter will turn out to be a tempest in a teapot."

Is not that a beautiful way to establish popular Sovereignty? When the people undertake to adopt a city charter by popular vote call it "rank treason" and order out the army of the United States, and command the soldiers to charge with bayonets on the voters who attempt to approach the ballot-box. Such is Buchanan Democracy. If it had the small-pox, Jeffersonian democracy would be safe from the contagion, it is so far above it.

This Warren echo of Federal power, says the people of Kansas have been protected in all their "just rights." We should like to know what rights Buchanan Democracy deems it proper to consider as belonging to the people.

Their property has been stolen, their printing-presses destroyed, their Government usurped, and their citizens murdered, and not a single one of the notorious criminals engaged in these barbarous crimes has been punished, or even kept in jail to await a trial.

Says the last Herald of Freedom, itself an apologist of Walker:

"A pro-slavery man by the name of Lyle was killed at Leavenworth, at the municipal election, a few weeks ago; by Mr. HALLER, who did it in self-defense. Although there was not a particle of evidence showing premeditation on the part of Haller, yet he was refused bail by Leconte, because the crime he was charged with was murder. At best it can only amount to manslaughter, which in any State is a bailable offence. Pro-slavery murderers are not only bailed, but rewarded with the most responsible offices, while Free State men, guilty of the smallest infractions of law are shut up in prison."

That is the way the "just rights" of the Free State men here have been secured to them.

"Pro-slavery murderers are not only bailed, but rewarded with the most responsible offices," and the Paeker press of Pennsylvania approve and defend this rewarding of murderers in Kansas. Men of Potter county, pass these facts from farm to farm, as you swing the scythe and follow the plow, and when election day comes, let the ballot execute a farmer's will.

On the 15th of July Governor Walker came down on Lawrence with a portion of the army of the United States, to prevent the people of that place from experiencing the right of freemen to frame such a city charter as they might desire. The Herald of Freedom issued three days afterwards, does not contain one word in relation to his war on Lawrence but does contain the following high-falutin praise of his excellency. "The facts are, Gov. Walker is laboring to perpetuate peace and quiet, and give the people an opportunity to regain their rights which have been wrested from them by fraud and violence. Queer way the Governor has of perpetuating peace, to wit, making war on the people for attempting to exercise the rights wrested from them by fraud and violence—and the Herald has a queer way of advocating the Free State cause. The two seem to go well together.

More Stealing.

JOHN O. WATTLES, Esq. from Monaca, was robbed of a fine silver watch, at the residence of CHARLES STEARNS, in this city, on Tuesday morning last. Mr. W. left his watch in his clothes, in his sleeping apartment, and while out to feed his horse in the morning the watch was stolen. Mr. Stearns lost a hundred dollars in money at the same time, which was taken from his clothes. The Administration rewards crime in Kansas by appointing murderers and horse thieves to responsible offices. The thief, in this instance, is expected to send forward his name to Washington to obtain his reward.

Lawrence Herald of Freedom. That is a hit in the right direction, and a good one too. If the Herald would only keep a steady fire at the enemies of free Kansas, it would soon be at peace with the "Kansas letter writers." But so long as it continues to give two shots at the face-state cause, to one at the pro-slavery, it will remain in hot water.

Let us Have More Improvements and Less Speculation.

Of speculators and three-per-cent-a-month men, we have enough already. Give us more of the bone and sinew of the country—men who earn their bread by the sweat of their brows—and Water town will go on prospering and to prosper. —Water town Democrat.

A volume of truth in a few lines. If the wealth of the West, now employed in gorging upon the necessities of the unfortunate, were to go into manufactures, or other improvements, many a town would rise from its blighting nightmare, and inaugurate a new era of life and prosperity. Money is a curse to a town, if used only by speculators and shavers.—Wisconsin Chief.

There are two excellent sermons in the above items, that deserve repeating fifty two times a year, and are as applicable to our little village of Coudersport, as to any town in the west.

This place is seriously retarded in its growth and prosperity, for want of a Grist-mill. We have mowed men, who could build a good one and not feel it, men who have grown rich from the earnings of our farmers, but they prefer to take their "three-per-cent-a-month" to investing a dollar in an improvement that would add to the prosperity of the county, as well as do credit to themselves. We begin to think there is great force in the remark of the Chief that "money is a curse to a town, if used only by speculators and shavers."

