

Column and County.

COUDERSPORT, JUNE 30, 1859.

Kligore announces a meat market, in our advertising columns.

P. A. Stebbins advertises some Farming Tools this week.

R. J. Butterworth, Watchmaker and Jeweller, has established a shop in J. B. Smith's store in this place. Persons having jewelry or watches out of repair, will do well to call, as he warrants his work.

An exchange says "that it is just as sensible a move to undertake to get married without courting as to attempt to succeed in business without advertising." True as preaching. Our business folks "can stick a pin there,"—though we had much rather they would stick a fat advertisement in the JOURNAL. By-the-by our local advertising patronage is waking up wonderfully of late—for which we tender our due appreciation. But it is even now one-third less than it ought to be.

Large Strawberries.—We this morning received from Mrs. T. Ives of this village, twenty-four Strawberries of the "Allen" variety, which weighed 4 ounces, and averaging about 3 inches in circumference. From a small bed in her garden she had just picked four quarts, and informs us that she will have nearly a bushel from her vines, notwithstanding they were somewhat injured by the frost. Mrs. Ives has our grateful thanks for her present, in spite of her well-known aversion to newspaper puffs.

Narrow Escape.—During a heavy wind storm at noon to-day, (Wednesday), Mr. Wm. Crosby, of Homer, was passing by our office, when a board blew off the roof of our office stairs, and grazing his hand, struck the sidewalk with such force as to split the board and deeply indent a plank in the walk. It passed within about ten inches of his head, and would certainly have severely if not fatally injured him had it struck him on the head.

The wind storm was followed by a heavy thunder shower. The past two days we have had excessively hot weather, with a shower or two of rain a-day.

If any of our readers have passed through the ordeal of last (court) week, and have not been convinced that money is scarce and the demand excessive, they should at once be endowed with Christian confirmation. We have never seen so hard a time for money since we have been in business. Out of about $500 dollars due us in this county, we have collected at least $200, in ordinary times. Everybody else is quite as professionally disappointed, therefore we make no special complaint, hoping for an early change for the better in our pecuniary affairs—which, God speed.

A gang of drunken rowdies paraded the streets last Saturday night until after midnight, fighting, yelling "murder" and "fire," and otherwise disturbing the rest and quiet of our citizens. A part of the gang belong, we learn, in this village, and a part on Pine Creek. The leaders are known to the officers of the place, and there is ample testimony, we are informed, to convict them for heavy fines; therefore, a just regard for the rights of our citizens should incite those officers to a discharge of their sworn duties. Just so long as such conduct is permitted to go unpunished, so long will it be repeated with impunity. Whisky was at the bottom of it, of course.

Literary Notices. THE KNICKERBOCKER Magazine for July is on our table. It has more than the usual number of able articles, and the literary criticisms are of unusual ability. It is one of the best $3 Magazines and is published by John A. Gray, New York.

The Atlantic Monthly.—With the July number of this admirable publication, which has our taste, the fourth volume begins. The Atlantic will continue to occupy the high position in the literary world which it now occupies. The publishers in announcing the new volume, state—"that the experiment has been more than successful; that the supply of literary matter has been so ample as to furnish them new ideas of the general culture and creative ability among our people; and that the unqualified approbation of the readers of the magazine (now over 40,000 copies) furnishes the best proof of its value and attractiveness." The contents of the July number are of their usual excellence. Published by Phillips, Sampson and Company, 13 Winter Street, Boston.

The Scientific American.—The publishers of this widely circulated and popular illustrated weekly journal of mechanics and science, announce that it will be enlarged on the first of July, and otherwise greatly improved, containing sixteen pages instead of eight, the present size, which will make it the largest and cheapest scientific journal in the world; it is the only journal of its class that has ever succeeded in this country, and maintains a character for authority in all matters of mechanics, science and the arts, which is not excelled by any other journal published in this country or in Europe. Although the publishers will incur an increased expense of $8,000 a year by this enlargement, they have determined not to raise the price of subscription, relying upon their friends to indemnify them in this increased expenditure, by a corresponding increase of subscribers. Terms $2 a year, or 10 copies for $15. Specimen copies of the paper with a pamphlet of information to inventors, furnished gratis, by mail, on application to the publishers.

Special Notices.

DISEASE OF THE STOMACH.—The stomach is the most liable to get out of order. Hence how important that no disease clog the operation, which would cause nausea and distress by our food. It so weakens the brain, destroys the memory, creates pains and dimness, and various difficulties in the head. It produces great difficulties in breathing and swallowing. Sometimes fainting and fits will ensue; also bad breath, restlessness and great loss of strength. If not immediately attended to, the blood will carry the disease through the whole system, and death will end the work. From 2 to 5 of these Pills a day will keep the digestive organs in a healthy condition, and unplug or carry away all impure matter, and thoroughly restore and cleanse the stomach; at the same time the Pills will so purify the blood, as to drive all manner of disease from the system.

WORMS.—In a quantity of corrupted matter, there is always to be found a nest of worms. They cannot, neither will they stay anywhere else. Weak stomach and bowels are subject to them, as they have not sufficient power to digest their food. Hence a large heap of matter is lodged, and worms must be the result. A few doses of these pills will disturb them in their nest, and drive them out of the system.

It should be remembered, that an occasional dose when in health, especially after taking cold, will prevent the disease from forming in the body.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills are sold by all dealers in Medicines.
