

Miscellany.

The Fort Scott Troubles Re-visited.

From the Lawrence Republican, December 23.
 Why do we go to press, we learn from a gentleman from Southern Kansas, whom we can rely on for correct information, that on Thursday last, Captain Montgomery, with a band of about one hundred armed men, went to Fort Scott and released a Mr. Rice, a Free-State man, there under arrest. In the melee that ensued, shots were fired by a young man, son of Marshall Latta, and by those of Montgomery's party. Little was killed instantly, and only one of Montgomery's men wounded. Little's store was then rifled, and some things taken from the hotel there.

Our informant states that the men forming Montgomery's party are very different from those who had with him in his former defensive operations; that Montgomery's old friends and sympathizers entirely disapprove of his present course; and that heretofore a large majority of the people have been satisfied with and rejoiced at the work he has done—but that there was no necessity for this last outbreak. He confirms the truth of the midnight attack upon Montgomery, and the forging of several names to a letter published in the Herald of Freedom some weeks since, reflecting severely upon Montgomery. In a word, while supporting almost the entire course of Montgomery previous to the late outbreak, he denounces, as will every good citizen, his recent movements. The meeting at Mound City, in which the resolutions reported by a committee headed by J. Danford, Esq., was an amicable adjustment of all troubles. The first resolution was just what Montgomery and the people claimed was the spirit and tenor of the Denver compromise, and he ought not to have raised a hand or lifted a finger until it was clear that those terms were agreed upon would not be observed in good faith.

We suppose we shall have more news in a few days.

LATER.

While we are writing, a letter from Lebanon, Bourbon County, is received. It gives quite another aspect to the affair, and more favorable to Montgomery's party. It is the first, and is signed by several of Montgomery's men, and was in the act of being fired, when a shot put an end to his life. The letter is designed for publication, but no responsible name accompanies it. It represents that all the most staunch and reliable men in that community sustain Montgomery.

From all these conflicting stories, our readers can judge as well as we, of the real difficulty. There seems to be bad blood there between the parties.

CURIOUS FACTS ABOUT THE SEXES.

It is a singular fact, says a writer in one of our exchanges, that even after death, nature respects the inherent modesty of woman, for when drowned she floats on her face, and a drowned man upon his back. The noblest part of a human being is the head; but the man's head is liable to baldness; woman is never bald. The man's face is often made repulsive by account of a harsh growing beard, and so covered with soiled hairs, as something scarcely to be distinguished from the face of a brute beast; in a woman, on the other hand, the face always remains pure and decent. For this reason women were, by the laws of the twelve tables, forbidden to rub their cheeks, lest hair should grow and obscure their blushing modesty. But the most evident proof of the innate purity of the female sex is, that a woman having once washed clean, and if she wash in second water will not soil it; but that a man is never clean—though he should wash in ten successive waters, he will cloud and infect them all.

UNPRECEDENTED SUCCESS.

—We are glad to learn that the Atlantic Monthly is meeting with great favor from all sources. Though the publishers printed nearly thirty thousand copies of the January number, this large supply was entirely exhausted on the very day of publication, thus compelling many new subscribers and others to wait a few days before obtaining a copy. The publishers have another edition of general thousand in press, which will be ready in a few days, and with their present facilities they will be able to supply the demand, however large it may be. Their subscriptions, received by mail alone from all parts of the country, have averaged more than one hundred a day, for some time past. Mrs. H. B. Stowe's new serial, "The Minister's Wooing," is immensely popular, as indicated by the success which is thus attending the enterprising publishers' efforts to make the Atlantic the embodiment of all that is entertaining and instructive. — Boston Traveller.

Eben L. Nelson.
 Died in Middleboro, on Saturday, 4th inst., Eben L. Nelson, aged 25 years, and 1 day.

OBITUARY.—Eben L. Nelson, whose recent death is so generally deplored, was born Dec. 3d, 1833, at West Cambridge. His father being a highly esteemed clergyman, and his mother a Christian lady, he was brought up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord.

He was educated in the public schools of Middleboro, and studied the classics at Pierce Academy, his father having been pastor of the Central Baptist Church for fourteen years.