Four of the above are new subscriptions—the balance being all the return we have had from our "dun" of two weeks ago. We have borrowed from our good neighbor of the McKean Citizen enough paper for this edition, and also from others money enough to buy paper for three more editions, when we will be at the end of our string unless some of our delinquent subscribers pay up. What say you to having your name on our next white list?

which he made last spring. Such tokens of friendship from our subscribers are real cases in the desert life of a country printer, and awaken those feelings of gratitude which a few years in the business are well calculated to neutralize or domesticate; but which, when awakened, are the more sincere. Mr. Harris has our sincere thanks for this kind remembrance, rich not only in quality but quantity.

Mrs. Stephens' New Illustrated Motherly for July is on our table, rich in manner and matter. "The Royal Sisters," a new novelette by Mrs. Stephens, promises to be one of great interest, as indeed are all her stories. The Magazine is published by Edward Stephens, 126 Nassau St., New York, at $1.50 per annum.

NOTHING TO WEAR: An Episode of City Life: Anonymous. Illustrations by Hopkin, Radd & Carleton, 219 Broadway, New York. Publishers, pp. 68. Price 50 cents.

We have received a book from the publishers bearing the above title, which we spent a few moments of great pleasure in reading. It is a truly pointed hit at a very common expression of the present generation of feminine Young America, when they wish to get a new outfit for a grand party and do not like to ask "Pa" for it directly. "Pa" wants them to attend parties for the very good reason that he wants to get them off his hands; he urges them to go, but they have "Nothing to Wear," and he "cottons" of course. The book is printed and bound in good style, and the illustrations are of the first class.

OUTRAGE.—A Man and Woman nearly Killed by Robbers.—It is our painful duty to record the main facts of one of the most fiendish outrages that our section of country has ever been the scene of. On Saturday night, 25th ult., the house of Mr. Davis, of Shippen McKean county, was entered by three persons, who to procure access called Mr. Davis, an old man, to the door, telling him they wished to obtain lodging for the night. They were admitted, and while Mr. D. was lighting a candle at the fire, one of the ruffians clinched him and threw him down, commenced pounding him all the time demanding his money. Another proceeded to the bedroom where he found Mrs. Davis, aged about 60 years, whom he fell to beating, and finally left her senseless having nearly "gouged" both her eyes out. A third went to another room in which a visitor, Miss Eubank, was sleeping, but she having heard the noise in the other rooms, had cautiously crawled out of her bed, and when the ruffian entered the room was so concealed that while he was unable to see her she could see him; he in the meantime filling to find her, commenced making threats of vengeance dire if she ever dispensed a word in respect to their visit, and while throwing his hand around her to give emphasis to his threats, she says he came near striking her on the head several times. After he retired, the three, seemingly knowing to his position, drew out the old gentleman's trunk in which were kept his money and papers, and carrying it into the yard, proceeded to rifle it. They however only succeeded in obtaining about $10, as Mr. Davis had that day paid nearly all he had, about $60. The robbers then left, threatening to return and burn buildings, destroy cartle, and murder all the people of that vicinity if they were pursued. Mr. Davis soon returned to consciousness, and on looking for his gun could not find it, and the next morning it was found several rods from the house in the grass. Having no near neighbors, and not wishing to leave his wife in the perilous condition in which he found her, Mr. Davis gave no alarm until about 10 o'clock Sunday morning. Some of his neighbors then started in pursuit of the villains and traced them to Mr. Seth Taggart's, about one half mile south of this village, and where they entered the woods, and crossing the river evaded this place. They were seen by some young ladies, near Mr. Taggart's, at about 5 o'clock in the evening. No further trace of them was discovered until the next day, notwithstanding several of our citizens were dispatched in various directions by the Sheriff, when they were found to have passed the night in the school house near Mr. Joshua Jackson's in Sweden township, about eight miles east of this place. They robbed several ten-rooms in that vicinity, and proceeded on their way, since which nothing has been seen or heard of them. We have not room to further notice this high-handed outrage than to state that though Mrs. Davis' life was for awhile despaired of, she is now getting well. We hope the villains may soon be brought to justice.

Harris' Sarsaparilla is not only the most reliable but one of the most valuable compounds that can be used during the summer months. For the removal and permanent cure of Scrofula, Dyspepsia, Bronchitis, Pulmonary Affections and all cutaneous eruptions arising from an impure or vitiated condition of the blood, it stands unapproached in the history of medicine. It may be used at all seasons with very decided advantage, but especially in the spring and summer season.
