

Miscellany.

Always in the Way.

"Rain, rain, rain; will it never stop?" thought little Amy Howard, as she pressed her small face close to the window pane.

"To economize time by robbing yourself of the necessary sleep, on the ground that an hour saved from sleep is an hour gained for life, when in reality it is two hours actually spoiled."

"To persuade yourself that you are destroying one unpleasant odor by introducing a stronger one, that is, attempting to sweeten your own unwashed garments and person by enveloping yourself in the fumes of musk, eau de cologne, or rose-water, the best perfume being a clean skin and well washed clothing."

"Mrs. Howard loved her child, but she was a bustling, energetic woman, whose chief care was to keep a tidy and well-ordered household; and she did not understand the delicate nature of the little Amy, who had been from infancy a feeble child, and stood sadly in need of loving and tender sympathy."

"What ails my pet?" asked Anna, as she took the child in her lap, and parting the hairs from her pale face, remarked the look of weariness in her eyes.

"Nothing," answered Amy, "only my head aches so, I can't play without troubling mother."

Anna sighed, for she knew the little heart had sore trials; so far into the dusky eve, she sat with Amy's head upon her shoulder, telling of the olden time, when the fairies danced by the moonlight upon the greenward, when every hill and dale, every river and tiny streamlet, was haunted by unearthly beings.

"Never, darling," said the sister, clasping more closely the little form, which, in almost prophetic sense, was too surely fading away.

At midnight there were hurried steps and anxious questions, as the household was awakened by Anna's cry that Amy was very ill. After days of watching, a weeping group surrounded the bedside of the dying child.

"Mother," said Amy's little voice. "I did not mean to get in your way so much. I hope I shan't trouble the angels—good bye, mother I am going to sleep." And little Amy was dead.

Long years has the grass grown on Amy's grave, and harkbells have hung their merry chimes above it, while the birds sing requiems in the shadowing trees; but nightly, as she lays her head upon the pillow, Mrs. Howard sees a sweet, weary face of her child, and hears a sweet voice say, "Mother, I did not mean to get in the way."

Stupidities.

Hall's Journal of Health enumerates the following. The list is capable of being extended indefinitely. Indeed if one should specify all the silly and ridiculous habits and practices by which the majority of reasoning mortals are injuring themselves, he would make a chapter as long as the Atlantic cable.

"Walking along the streets with the point of an umbrella sticking out behind, under the arm or over the shoulder. By suddenly stopping to speak to a friend, or by some other cause, a person in the rear had his brain penetrated through the eye, in one of our streets, and died in a few weeks."

"To carry a long pencil in vest or outside coat pockets; not long since, a clerk in New York fell, and the long cedar pencil so pierced an important artery that it had to be cut down upon from the top of the shoulder, to prevent death, with a three month's illness."

"To take exercise or walk for the health when every step is a drag, and instinct presses repose."

"To guzzle down glass after glass of cold water, on getting up in the morning, without any feeling of thirst, under the impression of the health-giving nature of the washing out qualities."

"To sit down to the table and force your self to eat, when there is not only no appetite, but a positive aversion to food. To take a glass of toddy, or of sarsaparilla, or mint drops, on a summer day, under the belief that it is safer and better than a glass of cold water."

"To economize time by robbing yourself of the necessary sleep, on the ground that an hour saved from sleep is an hour gained for life, when in reality it is two hours actually spoiled."

"To persuade yourself that you are destroying one unpleasant odor by introducing a stronger one, that is, attempting to sweeten your own unwashed garments and person by enveloping yourself in the fumes of musk, eau de cologne, or rose-water, the best perfume being a clean skin and well washed clothing."

CAUTION. Merchants and Traders will be on their guard and not be imposed upon by a Counterfeit of Morse's Indian Root Pills, signed A. B. Moore. All genuine Indian Root Pills have the name and signature of A. J. White & Co., on each box.

Agree we present you with a likeness of Dr. MORSE, the inventor of MORSE'S INDIAN ROOT PILLS. This philanthropist has spent the greater part of his life in traveling, having visited Europe, Asia, and Africa, as well as North America—has spent three years among the Indians of our Western country—it was in this way that the Indian Root Pills were first discovered. Dr. Morse was the first man to establish the fact that all diseases arise from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD—that our strength, health and life depend upon this vital fluid.

We find in various passages become clogged, and do not act in perfect harmony with the different functions of the body, the blood loses its action, becomes thick, corrupted and diseased; thus causing all pains, sickness and distress of every name; our strength is exhausted, our health we are deprived of, and nature is not assisted in throwing off the stagnant humors, the blood will become choked and cease to act, and thus our light of life will forever be blown out. How important then that we should keep the various passages of the body free and open. And how pleasant to us that we have it in our power to put a medicine in your reach, namely, Morse's Indian Root Pills, manufactured from plants and roots which grow around the mountainous cliffs in Nature's garden, for the health and recovery of diseased man. One of the roots from which these Pills are made is a Sulfuric, which opens the pores of the skin, and assists Nature in throwing out the finer parts of the corruption within. The second is a plant which is an expectorant, that opens and unblocks the passages to the lungs, and thus, in a soothing manner, performs its duty by throwing off phlegm, and other humors from the lungs by copious spitting. The third is a Diuretic, which gives ease and double strength to the kidneys; thus encouraged, they draw large amounts of impurity from the blood, which is then thrown out abundantly by the urinary or water passage, and which could not have been discharged in any other way. The fourth is a Cathartic, and accompanies the other properties of the Pills which engaged in purifying the blood, the corrosive particles of impurity which cannot pass by the other outlets, are thus taken up and conveyed off in great quantities by the bowels.

From the above, it is shown that Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills not only enter the stomach, but become united with the blood, for they run way to every part, and completely rout out and cleanse the system from all impurity, and the life of the body, which is the blood, becomes perfectly healthy; consequently all sickness and pain is driven from the system, for they can't remain when the body becomes so pure and clear.

The reason why people are so distressed when sick, and why so many die, is because they do not get a medicine which will pass to the affected parts, and which will open the natural passages for the disease to get out. Hence, a large quantity of food and other nutriment is taken in, and the stomach and intestines are literally overflowing, with the corrupted matter, which is not dischargeable, forming a constant barrier with the blood, which thus corrupts it further through every vein and artery, until life is taken from the body by disease. Dr. Morse's PILLS have added to themselves victory upon victory, by restoring millions of the sick to blooming health and happiness. Yes, thousands have been racked and tormented with sickness, pain and anguish, and whose feeble frames have been scorched by the burning elements of raging fever, and who have been brought to a wretched end in a step of the silent grave, are now ready to testify that they would have been numbered with the dead had it not been for this great and wonderful medicine, Morse's Indian Root Pills. After one or two doses had been taken, they were astonished, and absolutely surprised, in witnessing their cheering effects. Not only do they give immediate ease and strength, but they away all sickness, pain and anguish, but they at once go to work at the foundation of the disease, which is the blood. Therefore, it will be shown, especially by those who use these PILLS, that they will so cleanse and purify, that disease—that deadly enemy—will take its flight, and the flush of youth and beauty will again return, and the prospect of a long and happy life will cheer and brighten your days.

Sold by SMITH & JONES, Coudersport; also by all Medicine Dealers in the county. A. J. WHITE & CO., No. 50 Leonard St., New York, Proprietors; W. M. WYCKE & CO., Proprietors of Dr. A. Trask's Magnetic Ointment, Earlville, Madison Co., N. Y., General Agents, 1046-1y.