He entered as clerk in the Dry Goods and Clothing store of Mr. George Vaughan at the age of fourteen. Subsequently he worked in the same capacity for three years in a store at Watertown. Then he became salesman for Look & Marsh in Boston, but his health not being equal to the labor required, he left at the end of six months, and returned to Middleboro to resume his former position in Mr. Vaughan's store. Three years ago he, in connection with Mr. Jason Wilbur as partner, purchased the dry goods part of Mr. Vaughan's establishment, where they have done a prosperous business ever since, under the style of Nelson and Wilbur.

In early youth Mr. Nelson became interested in the subject of personal piety, and having indulged a hope of pardonment, he made a public profession of his faith in Christ in the church in which his father was pastor. It is believed that he passed through some mental struggles on the question of fitting for the ministry rather than entering a business life, for both of which he seemed admirably qualified.

October 27, 1858, he was married to Miss Emma Cobb, daughter of Hon. Wm. Cobb, of Independence, N. Y.

Their return to Middleboro was hailed with friendly greetings and hearty wishes for a long and prosperous union. On their appearing at a meeting of the Sons of Temperance, of which he was the presiding officer, a beautiful volume of Poems was presented to him and an elegant vase to his bride. Those who were present will not soon forget his responding speech, when with glowing emotions, he thanked the Divinity for these tokens of affection and esteem, and pledged anew his efforts for the cause.

At the young Ladies' levee, on Tuesday evening before Thanksgiving, he took a violent cold. On Saturday night, Nov. 27th, he left his store and went to his sick and as it proved his dying bed. Soon after he was taken, a sore appeared upon his under lip and erysipelas supervened, his brain became affected, and he was delirious most of the time till his spirit quietly passed away just one week after he left his store, among the agonies of friends convulsed with overwhelming sorrow. — Middleboro (Mass.) Gazette.

LINE.
 Suggested by the Death of Bro. Eben L. Nelson, W. P. of Association Division, No. 34, S. of T.

In the flush of early manhood,
 While the rosy hours of life,
 Like a group of joyous maidens,
 Bore the traces of coming strife—
 And afar from Time's horizon,
 Seize a cloud of threatening ill,
 Shadowing youth's happy moments,
 Came grief's mission to fulfill.

Only son of widowed mother,
 Heir of an ancient tree—
 Tender husband—loving brother—
 Why should Death have singled thee?
 Thou hadst grided on thy armor—
 Helmet, breastplate, all complete—
 And for love of God and manhood
 Hidden forth the iron to meet.

Where Intemperance sought its victims—
 Where the rum-flood made its den—
 Where despair, and crime and anguish
 Brought the heart and homes of men;
 There our Brother—strong in goodness—
 Stormed the citadel of vice,
 Like a gallant, bold Crusader,
 With his legend, "Work for Christ!"

Though his work on earth is ended,
 And no more, no more may we
 Hear his tones of lovingkindness,
 Of his form and features seen—
 Yet the record of his labor,
 Words of counsel—deeds of worth—
 Shall remain as fit memorials—
 Of his pilgrimage on earth.

If to raise a fallen brother—
 Feed the hungry—aid the weak—
 Strive the fires of hell to smother,
 And the poor forsake seek—
 It is to clothe the poor and needy,
 Be induced to work for Christ,
 Then his years, though few in number,
 For the glorious task sufficed.

Let us heed the solemn lesson—
 "Work for Christ," while yet we may,
 For the night is hastening on,
 All our work is for to-day.
 Whosoever we find the needy,
 Lonely, wretched, sick and poor,
 Be it ours to aid and comfort—
 Be the wine and oil to pour.

Thus shall we, like our lost brother,
 Calmly rest a life's decline;
 Thus like him, when time has vanished,
 Leaves some record, as a sign
 That when others, following after,
 To their race some good would do,
 Our brief life may be the boon,
 On the course they should pursue.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE.
Commencement of the Eighteenth Volume.
 With the December Number HARPER'S NEW MONTHLY MAGAZINE commences another Volume of its publication. The Publishers believe that the Seventeen Volumes now issued contain a larger amount of valuable and attractive reading than will be found in any other periodical of the day. The best Serial Tales of the foremost Novelists of the time; Leven's "Maurice Tierney," Bowen Lyrron's "My Novel," Dickens's "Bleak House" and "Little Dorrit," Traskenay's "Newcombs" and "Virgilians," have successively appeared in the Magazine simultaneously with their publication in England. The best Tales and Sketches from the Foreign Magazines have been carefully selected, and original contributions have been furnished by CHARLES BEAN, WYLLIS COLLIER, Mrs. GASKELL, Miss Mulock, and other prominent English writers.

The larger portion of the Magazine has, however, been devoted to articles upon American topics, furnished by American writers. Contributions have been welcomed from every section of the country; and in deciding upon their acceptance the Editors have aimed to be governed solely by the intrinsic merits of the articles, irrespective of their authorship. Care has been taken that the Magazine should never become the organ of any local clique, party, sect, or of any sectional party in politics. The following list which contains the names of less than one-half of those who have furnished articles for its pages, will show the amount and variety of the talent which has been enlisted in support of the Magazine:

DR. MORSE'S INDIAN ROOT PILLS
 CAUTION.
 Merchants and Traders will see on their guard and not be imposed upon by a counterfeit of Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, signed A. B. Moore. All genuine Indian Root Pills have the name and signature of J. F. Wolfe & Co. on each box.

When the various passages become clogged, and do not act in perfect harmony with the different functions of the body, the blood loses its action, becomes thick, corrupted and diseased, thus causing all kinds of sickness, and distress of every kind. Our strength is exhausted, our health is deranged, and, if not restored, our health is forever lost, and our life will be blown out. How important, then, that we should keep the various passages of the body free and open. And how pleasant to us that we have it in our power to put a medicine in your reach, namely, Morse's Indian Root Pills, manufactured from plants and roots which grow around the mountains of North America, and which have been used for thousands of years, and have cured millions of diseased people. One of the roots from which these Pills are made is a Sida, which opens the pores of the skin, and assists Nature in throwing out the finer parts of the corruption within. The second is a plant which is an Expectant, that opens and unclogs the passage to the lungs, and thus, in a soothing manner, performs its duty by throwing off phlegm, and other humors from the lungs by copious spitting. The third is a Diuretic, which gives easy and double strength to the kidneys; thus encouraging them to draw large amounts of impurity from the blood, which is then thrown out beneficently by the urinary or water passage, and which could not have been discharged in any other way. The fourth is a Cathartic, and accompanies the other properties of the Pills while engaged in purifying the blood; the coarser particles of impurity which cannot pass by the other outlets, are thus taken up and conveyed off in great quantities by the bowels.

From the above, it is shown that Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills not only enter the stomach, but become united with the blood, for they find way to every part, and completely root out and cleanse the system from all impurity, and the life of the body, which is the blood, becomes perfectly healthy; consequently all sickness and pain is driven from the system, for they cannot remain when the body becomes so pure and clear.

The reason why people are so distressed when sick, and why so many die, is because they do not get a medicine which will pass to the affected parts, and which will open the natural passages for the disease to be cast out, hence, a large quantity of food and other matter is lodged, and the stomach and intestines are literally overflowing with the corrupted mass; thus undergoing disagreeable fermentation, constantly mixing with the blood, which throws corrupted matter through every vein and artery, until life is taken from the body by disease. Dr. Morse's PILLS have added to themselves victory upon victory, by restoring millions of the sick to blooming health and happiness. Yes, thousands who have been racked or tormented with a severe pain and anguish, and whose dark frowns have been scattered by the cheering elements of rousing fever, and whose faces brighten, as it were, within a step of their death gate, now stand ready to testify that they would have been numbered with the dead, had it not been for this great and wonderful medicine, Morse's Indian Root Pills. After one or two doses had been taken, they were astonished, and absolutely surprised, in witnessing their charming effects. Not only do they give immediate ease and strength, and take away all sickness, pain and anguish; but they at once go to work at the foundation of the disease, which is the blood. Therefore, it will be shown especially by those who use these Pills, that they will so cleanse and purify, that disease—that deadly enemy—will take its flight, and the flush of youth and beauty will again return, and the prospect of a long and happy life will cheer and brighten your days.
